Nature's Yuletide Gift

From verdant forests throughout northern America, trees to grace the nation's Christmas morning are shipped each year. This picture was taken in Maine, where 1,500,000 trees are being felled for the holidays, to be loaded for shipment to all parts of the United States.

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Four recent things have roused the American people to the horrors and dangers of Nazism—and three of them directly affect this country. They are:

The Nazi assault on the Jews, unmatched in organized savagery for three centuries.

The organization of a League for Human Rights, Freedom and Democracy, of which Matthew Woll, of the A. F. of L. is the chief, and which appeals to all walks of life.

The conviction of four Nazi spies in a Federal court, and the fact that a considerably larger number are waiting trial.

The practically unanimous report from Lima that Nazi spies are busy throughout Latin America, trying to bring the Pan-American conference to a snarl.

Now comes a fifth event: the Rev. L. M. Birkhead, pastor of All Souls Unitarian Church at Kansas City and a delegate to the gathering in New York of the Institute for Analysis of Propaganda, declares that since Hitler came into power in Germany, 800 organizations have been formed in this country for the purpose of spreading anti-Semitism and undermining democracy—and that a large part of these organizations are receiving direct subsidies from Hitler.

If this last, or even half of it, can be proved beyond cavil, it will hit Nazism a body blow. The spy convictions point that way, and Rev. Birkhead claims to have the proof.

Labor has received a slap in the face from the United States Circuit Court of the Third Judicial Circuit, the one up in Pennsylvania which years ago earned its nickname of the "Methusaleh Court."

An injunction was granted by the Federal District Court, forbidding Mayor Hague and his police to harass the pickets or run sympathizers out of town in two strikes then being conducted by two A. F. of L. unions; the Boot and Shoe Workers and the Upholsterers, Carpet and Linoleum Mechanics.

This injunction was granted in March, 1937. Note that date. Argument in the Circuit Court was not heard until April, 1938—13 months. The decision vacating the injunction was not announced until the middle of December, 1938—22 months after the injunction was granted. The decision was reached by a 2-to-1 vote; Judge J. Warren Davis and Joseph Buffington, the last 83 years old and since retired—and summoned to serve again in another labor case!

Judge John Biggs dissented sharply. He declared that the delay had been so long that one of the companies in question had settled with the strikers, and that the other company had gone out of business. But the injunction, Judge Biggs pointed out, went farther than the strike, and protected the basic civil rights of citizens; and that part should have been passed on favorably.

QUICK DECISION EXPECTED IN PICKET LAW TEST CASE

Los Angeles.—An early determination of the constitutionality of the recently enacted Los Angeles anti-picketing ordinance was assured when Municipal Judge Harold B. Landreth found pickets participating in a test case technically guilty of violating the ordinance. In rendering his decision, Judge Landreth expressed serious doubts as to the law's validity.

Under California procedure, after evidence has been taken the office of the City Attorney cannot appeal from an order finding a defendant not guilty. Attorneys for the defendants therefore consented to a judgment of "guilty" in order to permit the Appellate Department of the Superior Court to decide the case at once.

A favorable decision by the Appellate court will automatically kill the law; if the ordinance is declared constitutional the cases will be appealed immediately to the United States Supreme Court.

Q. How many persons in Tennessee receive old-age assistance?

A. The report of August, 1938, shows that there were 22,973 recipients who received an average of $13.24 each, said Dr. Frank B. Ward, of the U. T. department of economics.

CHRISTMAS MORNING ECSTASY

"Hello, Santa! Sorry I'm so late but Christmas is just around the corner and I'd like to place my order. Bring me a doll, a teddy tear, a tricycle, a toy piano, a bag of candy, a new dress and a . . . What's that, Santa? Have I been a good girl? Of course I have! Er . . . that is, I hope I have."

"Look at that doll! Santa WAS here last night, wasn't he, mummy? Guess I must have been an awfully good girl to deserve a doll like this! Brown eyes, real hair, a pretty dress . . . 'n everything!"

"What's this? Another doll! Kind of hard to get it out. Wonder what else is in this big stocking . . . maybe it's the candy I ordered from Santa Claus."

As nearly as a layman could tell, the utility lawyers who attacked the TVA before the Supreme Court laid down the doctrine that the Constitution forbids the government to do anything that the power companies don't want it to do.

"Here it is bedtime already. I've had a busy day but I'm really not tired. Better go to bed, though, 'cause mummy says I should . . . and I really ought to be a good girl after this wonderful Christmas. Thanks a lot, Santa Claus!"

Fiberglas, a new fabric, has recently been perfected by Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, in collaboration with the Owens-Illinois company. Woven of glass thread, drawn out one-fifteenth as thick as human hair, it is fine as silk, as flexible as cotton and as permanent as the hands from which it comes, it is said. Fiberglas products will be cheap, fireproof and non-fading.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, on the 26th day of October, 1928, O. Z. Wise and wife, Fannie Wise, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration October 30, 1928, and recorded in Book K, Vol. 23, page 632, et seq., in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

WHEREAS, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said O. Z. Wise and wife, Fannie Wise, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the owner of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Third Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

The West 100 feet of Lot 10, S. J. A. Frazier's subdivision of a part of Block 3, Frazier's First Addition to Hill City, as shown by plat of record in Plat Book 5, page 65, of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, being the same property that was conveyed by O. Z. Wise and wife to M. M. Catron and wife, Elizabeth D. Catron, by deed registered in Book K, Volume 21, page 61, of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This November 28, 1938.

F. L. UNDERWOOD,
Trustee.

Strike Ties Up Stockyards.

Chicago.—A strike by stock handlers belonging to the CIO Packing House Workers union halted operations in the stockyards here, although the strikers agreed to unload, water and feed the animals.

The strikers demand 62½ cents an hour, time and a half for overtime, a 40-hour week, and a signed contract. The Union Stockyards and Transit company has not consented to these hitherto, but is ready to go into negotiations.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—The matter of the Wilmington Teamsters and Chauffeurs strike at Wilmington was acted upon at the Central Labor union meeting last Wednesday. A telegram was sent to Governor Clyde R. Hoey, condemning his calling on the state police patrol to move trucks under armed force, when the patrol should have been on the highways. Hundreds of telegrams of a like nature have been sent the governor, whose position towards organized labor in North Carolina is thoroughly understood. The central body donated $25 to the strikers and called on the various locals to make contributions to help win the fight against the Southern Oil and Transport company of Wilmington.

Q. Where is leprosy most common?

A. A great majority of leprosy victims are inhabitants of tropical and sub-tropical Asia and Africa, particularly Africa. Leprosy is most prevalent in hot damp climates, and least in very dry areas, humidity apparently being favorable to the survival of the leprosy organisms, said Dr. G. M. Cameron, U. T. bacteriologist.

We are helped by helping others;
Joy we give, and joy we get.
Seeing others as our brothers
Is life's safest, surest "bet."
If we give what folks are needing,
It will pay us in the end,
And we just can't help succeeding
In the Game of Life, my friend.

Cheerfulness is always catching—
Certain cure for every rile.
Happiness is always hatching
In the sunshine of a smile.
Banish gloom, by being cheerful;
Blaze the trail, and set the pace.
And you'll see the expressions drearful
Swiftly fade from every face.

Life gives back just what we give it;
Give it smiles—and smiles we get.
If we learn this rule, and live it,
We will seldom know regret.
Give a cheerful word — we'll reap it;
It will come back multiplied,
And will linger—we can keep it
In our "treasure chest," inside.

Get together, pull together,
Is the spirit that will win.
If the gales of life we'd weather,
We must "buck" them, with a grin.
Help yourself, by helping others;
Grab an oar and join the crew.
Pull together with your brothers
And they'll win the race for you.

White House Shares Yule Spirit

WASHINGTON.—The holiday atmosphere that grips America each December also finds its way to the White House, home of our chief executives for nearly 140 years and scene of many a colorful Yuletide party in bygone years.

White House history is rich with anecdotes of such gatherings since the building was occupied by the country's second chief executive, John Adams. For his granddaughter, four-year-old Suzannah, President Adams gave the first Christmas party ever held in the White House. These were the days before the mansion was finished, when Mrs. Adams is said to have hung out her wash in the great East room.

Suzannah's party was a success but one of her guests broke a doll dish belonging to the little hostess. Suzannah retaliated by biting off the nose of the young guest's new wax doll. President Adams had to resort to diplomacy.

Jefferson Played Violin.

Christmas has always aided chief executives in discarding their dignity for a brief return to the simplicity of their childhood days. It was the widower President Jefferson who played the violin for his young guests, and the aged Andrew Jackson threw wide the White House doors to hundreds of orphans who listened to the President himself tell them wild tales of Indian wars.

Dolly Madison, most famous White House hostess in history, was in charge of President Jefferson's party in 1805 when nearly 100 guests were present. Mrs. Madison also served as hostess at 13 other Christmas dinners in the White House during the two terms each of Jefferson and her own husband, James Madison. Once the Madisons had to flee from the mansion when the British invaded Washington in 1812.

Jackson's party for the orphans was inspired by his own sad boyhood. At his party Santa Claus came to the White House as usual, leaving many gifts for the homeless youngsters. Jackson himself found a corncob pipe and warm carpet slippers in his bulging stocking.

Entrance to the White House at Washington as it appears each year during the Christmas season.

Jackson in Snow Fight.

"Old Hickory" is said to have participated in a snowball fight at the party, aided by Vice President Martin Van Buren. As his little guests scattered over the moonlit White House lawn he turned to a friend and said:

"They remind me of the one who came to the knees of Jesus, and of whom He said, 'Suffer little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of Heaven.' "

In modern times much more ceremony has been attached to official Washington's celebration of the Yuletide. Each year the chief executive radios holiday greetings to American soldiers, sailors, marines and diplomatic representatives throughout the world. His most important official duty is a Christmas eve address to the nation, a custom that has probably become permanent.

The nation's "official" Christmas tree in Washington is lighted annually by the President as he participates in colorful ceremonies broadcast throughout the country. During the past decade and a half, four Presidents have used the same switch box for this purpose. Last year a new silver plate was attached to the box bearing the names of these men.

Another recent innovation at the ceremony is the use of a four-toned chime to signal the lighting of the tree. The chimes ring out as the President presses the button lighting the tree, broadcast as a signal to millions of listening Americans.

IN THE NEWS
DAN W. TRACY

Dan W. Tracy, international president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, is on his way to Lima, Peru, as a delegate to the eighth international conference of American states. President Roosevelt named Mr. Tracy as one of eleven persons to accompany Secretary Hull, who is head of the United States contingent.

Mr. Tracy has been international president of the IBEW for five years; and during that time he has made decided progress in organizing the workers of private electrical utilities. He has secured contracts with some of the largest utility holding concerns, especially in the south, where very little unionizing of these workers had been done before Tracy came on the field. For fifteen years before elected to his present office, he was vice-president of a southern district of his union, and probably this experience helped much in his work to advance the union.

Travel in the interests of labor is not strange to him; he was first American labor delegate to the International Labor Conference at Geneva, Switzerland. He is vice-president of the Building Trades and Metal Trades Department of the A. F. of L., and vice-chairman of the Council on Industrial Relations for the Electrical Construction Industry.

Colorado Town Revives Ritual Of Log Burning

PALMER LAKE, COLO.—Residents of this high-perched town on the great Divide celebrate their modern Christmas in an old-fashioned way, by burning the traditional yule log

Each year the log is secretly cut, notched and tied with hempen cord, hidden among the trees and rocks awaiting the finder to whom goes the honor of dragging it into town.

Last year for the first time Palmer Lake burned its yule log in the town hall, where local firemen built a huge stone fireplace wide enough to accommodate a four-foot log Previously the celebration was held in a private home where fewer guests could be accommodated.

The hunt for the yule log starts at 1 p. m., when all participants are summoned by a bugle to meet in front of the hall.

The yule log has a colorful history. In Scandinavia, where Thor, the god of thunder, was worshiped, great log fires were built along the rocky shores both at mid-summer and mid-winter in order to propitiate him for his rumbling wrath.

When the early fathers substituted the feast of the Nativity for that of Mithra, the Persian sun god who was worshiped on December 25 in early Rome, a different note crept in. Yule-tide became a time for feuds to cease.

In England, before the Reformation, bringing in the yule log was an important part of the Christmas festivities. The community usually gathered in the hall of the lord of the manor, where the log was kindled with due ceremony and all partook in the wassail cup, a sweet cider flavored with fruits and spices.

Christmas Wreath 'King' Started as Shoemaker

WINSLOW MILLS, MAINE.—Thrown out of work when a shoe factory closed last year, Mervin Flanders came back to his home town and set himself up as the leader of Maine's Christmas decoration business. Flanders' success story started with a ball of string, some barrel hoops, some spruce, boughs and a little ambition. Now he's perfected a gadget that speeds up the wreath-making process by ten times. Shoemaking, he says, can't compare to the wreath business.

CHRISTMAS FIRE HAZARDS

Lighted Christmas candles in the window look nice but they may ignite the curtains. Fire experts warn that extreme care must be observed in using candles and other Yuletide illumination.

Green Calls Upon Congress to Set Definite, Understandable Rules For Industrial Regulation

Chicago.—Public disapproval of the policies of the national labor relations board was registered at the recent election, President iWlliam Green, of the American Federation of Labor, said in speaking on "Congress. Labor and the Election" before the Economic Club of Chicago. His talk was broadcast over an NBC network.

"The national labor relations act," said Mr. Green, "though carefully drawn, has suffered much because of maladministration which has spread opposition to the act itself. . . . I interpret the results of the recent election to mean the grievances against the board affect not only employes and employers, but the public welfare as well."

President Green's address outlined a broad and constructive plan for the establishment of industrial peace on the basis of human, cooperative relationships. He criticized government regulation by administrative boards in the industrial field and declared the public can best be served through congressional regulation rather than through administrative regulation.

Policies of Force Hit.

Autocratic domination of industry by employers has long since been repudiated as part of our national policy, the A. F. of L. head said. The last election, he added, also removed from our national policy the "false and treacherous policy" of certain self-constituted labor leaders not functioning under the banner of the A. F. of L. which sanctioned "disregard of contractual obligations, sit-down strikes, mutiny on the high seas, destruction of private property or even the capture of cities."

In place of these unworkable policies of force and compulsion, Green called for the establishment of a new order of labor-industrial relationships based on the national labor relations act. Management, he urged, should deal with workers organized into free, independent and democratic trade unions as a collective partner. Through collective bargaining, he said, contracts covering wages and hours should be negotiated and adhered to by both sides.

To Offer Amendments.

Green said the American Federation of Labor will offer amendments to the national labor relations act to cure maladministration by the national labor relations board. He accused the board of denying due process of law, of usurping judicial functions, of exhibiting bias and prejudice in decisions and of discriminating between persons and parties according to "their own peculiar brand of political and economic philosophy which apparently they substituted for the plain provisions of the act."

Besides urging enactment of amendments providing for checks and balances to insure the application of the principles of fair play, Green declared the federation will stand for the appointment to the board only of men whose background and views give assurance that whichever way decisions are rendered "a true day in court" will be had by each litigant.

Rules Must Be Clear.

Finally, Green called upon congress to lay down the rules under which the NLRB and other federal administrative boards must operate. Government bureaus in the industrial field, he charged, have exercised an "undue restraining influence upon those who engaged in business" and have created a feeling of uncertainty which has made industry reluctant to risk new ventures or to expand. He concluded:

"Such a psychological condition should have no place in our national economy. The rules of government regulation should be clear, definite and understandable. All should understand that no new rules or stipulations will be promulgated by some administrative bureau other than those definitely set forth in regulatory statutes enacted by the congress of the United States. In this way also will be assured to labor, to capital and to all citizens alike, freedom of action within the sphere of democracy which is the foundation of our national well-being and our national destiny."

Meat Workers Score Big Gains Throughout the Country

Chicago. — The Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, A. F. of L. affiliate, is moving forward on all fronts in its drive to organize employes in the retail stores and packing houses throughout the country.

Signing of a union agreement benefiting between 800 and 1,000 employes of retail poultry shops in New York City's Bronx, after a conference headed by Joseph Belski, vice-president of the international union, has ended a one-day lockout. Victory assured workers a five-day week, a pay raise of $1 a week, $5 extra for five weks of the year, and 52 weeks' employment during the year.

Improvements in working conditions and wages have been secured in a contract with the New York Stockyards Company, negotited by Charles Goldsmith, general organizer.

Seniority rights and a 5 per cent boost in pay have been granted to about 150 employes of the Keefe Packing Company, of Arkansas City, Kan., under a pact signed by the Amalgamated, which establishes the check-off system in the payment of dues.

The Coast Packing Company, of Los Angeles, Cal., has agreed to a contract submitted by Local No. 563 of the Amalgamated after an eight months' controversy.

TRUCK FREIGHT TERMINAL WALKOUT IS SETTLED

New York City.—Platform men and checkers returned to work at long-distance truck freight terminals, ending a strike that had virtually stopped trucking to and from the city. A thousand workers were involved.

The union, affiliated with the A. F. of L., was granted a 21-month contract with a wage scale of $5.50 a day for the first 10½ months and $6.50 a day afterwards. An eight-hour day was included. The union had demanded originally $6.50 a day, compared Lodge to Introduce Bill Increasing Old-Age Pension Payments

Washington.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., has notified his associates in Boston that he will introduce in the next congress a bill rasing old age payments from an average of less than $30 a month to $60.

While the draft of his bill is not complete, his correspondence on the subject gives his tentative plan to have the federal government pay $40 a month to persons over 65, and the state to contribute $20.

In his own state, Massachusetts, the rate of payment averages $27.88 per month, the federal government and the state contribute $13.94 each.

"Incentive taxation" seems to be the name of the latest scheme by which big business hopes to dodge its proper share of public burdens.

Business Agent Crawford Gets Xmas Card From His Union That Is Most Discouraging

Almand Crawford, business representative from the office of the Operating Engineers, is feeling low this week because of a Christmas greetings card he received which, incidentally, told him what a good business agent should be. The Labor World sets forth the message which Brother Crawford got from his "bosses":

Qualifications for a Business Agent's Job

A Business Agent is supposed to be a man who is capable of creating jobs for the Membership when there is no work going on or any jobs to be had. He must be particularly fitted to have a job ready for a member when he reports as being out of work because that is what he was elected for. He must have the ability to defend himself on all occasions, physically and otherwise, and have ample influence to get members out of any kind of trouble at all times, no matter how serious the trouble may be. He must have sufficient real estate unencumbered so as to be in a position to sign personal bonds. He must know all the judges and politicians so as to assure any member in trouble a certainty that everything is fixed. He also should carry enough ready cash to insure the membership small loans for lodging, gasoline, tobacco and other things as may be required by the membership, and particularly for the purpose of cashing checks. He must visit all the sick members, attend all funerals and he must furnish his own car to carry members sightseeing, shopping and to all jobs, and have a telephone in his home and the members' telephone numbers in his vest pocket at all times, night and day.

He must keep himself posted so as to know where every member can be located on a minute's notice, even though a member has moved his residence overnight. He must be capable of defending a member before all employers, even when a member has been discharged for good cause, and force employer to maintain men in his employment whether the employer wants to or not. He must be able to collect all wages for members, which conscientious scruples forbid members to collect for themselves. When sending a member out on a job he should have sufficient vision to give the member the correct number of days the job will last, the amount overtime that can be made, what day is pay day, how many days' pay the contractor holds back, who the pusher is, and who the contractor is he is to work for; also whether they pay in cash or by check. He must purchase tickets for all bazaars, picnics, dances, boxing contests, ball games, and for all other charitable purposes from his personal funds. He must never call a member at home except for a job or to alibi him to get out or get in at home.

The Business Agent must keep posted on conditions of work in all cities in the United States and Canada, the contractor who has the job, and be personally acquainted with all Business Agents and Secretaries of other local unions and the international officers, so as to insure prompt acceptance of his transfer card, or at least assure the opportunity of going to work in another local union's territory without hindrance. He is held responsible for all new members accepted into the local union. He must have a pleasing disposition, never be discourteous, be posted on weather conditions so as to tell in advance whether the sun will shine or if it will rain or snow. He must keep posted on all current events, visit all members on their jobs, know how to run or fix any car belonging to the members if they have any trouble with their car. He should know how to get the best results from radios or saxophones, and how to get a member out of his wife's dog-house, and he positively must know what the big daily number will be. He must know who are the best doctors, lawyers, and loan sharks. He must know all the good night clubs and how to keep from paying cover charges, and always be ready to pay the check if he is in the party.

He must keep in mind the social security number of each member and how much they will receive when they become 65 years old. He must know all about P.W.A. and W.P.A., and how to place a member on W.P.A. whether or not the member is on relief. He must know all about the wage and hour law and how to get overtime pay under it without working overtime. He must be able to accept all insults from members and learn to like it. If a Business Agent can do all of these things with a smile on his face most of the members will say he is a deaf and dumb Business Agent and should be defeated at next election.

Should you be all that is required as herein above stated, we are satisfied that you must be a good one and the least we can do to add a further burden to your duties is to wish you a

VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

Frank A. Fitzgerald,
General Secretary-Treasurer.

John Possehl,
General President.

Typos Postpone Regular Session For One Week

Chattanooga Typographical union usually holds its regular monthly session on the first Sunday of each month. However, the January meeting will fall on Jan. 1, which is a bad time for anybody to try to do business. For that reason the meeting has been pushed off for one week, and every member is being notified that the local will meet on Sunday, Jan. 8, at the usual place, at two in the afternoon.

Rex Richey Signs Culinary Contract

Rex Richey, who operates the Rex's restaurant at Eighth and Cherry streets, signed an agreement with the Culinary Workers on Tuesday of this week, according to Louise Tinker.

Mr. Richey was one of the first to sign an agreement with the organization two years ago. Later he sold his place to Carl Williams. About two or three months ago Mr. Richey took over his place again, but did not sign an agreement, saying that at that time he could not abide by the contract and would sign nothing until at such time that he felt he could do so and have a 100 per cent house.

Miss Tinker said of the new union house, "Mr. Richey now has a 100 per cent union house and is worthy of the support of each and every trade unionist. We appreciate his frankness with us, and now that he has signed one of our contracts we are certain that he will live and abide by same. We urge our friends to show their appreciation by giving this restaurant operator their support."

School Custodians Well Organized in Cleveland

Cleveland, O.—Roy Seitz, international vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, announced that Cleveland school custodians had been organized under a charter from his international union. The new organization is designated as Local 777.

It was stated that about 50 per cent of school custodians of Cleveland are paid-up members in the new local and that around 75 per cent have signed applications for membership.

Louisville Machinists Land Wage Raise Pact

Louisville, Ky.—Lodge No. 681 of the International Association of Machinists, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has negotiated a closed shop contract with the General Machine company, of Louisville, providing for a wage increase of 12½ cents per hour, time and one-half for all time over seven hours per day, double time for work after midnight, Sundays and holidays. Seniority and apprenticeship provisions were also secured.

It was pointed out that the provision for the 7-hour day, which is not usual in Louisville, is regarded as the outstanding achievement in the agreement, which was negotiated by Edward L. Mercker, business representative of Lodge 681.

A. F. L. UNION CHOSEN BY KNIT GOODS WORKERS

Cohoes, N. Y.—The Cohoes Knit Goods Workers' Union No. 21514, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has been certified by the national labor relations board as the sole bargaining agency of production employes of the Colonie Fibre company, Inc., Colonie, N. Y. The certification was made following a secret ballot election in which the vote was 36 in favor of the A. F. of L. union and none against it. Millwrights, supervisory and office employes were excluded from the bargaining unit.

Use in Schools of Japanese Equipment Condemned by Organized Labor

At its last meeting Monday evening, Chattanooga Central Labor union instructed a committee to visit officials of the city and county school systems and present a request that the use of Japanese molding equipment be discontinued.

A delegate had one of the sets now being used in the schools, and stated that he thought that our schools should immediately weed out all nazi-made and Japanese-made products.

The committee has reported that Supt. A. L. Rankin, of the county system, has promised to immediately stop the use of such supplies, and Commissioner McMillan has promised to investigate.

This move is a follow-up of a national campaign being waged by the American Federation of Labor to put an effective boycott on all nazi countries in protect of the inhuman treatment being given to minority groups in those countries.

Vast Program of Slum Eradication Would Lighten Taxpayers' Load, U.S. Housing Authority Says

Washington, D. C.—"If the United States Housing Authority's slum clearance and low-rent rehousing program were extended to provide decent homes for the vast majority of the 'Third of the Nation' now living in slum hovels and shacks, the resultant theoretical increase in local taxes would be less than one-tenth of one per cent.

"On the other hand, the widespread social and economic benefits and the moral uplift resulting from such a bold and comprehensive program of slum eradication would inevitably bring about an actual decrease of the burden local taxpayers are now shouldering."

These are the opening paragraphs of a statement issued by the USHA. They can scarcely be improved, either in force or clearness; and the whole statement is marked by the same fine workmanship. Going on, the statement says:

"Construction costs on low-rent housing projects now under way are establishing new all-time lows, making possible a range of rentals not only far below the rentals charged for new housing erected by private builders but even below the rentals heretofore reached by public housing.

Union Agreements Help

"Why are the costs so low? For one thing, the agreement with the building trades unions remove many of the uncertainties and possible delays in big housing jobs and have most assuredly played a part in the reasonable bids submitted. Also, these new projects will be built under normal, local building conditions, from local rather than Federal specifications. This is only one of the many ways in which the policy of decentralization is working out with great success.

"In New York the net construction cost per home will be about $3,350; and in Buffalo, about $3,500. These are both cities where building costs are usually relatively high. In Austin, Texas, the average net cost of constructing homes for low-income families will be only about $2,200 per unit."

Big Housing Need Shown

Pointing out the need for rehousing, the USHA says:

"The startling results of recent surveys of 5,000,000 residential buildings and 8,000,000 households in 204 localities comprising more than half the urban families in the United States are summarized as follows:

"About 1,100,000 homes contained in 830,000 buildings have such serious structural defects that they are unsafe or absolutely unfit for use.

"More than 1,661,000 homes, or about one fifth of the total, have no private bathing facilities, and 1,221,000 do not have private indoor water closets.

Over Million Homes Crowded

"About 850,000 families are 'doubled up'—that is, are sharing their homes with other families. Over 1,300,000 homes are 'crowded'—that is, have more than one person per room.

"In a number of cities in England, Holland and the Scandinavian countries, more than one family in five is living in a housing project owned and operated by the municipality with government aid."

Safeway Stores Sign Retail Clerks' Pact

Santa Ana, Cal.—Local No. 1137 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association have negotiated an agreement with the Safeway Stores operating in Orange county, of which Santa Ana is the county seat, covering about forty employes.

The agreement is in accordance with the statewide pact recently entered into between the Retail Clerks' association and the general management of the Safeway Stores.

E. D. Maurice, financial secretary of the Retail Clerks' local, said the definite defeat of the anti-labor initiative proposition No. 1 at the recent election has resulted in a noticeable surge of interest on the part of employes to join the union, and also a very perceptible cordiality toward unionization on the part of employers.

Newspaper Teamsters Favor A. F. of L. Union

Seattle, Wash.—The International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, Local No. 763, has been certified by the national labor relations board as the sole bargaining agency for the employes in the outside circulation unit of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer department of Hearst publications.

The certification was based upon a comparison of the union membership lists with the company pay roll which revealed that 104 of the 128 workers in the unit had designated the teamsters' local as their bargaining agent.

Unions Win Back Pay For Hotel Employes

Washington, D. C.—A striking illustration of the benefits which working men and women secure from membership in A. F. of L. unions came to light here in the success of the Hotel Service Workers' union in obtaining reinstatement and $290 back pay for two union members employed by the Raleigh hotel.

Last summer the hotel management laid off a maid and a doorman because of lack of work, but when business picked up in the fall the management failed to reemploy them.

The union protested this action, with the result that the hotel management agreed to pay the maid $200 for lost time and the doorman $90. In addition, both employes were reinstated.

Elgin Teamsters Win Wage Raise Contract

Elgin, Ill.—Local No. 330, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, negotiated an agreement with the Ward Baking company providing wage increases ranging from $4 to $7.50 per week in the Elgin district. The agreement, covering five drivers, was signed by the Chicago officials of the company.

Howard Floyd, business agent of the union, said that drivers for the Grennen Baking company and the Schultz Baking company, both of whom have one driver in Elgin, are operating under union conditions with union agreements pending.

IN THE NEWS
HERMAN OLIPHANT

Herman Oliphant, who is asking about 55 per cent of the worthwhile questions of persons appearing before the Monopoly Committee, is a lawyer whose head is shrewdly packed with facts that most lawyers never learn, or forget when the case is over. A Washington newspaper man mentioned that he was shocked to learn that in 1929, a little over 50 per cent of the commercial deposits were held by the 100 largest banks.

"Of that proportion is higher than that now," said Mr. Oliphant. He called for the records, and showed that in April, 1938, those 100 banks held 52,6 per cent.

That shows the quality which makes him such a searching—and enlightening—questioner.

Herman Oliphant was born in Indiana, Aug. 31, 1884. He is not, therefore, one of the New Deal's younger men; but there is nothing at all decrepit about him. He is about 5 feet, 10, straight backed, no rounding of the shoulders, no fat, rather sharp, clean cut features, blue eyes and a shock of gray hair. He graduated first in the schools and higher institutions of his native state. He has been professor of law in the University of Chicago, in Columbia University, in the Institute of Law at Johns Hopkins. He has held several legal positions with the United tSates government; and is now general counsel to the Secretary of the Treasury.

The fact that he knew the reporter's figures on bank deposits were out of date, but gave no figures of his own until he had consulted the record is rather illuminating.

18 Additional States Soon to Begin Unemployment Benefit Payments

Washington, D. C. — Beginning of unemployment benefit payments in New Mexico and Oklahoma in December, and in 18 additional states in January, will bring the program of unemployment compensation established by the Social Security Act into full operation in every state but two, as well as in the District of Columbia, Hawaii, and Alaska, the Social Security oBard announced here. Illinois and Montana will begin to pay benefits in July, 1939, making the system effective throughout the nation.

Some 6,000,000 commercial and industrial workers in the 20 states soon to begin payments are estimated to have acquired credits toward benefits under their unemployment compensation laws and will thus become potential claimants for benefits if they are laid off or lose their jobs. Approximately 147,000 employers are covered by these 20 state unemployment compensation laws.

The 18 jurisdictions where benefits will be paid after Jan. 1 are: Alaska, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Washington, Wyoming.

All told, over 27,500,000 wage earners and 670,000 employers in the United States and its territories come under Federal-state unemployment compensation. This nation-wide program covers most types of industrial and commercial employment but excludes agricultural and domestic worg, self-employment, Government service, work for nonprofit educational and charitable institutions, and a few other kinds of employment.

Strikebreaking Agency Denied License

New York City.—Upholding charges that the company had been "inimical to labor," the New oYrk State Division of Licenses denied to the Railway Audit and Inspection Company a license to operate as a private detective agency. The American Civil Liberties Union, labor and other groups joined last August in contesting renewal of the company's license at hearings before the Division of Licenses. It was charged that the R. A. & I. Co. has been engaged in provoking industrial riots, spying on labor unions and supplying employers with tear gas and arms.

In rejecting the company's application, Abraham S. Wechsler, director of the division, found that the company had "engaged in practices inimical to labor and practices which have created strife and unrest in industry in most of the industrial centers of the United States."

The company had been denied permission to withdraw its application, which would have avoided a finding against it.

Majority of Americans Now Ready for Boycott of Nazi Goods, Poll Indicates — Some Explanations Called for in "Musica Mystery."

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington.—Sixty-one per cent of American citizens, according to the Gallup poll, are ready to boycott German goods as a protest against the crimes of the nazi givernment.

This is a most healthy sign of progress. But it means that 61 per cent of the American people now are ready to take the step which the American Federation of Labor advocated at the convention of 1933.

A five-year lead in a matter like that is something worth mentioning.

The state authorities of Connecticut and New York doubtless will help some in unraveling the case which any detective story writer would call the Musica mystery. But the main task is with Uncle Sam's department of justice at Washington; and I have not the slightest question that they will make a cracking good job of it. Also, for the prevention of such cases in the future, reliance must be placed on increased powers to Uncle Sam's securities and exchange commission.

Daily papers will spread details as fast as federal authorities reveal them. This is the place for calling attention to basic facts. One of those facts, according to entirely uncontradicted reports, is the fact that the nationally known firm of accountants, Price, Waterhouse & Co., never made any check on the physical assets of McKesson-Robbins, through which the Musica brothers were working their graft. Two big warehouses for crude drugs, down in the books for substantial sums, never existed.

It will be interesting to hear the explanations which the accountants make of that and some other things.

Harold L. Ickes, of the interior, has been from the first the most outspoken, hard hitting member of the cabinet of the present administration. No one who knows his fight on Insull in Chicago is surprised; but Ickes almost surpassed himself in his speech on nazism before the Zionist society in Cleveland.

"How," he asked, "can any American who pretends to believe in the enlightened principles that constitute the warp and woof of our American life, accept a decoration at the hand of a brutal dictator, who with that same hand is robbing and torturing thousands of human beings? Perhaps Henry Ford and Charles A. Lindbergh will be willing to answer that question."

Teamsters Land Wage Increase in Muncie

Muncie, Ind.—Teamsters Union, Local 369, an A. F. of L. affiliate, have secured an agreement with the Beatrice Creamery here providing a 33 per cent increase in wages and reducing the work week for women from 54 to 48 hours.

Louis Meisel, of the Indiana state labor division, assisted in finalizing the contract following a two-day strike.

FACT, NOT DENUNCIATION, NEEDED

(By Raymond Clapper.)

Chairman O'Mahoney, in the first two series of hearings before his joint economic committee, has demonstrated that it is possible to conduct a penetrating and conclusive line of inquiry without boiling anybody in oil. The very cold objectivity of the procedure made the facts disclosed in the investigating of the glass bottle industry all the more devastating. From testimony of top executives in the industry itself, the O'Mahoney committee laid bare a picture of tight monopoly, combining the crop control features of AAA and the industrial regulation of NRA all neatly executed by private industry through a monopolistic grip on the business of manufacturing glass bottles.

But nobody was hauled out of town on a rail. On the contrary, as the glass bottle hearings closed, Chairman O'Mahoney thanked the glass bottle executives for co-operating to provide the facts, Trust Buster Thurman Arnold seconded the chairman, and then Judge Edgar Goodrich, counsel for the witnesses, thanked the committee for its unfailing courtesy and kindness to his clients. If Judge Goodrich had brought his guitar along, the hearings would have wound up in a singing party.

Yet the record of those hearings is packed with enough dynamite to blow the present patent system out of the water, as it may very likely do.

N. Y. LAUNDRY WAGE ORDER OBEYED

Albany, N. Y.—All but 6 per cent of the laundries in the upstate area are now complying with the Mandatory Minimum Wage Order, which went into effect on Aug. 22, Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller announced in making public a report on inspection in that section of the state.

"In our enforcement of the Mandatory Wage Order for the laundry industry," Commissioner Miller said, "we have had the active cooperation of employers as well as employes. The large majority of laundry workers in New York state have long been convinced that effective application of the minimum wage alw to the laundries is not only advantageous to all concerned, but absolutely necessary for stabilization of the industry."

Cleveland Strike Won By AFL Truck Drivers

Ten Cents Per Hour Wage Increase Obtained From Four Companies After Two-Day Walkout.

Cleveland, Ohio. — A militant two-day strike called by City and County Truck Drivers Local No. 244, A. F. of L. affiliate, against four waste paper concerns, resulted in an agreement carrying a wage increase of 10 cents an hour for drivers employed by the companies.

Under the old agreement the drivers were paid 50 cents an hour. They asked for an increase to 75 cents, but compromised on 60 cents. The wage increase was the only matter in dispute pending the negotiations for the new agreement.

The companies involved in the strike were: Winters Paper Stock company, Cleveland Waste Paper company, Albert Silberman & Co., and Kaplan & Kaplan company.

"Jumbo" Circus To Help Hospital Buy Equipment

Bringing 300 featured performers from leading circuses of the land, "Jumbo," world's largest indoor circus, will have its premiere showing at the Memorial Auditorium here beginning Jan. 2 and continuing the entire week.

Opening at a time when the country's most famous big tops are in winter quarters, "Jumbo" has been able to secure the pick of the performers from the American circus world, including star acts from Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Baileys, Hagenbeck-Wallace, Sells-Floto, Downie Brothers and other well-known circuses for its week-long performance here.

All proceeds will go towards equipping the new wing of Erlanger Hospital which is now nearing completion. The Woman's Hospital Auxiliary is sponsoring the performance of "Jumbo" here and already thousands of tickets have been sold. With no other funds available for buying beds, equipment, instruments and supplies for the new hospital, the large new wing would not otherwise be available for use. Mrs. Richard Kimball is in charge of the ticket sales which are under way and will continue all next week.

"In attending 'Jumbo,' Chattanoogans will not only be seeing one of the best circus exhibitions ever shown here, but they will be aiding a worthy cause as well," Mrs. Kimball, president of the hospital auxiliary, said.

Opening with the spectacular prelude to Billy Rose's Broadway stage show with scores of beautiful girls and others in swings, with fireworks - fountains playing and with much of the musical score from the New York hit, "Jumbo" will swing into the always-entertaining acts that make circuses the nation's most enjoyable entertainment.

The entire first floor of the auditorium will be transformed into a magic "big top." Included on the program will be spectacular jugglers and aerialists that always make up a circus program. One of the most popular skating acts in the entertainment world, tumblers, daring trapeze performers and other feats of skill and daring will be included on the program. There will be a sensational pony act, trained elephants will perform, while funny clowns keep the crowds in laughter. The program, which will be all professional, will last for two and one-half hours.

Opening on Monday, Jan. 2, "Jumbo" will be given each night for the week, with a matinee on Wednesday and three performances Saturday, with special prices for children.

ON "JUMBO" PROGRAM

The tiny Del Rios, world's smallest circus entertainers, will be one of the featured acts of "Jumbo," large indoor circus, which will open at the Memorial Auditorium Monday, January 2, to continue the entire week.

Paul Del Rio, member of the troupe, is the smallest human individual alive, standing only 19 inches in height. He recently was given a big write-up in Life magazine.

Chicago Teamsters Negotiate $1,500,000 Pay Increase

Chicago.—An increase in pay of about $1,500,000 annually for between seven and eight thousand truck drivers has been obtained, despite the recession, under a two-year union shop contract entered into by Local No. 705, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, an A. F. of L. affiliate, and the Cartage Exchange of Chicago and Illinois Motor Truck Operators' association.

The agreement boosts wage rates $2 a week and limits the work week to 51 hours. Weekly minimums range from $31 to $34 for motorcycle drivers and $34 to $43.50 for truck drivers. Time on the job before 7:45 a.m., when the work day begins, or after 5:15 p.m., when it ends, is considered overtime and is paid for at the rate of time and one-half. Double time is to be paid for all holiday work.

Some 200 employers were represented in the negotiations with Local No. 705 of the I. B. of T.

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly.

"Hope springs eternal." So, as ever, a new year brings fresh hope to the human race. Hope of happier times, with more money to spend.

Imrovement in business and industrial conditions gives 1939 a better start than 1938 had. Incomes and living standards are again on the rise. That makes for national cheerfulness and optimism. A spirit of co-operation among all groups is more in evidence than in some years, many observers say.

If this spirit is indeed rife, 1939 is off to a promising start, despite dark clouds, domestic and foreign.

Benefits of the wage-hour pact are expected to begin to "take" in 1939. As more and more groups of meagerly paid wage-earners are brought under provisions of the law, its effect will grow. Wages will advance in many sections. Help to flat pocketbooks will be first in evidence where the increases go into effect. Then they will spread, farther and farther, ultimately giving a boost to all buying power and brightening the whole national picture.

Representative Dies demands that administration leaders say exactly how they stand on continuation of his house committee inquiry into anti-American activities. Well, why not? Attitude of some administration spokesmen has indicated dislike of the Dies investigation but they have said little publicly. Why shouldn't they speak frankly, so the American people will know beyond a doubt where they stand.

As Dies says, the American people "have a right" to know the facts in the matter

Firemen Win Pay Raise For School Custodians

Cleveland, O.—Following negotiations lasting six months, Local No. 52, of the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, succeeded in having the Cleveland school board adopt a resolution awarding wage restorations of $288 a year each for 161 assistant school custodians employed by the board. The order became effective Dec. 1.

It was reported that the final adoption of the restored-pay ordder was largely due to the influence of Thomas J. Martin, president of the school board and leader of the board's labor bloc.

Roy Seitz, business agent of the union, said that as a result of the wage restoration the 161 assistant custodians will receive $144 a month, instead of $125.

Winning Answer.

An enterprising Florida newspaper offered a year's subscription for the best answer to this question: "Why is a woman like a newspaper?"

Here are some of the answers:

"Because you can't believe anything they say."

"Because they are thinner now than they used to be."

"Because they are easy to read."

"Because they are well worth looking over."

"Because back numbers are not usually worth what they cost."

"Because they always have the last word."

"Because they carry the news wherever they go."

But the crowning answer of all and the one to win the subscription was this:

"Because every man should have one of his own and not run after his neighbor's."

War is the great enemy of democracy and constitutional processes, the great promoter of dictatorship and centralization with their inevitable attendant bureaucracy.—Senator Bennett Champ Clark, of Missouri.

BAKERS AND CONFECTIONERS' LABEL

This Label is an important safeguard of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union for its members against inhuman conditions, low wages and long working hours. People demanding this Label are not only supporting the Bakery and Confectionery Workers, protecting them against the conditions mentioned, but they are also protecting themselves and their families against the spread of disease-breeding germs which exist in unsanitary bake-shops. Our Label is only granted to sanitary and clean bakeries. If a bakery owner lives up to the requirements of our organization, he may use our Label. The Union shop workers are subject to health examination by Union physician and health maintenance by Union support.

Other requirements are (a) Sanitation and cleanliness in the shop; (b) treatment of the workers as human beings; (c) reasonable hours of work; (d) payment of the Union wage scale. Bakeries not displaying our Label on their products do not meet with either one or all of the above-stated requirements. Any fair-minded employer, however, will not object to them and may use the above Label. Does the bread you buy bear this protective Label of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers? We solicit your cooperation.

All Lansing Builders Sign Up With Unions

Lansing, Mich.—Practically all construction jobs in Lansing are operating on a union basis with the exception of a WPA water project, according to a report by Gus Eckout, secretary of the Building and Construction Trades council, which has succeeded in getting every contracting firm in the city signed up as one hundred per cent union employers.

It was pointed out that the result of the union shop agreements includes a high standard of wages with competent craftsmen employed and stabilized friendly relations between contractors flowing from the elimination of cut-throat competition.

YOUR DOLLAR

YOUR DOLLAR will be a regular monthly feature. The facts and opinions given are beased on the monthly reports of Consumers' Union, 55 Vandam Street, New York City, a nonprofit membership organization whose object is to safeguard buyers by testing and reporting on consumer goods. Note especially the information on labor conditions under which products are manufactured.

"All wool and two yards wide" may sound reassuring, but it still leaves almost everything untold about blanket quality. What you want, of course, is warmth without excessive weight, comfort and long wear, at a price that you can pay. These qualities depend on a number of factors not listed on most labels, and hard for you to determine without laboratory tests.

There are a few inspection tests that you can make. Hold the blanket to the light to examine for close, even weave and also to make sure the ends are cut straight. Squeeze a few thicknesses between your hands—the more springy and resilient the wool feels, the better quality it is apt to be. Rub the nap briskly with your palm and pull gently on it. If properly made it will not come off in the form of lint. Make sure the blanket is long enough and wide enough for comfort.

Yet having done all this, you still know next to nothing of how long the blanket will wear, how it will wash, how warm it will keep you. Laboratory tests of thickness, resistance to abrasion, tensile strength and heat-retaining properties are necessary to answer these important questions.

Consumers Union tested twelve all-wool blankets and five part-wool blankets to determine which brands offer best value. Best buys among the all-wool blankets were American Woolen Beaverbrook at $9.97 and Mariposa Winmoor at $7.94. Best buy of the part-wool blankets was Ward's catalogue number 3160, 84% wool, at $4.89 plus postage.

Fountain Pens

No need to pay a fortune for a good fountain pen—$2.50 to $3.00 will buy the best in fountain pen service and durability. And parents of youngsters who lose pens frequently might well remember that a carefully chosen 25c pen will give good service for a time.

When you try a pen, make sure that it starts writing instantly and continues smoothly; that the point fits closely against the hard rubber feed; that the two legs of the point are close together and do not cross or spread apart while writing. Check on ease and dependability of filling, and on ink capacity, which can't be judged from the pen's size. Gold points with good quality iridium tips will give longest wear.

Best buys at $2.50 to $3 were Waterman's "Junior" ($2.50, Sheaffer ($2.75) and Waterman's "Ideal" ($3.00), Consumers Union found in its tests of fountain pens. Cheaper pens which may give good value for the money are Wahl Eversharp, Kreco (S. H. Kress & Co.), and Fifth Avenue (Woolworth's).

Union Made Fountain Pens

Both AFL and CIO unions exist in the fountain pen industry, yet a great many shops are still unorganized. Parker pens are made in a closed shop of the Pen and Pencil Workers' union and the International Association of Machinists, AFL. Waterman pens except the Waterman Vis-O-Pen are made in a closed shop of the United Rubber Workers of America, CIO. Most Wahl Eversharp workers, Consumers Union was informed, belong to the Pen Makers' union, AFL. Non-union brands include Carter, Esterbrook, Inkograph, Kreco, Sheaffer, Sheaffer's Wasp. The Sheaffer company, it is reported, "pays the poorest wage, is absolutely opposed to unionization."

Radio Sets

1939 radios show little improvement over 1938 models, Consumers' union reports in rating thirty-four models in its December issue. Featured in some sets are short-wave bandspread—a mechanical aid for tuning in short-wave stations; and the wireless remote control, the latter a very costly convenience. If you don't feel you must have the latest model, a 1938 radio at a good discount will be a better buy than the corresponding 1939 model at list price. Among last year's sets offering good value are Philco 93B ($25), General Electric F-63 ($39.50), Stewart Warner 1812 ($49.95), Grunow 589 ($59.95), Grunow 663 ($79.95), CD or Lafayette B-44 ($94.75), Zenith 9-S-263 ($124.95). Prices given are 1938 list prices.

Radio Workers.

Standardized manufacturing processes have turned radio into an industry largely composed of semi-skilled and unskilled workers, who till a few years ago were unorganized and therefore suffered low wages, irregular employment and long hours. The United Electrical, Radio and Machine Works of America, CIO, which began organizing radio workers only a few years ago, has already won for thousands of its members in closed shops increased pay, the 40-hour week, time and a half for overtime and vacations.

So many sets are union-made, either under the UERMWA or the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL, that no one need any longer accept a non-union product. Detrola, General Electric, Philco, RCA, Silvertone are union made. Emerson, Majestic, Stewart Warner and Zenith are bitterly anti-union.

Aristocratic Democracy

By CHARLES STELZLE

Executive Director, Good Neighbor League

"The best government is aristocratic," the philosopher Aristotle said a couple of thousand years ago. Thomas Jefferson, a great American democrat, said the same thing. But neither Aristotle nor Jefferson meant that the best government should be in the hands of those whom we commonly call "aristocrats" today.

The word aristocratic is derived from the Greek word "aristos," which means "the best." The word democracy is derived from the Greek word "demos," meaning "the people."

Most of us will agree that government should be in the hands of the "best people," a combination of aristocracy and democracy. This means that the best government is that which is controlled by an aristocracy drawn from all classes, who are given leadership because of their character, their virtue, their ability to govern.

This shuts out the mob which possesses none of these requirements. It shuts out the gangs which have secured control in many of our cities. It shuts out the politicians who stoop to low-down tricks or selfish practices. It shuts out those who merely possess wealth. It shuts out those who have acquired economic power but who use it to exploit the workers. It shuts out so-called "labor leaders" who are dominated by the class spirit.

In the last analysis, the government should be in the hands of an aristocracy, composed of all classes, regardless of race, creed, color, or economic condition. These are the people who should constitute the rulers of a democracy which is truly aristocratic.

This would be an aristocracy of brains, of character. These qualities are just as prevalent among the workers of America as they are among the wealthy, the social leaders, the industrialists, those who now sit in the seats of those whom we regard as the "mighty."

Our country is safe because our constitution is based upon the principles just described. There can be no better form of government. The real aristocrat will defend this government against every attack tht is made upon it. If the time should ever come when our form of government should fail, it will be only because we have lost our character, our virtue, our courage to maintain it.

No outside force can take these from us. It will be only as we become flabby, or indifferent, or cowardly that this may happen. In other words, only as we lose our "aristocratic" spirit. This is the spirit which dominates the "common" people of America. And because they outnumber all others, we may rest assured that our democracy is safe.

Indianapolis Strike Won by Upholsterers

Indianapolis, Ind. — Following a strike lasting ten weeks, Local No. 24 of the Upholsterers' International Union of North America, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, negotiated an agreement with the John J. Madden Manufacturing company here, providing for an 8-hour day, 5-day week, time and a half for overtime, double time for Sundays and holidays, increase in piece-work wage scale, seniority rights, equal distribution of work as to quality and quantity, and sole bargaining rights for the union.

Gene Smith, business agent of the local, said that 46 union members returned to work following the signing of the contract.

What Next?

New things used at home and elsewhere include fans which draw warm air out of hot-air registers in hard-to-heat rooms, electric extension cords which stretch when required and then recoil to take up the slack, and batteryless flashlights with spring-operated electric generators which are wound up like a watch.

Measure for War Referendum To Be Pressed in Senate

Washington.—A group of senators of varied political belief are reported planning to renew attempts in the next congress to write a war referendum amendment into the constitution.

Senator Clark, of Missouri, announced that a resolution would be introduced early in the session to place the proposed amendment before the country for ratification. He predicted that it would have the initial support of a dozen senators.

The senate proposal will be similar to the revised version of a resolution introduced in the house last session by Representative Ludlow but killed, 209 to 188, when the house sent it back to committee.

Labor Board Gets Second Setback From Supreme Court in Case Involving Sailors' Sit-Down Strike

Washington, D. C.—The Supreme Court on Dec. 12 refused to review a lower court ruling setting aside a National Labor Relations Board order against the Peninsular and Occidental Steamship Co., New Haven, Conn., on grounds that the board's findings were not supported by evidence.

The decision constituted another Supreme Court setback for the labor board. A week previously the court ruled against the board in the Consolidated Edison Co. case, rejecting the board's order that the big New York utility company abrogate its contract with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, A. F. of L. affiliate.

In the steamship company case, the high tribunal denied the board's petition for a review of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals ruling against the order which grew out of labor disputes among crews of two P. and O. vessels, the Florida and the Cuba, while they were tied up in Jacksonville, Fla., early in June, 1937.

Had Union Contract

U. and O. had been operating under a labor contract with the International Seamen's Union, an A. F. of L. affiliate. While the vessels were tied up in Jacksonville, however, organizers for the CIO's National Maritime Union talked with members of the ships' crews and persuaded many of them to change their affiliation to the N. M. U.

The vessels were held up two days as a result of a sit-down strike which ensued. The board found that none of the men were discharged at that time, but that the ships' officers talked against the N. M. U. and urged the men to retain their I. S. U. membership.

Court Upheld Company

Later that month, all seamen on the ship were discharged and replaced by I. S. U. members. The board found that the discharges were illegal discrimination against the N. M. U., and ordered the company to reinstate them and cease discriminating against the N. M. U. The circuit court upheld the company's contentions that the discharges were made for fear of future labor troubles, and set aside the order.

The radio situation is desperate or a ventriloquist's dummy wouldn't have been cosen as the funniest comedian on the air last year.

MACHINISTS' LABEL

This label is produced in four forms, viz., a die stamped into the manufactured article or sunk into the mold, producing a raised label on the molded product; a paper label, pink in color, to be pasted on box containing article, or on the article itself; a brass label to be screwed on the article with small screws; a decalcomania transfer that is attached to the article.

The labels at present are used on butcher saws, mechanic's tools, barber and beauty shop equipment, mechanical saving banks, shoe-makers' cutlery and metal novelties, as well as on various types of machinery. The label is registered in the United States and Canada.

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Loud announcement has been made that the American Medical association will fight the indictment rendered against it by a federal grand jury "to a finish." But the word going round in Washington is quite different. That word is that a majority of doctors do not want to fight, that they can see that some form of group health association is coming, and are perfectly willing to have things tried out.

At this writing, the odds are that the indictment will be settled by a consent decree, which will open hospitals and medical societies to doctors in group practice.

The uncommon interest which the public is taking in this matter is not all hard to explain. In the last two or three years, increasing numbers of people are learning that poverty is one of the chief causes of illness and death. They are getting such facts as these:

Men getting from $1,500 to $2,000 a year have an average loss of seven days a year from illness and accidents; men getting less than $1,000 a year have 10.9 days; and men on relief have 17.4 days.

Day laborers in proportion to numbers have seven times as many deaths from pneumonia as professional men, and three times as many from tuberculosis.

It is bad policy to fight public opinion which is backed by such facts as these.

The general council of the British Trades Union congress and the national committee of the labor party have launched a workers' film association to present the cause of British organized labor on the screen. Talking films, educational, political and some foreign are already available. Cooperatives are being formed to buy sound equipment.

Nobody has yet wired from Britain anything to match the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union in its play "Pins and Needles." That is one of the most popular plays on the stage in this country; and if the political nature is less marked than in the British films, the ILGWU gets its message across, just the same.

The charge d'affaires of Germany in Washington has filed with our state department a categorical promise that residents of this country falling heir to property in Germany can have due credits for that property transferred to America without let or hindrance. Few papers printed the two reasons for Germany's action.

A week before this notice, a Philadelphia judge, Raymond Mac Neille, refused to allow money from a $91,000 trust fund to be sent to Germany. He said, in part: "In view of the fact that money belonging to beneficiaries in this country is not permitted to leave Germany, I do not think it fair or proper to transfer funds from this country for beneficiaries in Germany."

Reason 2: About $5,000,000 a year goes to German heirs from the United States, and not more than half that much comes in the same way from Germany to the United States.

But it was Judge MacNeille who rang the bell. Hitler might have dawdled over the second reason, but he came through on the other in a week.

A. F. OF L. OPENS CAMPAIGN TO AMEND LABOR ACT

Washington.—Legislative representatives of the American Federation of Labor, affiliated unions and the railroad brotherhoods met here and decided on a congressional legislative program which includes amendment of the national labor relations act, rail aid measures, extension of social security act benefits and continuance of present relief policies.

President William Green announced that federation attorneys virtually have completed drafting of amendments to the labor act, approved at the A. F. of L. annual convention, and said that they will be presented to congress with the "full backing" of his organization.

The amendments, he said, would take away from the NLRB its present power to determine whether a labor unit is to operate as a craft, plant or industrial group. They also would take away the board's power to void existing contracts between unions and employers, he added.

He said that broadly the changes would tend to make the act operate in a manner similar to the working of the railway labor act. He reiterated that the federation stands for preservation of the Wagner act and emphasized that "our complaint is against maladministration of the act."

At the same time, he continued, the labor act will include organized opposition to senate confirmation of the reappointment of Donald Wakefield Smith, a board member. He said that on the basis of replies to A. F. of L. questionnaires sent to all senators, he believed that sentiment is strong enough to "defeat him."

The federation has opposed Smith consistently on grounds that he favors the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Regarding carrier and legislation, Green said that the federation is prepared to support any recommendations of President Roosevelt's special rail committee, composed of management and labor representatives. He recalled that the A. F. of L. already is committed to such a course.

Chemical Workers Form Union in West Chicago

West Chicago, Ill.—The production employes of the Lindsey Light and Chemical company, West Chicago, have organized as Chemical Workers Union No. 21812, directly chartered by the American Federation of Labor. The union will become a part of the A. F. of L. Chemical Employes National council, which is organized chemical workers throughout the country.

Radio Workers Give Full Reasons for Trouble With Sterchi, Clemons

Ask Public to Help Them "Get from Under" Misuse of Radio Industry

Feeling that the public is entitled to know the true facts concerning the picketing of Sterchi and Clemons furniture stores, Local 662, Radio Workers, today is giving the objectives which it is striving to attain.

In the radio business there is a great deal of injustice done to the public as well as to the workers themselves, according to Business Representative Jean Paul Jones. In many instances the radio installation and repair department is made to act as a sort of advertising agency for the company, with the resulting cost loaded on to the man that does the work in the form of inadequate pay and unreasonable conditions of work. The knack of repairing radios is skilled work, the artisans themselves must prepare themselves in the knowledge of the business and must keep abreast of the rapidly changing developments in radio. The work itself is a profession, and it is the desire of the radio union to protect its standards and thus protect the public that has such work done.

In many instances a radio is sent in for repair because of some faulty reception. A bill is rendered for a dollar or so for labor and many dollars for "parts." Frequently no parts are used, yet the Business Agent Cook, along with Financial Secretary-Treasurer E. S Stacy and Recorder P. L. Wilhoite, were returned to their posts. J. W. Allen was named as president, with T. B. Walker as vice.

The important executive board will be headed by T. B. Walker, with E. L. Jett, M. L. Johnson, Ed Bork and C. D. Liddle serving with him.

The financial committee is composed of John T. Cotter as chairman and S. H. Martin and H. H. Kelly.

Delegates to Central Body will be John Cotter, Ed Bork, Charles Leonard and E. L. Jett. Delegates to Building Trades council are O. E. Cook and H. H. Kelly.

It seems that Local 43 is continuing its policy of letting men of long experience keep the reins, according to many building tradesmen.

Home Plate Stew Gets Going Again

The Home Plate restaurant is being picketed once more by the Cooks' and Waiters' union after a lull of nearly a year. This restaurant, charged by the union as being one of the mainstays in an alleged combination with several Greek owners to crush the union, has been declared "Nonunion," and members and friends of organized labor are being asked not to patronize nonunion restaurants.

Rumors have it that the injunction route will be sought in an effort to remove the pickets.

Louise Tinker, speaking for the organization, said: "For quite a while now we have tried to negotiate with Mr. Hudlow and he has in every way possible avoided us. We have tried to do business with him peacefully, but he forces us to act in a militant way. Had it not been for Mr. Hudlow and the stand he took against us during our early days of organizing our organization would today, without a doubt, be the largest in the labor movement in Chattanooga. We have learned from a reliable source that Mr. Hudlow is letting personalities enter into the controversy, a thing that we can't conceive in business transactions. He is kingpin in a group of nonunion restaurants and we don't intend letting any one individual stand in the way of the progress of our organization. I might add that we are in there for a fight—win or lose."

FLASH . . .

ANOTHER INJUNCTION

AS THE PAPER WENT TO PRESS A TEMPORARY INJUNCTION WAS GRANTED BY JUDGE YARNELL, WHICH RESTRAINED THE CULINARY WORKERS FROM PICKETING THE HOME PLATE. JUDGE YARNELL SET THE HEARING FOR THE THIRD MONDAY IN JANUARY.

PICKETS HAVE BEEN WITHDRAWN AFTER THE COURT ORDER WAS SERVED.

NOTICE

Radio Workers' Local 662 is desirous of having the public know the true facts underlying its organization, its purpose, and the true facts concerning its controversy with Sterchi Bros. and Clemons Bros. For this reason, its members are distrbuting several thousand extra copies of The Labor World in Chattanooga and vicinity, in the hope that they may not only merit the support of labor, but also that of a fair-minded public.

PRESSMEN ELECT

Local 165, Pressmen, elected this week a new slate of officers as follows:

President, J. E. Mallett; Vice-president, Dennis Hinkle; secretary-treasurer, White Abel; recording secretary, R. C. Reynolds. The executive committee will be Robert Borin, Ronald Owens and Clifford Trottman. Delegates to Central Body are Paul and R. C. Reynolds, Robert Borin and Stanley Cargile.

WOODWORKERS' No. 1882

Local 1882 met Tuesday night, Dec. 3, in regular session at the Amnicola schoolhouse. There was a good attendance.

Brother Bob Gaines, who has been ill for three months, left Wednesday for North Carolina. We hope he will soon regain his health and be back with us, for he is a loyal, active member of our union. He represented No. 1882 at the last state federation of labor convention.

Our union continues to grow—the membership has more than doubled in the last year. The cooperation and recognition that the Central Body has always shown is greatly appreciated.

We think that Brother Sim Cofer deserves special mention in this column. Not long ago, he bought himself a complete new outfit—suit, hat, n'everything. And every article he bought has a union labelo n it.

Two of our members were married shortly before the Christmas holidays. Arthur Brimlow married a young lady from Huntsville, Ala. He and Mrs. Brimlow are making their home at present with his sister, Mrs. Quarles, on Stewart street.

James Bankston, son of our treasurer, married Miss Agnes Whitaker, of Harrison, Tenn. They are living on Wheeler avenue.

Sudden Death of R.R. French Shocks Local Movement

Elevator Constructor Wheelhorse Was on Eve of Testimonial Dinner

On almost the eve of a surprise testimonial banquet to be given in his honor, R. R. French, charter member of Local 77, Elevator Constructors, passed away suddenly in Knoxville on Dec. 29. He died from pneumonia.

Brother French retired from active work on Oct. 1, 1938, and set himself up in a small filling station and grocery store a few miles out of Knoxville. On his retirement he was given an honorary life membership, and the local union had made plans for a testimonial banquet in his honor, at which time he was to be given a silver membership card and a handsome bill fold. Brother French had already been told to come to Chattanooga to "attend to some important union business," the plan being to surprise him with the nature of the business.

Local 77 was started in Brother French's basement. He fitted the room up with chairs and table, and for about two years the young and struggling local met in his home. Today the local is 100 per cent organized.

During his journeymanship he held every honor the local could bestow upon him. His funeral was attended by six members of Local 77, who acted as honorary pallbearers, and who placed in his coffin the billfold they intended to give him in person.

In Memoriam

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to take our beloved brother, R. R. French, who died in Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 29, 1938; and,

Whereas, the members of Local No. 77 wish to express their sympathy to the family and friends of our late brother in their bereavement; therefore, be it

Resolved, That our charter be draped for a period of thirty days, that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes, that a copy be sent to the bereaved family, and a copy to The Labor World for publication.

Guaranteed Work Pact Won by Retail Clerks

Akron, Ohio.—Local No. 860 of the Retail Clerks International Protective association, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has negotiated an agreement with Carlton's clothing store guaranteeing 52 weeks of work annually at a fixed salary plus commission for the salesmen employed by the firm.

In addition to a regular weekly salary, it was said, the salesmen will receive a liberal commission. The agreement also calls for one week's vacation with pay annually, with a second week without pay optional.

Union officials declared this was one of the first agreements in Akron to provide guaranteed employment for the entire year.

Building Trades Signing Up Most Home Contractors

Closed Shop Agreements Expected for All Small Home Builders

W. J. Everhart, president of the Chattanooga Building Trades council, announced this week that most satisfactory conferences have been held with most of the small home builders in the city, and that signed closed shop agreements have been secured from them, which means that in the future individual homes will be done union.

The building trades are in better shape than in all their history, and the building industry is becoming stabilized due to equal competitive wage scales.

The contracts signed are effective as of Jan. 1, 1939.

Respected Printer Taken by Death Last Monday

Employe of Times, News, Was Member of Masons, Funeral Tuesday

Blair Hunter McLaughen, 56, for thirty years a printer in Chattanooga, employed by the Chattanooga Times and the Chattanooga News, died Monday morning at 11 o'clock at his home, 2007 Bailey avenue.

Mr. McLaughen had been in the composing room of the News for the past fifteen years and before that was with the Times. He was a member of the Highland Park Methodist Episcopal church, south; Temple Lodge 430, F. and A. M., and of the Chattanooga Typographical union.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, Winburn and Leroy McLaughen, and a daughter, Miss Frances McLaughen, of Chattanooga; two brothers, Roe, of Washington, D. C., and Edgar McLaughen, of Kings Mountain, N. C.; five sisters, Mrs. J. L. Carson, Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. J. W. Kirkpatrick, Gainesville, Fla.; Mrs. Burt Sigmon, Washington; Mrs. Robert Murdock, St. Louis, and Mrs. F. E. McClain, of Gastonia, N. C.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Revs. E. D. Worley and R. G. Sherrer officiating. Interment was in Chattanooga Memorial park, with services at the grave in charge of Temple lodge, Masons.

Active pallbearers were F. T. Carter, Harris Hix, E. A. Kelley, L. M. Worthington, Arch Underwood and J. R. McGhee; honorary, I. J. Gardner, Walter C. Johnson, Gus D. Groner, Clifford E. Bridges, Dr. F. H. Collins, John O'Brien, W. S. Palmer, Earl Powell, W. F. McGaughy, M. M. Morris, R. B. Simpson, N. S. 'Nooga Unions Welcome Jumbo Circus

Former Ringling Performers Tell Labor World Contract Settled and Will Join Circus on Its Next Annual Tour

Splendid Indoor Circus Is Completely Union From Sawdust to Flying Trapeze---"Union Talk" Gets Warm and Friendly Reception

"Hello, there, you're doggone right we've got cards!" was shot back to The Labor World reporter when he stuck his head into the dressing rooms at the Auditorium this week and asked: "Any union men in here?"

Every performer in the Jumbo circus, playing all this week at the auditorium in a benefit affair for Erlanger hospital, has a paid-up card in the American Federation of Actors, an AFL organization. From the 19-inch midget to the clowns and trapeze artists, all are union. Most of them, it was discovered, were with the Ringling circus when the laborers in that circus were locked out last winter.

"Yeah, we were with Ringling—up to Scranton," they all said. Scranton was the scene of the disbanding of the circus. "However, the trouble is all over now," said the clown. "We go back to work when the circus starts off this year."

Warm praise was given Chattanooga as a good "big top" town. "We pack 'em in," the trapeze man said. "Chattanooga is tops for us."

Erskine Mabee, secretary for Central Body, told the performers that Chattanooga was proud that the show was all union, and hoped that their path in the future would become easier.

The show itself is splendid. Necessarily small, the quality has not been skimped. Every act is of the best. The work on the wires, the clowning and elephants merit packed houses. It's as good as any big top circus—there is only one difference—not as many rings.

The meek little man approached the constable on the street corner.

"Excuse me," he said, "I've been waiting here for my wife for over an hour. Would you be kind enough to order me to move on, officer?"

Daily Short Courses At U. T. Feb. 6-10

Knoxville.—The University of Tennessee's annual dairy short course will be held at Knoxville, Feb. 6-10. Sponsored by the U. T. department in co-operation with the division of extension, the course will attract persons from nearly all Tennessee counties.

Instruction will be given in the production, manufacturing and consumption of milk and dairy products. Actually, three separate courses will be given, in dairy manufacturing, in nutrition and health, and in dairy farming.

The course in dairy manufacturing, for experienced men in buttermaking, ice cream making, cheese making, market milk, condensed milk, marketing, machinery and equipment, will last the full five days.

The course in nutrition and health, for dairy inspectors and fieldmen, health officers, nutrition specialists, nurses, home economists, and consumers, will be held Feb. 8-9.

The course in dairy farming, for dairymen, breeders, dairy inspectors, farmer organizations and feed and equipment manufacturers will be held Feb. 9-10.

The "best dairy short course faculty in the world" will teach the course, according to Prof. C. E. Wylie, head of the dairy department. Specialists in all phases of the dairy industry will assist U. T. faculty members in instruction.

BOSS BAKER URGES UNIONIZATION

Low Wages Hinder Progress, St. John Employer Declares

ST. JOHN, N. B.—Stabilization of the baking industry is only possible by unionization of the employes and setting of minimum wages and working hours, according to John Dwyer, head of St. John, N. B. baking company, and one of the largest baking entities in the maritime province.

Mr. Dwyer complains that the master bakers of his district are handicapping their own progress, by paying low wages and forcing long hours in their bakeries. This policy reduces the circulation volume of money and the spending power, as well as producing inferior bread, cake and pastries because the low wages are not attractive to superior workmen, he says.

Dwyer has expressed himself strongly in favor of the American Federation of Labor efforts to organize the employes of the baking plants in the St. John zone. He points out that with minimum wages and maximum working hours, it will be possible to eliminate the price cutting which has been the evil spectre within the baking industry for several years. He says his firm has been practicing what it preaches right along, but co-operation by other master bakers is lacking, thus preventing the objective, that of sabilization of the whole industry.

He has proposed to his fellow master bakers that no obstacle be placed in the way of the A. F. of L. organization campaign for bakery employes, and the subsequent fixing of minimum wages and maximum working hours.

WPA REPAIRS THOUSANDS OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Washington.—The works progress administration finished 1,827 public buildings and enlarged and repaired 5,125 more between July 1 and Nov. 1 of 1938. These include many schools, gymnasiums and grandstands.

"These structures," said Col. F. C. Harrington, now administrator of the WPA, "represent only a small part of what the American public is getting for its work relief money. The present report does not cover the tangible assets created by highway construction, water supply and sanitation, conservation work and many types of public recreational facilities."

Good Union Men Blundered

Old-timers in the Chattanooga labor movement were aghast last Thursday evening when they saw and read of a group of members of the Chattanooga Typographical union and the Pressmen's union deliberately and en masse cross a Central Labor union picket line that was in front of the Read house. Other members of the typographical and pressmen's locals, who have helped their unions build up a respected dignity in the labor movement as two of the mainstays of organized labor here, are today in deep mourning—the affair struck deeply in their hearts.

The Read house has been on labor's unfair list for some years. From time to time pickets have marched around that hotel, and The Labor World has hundreds of times reiterated the Read house management's anti-union policy.

A manager of the Read house told a committee some years ago that "one of the good things that came out of the depression was the destruction of many labor unions." Mr. Sam Read himself indignantly declared in effect to another union committee that the union was a "shake-down" in which good workmen were compelled to pay dues for the privilege of working.

Mr. Read went so far as to say that if organized labor and its friends did not like his feelings toward them they could just stay out of his hotel as far as he was concerned.

However, the reasons for the appearance of the pickets about the Read house are immaterial. The fact that they were there officially and by sanction of the Central Labor union should be cause for any union member to refrain from crossing the line. Central Labor union laws require that before it sanctions a picket there must be a complete investigation of the controversy. It has sometimes happened that Central Labor union investigation has turned down requests for picket sanction on behalf of organized labor.

Chattanooga Typographical union is the oldest local in Chattanooga. It has builded up for its membership good working conditions and a fairly good wage scale. It did not do this by its own efforts alone. Without the whole-hearted support of the entire membership of organized labor, composed now of some ninety-one local unions, the printing crafts locals could not have been successful.

In the many years of its existence, the Typographical union has had to fight for its life several times. The question of the Typographical union's right to fight for life was never questioned by the rest of the members of the labor movement. Typographical pickets have been honored and respected. Typographical picket lines have remained inviolate at all times. As a result, the Typographical union has never lost a fight in Chattanooga whenever such fights were forced upon it.

The fact that Typographical union has not been forced into many fights in the last quarter century is the sole result of the splendid co-operation given it by organized labor. Enemies of the Typographical union know this, and as a result these enemies are not overly anxious to make attempts to destroy it.

Let no member of the Typographical union believe that this condition can never be ended! "Woe to them that are at ease in Zion," said the Prophet Amos. And we say to thoughtless members of the typographical, "Woe to the Typographical union if it thinks that it is so powerful that it can tell the labor movement that we are apart from the movement, that we can henceforth paddle our own canoe."

Unless the printing trades crafts demonstrate immediately and effectively to the rest of the labor movement that they do not condone the crashing of picket lines of other unions, we shudder to contemplate the future of those local unions. No one could blame a lukewarm, if not chilling feeling toward the printing crafts unions, if they were tomorrow faced with another fight for their lives.

The prestige and pride of the typographical and pressmen unions can yet be saved. The laws of these two locals provide suitable punishment for picket line crashers. This law was not made in contemplation that it would ever necessarily be applied. It was solely a gesture of co-operation with other local unions. Who would ever suggest that printers or pressmen would do such a thing? Of course it was absurd—until last Thursday.

It is reported that about eighteen or twenty members of the typographical crashed the line. Typographical membership numbers 167. Let no one condemn the 167 until they have had time to make amends.

The writer of this editorial is a member of Chattanooga Typographical union. He is very proud of that fact. Like Ben Franklin, we like to sign ourselves, T. R. Cuthbert, Printer. We feel certain that the offending members acted on impulse and without thought, that they themselves are truly sorry, and that they themselves will make amends.

Reports just given to The Labor World state that the Pressmen's local union has made amends at a meeting just held this week. The pressmen who crossed the line admitted like men that they had made a grievous error, said they were truly sorry and paid a $10 penalty each.

We've done it again, ladies and gents. We have gone after the Home Plate and Lindbergh never did a more perfect taking-off act than has this popular non-union restaurant. There is a picket before the door of Mr. Hudlow's Home Plate, so don't go there to eat as has one of our so-called union men. Too, we know why we have this capable picket there; Mr. Hudlow knows why we are picketing the place, the picket knows why she is before the restaurant, so instead of being a stumbling block why don't you uphold the principles of the great American Federation of Labor. You are a union man you know.

Lack of Funds Forces University to Exclude Spring Teachers' Term

Knoxville.—The University of Tennessee's six-week "Spring Term for Teachers" will be eliminated this year because of lack of funds, announced Dean J. A. Thackston, of the college of education, director of the spring and summer sessions. It will be the first time the term has been excluded since it was inaugurated in 1926.

"It has been impossible to find the necessary funds for this purpose," said Dean Thackston. "The only thing we can do is exclude it altogether."

The spring term, held during April and May, was originated primarily to train rural teachers whose schools open too early for them to attend the second session of the summer quarter and close too late for them to enroll in the regular spring quarter. Courses offered enabled both graduate and undergraduate teachers to improve their professional standing, said the dean.

In addition to courses for teachers, the spring term offered studies in practically all of the colleges and schools at the university. From 200 to 400 students usually attended.

60,000 NEW YORK HOTEL WORKERS WIN UNION PACT PROVIDING FOR WAGE INCREASES, VACATIONS

New York City.—A union shop agreement has been reached between the Hotel Association, representing 160 hotels of this city, and the New York Trades Council, representing six American Federation of Labor locals with about 60,000 members. The agreement is the climax of nearly a year's negotiations, and is to run to Jan. 31, 1942.

Several management representatives quit the conference in protest during the five hours which it lasted.

The agreement provided, in addition to the union shop, higher minimum wage scales, a horizontal pay increase of $1 a week for those unaffected by the new minimums, paid vacations, the check-off, and mediation and arbitration of disputes.

All non-union members must enroll in the union within thirty days after the agreement becomes effective, and new employes must be unionized within fifteen days. James A. McCarthey, executive secretary of the association, said, however, that individual hotels would not be bound by the agreement unless the union can prove that it has a majority of members in those hotels.

The following weekly minimums are provided:

Waiters, $9; waitresses, $7.50; chefs, $45 to $50; elevator operators, $17 to $19; maintenance workers, $25 to $30; engineers, $30 to $40; telephone operators, $18; bellboys, $4 to $11; housemen, $18; chambermaids, $12.50 to $14.50; and bartenders, $30.

The wage variants in the separate categories are based on three classifications provided for in the contract. The hotel classifications are transient, semi-transient and resident.

THEY'D PASS THE STORES

(From the Federation News, Official Organ Chicago Federation of Labor.)

A veritable wave of opposition has developed against the pending congressional bill to destroy the chain store industry with an excessive class tax.

During a recent week, for example, the Real Estate Association of the State of New York passed a sweeping resolution condemning destructive legislation of this type, on the grounds that it would "unquestionably seriously affect all property owners and real property values generally." The Chicago Real Estate board indorsed a similar resolution. The Potomac Grange pointed out that "all such penalizing measures burdening efficient distributors have been sponsored by selfish and oftentimes inefficient competitors in the distribution field, and the added burdens on distributors not only increase costs to the consumer but reduce the returns to the producer."

These expressions are typical of opinions coming from newspaper associations, from farm groups, and from consumers' organizations. The effort to tax the chains to death has met with determined opposition from the press, and from well known publicists of all shades of economic and political opinion. One of these is Gen. Hugh Johnson, who recently said, "This is to the greater good of humanity—that people shall have greater conveniences at less price and effort . . . I don't want to pay double or treble the present price of my jalopy to abolish Henry Ford and I don't want to pay 8 per cent to 10 per cent more for my groceries or dry goods or notions with a decline of 25 per cent in quality and service, to abolish mass distribution."

These individuals and organizations aren't fighting in defense of the chains per se—they are fighting in defense of the consumers' right to buy where he pleases, and where he gets the most for his money. As the Jefferson Texas, Jimplecute has said, THE SPONSOR OF THE LAW IN QUESTION "FORGETS THAT IF THE PEOPLE WERE OPPOSED TO CHAIN STORES, HE WOULD'NT HAVE TO PASS A LAW. THE PEOPLE WOULD PASS THE STORES."

The foreign minister of Japan tells the world that lending money by the United States to China is a "dangerous experiment." But so far, no quivers of terrors have been detected in any part of Washington.

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly.

Popular pastime of the Washington newspaper writers now is speculating on the size of the proposed armament program. All kinds of wild yarns are floating about. Many are being printed. Aim seems to be to beat the other fellow in telling the most lurid tale. Some of the boys are doing very well at the game and are spreading some tall tales before a supposed palpitating public. Public hasn't palpitated to any marked extent as yet, though. Which must grieve the boys who really believe the stuff they write. But perhaps none of them do. Which, if true, is a tribute to their intelligence.

Nation might almost get the idea the enemy was at our gates, to credit some of the Washington stories. Those who profit from the sale of armaments must be chortling in glee. They may not profit as much as they hope, however. Indications of a healthy skepticism are in evidence. Comment has already been made in this column on the doubters. Mention was made of Senator Borah and others. Maj.-Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, retired, recently charged "fear and hysteria" were being engendered in support of heavy expenditures for national defense. People who have their feet on the ground suspect there is something to what Moseley says.

Senators Wheeler and Nye are among the members of congress who will demand straight thinking, thorough investigation and carefully considered action on the armament program. Those are only commonsense requirements. There is little disposition to oppose armament really needed for defense. But there will be found, this column predicts, determined opposition to any attempt to arm for offensive war abroad or beyond what is needed for strictly defensive measures in our own territory.

If Congress investigates before acting, a lot of headaches will be prevented.

Schemes for 10,000 or more airplanes, for example, will likely go out the window on real investigation.

There are men in this country, in military and naval service and in civilian life, who can give light on what is necessary to make the United States safe from invasion or serious attack.

If they are called on to give their opinions, Congress will have something to go by.

There should be no objection to hearing the ultra-pacifists on the one hand and the advocates of feverish preparation on the other, either.

Let 'em all have their way. That is the American way. In the end, the chances are the fellows who really know their stuff would prevail and the extremists on both sides would lose.

Once congress has the facts, it can act with at least a measure of wisdom.

And that is about all that can be expected or even hoped for in this imperfect world.

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

The Pan-American conference at Lima has been a distinct though not unqualified success for the aims and proposals of Secretary Hull. He had to modify the language of some of his proposals; but in the end, they were passed unanimously. And in the proposal that disputes in the Western hemisphere must not be settled by war until every peaceful method has been tried and has failed, the change of words, though it doesn't make for clearness, doesn't alter the meaning.

A paragraph from Secretary Hull's final speech deserves to be quoted:

"We know that in much of the world, trust in any form of agreement has completely vanished. We know that might has stated that it would have its way, and would recognize no equal, except equal might. We know that the ordinary ends of living are being subordinated in the attempt to create vast and terrifying military machines, whose first purpose might be to create terror, and whose only final use could be to create the ruin of the world which we have fixed in our thoughts during this meeting. * * * Our task must be cast in the opposite direction."

Nazi papers in Germany claim the conference was a "total failure for the United States." It is anything but that.

The monopoly committee will hold its next meeting Jan. 16. The present prospect is that it will go on with the patent situation, and that the commerce department will take the stand to tell what it knows about patents.

Technological unemployment, which means in plain words the displacement of men by machines, is an ever present and growing fact. Practically all the machines which displace workers are or have been under patents. When the federal government is spending billions on unemployment, including technological unemployment, there is something just a little queer about the use of federal patents to pile up giant fortunes while adding to unemployment.

In the last case before the monopoly committee, it was shown that one company, the Hartford-Empire, dominates the glass industry, and with a closely related company, controls the production of 96 per cent of all the glass containers manufactured in this country in 1937. It does this through its control of basic patents alone.

Any "independent" glass company who wants to use the machinery under those patents is told by the Hartford-Empire what kind of glassware it may produce, and how much; in what territory it may sell its wares and with whom it may do business; and under what conditions it may use machinery that the Hartford-Empire does not own.

One of its basic patents, out of which it has cleared several million dollars, it bought in 1917 for $2,300. And in 1937, it earned 67.77 per cent on the net capital employed.

TOLERANCE ESSENCE OF DEMOCRACY

(From the brief filed in the case of Mayor Hague of Jersey City by the Special Committee on the Bill of Rights of the American Bar Association.)

It is because of the striking example of ruthless intolerance afforded by this case that it is so significant for the future of American civil rights. For tolerance is of the essence of the American system and of the American way of life—not only tolerance in religion, but also tolerance in matters of political, economic and social belief; tolerance not only of views that we can approve, but also (as Mr. Justice Holmes himself said) of views that we hate; tolerance not only of views that accord with our interests, but also of views that are inimical to our interests.

In the long run, a system of government and a way of life resting, as our does, on the consent of the majority can survive only if we support tolerance and free discussion within wide limits. The law alone cannot instill that degree of tolerance on which our institutions rest. Only education and a widespread understanding of the essentials of a free government can do that. But the courts can, in concrete cases, aid in preserving free institutions by forbidding definite acts that suppress lawful expression.

AFofL Has Won Fight, Green Declares

Coshocton, O. — William Green claimed victory for the A. F. of L. in its labor struggle with the CIO.

"I can say that the A. F. of L. has won its fight," Green told a gathering of 200 friends and neighbors. "It is stronger now than when the CIO was formed."

He cited reports which stated that the A. F. of L. has the largest paid-up membership in its history.

Q.—What are the fundamental machines?

A.—The "Six Simple Machines" are: Lever, wheel and axle, pulley, inclined plane, screw and wedge. But the three basic machines are the lever, pulley and inclined plane. All machines, no matter how complicated, use one or more of the principles of these three basic machines, according to L. V. Ragsdale, U. T. physicist.

Real National Income in 1937 Close to 1929 Figure, Commerce Department Finds

Washington.—As a result of a 10-year study, the department of commerce reports that per capita income in the United States was $540 in 1937, $494 in 1936, as compared to $668, the highest total reached, in 1929.

Total national income is given as $63,500,000,000 in 1937; a gain og 10 per cent over that of 1936, 100 per cent over that of 1932, but still behind the $81,100,000,000 reported for 1929.

In 1937, the report continued, the national income was 14 per cent below that of 1929, compared with declines of 9 per cent in wholesale prices and 15 per cent in the cost of living. These indicated real income in 1937 closely approximating that of 1929, according to the department's analysis, which also directed attention to the fact that the population of the nation increased by nearly eight million, or 6 per cent, from 1929 to 1937. The report stated further:

"The manufacturing industry accounted for 24 per cent of the national income in both 1929 and 1937, as compared to only 14.1 per cent in 1932. Government services, excluding relief activities, contributed 8.1 per cent in 1929, 16.8 per cent in 1932, and 10.9 per cent in 1937.

"Total compensation of employes accounted for 67.4 per cent of income paid out in 1937. This compares with 65.6 per cent in 1929 and 64.4 per cent in 1932. The proportion which interest represents of the national income increased substantially from 1929 to 1932, and then decreased to approximately the same proportion in 1937, as in 1929. Dividends, on the other hand, declined substantially in relative importance from 1929 to 1933 and increased thereafter."

A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying in other words that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.—Alexander Pope.

Agricultural Employment Drops 10 Per Cent, As Production Makes Big Gains, WPA Finds

Washington.—Despite a 27 per cent increase in the volume of production over the last twenty-five years, American farming today employs 10 per cent fewer persons than it did formerly, it is reported in a study entitled, "Trends in Employment in Agriculture, 1909-36," conducted by the national research project of the works progress administration.

Mechanization of many farming operations that formerly were done with human or animal labor is the principal cause of this change in productivity, Corrington Gill, assistant administrator in charge of research, declares.

"Although the average fertility of the soil certainly has not increased, and although efforts toward a higher quality of agricultural products have tended to increase labor requirements, the improved techniques of production nonetheless have cut the total number of persons working in agriculture in spite of an increased output," Gill says.

Gill cited, as one outstanding example of the effect of mechanization, that since 1920 the combined harvester-thresher has displaced most of the 100,000 to 200,000 migratory harvest hands who used to find employment every summer in the wheat belts of the Great Plains and the Pacific northwest.

Job Total Falls.

The report states that average total employment on farms declined from 12,209,000 in 1909 to 10,997,000 in 1936, a drop of approximately 10 per cent.

"The number of hired workers has declined, particularly in the last few years. In 1909 an average of 2,868,000 persons were working in agriculture for wages, while in 1936 this number had been reduced to 2,494,000. This decline, however, did not occur uniformly throughout the period . . . In terms of the statistics presented . . . it was the hired workers who felt the greatest effect of the depression. Where possible, their places were taken by the farmers' children as they grew up and stayed home, or by those who came home from the cities to work in return for shelter and food. . . ."

Unpaid Work Rife.

In 1936, more than three-quarters of all, farm labor was performed without wages by members of the farm operators' families, the report points out. A great deal of the work on the cotton crop is done by sharecroppers and their families, and the heaviest concentration of unpaid family workers was found in the south. The ability of the cotton crop to utilize the labor of women is similarly responsible for the high concentration of female farm labor in the south.

Q.—What was Andrew Jackson's "Kitchen Cabinet?"

A.—That was a term applied to a group of men who held no important governmental offices but who, it is believed, exercised a greater influence over the policy of the administration than the president's cabinet members themselves.

Leading Economists Take Strong Stand in Opposition to Any Cuts in Federal Relief

Washington.—Economists to the number of sixty-nine and government officials are joining the vigorous opposition of organized labor to any cut in federal expenditures for relief work.

Economists from such universities as Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Columbia, Chicago, Wisconsin and Illinois have written a letter to President Roosevelt, saying that any cut in WPA expenditures at this time is bad and dangerous.

"Such a policy would involve throwing some million breadwinners and their families into destitution during the severe winter weather," they said. "It would involve a reduction of more than $50,000,000 a month in direct wage payments in addition to some $30,000,000 in related expenditures.

"Such a cut in consumer purchasing power would, we believe, constitute a severe threat to the continuation of the present economic recovery, and might even cause a serious setback in business activity."

U. S. Money Routed Slump.

They go on to say that government expenditures were the chief weapon for turning back the recession, and bringing the present upsurge of business; and that the WPA was the chief agent in this work.

"We believe," they say, "the WPA should continue to perform this function until private industry clearly demonstates its capacity to absorb all those released from relief rolls."

Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board Marriner S. Eccles, in a blistering letter to Senator Byrd, of Virginia, who had attacked work relief, remarked that "I do not think that empty stomachs build character."

Defends Work Relief.

Eccles defended strongly work relief as opposed to a "dole," and said:

"We cannot expect to preserve our free institutions in this country if we condemn a substantial proportion of our people to prolonged idleness on a bare subsistence level of existence."

Federal Reserve Board Head Makes Strong Plea for Unemployed in Smashing Reply to Senator Byrd's "Economy" Speech--Three Resounding Slaps —for Nazis from Washington.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington.—Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, has established himself among those who pack a smashing wallop in debate. Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, one of those well-to-do gentry who want to "balance the budget" by cutting down relief, went to Boston the other day, and made a speech on that line. Here is a part of the open letter which Chairman Eccles sent to Senator Byrd:

"You assert that 'Millions of able-bodied citizens rely upon the government for support, and have ceased to exert their efforts for self-help to obtain private employment.'

"So far as I know, there is not the slightest evidence to support such a sweeping assertion. Any honest American citizen must resent the insult this implies to millions of self-respecting men and women.

"You state that you are concerned about 'the character of the individual citizen,' and 'the dignity and the rights of the individual.' So am I. I believe, however, that the most basic right of all is the right to live, and, next to that, the right to work. I DO NOT THINK EMPTY STOMACHS BUILD CHARACTER, nor do I think the substitution of idleness and a dole for useful work relief will improve either the dignity or the character of the people affected."

From Washington, of all the capitals of the world, has come the first official slap in the face for nazism. Three slaps, in fact.

Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state in Hull's absence, flatly rejected Germany's protest against the recent speech in which Ickes denounced the persecution of the Jews, and told the German diplomatic official who brought it that it ill became nazi officials to protest against the horror which America felt for such work.

"On the day that this "roast" was delivered, President Roosevelt took particular pains to dine with Secretary Ickes.

On the same day, Senator Key Pittman, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, issued a blunt, four-point statement, of which the second was:

"The people of the United States do not like the government of Germany."

Now comes the question:

How many daily papers which printed and rightly gloated over these facts told their readers that THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR TOOK THE LEAD YERS AGO IN DENOUNCING NAZI BRUTALITY AND PERSECUTION?

TEACHER TALK

Next week you will probably receive a bulletin dealing with Miss Josephine Hamilton's legislative committee's work on the proposed merit system. It is a large subject, and we are introducing it to you here.

The purpose of a merit system is to insure that only the best available prospects shall become teachers in our two system. Many cities and some state systems operate under merit requirements already. Recently in Chicago, a lawsuit brought to light that a committee of principals' "dummies" juggled the figures when they tested the talents of applicants, and a foolproof system was installed. Chicago now requires the board of education to choose for any position one of the three highest eligibles, and one eligibility list only is used. Training, experience and personality qualities all are included in making the choice. A further refinement is that of the Toledo schools, in which a "cadet" system obtains. Prospective teachers of promise spend two years of a sort of "interneship" under the guidance of a personnel teacher.

The federation feels that sponsoring a merit system is a real service to the cause of education in Chattanooga and Hamilton county.

UNION PACT PROTECTS OLDER WORKERS

Cincinnati. — A union contract, containing a clause to protect jobs of older workers, has been signed by the Associated Electric Contractors of Cincinnati and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The pact, effective one year, provides that every sixth man in a shop or on a job be not less than 50 years old.

Elmer T. Baur, of the Baur Electric company, chairman of the contractors' labor committee and a signatory to the contract, termed the clause "very commendable" and expressed hope it would succeed in practice.

A great democracy must be progressive or it will soon cease to be great or a democracy.—Theodore Roosevelt.

NOTICE

Chattanooga Central Labor Union will meet Monday night in regular session, Central Labor Hall, West Seventh Street, at 7:30 p.m. All delegates are requested and expected to be present.

Resolutions

HOWARD GOODMAN

Whereas, God, the great creator of all things, and of all peoples, has in His infinite wisdom called to his reward our colored brother, Howard Goodman; and,

Whereas, in such moments of grief and sorrow a message of sympathy and of understanding does much to assuage the pain and the sorrow; therefore, be it hereby

Resolved, by Local Union No. 18269 of Cement Workers, in regular session assembled, That we hereby convey to the family of Brother Goodman our heartfelt sympathy for them in their bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, a copy sent to The Labor World, and a copy spread upon the minutes of this organization.

Montreal Printers Win 40-Hour Week

Montreal, Can.—By agreement reached between Jacques Cartier Union No. 145, International Typographical union, with the three French language papers here, hours of labor have been reduced from 44 to 40 per week with the wage scale set at $1.00 per hour for day work and $1.10 per hour for night work. The agreement is to run to Dec. 31, 1939.

Cement, Lime, Gypsum Workers Make Big Gains Under AFL Banner

Chicago, Ill.—Twenty-two local unions, five of which were formerly with the CIO, have affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and the National Council of United Cement Workers in the last twelve months, Toney Galla, secretary-treasurer of the national council, has announced.

Eighty-six local unions of cement, lime and gypsum workers are affiliated with the A. F. of L. and have a total membership of approximately 15,000. A local has been established in almost every state. Seventy-four of the eighty-six local unions are affiliated with the national council.

Seventy union contracts are in existence. Several have been signed recently.

At Fort Dodge, Ia., Gypsum Workers' union, Local No. 21740, secured substantial raises in pay—40 to 65 cents a day—seniority rights and vacations with pay under a contract recently negotiated.

The United States Gypsum company agreed to a contract submitted by a local at Greenville, Miss.

All Contracts Renewed.

Three large lime companies near St. Louis, Mo., agreed to the union shop after a 22-weeks' walkout.

All contracts that expired during the year have been renewed, in most cases with improvements in working conditions and other concessions.

A strike of lime workers at Friday Harbor, Washington, which ended with complete victory for the union, was the only serious difficulty encountered in the last year.

The National Council of United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers has applied for and hopes to receive a charter as an A. F. of L. international union in the near future.

New York Labor Backs Nazi Goods Boycott

Albany, N. Y.—The executive council of the New York State Federation of Labor has indorsed the demand expressed in the letter of President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, calling on all organized labor to continue and intensify the boycott against German goods and services as a militant protest against the persecution of Jews, Catholics and trade unionists by the nazi government of Germany.

1938 Strike Total Cut in Half From 1937, NLRB Head Says

Columbus, O.—Strikes in 1938 were half as numerous as in 1937 and involved only one-third as many workers, NLRB Chairman Madden told members of the American Political Science association.

Madden pointed out that 1938 was the first full year of operation under the labor act as legislation of unquestioned constitutionality.

"As a result of vigorous organization campaigns and under the protection of the act the two great labor organizations claim about 8,000,000 members, as against less than 3,000,000 in 1934," Madden said.

Radio Racket . . .

By a Radio Worker

When a business or a trade is [illegible] equipment because the customer does not understand the operation of technical equipment, and as a result he is often deceived while learning by watching. Some of the most difficult jobs a service man encounters very often require less than a dollar's worth of parts, and in very few cases does the price of parts exceed $5.00, unless a new set of tubes is purchased. Yet the racketeer would have it appear that for a dollar service charge he has invested eight or ten dollars worth of parts. And this person who expects skilled service, the employment of valuable testing equipment, a home free [illegible] together with the work necessary to the successful completion of a repair job, all for the price of a "glass chit," is the person most likely to fall victim to this racket.

[illegible] too long over the head of the trained and experienced men, with a take it or leave it proposition thrown in his lap. As a result, men with years of experience and training and well qualified to render expert service on modern receivers have been compelled to work from sixty to seventy hours weekly for an average wage of $18 to $20 per week and furnish their own testing equipment. His only alternative has been to leave his chosen trade and seek and prepare for a new one. Some have chosen that alternative while others have elected to remain and fight it out in the hope that the industry may be cleaned up, the standard raised, and that not only the employe but the employer and public as well may benefit thereby.

[illegible] ago Radio Workers' Local No. 802 was organized with the realization that the American [illegible] of labor is the agency whose [illegible] and [illegible] is the safest and surest means of accomplishing with the help of the whole the betterment of working conditions in the skilled industry. Without waiting to see what Local No. 802 was accomplishing in its [illegible] employers and the public at large became aware of [illegible] principally of [illegible] which [illegible] [illegible] given for not wanting to co-operate in any way.

So it happens that a skilled trade, which in no way conflicts with the furniture business, finds itself aligned against a wall of resistance composed of furniture men whose intention is to dictate to the people of Chattanooga as to what kind of radio service they shall be entitled to, how much a skilled mechanic will receive for his wages, to pad prices of radios so that prospective customers may receive a liberal trade-in allowance, to send delivery boys to customers' homes to install complicated aerials, and in every way exploit a business that should offer a customer a reasonable degree of protection in return for merchandise and services contracted for.

A new air compressor invented by L. V. Jones, of Phoenix, Ariz., is reported to make use of a revolutionary principle which obviates water cooling and does away with moving parts. The principle, now in superchargers of automobile and airplane engines, is expected to greatly increase their power.

Barbers Go After 2 Nonunion Shops

Central Body Grants Request to Call "Unfair"

At its regular session last Monday evening, Chattanooga Central Labor union granted a request made by Local 415, Barbers, to declare two nonunion barber shops "Unfair to Organized Labor."

The two shops are Times Barber shop in the Times building, and J. Talbert at 16 East Ninth street.

Local 415 has been picketing J. Talbert for several weeks.

PLASTERERS ELECT

At its last regular meeting, held on Friday, Jan. 6, Local 157, Plasterers, named the following officers for the year 1939:

President, G. M. DeBord; vice-president, Otto Schmid; recording secretary, Granville Chauncey; financial and corresponding secretary, L. C. Batey; treasurer, Jim Fox, and Henry Blake, tiler.

The local reports that it is in better condition than ever before, and prospects are very bright.

Sheet Metal Worker Loses Father To Death Angel

W. A. Bedwell, member of Local 51, Sheet Metal Workers, lost his father last week, Jesse Bedwell, who was buried from his residence at 4520 Oakland avenue.

In sympathizing with Brother Bedwell, Local 51 passed the formal resolution, which said:

"Whereas, Mr. Jesse Bedwell, father of our respected brother, W. A. Belwell, was called to his reward by Almighty God; and,

"Whereas, in bowing to the Divine command, we grieve with our brother in his bereavement; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That in regular session, Local 51, Sheet Metal Workers, hereby expresses to Brother W. A. Belwell its love and sympathy, and extends to him and the bereaved family its hand of fellowship; be it further

"Resolved, that copies of this resolution be spread on our minutes, a copy sent to Brother W. A. Bedwell, and a copy be published in The Labor World."

The Labor World joins in with Local 51 in expressing the sympathy of the labor movement in general in his hour of sorrow.

Taxi Drivers Elect

The newly-elected officers of Taxi Drivers, Local 594, took over their duties for the coming year at their first January meeting. The following members have been chosen by the organization to have charge of the union's affairs during 1939:

A. A. Ledford, president; H. S. Shearin, vice-president; Howard Goggins, secretary-treasurer; G. R. Johnston, recorder; T. J. Knox, conductor; Joe Harris, warden. Joe Harris, W. F. Nelson and N. E. Thomas were elected trustees and Ben Ward will be business agent.

Daisy Clay Union Signs Pact With B. Mifflin Hood

Two Stores Taken From Daisy Labor's "Unfair" List

Communication from Local 634, Daisy Brick and Clay Workers, was received by Central Body last Monday evening which stated that a signed agreement had been effected with the B. Mifflin Hood company. This culminates a long period of strife in which a strike and labor board hearings were involved. The company was removed from organized labor's "unfair" list at the request of Local 634.

The M. E. Beasley store and the George Eichorn Shoe Repair shop, both of Daisy, were also removed from the "unfair" list at the request of the Daisy union.

CULINARY WORKERS TO DANCE FEB. 24

Culinary Workers' Local 574 will entertain with a dance on Friday evening, Feb. 24, in the ballroom of Hotel Patten. George Rodgers and his orchestra will play for the dance. This affair is to begin at 9 o'clock, continuing until 12.

This young organization is sponsoring this entertainment to obtain funds for the purpose of replenishing their treasury that they may be financially able to carry on an organizing campaign now underway.

Those in charge of the arrangements for this evening of merriment are Mae Simmons, Eva Norton, Louise Petty and Lon Allen.

Painter Apprentices Warned to Attend Training School

"Woe unto the painter apprentice that fails to attend the vocational training school next Tuesday evening," says Instructor J. G. Burk. Mr. Burk told The Labor World that occasionally apprentice members of his union failed to come to school. Local 226 is telling its youngsters that if they intend to receive a journeyman card they must learn the trade, and they must go to school.

New C of C Prexy Wants Peace For Labor and Capital

Newton Says It Would Be Finest Thing That Could Happen

Each January the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce holds its annual banquet, at which time its new set of officers for the following year is inducted into office. At such time, the incoming president makes his inaugural address, in which he usually outlines what he considers should be the main objective for the Chamber of Commerce.

The new president this year is Emmett S. Newton, who succeeds John B. Crimmins. President Newton, in a short address, stated that "the finest thing that could possibly happen is the complete amicable adjustment of all differences between capital and labor. . . ."

He said in full:

Many suggestions have been made as to the activities we should undertake for the benefit of Chattanooga during 1939. All of them are good and certainly worthy of very careful consideration, but in my opinion, the finest thing that could possibly come to pass is the complete and amicable adjustment of all differences between capital and labor, and an united effort on the part of all factions with one objective in view: The success of all business interests in this area, which in turn means prosperity and happiness for all classes. This, ladies and gentlemen, is my wish for 1939, and I do not consider it a forlorn wish.

The retiring president, Mr. John B. Crimmins, guided a successful administration last year. With the types of leaders in charge of the Chamber of Commerce the last few years, there is no reason whatever for failure to have peace between these two important parts of civic life. Looking over the "big shots" in the Chamber of Commerce at the banquet last week, one is pleasantly surprised to note the large number of citizens who are known to be fair-minded and who have indicated a desire to co-operate with labor.

Republicans, Labor, Commend Senator Bean for Poll Tax Bill

Bean Carrying Out Election Campaign Promise to Enfranchise All

Press reports say that Senator Joe Bean has sponsored a bill in the legislature that would remove the poll tax as a prerequisite to vote. His bill would not abolish the tax.

Organized labor has been fighting for this legislation for many years, and at its last session the Central Body commended Senator Bean.

An unusual development is the following resolution passed by the Young Men's Republican club, which indorsed Bean's bill:

"Whereas, a statute has been proposed by the Hon. Joe Bean, state senator for Hamilton county, to remove the qualification of payment of a poll tax as prerequisite for voting in elections; and,

"Whereas, this proposed statute does not remove the poll tax insofar as it provides revenue for the schools, but simply enfranchises every man, regardless of his financial condition, and enables him to exercise his privileges of American citizenship; be it

"Resolved, That the Young Men's Republican Club of Hamilton County indorse this measure, approve the action of Senator Bean and urge the representatives for Hamilton county to support this proposed law; be it further

"Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Senator Bean and the representatives in the lower house for Hamilton county.

Yarnell Hands Out Second Injunction Against Union Labor

Harry's Place Follows Home Plate Lead to Crush Culinary Workers

Last Thursday saw the second injunction within the week handed down by Judge Yarnell against the Culinary Workers union. Last Thursday a temporary injunction was given which took pickets away from the nonunion Home Plate restaurant. When the picket was moved to Harry's Place at Market and Eleventh, Mr. Koskos asked Judge Yarnell for "relief," which was granted Tuesday.

The two restaurants are part of a group of nonunion eating houses which have been resisting organization for better conditions, according to officials of the Culinary union. Both Harry's Place and the Home Plate have been officially declared as unfriendly by the Chattanooga Central Labor union.

"Even though Judge Yarnell has temporarily said that we cannot have pickets telling our friends of the nonunion status of these two restaurants, we believe that friends of the labor movement will not patronize any eating place that does not have the union shop card," said an active unionist this week.

Elevator Constructors Demand Every Member Be Qualified to Vote

The local union of Elevator Constructors last week passed legislation which demands that every member becomes registered as a voter, and that the local union secretary shall buy a poll tax receipt for each member within the age limits. The amount of the poll tax will be placed on the union card.

Hiwassee Bridge Bids Will Specify Wages at Prevailing Rate

Building Trades Thank Commissioner Allen for Spirit Shown

W. J. Everhart, president of Chattanooga Building Trades council, was expressing appreciation toward Commissioner M. O. Allen, of Nashville, for his fine co-operation in requiring that prevailing wage rates be figured on bids for the construction of a bridge across the Hiwassee river at Calhoun, Tenn.

Commissioner Allen is chairman of the state highway department. Specifications will be let on Jan. 13.

Mr. Everhart pointed out that this is further evidence of the tremendous progress being made by the building craftsmen in securing work done under unions conditions.

Do you wish men to speak good of you?
Then never speak good of yourself.

Culinary Workers Increase Wages By Union Pacts in Two Nations

Cincinnati, O.—Gains in many places in the United States and Canada are reported by the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America. Telling of recent progress, Robert B. Hesketh, general secretary-treasurer, told International Labor News Service:

"For years it seemed that organization in eastern Canada was at a standstill so far as the culinary crafts were concerned. However, we are glad to report that our organizers are making some very good progress.

"Our affiliated local in Montreal has been successful in organizing the better class of skilled craftsmen in the catering industry. Working agreements have been signed with the finer hotels resulting in shorter hours and increased pay.

"In Toronto commendable progress has also been made with the signing of four restaurants covering more than fifty workers.

"We are advised that a union shop agreement has been signed with the Navy Yard cafeteria through the efforts of our local joint board in Washington, D. C., covering about forty-five culinary workers.

"From New Orleans information reaches us that they have signed a contract affecting a number of bartenders and cooks, which provides for many improvements over previous contracts.

Gains on Pacific.

"Then from the Pacific coast word is received that agreement has been reached with the Curland Catering company concessioniares at the largest turf club, Santa Anita race track, Los Angeles, involving more than 400 culinary workers.

"San Francisco, the scene of many labor controversies, has succeeded in unionizing the cafeterias. Agreements have been signed with all dairy lunches, extending for the duration of the fair and twelve months thereafter."

Radio Racket . . .

By a Radio Worker

When a business or a trade is used to deceive its patrons, when it exists as a means of defrauding those who patronize it, and when in the course of its daily practice it not only injures innocent and legitimate competitors, but robs its customers of many times the true value of the service rendered, then that business can be classed as a "racket." And rackets operate easiest where the public is handicapped by a lack of knowledge of the goods sold or services rendered. Thus in the case of "radio," the public is dependent entirely upon those who offer themselves in the field of sales and service for information, advice, merchandise and repairs.

Unfortunately, radio has its share of "racketeers" in manufacturing, in selling and in servicing, and it is a defenseless and helpless public that is subjected daily to the operations of this racket. Over the air and through the papers come offers of "free inspection; free service; seventy-five cents or a dollar" plus parts; the "only licensed radio man" in Chattanooga, etc. . . . Wild-cat radios are offered under the name of standard brands; $40.00 trade-in allowances; twelve months free service when the best radios are only guaranteed ninety days. In short, the public is led to think that those in the radio industry are in it for their health, that a legitimate profit or return for services rendered is of secondary importance.

Thousands of people fall for these lures. New tubes are sold where the old ones are still good. Parts are charged for that are never installed, with a small service charge added, to lead the customer to believe that he has received a lot of skilled service for a few cents. Radios are traded in return for a trade-in allowance which exists only on paper and ends up with the customer receiving absolutely nothing for his old radio, but believing himself to have received $40. A lead-in wire is fastened to a chimney or ventilator on the top of an inaccessable apartment house and brought in through a window to the radio, and the customer pays $1.75 for a "regular $10 aerial."

There are many ways to deceive a customer with radio testing equipment because the customer dos not understand the operation of technical equipment, and as a result he is often deceived while standing by watching. Some of the most difficult jobs a service man encounters very often require less than a dollar's worth of parts, and in very few cases does the price of parts exceed $5.00, unless a new set of tubes is purchased. Yet the racketeer would have it appear that for a dollar service charge he has installed eight or ten dollars' worth of parts. And that person who expects skilled service, the employment of valuable testing equipment, a bona fide guarantee, together with the work necessary to the successful completion of a repair job, all for the price of a "grass cut," is the person most likely to fall victim to the radio racketeer.

In these and other ways the public is constantly at the mercy of those whose policy is to collect for that which they do not deliver, sell where no sale is justified, advertise to deceive, and all done under the guise of "something for nothing."

For years skilled radio men have been at the mercy of those who would exploit them and their services. The industry has been crowded—but not with capable men—and as a natural result, the legitimate radio service men have suffered long with an unsuspecting and helpless public. The scale or price of the jack-leg has been held too long over the head of the trained and experienced men, with a take it or leave it proposition thrown in his lap. As a result, men with years of experience and training and well qualified to render expert service on modern receivers have been compelled to work from sixty to seventy hours weekly for an average wage of $18 to $20 per week and furnish their own testing equipment. His only alternative has been to leave his chosen trade and seek and prepare for a new one. Some have chosen that alternative while others have elected to remain and fight it out in the hope that the industry may be cleaned up, the standard raised, and that not only the employe but the employer and public as well may benefit thereby.

One year ago Radio Workers' Local No. 662 was organized with the realization that the American Federation of Labor is the agency whose ideals and principles make it the safest and surest means of accomplishing, with the help of the public, the betterment of working conditions for the skilled laborer. Without waiting to see what Local 662 was endeavoring to do for its members, employers and the public. We believe a large group of employers, consisting chiefly of furniture men, agreed among themselves to refuse any appeal for cooperation that might be made by Local No. 662. Many transparent excuses have been offered, but not one bona fide reason has been given for not wanting to co-operate in any way.

So it happens that a skilled trade, which in no way conflicts with the furniture business, finds itself aligned against a wall of resistance composed of furniture men whose intention is to dictate to the people of Chattanooga as to what kind of radio service they shall be entitled to, how much a skilled mechanic will receive for his wages, to pad prices of radios so that prospective customers may receive a liberal trade-in allowance, to send delivery boys to customers' homes to install complicated aerials, and in every way exploit a business that should offer a customer a reasonable degree of protection in return for merchandise and services contracted for.

A new air compressor invented by L. V. Jones, of Phoenix, Ariz., is reported to make use of a revolutionary principle which obviates water cooling and uses fewer moving parts. The principle, used in superchargers of automobile and airplane engines, is expected to greatly increase their power.

MORE ABOUT RADIO PICKETS

cost of "parts" is used to cover the actual labor cost.

Because the radio industry is comparatively new, it is easy for it to be developed into a racket, and as a result the worker is imposed upon. For that reason radio workers in Chattanooga have organized, and today have six first-class radio repair shops with working agreements with the union. In order to protect these high standard shops, it has become necessary to force furniture stores, with radios to sell, to compete on an equal basis. When a customer buys a high-priced radio from a furniture store, said radio is frequently installed in the home with inadequate aerial and ground. Many times the truck driver puts up a piece of wire and calls it an aerial. The result is faulty reception, and the customer blames the radio. Radio workers insist that the installation of such radios should be done by skilled people in order to give the best service.

In the case of Sterchi and Clemons, the radio employes joined the union and asked for an agreement which would stabilize the industry. Neither of these stores criticized the agreement. They agreed that the wage scale of $27 per week for 48 hours was most reasonable, yet they refused to deal with their employes as a union.

Both of these stores thereupon suddenly "decided" that they would let their radio repair man go and let the truck delivery man put up the aerials, and if more complicated work came up they might farm out that work. The farming out of such work to union shops would not be so objectionable if there was no decision to have part of the work done by unskilled non-radio workers. The radio workers insist that they should be allowed to do all of the work that belongs to radio workers.

Sterchi Stores insist that Local 662 should not push their demand for recognition because Sterchi has used union building tradesmen on their store building. Organized labor answers back that people cannot be friendly with one member of its family and fire other members of the family. Sterchi cannot be friendly and hard-boiled at the same time.

The same condition exists at Clemons Bros.

Other furniture stores in Chattanooga having members have not been due to the fact that they have not definitely and cold-bloodedly repudiated organized labor. The fact is that today negotiations are in progress with prospects of settlement, and in one instance a settlement has actually been made.

"We urge all our friends to help us. We are heads of families, we have responsibilities, we love our chosen profession. Our demands are reasonable and sensible," said Jean Paul Jones, president of the radio workers.

Barbers Go After 2 Nonunion Shops

Central Body Grants Request to Call "Unfair"

At its regular session last Monday evening, Chattanooga Central Labor union granted a request made by Local 415, Barbers, to declare two nonunion barber shops "Unfair to Organized Labor."

The two shops are Times Barber shop in the Times building, and J. Talbert at 16 East Ninth street.

Local 415 has been picketing J. Talbert for several weeks.

PLASTERERS ELECT

At its last regular meeting, held on Friday, Jan. 6, Local 157, Plasterers, named the following officers for the year 1939:

President, G. M. DeBord; vice-president, Otto Schmid; recording secretary, Granville Chauncey; financial and corresponding secretary, L. C. Batey; treasurer, Jim Fox, and Henry Blake, tiler.

The local reports that it is in better condition than ever before, and prospects are very bright.

Sheet Metal Worker Loses Father To Death Angel

W. A. Bedwell, member of Local 51, Sheet Metal Workers, lost his father last week, Jesse Bedwell, who was buried from his residence at 4520 Oakland avenue.

In sympathizing with Brother Bedwell, Local 51 passed the formal resolution, which said:

"Whereas, Mr. Jesse Bedwell, father of our respected brother, W. A. Belwell, was called to his reward by Almighty God; and,

"Whereas, in bowing to the Divine command, we grieve with our brother in his bereavement; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That in regular session, Local 51, Sheet Metal Workers, hereby expresses to Brother W. A. Belwell its love and sympathy, and extends to him and the bereaved family its hand of fellowship; be it further

"Resolved, that copies of this resolution be spread on our minutes, a copy sent to Brother W. A. Bedwell, and a copy be published in The Labor World."

The Labor World joins in with Local 51 in expressing the sympathy of the labor movement in general in his hour of sorrow.

Taxi Drivers Elect

The newly-elected officers of Taxi Drivers, Local 594, took over their duties for the coming year at their first January meeting. The following members have been chosen by the organization to have charge of the union's affairs during 1939:

A. A. Ledford, president; H. S. Shearin, vice-president; Howard Goggins, secretary-treasurer; G. R. Johnston, recorder; T. J. Knox, conductor; Joe Harris, warden. Joe Harris, W. F. Nelson and N. E. Thomas were elected trustees and Ben Ward will be business agent.

Daisy Clay Union Signs Pact With B. Mifflin Hood

Two Stores Taken From Daisy Labor's "Unfair" List

Communication from Local 634, Daisy Brick and Clay Workers, was received by Central Body last Monday evening which stated that a signed agreement had been effected with the B. Mifflin Hood company. This culminates a long period of strife in which a strike and labor board hearings were involved. The company was removed from organized labor's "unfair" list at the request of Local 634.

The M. E. Beasley store and the George Eichorn Shoe Repair shop, both of Daisy, were also removed from the "unfair" list at the request of the Daisy union.

CULINARY WORKERS TO DANCE FEB. 24

Culinary Workers' Local 574 will entertain with a dance on Friday evening, Feb. 24, in the ballroom of Hotel Patten. George Rodgers and his orchestra will play for the dance. This affair is to begin at 9 o'clock, continuing until 12.

This young organization is sponsoring this entertainment to obtain funds for the purpose of replenishing their treasury that they may be financially able to carry on an organizing campaign now underway.

Those in charge of the arrangements for this evening of merriment are Mae Simmons, Eva Norton, Louise Petty and Lon Allen.

Painter Apprentices Warned to Attend Training School

"Woe unto the painter apprentice that fails to attend the vocational training school next Tuesday evening," says Instructor J. G. Burk. Mr. Burk told The Labor World that occasionally apprentice members of his union failed to come to school. Local 226 is telling its youngsters that if they intend to receive a journeyman card they must learn the trade, and they must go to school.

New C of C Prexy Wants Peace For Labor and Capital

Newton Says It Would Be Finest Thing That Could Happen

Each January the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce holds its annual banquet, at which time its new set of officers for the following year is inducted into office. At such time, the incoming president makes his inaugural address, in which he usually outlines what he considers should be the main objective for the Chamber of Commerce.

The new president this year is Emmett S. Newton, who succeeds John B. Crimmins. President Newton, in a short address, stated that "the finest thing that could possibly happen is the complete amicable adjustment of all differences between capital and labor. . . ."

He said in full:

Many suggestions have been made as to the activities we should undertake for the benefit of Chattanooga during 1939. All of them are good and certainly worthy of very careful consideration, but in my opinion, the finest thing that could possibly come to pass is the complete and amicable adjustment of all differences between capital and labor, and an united effort on the part of all factions with one objective in view: The success of all business interests in this area, which in turn means prosperity and happiness for all classes. This, ladies and gentlemen, is my wish for 1939, and I do not consider it a forlorn wish.

The retiring president, Mr. John B. Crimmins, guided a successful administration last year. With the types of leaders in charge of the Chamber of Commerce the last few years, there is no reason whatever for failure to have peace between these two important parts of civic life. Looking over the "big shots" in the Chamber of Commerce at the banquet last week, one is pleasantly surprised to note the large number of citizens who are known to be fair-minded and who have indicated a desire to co-operate with labor.

Republicans, Labor, Commend Senator Bean for Poll Tax Bill

Bean Carrying Out Election Campaign Promise to Enfranchise All

Press reports say that Senator Joe Bean has sponsored a bill in the legislature that would remove the poll tax as a prerequisite to vote. His bill would not abolish the tax.

Organized labor has been fighting for this legislation for many years, and at its last session the Central Body commended Senator Bean.

An unusual development is the following resolution passed by the Young Men's Republican club, which indorsed Bean's bill:

"Whereas, a statute has been proposed by the Hon. Joe Bean, state senator for Hamilton county, to remove the qualification of payment of a poll tax as prerequisite for voting in elections; and,

"Whereas, this proposed statute does not remove the poll tax insofar as it provides revenue for the schools, but simply enfranchises every man, regardless of his financial condition, and enables him to exercise his privileges of American citizenship; be it

"Resolved, That the Young Men's Republican Club of Hamilton County indorse this measure, approve the action of Senator Bean and urge the representatives for Hamilton county to support this proposed law; be it further

"Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Senator Bean and the representatives in the lower house for Hamilton county.

"Adopted this 10th day of January, 1939.

Yarnell Hands Out Second Injunction Against Union Labor

Harry's Place Follows Home Plate Lead to Crush Culinary Workers

Last Thursday saw the second injunction within the week handed down by Judge Yarnell against the Culinary Workers union. Last Thursday a temporary injunction was given which took pickets away from the nonunion Home Plate restaurant. When the picket was moved to Harry's Place at Market and Eleventh, Mr. Koskos asked Judge Yarnell for "relief," which was granted Tuesday.

The two restaurants are part of a group of nonunion eating houses which have been resisting organization for better conditions, according to officials of the Culinary union. Both Harry's Place and the Home Plate have been officially declared as unfriendly by the Chattanooga Central Labor union.

"Even though Judge Yarnell has temporarily said that we cannot have pickets telling our friends of the nonunion status of these two restaurants, we believe that friends of the labor movement will not patronize any eating place that does not have the union shop card," said an active unionist this week.

Elevator Constructors Demand Every Member Be Qualified to Vote

The local union of Elevator Constructors last week passed legislation which demands that every member becomes registered as a voter, and that the local union secretary shall buy a poll tax receipt for each member within the age limits. The amount of the poll tax will be placed on the union card.

Hiwassee Bridge Bids Will Specify Wages at Prevailing Rate

Building Trades Thank Commissioner Allen for Spirit Shown

W. J. Everhart, president of Chattanooga Building Trades council, was expressing appreciation toward Commissioner M. O. Allen, of Nashville, for his fine co-operation in requiring that prevailing wage rates be figured on bids for the construction of a bridge across the Hiwassee river at Calhoun, Tenn.

Commissioner Allen is chairman of the state highway department. Specifications will be let on Jan. 13.

Mr. Everhart pointed out that this is further evidence of the tremendous progress being made by the building craftsmen in securing work done under unions conditions.

Do you wish men to speak good of you?
Then never speak good of yourself.

Culinary Workers Increase Wages By Union Pacts in Two Nations

Cincinnati, O.—Gains in many places in the United States and Canada are reported by the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America. Telling of recent progress, Robert B. Hesketh, general secretary-treasurer, told International Labor News Service:

"For years it seemed that organization in eastern Canada was at a standstill so far as the culinary crafts were concerned. However, we are glad to report that our organizers are making some very good progress.

"Our affiliated local in Montreal has been successful in organizing the better class of skilled craftsmen in the catering industry. Working agreements have been signed with the finer hotels resulting in shorter hours and increased pay.

"In Toronto commendable progress has also been made with the signing of four restaurants covering more than fifty workers.

"We are advised that a union shop agreement has been signed with the Navy Yard cafeteria through the efforts of our local joint board in Washington, D. C., covering about forty-five culinary workers.

"From New Orleans information reaches us that they have signed a contract affecting a number of bartenders and cooks, which provides for many improvements over previous contracts.

Gains on Pacific.

"Then from the Pacific coast word is received that agreement has been reached with the Curland Catering company concessioniares at the largest turf club, Santa Anita race track, Los Angeles, involving more than 400 culinary workers.

"San Francisco, the scene of many labor controversies, has succeeded in unionizing the cafeterias. Agreements have been signed with all dairy lunches, extending for the duration of the fair and twelve months thereafter."

Labor, Welfare and Tax Measures To Head Proposals in 44 State Legislatures Meeting in 1939

Chicago.—Changes in social security and welfare laws, including bills to liberalize old-age pensions and unemployment compensation, will lead the list of proposed legislation to come before the legislatures of forty-four states scheduled for regular sessions in 1939, a survey of the Council of State Governments shows. The states will also consider measures to finance these new welfare proposals as well as methods of supporting direct relief needs.

The legislatures of forty-three states will convene during the first half of January, and the lawmakers of Florida are scheduled to meet in April. Among the other proposals which many of the states will consider are those on labor, civil service, marriage law revision, and increased state support of schools.

Liberalized old age pensions will be proposed in California, Minnesota, Nevada, Vermont, Washington, Maine and Indiana, and possibly several other states, the survey showed. Massachusetts will consider reducing eligibility for pensions from 65 to 60 years, while Colorado and North Dakota, where $45 and $40 a month pensions have been voted, respectively, will ponder methods of financing these grants.

Wide Variety of Proposals.

Bills to extend the coverage of unemployment compensation laws, the survey indicates, will be proposed in at least the states of New Hampshire, Oklahoma and Vermont. The legislatures of Connecticut, Colorado and Vermont will consider improvement of welfare facilities.

The survey shows that the legislators are likely to consider a wide variety of tax proposals. Sales tax bills are indicated for Texas and Massachusetts and possibly Nevada and Oregon. Missouri legislators will consider an increase in the state sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent. Among the other tax proposals are state income taxes in Maine and Connecticut; a business and occupation tax in Colorado, and a one-mill corporation tax in New Jersey. The Colorado legislature will consider proposals to put income tax revenues into the general fund and to revise income tax rates.

Wage-Hour Bills Planned.

Bills to reduce gasoline tax levies are indicated for Oklahoma, Nebraska, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

Most of the labor legislation will consist of wage-hour proposals to complement the federal wage and hour law, according to the survey. Wage and hour bills are scheduled for consideration in Connecticut, California, Iowa, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Utah, and Vermont. Wisconsin will probably consider revision of its collective bargaining law and Vermont the establishment of a state labor department.

State civil service laws will be proposed in Alabama, Georgia, Minnesota, Iowa, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, the survey shows. Connecticut and Michigan, which adopted the merit system two years ago, will study revisions. Bills to strengthen existing civil service laws are indicated for Massachusetts and Colorado.

School Bills in Ten States.

Bills requiring pre-marital physicaal examinations are scheduled for consideration in seven states —Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Missouri, Ohio, Virginia and Vermont. Ten states now have such laws.

Proposals for state support of public schools will come before the legislatures of Connecticut, Florida, Iowa, Minnesota, Nevada, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Utah and Washington. In most states where state support of schools will be considered, the object will be to equalize educational opportunities in all localities. Illinois legislators will consider measures for consolidation of some of its smaller school districts.

State Reorganization Up.

State reorganization will come before the Colorado legislature, following a survey of its state government. A state business manager may be proposed for Minnesota. Delaware legislators will consider for the second time the establishment of a state supreme court. The Iowa legislature will consider a bill to establish a department of public affairs, and Vermont a state police system.

Among the miscellaneous legislative proposals are those to repeal the port of entry laws in Oklahoma and New Mexico. Nevada will consider a drivers' license law. The Wyoming and New Mexico legislatures may work on proposals for unicameral legislatures. Low-rent housing legislation of various kinds is scheduled for consideration in Connecticut, Missouri, Michigan, New York and a number of other states.

World Demands More Of Youth Than Ever Before, States Dean

Knoxville.—The old adage that youth "should be seen and not heard" has been cast aside, and young people are expected to take an active part in modern world affairs, said Dean Harriet C. Greve, dean of women at the University of Tennessee, in an address on the U. T. "Youth Radio Hour."

"Lately the world has become convinced that young people have interests outside the realm of sentiment alone and has turned to them with the sincere feeling that their co-operation and initiative is vital in solving many of our everyday problems. The modern age is insisting that youth be heard," said Dean Greve.

Dean Greve believes the world is also convinced that youth should not be pictured in 'flaming units." Pointing out the services of youth through such organizations as the National Youth congress, the Boy Scouts, the Junior Red Cross and the civilian conservation corps, she contended that the young person has established himself as a valuable citizen.

"When young people come together and discuss seriously questions of peace, of social relations, of economic policies, and of current legislation, it is indicative that the citizens of the future will be a thoughtful generation with a training in these matters that no former generation has ever had or even desired."

The world today is vitally in need of the assistance of youth, she continued.

"When competition in the economic world seems to sanction class or individual oppression, when the acquisition of wealth can result in the exploitation of fellow-workers, and when national growth seems to depend on religious persecution or the theft of a neighboring country, then we need the active thinking and cooperation of young and old to guide standards of action to a higher plane and to recall our civilization from possible chaos."

Capper Sees Collapse Unless Farming Is On Paying Basis

Topeka, Kan.—Senator Capper, of Kansas, said in a radio speech here that "unless agriculture is placed on a paying basis and unless the farm income and purchasing power are restored and maintained, our entire economic structure is going to collapse."

Capper said that from a recent statewide mass meeting for farmers he had received a number of ideas which he would assemble for presentation o congress.

Former Gov. Landon, of Kanhas, must have surprised the world's dictators by speaking strongly in favor of the administration's Pan-American policies even more than President Roosevelt surprised them by sending Landon there. Some folks never learn. Most of these get into the asylum; but now and then, one becomes a dictator.

Even a diplomatic cuffing of Adolf Hitler makes the world grin.

At Lima, representatives of 21 nations, speaking three languages, belonging to three sharply marked races—white, Indian and African, agreed on united action if this continent is invaded.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL CHATTANOOGA

FRIDAY, JANUARY 13, 1939

Tom Mooney Freed

Last Saturday was ar important one in the annals of organized labor. On that day Tom Mooney was given an unconditional pardon from the California penitentiary in which he had been confined for 22 years on perjured testimony which was framed up by interests that wanted an active labor organizer out of the way.

In review, the case is fantastic. It is hard to realize that in America such a thing can happen. Mooney's case was definitely proven in several courts that he was innocent, major witnesses themselves admitted they swore falsely, one "eye-witness" admitting that he was 2,000 miles away from the scene. The trial judge and members of the jury admitted that injustice had been done.

Yet an American proven innocent was kept locked up until a governor was elected who would release the persecuted man.

Mooney was not the only persecuted element involved. It was not only Mooney that was locked up. The right of American workmen to organize into labor unions was locked up with Mooney. During the past 22 years the labor movement has spent probably millions of dollars to free him and Warren K. Billings, who is still in prison on the same charge.

We could not blame Mooney if he came out of prison with a warped and soured mind, "agin'" everything, yet it appears that through all of his terrible experience he has kept a grip on himself.

We hope that Tom Mooney will be able to visit Chattanooga so that we can acclaim him in the flesh and to renew our determination to continue our fight for freedom industrially.

Getting To Be a Habit

The national mediation board continues the almost perfect functioning that has almost become a habit. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938 - the one which its last report covers, no labor dispute which interrupted rail or airline service are listed. Collective bargaining in the air transport industry went ahead fast in those twelve months; fourteen labor agreements covering rates of pay, rules and working conditions of airline employes were filed.

And the two rail settlements effected in the last half of 1937, getting 5 and 5 1-2 cents increase of pay per hour for practically the entire working force, affected more employes, more carriers, and a larger sum in adjustments, than any other case mediated since the railway labor act was passed in 1926.

In industry as in international affairs, peace - honorable peace, costs much less than war. The railway labor act has given the country twelve years of experience in that line.

Unemployment Greatest Wage Loss

The latest issue of the A. F. of L. Survey of Business says a mouthful in the middle of one paragraph:

"Workers' chief loss in the 1937-38 recession has been in unemployment, for there have been relatively few wage cuts."

The increased power of labor unions, aided by the Wagner labor relations act, accounts for the "relatively few wage cuts." But the loss from unemployment is terrific, and labor has no real control over that. Steel payrolls, for example, dropped from $79,885,000 in April, 1937, to $32,618,000 in February, 1938.

The first thing many big industries think of when the outlook is unsatisfactory is not to widen the market by lowering prices but to cut down production by laying off workers. Throughout big business the cost of management's bad guessts is all too frequently taken out of the workers' pay envelopes—and no cure for that has yet been proposed.

COOKS' AND WAITERS' SCRAPS

»»»» Louise Tinker, Correspondent ««««

Toot the whistle. Sound the bell.

Pardon us, please, but that is exactly how we feel as we try to write. We present to you this column written at random, so here goes. . . Lots has happened since we were with you last—the injunction at the Home Plate. There are a number of things that could be worse. F'r instance, we could be one of those poor Chinese who are being spanked every day in the week by those militant japs—or a Jew being persecuted by the Germans over in the country of the latter. As soon as we were notified of the injunction obtained against us by the Home Plate we take on Harry's Place, 1033 Market street—it is and has been for months a non-union place. . . Judge Oscar Yarnell then sees fit to tell us to "toodle doo" from in front of this restaurant when we had hardly gotten ourselves settled; in fact, we were hardly adapted to the beat—when we found that we could tarry no longer, we were out and around again—you might term it "without a home or a landing place"—then we decide that since Mr. George Silas at the Maypole refused to do business with us in a sort of business way that we would locate there and there was our happy landing.

Now, Mr. Koskos states in his complaint that his employes are perfectly satisfied—do we, in this time of ours ever become satisfied? As far as our salary is concerned any of us could use an additional two bits a day.

And, by the way, we were strolling along with our picket (Jane Doe, I believe is the name) one evening about 10 o'clock—still in front of Harry's place, when who puts in his appearance at this picketed restaurant but Jack Gilliland of the police force. Tsh, tsh, what a shame.

His business will be irreparable should the court permit this insolvent organization of ours continue to walk in front of his place, says Mr. Harry Koskos in his complaint—there is nothing that we can do or say at this particular time to help matters—our fate is in the hands of our capable chancery judge, the Hon. J. Lon Fouse—after next Monday we shall see what we shall see.

Southern Labor "Spots"

Knoxville, Tenn.—Standard Knitting Mill Local Textile union held a most enthusiastic meeting here last Saturday night, at which many new members were obligated and excellent reports made by officers and committees. Additional organizing committees were appointed and their work outlined. C. M. Fox, of the A. F. of L. organizing staff assigned to the textile industry, was present and delivered an inspiring address, relating the rapid growth of A. F. of L. textile unions throughout the south.

Shreveport, La.—Three of this city's largest laundries signed an agreement last Saturday with their union drivers, providing many advancements for the workers. E. H. Williams, president of the State Federation of Labor and representative of the A. F. of L., assisted the local union committee in the negotiations of the agreement.

Atlanta.—Agreement was signed here last week, to become effective on Jan. 16, between the management of the Atlanta Terminal company and their employes within the jurisdiction of the local union of freight handlers, express and station employes. T. D. Grimes, of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes, representing the A. F. of L., assisted the local union committee in the negotiations.

Birmingham, Ala.—An an indication of the great value of recognition by the union by the employer, and the resultant co-operation, the meeting held here last Wednesday night at which the taxicab owners, the city officials, union committees and A. F. of L. representatives, was outstanding. After the general business meeting the taxicab owners entertained the union drivers, city officials and S. E. Roper, A. F. of L. representative, at a dinner in the Moulton hotel. Two months ago the taxi drivers and the owners ended a hard fight by signing a closed shop agreement, since which time absolute harmony and the best kind of cooperation have prevailed. The dinner-meeting last week evidenced the gains to be made by all concerned where union agreements are in effect.

Guntersville, Ala.—Forty-three truck drivers have been reimbursed for wages due them and wrongfully withheld by a trucking contractor, who had a contract with the TVA. The Tennessee Valley Trades and Labor Council have wage agreements with the TVA, and contracts let by the TVA include such wage rates as have been agreed upon. One of the contractors violated the wage agreement, whereupon S. E. Roper and H. T. Brown, of the A. F. of L., lodged a complaint with the TVA against the contractor. The complaint was lodged in the month of July, and recently Mr. Roper, who is president of the Tennessee Valley Trades and Labor Council, received word from the Authority that the matter had been investigated, and the amounts due each of the truck drivers were being paid by the Authority.

The amount paid the truck drivers for back wages amounted to about $3,000, it is said, and that amount was taken from money due the contractor by the TVA, and paid to the truck drivers involved.

This is just one instance showing the absolute necessity for workers to be in the union of their craft. Without an organization, the contractor or employer of any kind can do just as he pleases concerning wages and working conditions. With organization, the workers have protection.

Atlanta, Ga.—"Sleep on a Union Label" is the slogan of the Atlanta local of Upholsterers International union, in a letter addressed by officials of the local union to the general union membership of Atlanta. The Upholsterers' union officials tell of the closed shop agreement signed by the union and the Imperial Bedding Company of Atlanta. This company does renovating, and are manufacturers of the "Air Spring Mattress," on which is used the Union Label, hence the slogan: "Sleep on a Union Label."

Upholsterers' local unions in the south operate through the Southern States council, the president of which is George T. Johnson, of Atlanta. This organization is making rapid headway and has jurisdiction over upholsterers, carpet, linoleum and awning workers. J. R. Arrington is southern representative. The letter sent out by the Atlanta local was signed by the local secretary, Paul E. Reeves.

Maryville, Tenn.—The National Labor Relations Board has notified interested organizations that an oral hearing will be held in Washington on Feb. 9, on the recent election held by the employes of the Aluminum Company of America in the Alcoa plants. The aluminum workers voted for representation on a three-way ballot, the A. F. of L. local union, the CIO local union and the Independent local union contesting for the right as bargaining agency for all of the employes.

Result of the election showed the Independent union in the lead, with the CIO in second place, the A. F. of L. in third place, and many hundreds not voting at all. The A. F. of L. local union filed a formal protest before the election was held, charging that the Labor Board official assigned to conduct the election ignored the A. F. of L. local union in making preparations for the election, and other acts claimed to have been detrimental to the A. F. of L. local union's interests.

Wilmington, N. C.—Strike of the truck drivers employed by the Southern Oil Transportation company, R. L. Brinson, president and general manager, is still in progress here. The matter had been placed in the hands of the National Labor Relations Board, Baltimore office, Regional Director Aicher giving his personal attention to the case. Appointment was made for a conference in High oPint on Dec. 27, and Mr. Brinson failed to show up. Another meeting was arranged, to be held in Wilmington last Friday, but Mr. Brinson wired that his physical condition was such that he had cancelled all business engagements.

It is known, however, that Mr. Brinson was at hsi main office in High Point that day and on the day following. Striking truck drivers think Brinson is giving the labor board a run-around.

Columbia, S. C.—The South Carolina Building Trades association held an important meeting here yesterday, with building trades from all points in the state represented. Much progress has been made by the association since it was organized early last year. The men who work at the various building trades, especially those who work on the Santee-Cooper dam and other projects of like nature, will never know the hard work that has been done to bring the wage scales up to what they are.

Take these monthly meeting of the South Carolina Building Trades association, for illustration. It is largely due to the efforts of this association and the fine work that has been done by the State Federation of Labor and the International representatives that the wage scales have been brought up. Yet there are hundreds of building mechanics here in South Carolina getting the advantage of these increased wage rates who have never joined a union, have never paid a penny in dues, have never turned their hand in getting these advancements.

Our union members ought to visit every one of these nonunion workers and tell them that they are receiving something for nothing, and that they ought to be ashamed of themselves.

Columbus, Ga.—A local union of Bakery Workers was organized here last Saturday, and application sent to the International headquarters for a charter. Plans are being made by the labor movement here to install the charter Saturday, the 14th. Curtis R. Sims, representative of the Bakery Workers' International union, was here and assisted the local movement in perfecting the organization. Vice-President W. C. Jeffress, of the Georgia State Federation of Labor, and Chairman Greene, of the Central Labor union's organizing committee, and other wide-awake trades unionists here, assisted the bakers in their organization work.

Tampa, Fla.—The Tampa Central Trades and Labor Assembly has adopted a resolution calling on William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and R. E. Van Horn, president of the Cigarmakers' International union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, to take immediate steps to stop the invasion of Tampa by CIO elements.

The resolution charged that a communistic group composed of CIO adherents has established headquarters in the Ybor City Labor Temple, where the various offices of locals affiliated with the Cigarmakers International union are located.

A committee composed of W. E. Sullivan, president of the Central Trades and Labor Assembly; Robert E. Klapp and Glen McClung was named to take necessary action to stop the CIO invasion in Tampa.

Natchez, Miss.—Charter was installed here last week for the newly organized Painters and Decorators local union. Officers were elected, committees named and the new local started on its course. C. W. Walters, volunteer organizer for the American Federation of Labor, and Delegates Wilson and Zoter, of the Vicksburg Painters local, assisted the local painters in organizing the union and installing the charter.

Organization of the Painters local follows closely upon the heels of the organization of a local Carpenters and Joiners union, which was instituted here recently by Representative John Howatt, of the International Carpenters and Joiners. Officers of the Carpenters union report addition of fourteen new members since the charter was installed. C. W. Walters, of this city, and Gus Holler, of Vicksburg, assisted Representative Howatt.

Vicksburg, Miss.—An agreement has been signed here between the building crafts and W. F. Breeland, contractor, that the new store being erected for the J. C. Penney company will be done 100 per cent union. The building program for this city is most promising and the membership of the several building trades unions is growing rapidly.

Resolutions

In Memoriam
Blair H. McLaughen

"Death is a Gate
Through which men pass
To enter into a bigger, better life.
When Death summons me,
I shall walk in proudly
With spirit undaunted.
I will not fear
When the last Gate is near."

These timely words were brought home to us when we learned of the death of our fellow member, Blair H. McLaughen, who passed away on Monday, Jan. 2, 1939.

He had been a member of the News chapel for over 18 years, and of the Typographical union for more than thirty years. He served on many committees for the union, and was a tireless worker for any duty assigned him in behalf of organized labor.

He was a true friend, a kind and devoted father, and loving husband.

We shall greatly miss his presence in the Chattanooga News composing room. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we deeply mourn his passing, and that we hereby convey our sympathy and sorrow to his family and friends.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this chapel, one sent to his family, and a copy furnished The Labor World.

New York Factory Employment In Slight November Decrease

Albany, N. Y.—Employment in New York state factories dropped 0.5 per cent from the middle of October to the middle of November, the state labor department reports. Total payrolls were 2.8 per cent lower than in October. An earlier report based on reports from 2,241 factories had indicated a drop of 1.1 per cent in employment and 3.3 per cent in payrolls.

Observance of election and Armistice days by many factories lowered payrolls somewhat this period. The usual changes, as measured by the average movements from October to November over the last twenty-four years, were reductions of 0.7 per cent for employment and 1.3 per cent for wage payments. Employment was about 6 per cent lower than in November, 1937. Payrolls were approximately 5 per cent lower. This is the most favorable comparison that has been made in 1938 with the corresponding month of 1937.

Labor in Complete Mobilization To Back National Celebration Of President's Birthday

Washington, D. C.—Organized labor has answered the 1939 infantile paralysis campaign with complete mobilization on the national health front. Over ninety national and international unions, representing 4,000,000 members, have pledged their support to the labor division for the celebration of the president's birthday, Jan. 30.

President William Green, chairman of the labor division, stated: "The spirit and enthusiasm shown by the members of organized labor in the fight against infantile paralysis can result only in ultimate victory. Our contribution this year to this most necessary and noble cause shall exceed our generosity of the past. We must remember that we are building a permanent and living monument for the common good of all America. We cannot and will not rest until our work is completed."

Big Demand for Blanks

The labor division has filled a constant stream of orders for the Birthday Greeting Blanks to the President. Over 50,000 greeting blanks have been ordered by the national unions. Each blank contains a personal greeting to the President of the United States, with space for 100 signatures. Union men and women signing the greeting blanks are to contribute one or more dimes to the Fight Infantile Paralysis campaign. Every union member will have the opportunity of sending this personal message to the President and contributing to the fight against this dreaded disease. It is the goal of the labor division that President Green and a committee, representative of labor, may have the name of every union member on the greeting blanks when they present them to the President in person shortly after Jan. 30.

Garment Workers Co-Operate

The International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, whose president, David Dubinsky, is a member of the advisory committee of the labor division, has pledged a complete distribution of the greeting blanks among its 250,000 members.

In addition to the support given the labor division by the national and international unions the Women's Auxiliaries have organized their own division and are carrying on the campaign among the 2,500,000 women that constitute the major women's auxiliaries affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Labor Press Aids Drive

As in the past, the labor press of the country is giving full support to the labor division of the committee for the celebration of the President's birthday. From Seattle, Wash., to Miami, Fla., the labor press is enlisting and exhorting union members to give and give generously to the campaign against infantile paralysis. The support of the labor press of the nation and the understanding and co-operation of every union member assures the labor division that the contribution of labor will be indicative of the generosity and sympathy of organized labor in America.

The Glass Bottle Blowers' association of the United States and Canada made the first contribution of $100 to the Infantile Paralysis campaign from its international treasury. From the Bakery Workers' union in Chicago the labor division received the first filled greeting blank to the President.

Time for All to Help

With two weeks left to press its campaign against infantile paralysis the labor division is far ahead of its schedule. This will give every union member sufficient time and opportunity to participate in the campaign. In this cause union men and women stand united and determined to fight to a victorious finish. aJn. 30 should find the names of all union members signed to the personal greeting to the President, together with a contribution corresponding to their generosity.

Local Unions Asked To Attend FDR Ball

Every local union in Chattanooga was urged this week to participate in the annual ball to fight infantile paralysis. T. R. Cuthbert, chairman of the labor division, sent the following letter:

"The annual celebration of the president's ball will take place this year on Saturday, Jan. 28, at the Memorial auditorium. Funds from this ball will go toward the study and cure of infantile paralysis.

"Organized labor has always supported this cause, not only because of our profound admiration of President Roosevelt, but for the humanitarian principles underlying it.

"As chairman of the labor division I urge you and every member of organized labor to buy at least one ticket to this ball and attend. We are not interested where you buy the ticket, but we are interested in that organized labor be well represented according to the dignity and prestige we hold in this community."

A word of warning to the ladies!

NEVER dry-clean your clothes at home, Consumers' union advises in its January reports. 200 persons are killed, 1,000 injured every year in fires caused by inflammable cleaning fluids. Many others are poisoned by the vapors given off by non-inflammable products. The risk is great, the cost more than you are apt to realize, the results seldom comparable to professional work.

Spot removers may be safe for cleaning small areas of fabric. When using them, work out of doors or at an open window, away from all flame or sparks. Expose as little fluid as possible at one time. Never use such a highly inflammable product as gasoline for cleaning burposes.

New York Savings Banks In Insurance Business

ALBANY, N. Y.—New York's savings banks entered the insurance business January 3 under a new law which authorizes over-the-counter sales of life insurance policies without solicitors.

The law, which was supported by organized labor, is similar to the Massachusetts law under which savings banks write insurance. The Massachusetts system has long been in operation.

A. F. of L. Suggests Planning Program To Give Greater Work Security And Raise Living Standards

Washington. — A national planning program for increased production to stabilize prosperity and bring higher living standards for all is outlined by the American Federation of Labor in its latest monthly survey of business.

Advocating a national planning board, the survey said it must be formed with adequate safeguards against bureaucratic control and specified two points which it said must be safeguarded to avoid the "pitfalls of fascism."

More than any other survey in a long time, the current survey demands to speak for itself. Here is its outline, in part, of the proposed planning program:

"As we look forward to National Planning, two points are of primary concern to labor:

"1. That members of the National Planning Board shall be drawn from industry, labor, agriculture, consumers' groups, trade, finance; that the board shall be a group of representative men taken directly from production and service industries, not a group drawn from Government offices; that existing trade, labor and farm organizations be brought into co-operation with the work of the National Planning Board. If the board members choose their own technical advisors, this also will safeguard against bureaucracy.

Higher Living Standards Held Chief Goal

"2. That planning for increased production in the United States shall be directed toward the goal of higher living standards for all, and not toward undue or unnecessary production for military purposes; that jobs shall be created in industries producing goods needed by the people rather than munitions, except for the munitions needed for national defense. If these two points are carefully safeguarded, we can have national planning by democratic methods and avoid the pitfalls of Fascism.

"Once a National Planning Board is established, with authority to gather information, we shall have an agency which can collect the facts and suggest (a) An immediate program to lift industrial production as nearly as practicable to full capacity, and (b) a long term program to stabilize and increase production, to give greater job security and raise living standards.

Use Idle Funds, Survey Urges

"In planning to raise living standards we need to consider how the funds lying idle in our banks can best be invested. There is now more than $5,000,000,000 belonging to individuals and institutions which is seeking investment. In addition, there are large idle balances in the hands of corporations which would create plant and equipment if warranted. Also the banks have excess reserves of $3,250,000 which could form a base for credit of over $20,000,000,000. By putting these funds to work we should increase the national income which would add still further to the funded capital available for investment. In fact our present investment in industry could be increased enormously without straining our credit structure.

"Investment in durable goods has always been necessary to raise industry to its highest levels. For when workers in industries producing machinery, buildings, automobiles, roads or materials for these are fully employed, they spend their incomes and automatically lift production in food, clothing and other non-durable goods industries. So we are concerned with investment in durable goods.

Investments Now Go To Consumers' Goods

"Authorities who have studied American investments in durable goods note the fact that American industry in the last two decades has not needed or used large amounts of new investment comparable to the huge sums which created equipment for the power age. Our industrial plant, once built, has been maintained or enlarged and its machinery modernized chiefly out of the profits which firms have ploughed back into their business. Nor has any new industry yet arisen to commandeer huge amounts of new capital for industrial equipment.

"On the other hand we find that in industrial countries over the entire world the great durable goods investments of the power age are being used for production of consumers' durable goods. Against the investments in factories and machinery, mines, railroads and power lines which made mass production possible, we have today's investments in automobiles, houses, schools, public parks and buildings for consumers use.

Government Now Big Investor

"In democratic countries, much of the investment which has created these durable consumers' goods was made through government borrowing. The peoples of democratic countries are using their governments to an increasing extent as the channel for investment in permanent improvements such as low rent housing, schools, recreation centers, roads, hospitals and other services.

"Increasing long term debt is healthy and normal in a growing industrial country, for industrial progress is impossible without increasing investment.

"In the United States the total long term debt (or investment) of the American people, both government and private, increased from $38,000,000,000 in 1913-14 to $75,000,000,000 in 1921 and $126,000,000,000 in 1929. Thus long term investment (or debt) increased by more than $6,000,000,000 per year in the 1920s. In the depression from 1932 to 1937, our total long term debt increased by only $3,200,000,000 per year; the increase was almost entirely in government, not private, debt.

Borrowing Behind Prosperous '20's

"Thus it is clear that although we have added nearly $20,000,000,000 to our Federal debt from 1932 to date, our borrowing increased less than in the prosperous '20's. We did not however invest enough in permanent long term improvements to keep industry busy to capacity. Our present per capita Federal debt is only half that of Great Britain.

"The government borrowing power can well be used for investments to raise the general living standard if its use is carefully planned so as to stimulate private industry and to produce improvements of real value to the American people. What can be accomplished in a well-planned, long-term program differs greatly from temporary 'pump-priming'."

Supreme Court Rules Against Ford Company

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Supreme Court, rejecting contentions of the Ford Motor Company, ruled that Circuit Court of Appeals may remand NLRB cases to the labor board for further proceedings at any time.

The NLRB had investigated charges of unfair labor practices by the Ford Motor company at the River Rouge plant, these practices including the beating of 13 union organizers who tried to pass union leaflets at the entrance of the plant. It found the Ford plant guilty, ordered it to cease and desist; and the Ford company appealed to the Federal Circuit Court of the Sixth Circuit, as provided by law.

Then came the Stockyards case, in which the court held that a ruling of the Department of Agriculture was not valid, because of the omission of certain steps in the proceeding. The NLRB asked the Circuit Court to remand the case to the board, that it might comply with this latest ruling. The court granted the remand, and the Ford company contended that this remand was illegal, and appealed to the Supreme Court. It is this appeal that the court turned down.

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Mischa Elman, one of the world's foremost half dozen violinists—and many music lovers would say one of the foremost three, is giving a series of concerts in twenty-five cities from coast to coast, beginning Jan. 21 in New York. They will be known as the Mischa Elman nonsectarian refugee concerts; and Mischa does not get a dollar of the proceeds. These go to the committees in this country to help the persecuted refugees from Germany — Catholic, Jewish and Protestant.

It is at once an appealing and an appalling story; appealing, because one does not often see a great artist give practically a year's use of his genius to a great and noble cause; appalling, that the need of such a gift should be shrieking loud in the middle years of the twentieth century.

Mischa Elman is no stranger to restrictions on his race. He is a Russian Jew. In the days of Tzardom, his father took him to St. Petersburg to enter him in the conservatory. But hotels in St. Petersburg then barred Jews; and Mischa was too young to leave alone. The elder Elman probably did not often walk the streets at night or sleep on a park bench, as the story goes; but it was some time before he got special permission to live in the Tzarist capital while his son was in the music school.

Yet the persecution which Mischa remembers so keenly was mild and gentle to that inflicted by the nazi government on the refugees whom he is helping so generously. His father was not half killed by government directed mobs. He was not denied the right to earn his living merely because he was a Jew. He was not sent to a concentration camp to be starved and beaten till he wanted to die. He lived, under galling restrictions but safely, taught Hebrew and watched over his son; until that son had become a musical prodigy—and then, the door to the outer world was open.

It is the intolerable cruelty of the nazi persecutions, unmatched in so-called civilized lands for hundreds of years, that has shocked and disgusted the American people until Hitler has few friends in this country.

An interesting item of foreign news came recently from Tunis, which the Italian fascists want to take from France. Natives and French colonists turned out in droves to cheer Daladier for answering that France would remain in Tunis. But the most interesting part of this is that it fits in perfectly with the colonial records of two nations—and only two.

No colony of France or the Netherlands has broken away of itself. All Spanish colonies which had a chance have done this; our forebears revolted from Britain; Canada had a rebellion—and then and afterwords Britain made up her mind to let her white colonies act as free nations.

But the French colonies of Canada and Louisiana, though wrenched away, still retain the French impress, especially in Canada. The Dutch colonists of South Africa, handed over to Britain, emigrated north to found free states of their own; and Dutch blood and language still dominate South Africa.

CENTRAL BODY ADVISED CONTRACT IS SIGNED

Word was received by the Chattanooga Central Labor union this week that Local No. 79, International Brotherhood of Foundry Employes of McKeesport, Pa., had signed a contract with the Columbia Radiator company, bringing to an end the labor troubles with that company.

The communication, which was similar to others addressed to central bodies throughout the nation, thanked Chattanooga unionists for their co-operation.

The savage is pretty close to the surface in most of us; witness our American lynching parties. But never before in a supposedly civilized land has a government urged and encouraged its people in mob violence and murder. That is what makes the nazi regime stand apart.

All States Now Pay Some Benefits Under Social Security Act

Washington. — In a year-end statement, Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board, made the following report of progress under the social security act:

With the close of this year, social security as a national program in this country passes its third milestone. The work of the social security board during 1938, in collaboration with the other federal and state agencies concerned, brings us up to the New Year with a substantial record of accomplishment.

We have at least one federal-state program of public assistance to the needy in every state and territory of the United States. The federal government, by grants of money, helps the participating states to provide cash payments monthly to needy old people, the needy blind, and for dependent children. All the states are taking part in the program for needy old people. Forty-two states are taking part in the program for the needy blind, and the same number in that for dependent children. All told, about 2½ million men, women and children are being directly aided through these monthly cash allowances, from federal, state and local funds. A total, from all these sources, of one billion dollars has been paid to beneficiaries under these assistance programs since the social security act went into operation.

We now have thirty-one states paying unemployment insurance benefits. In all the remaining states but two, benefits will be payable in January, and after next July all the states will have reached this stage of full operation.

We have more than 42 million old-age insurance accounts on our books — representing an average gain of nearly half a million a month during 1938. Every worker covered by the old-age insurance plan is now building up his rights to a regular monthly retirement benefit. Meanwhile, we are paying lump-sum claims at the rate of more than 15,000 a month to insured workers who have reached 65 years of age, and to the families of those who have died—claims amounting so far to about 11 million dollars.

The new year will bring, no doubt, changes in the social security act and in the state laws which tie into the act. This, of course, is as it should be, for we now have experience upon which we can build in extending and strengthening these laws.

Labor Asks Social Security Board To Deny U. S. Grants to Oregon Because of Anti-Union Statute

Washington.—A. F. of L. and CIO have joined in a battle for all labor before the social security board. They asked the board to refrain from certifying the Oregon unemployment on the ground that the anti-labor act passed by initiative at the last election, had deprived that state of the right of federal grants under the social security act.

It will be remembered that the reactionaries of the three Pacific coast states campaigned to the limit for laws which virtually would stop strikes and tie the hands of labor unions. In Washington and California, the scheme was overwhelmingly defeated. In Oregon, it carried; and the result is a legal fight that unquestionably will be carried to the federal courts.

"Yellow Dog" Seen Legalized.

The A. F. of L. was represented at the hearing by Joseph A. Padway, the Oregon State Federation of Labor by B. A. Green, and the CIO by Lee Pressman. They agdeed that the initiative anti-labor law practically made labor unions unlawful in Oregon; and nullified the Norris-La Guardia anti-injunction act aand the national labor relations act, as well as the social security act. They said that it had taken the state back to the days of 1806, when it was a conspiracy to form a labor union.

Padway said that the new Oregon law had once more "legalized the reprehensible yellow dog contract," and that by this law, "Oregon has taken itself out of the nation." Pressman said that the law had "redefined labor disputes" so as to make legitimate activities unlawful, and virtually eliminated the right to strike.

Oregon May Lose Million.

The attack by the labor attorneys strikes straight at the financial question. The federal government turns back to a state 90 per cent of the payroll tax paid by employers for unemployment compensation in that state, and an added sum for administration expenses.

Oregon will lose nearly a million dollars if the social security board fails to certify the Oregon unemployment act because of this new law.

OVER MILLION WPA TOYS.

Washington.—The workers progress administration announced that more than 1,500,000 toys and other gifts went out this Christmas from WPA workrooms to poor children. Assistant W. P. A Administrator Woodward said that thousands of men and women from relief rolls have been given many weeks of employment on special projects for reconditioning old toys. Nearly every W. P. A. and national youth administration co-operated.

Two Friends of Labor Take Cabinet Posts—U. S. Housing Authority Provides Homes for 20,000 Families Formerly Living in Slum Squalor.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington.—Two of the foremost friends of American labor have come into the president's cabinet in one week—Frank Murphy to head the department of justice and Harry L. Hopkins to be secretary of commerce.

Neither was named these high posts on account of known friendliness to labor—though with the present administration, that wouldn't be any sort of a handicap. Both were named because they had made good under strenuous trial and difficult circumstances in other places.

Murphy's best known service is his peaceful settlement of the strike in February of 1937 in the auto plants at Flint, Mich. Flint is a good deal of a semi-fascist town, like Gadsden, Ala., and Johnstown, Pa. In all three places, the local government is pretty much dominated by big manufacturers. A state judge, Badola, issued an injunction to threw out the strikers.

Gov. Murphy persuaded the sheriff to withhold enforcing this writ until the companies had agreed to negotiate the disputes with the strikers. It took some days to bring the companies to reason, but Gov. Murphy finally did it. Then the strikers quitted the plants themselves, without violence or bloodshed—which would have been pretty sure to come with an eviction by force.

He was elected mayor to fill the term of a mayor who had been recalled, and ran smack into the depression which hit Detroit harder than almost any other city. He made a record, both in local relief and in cutting other city expenses to the bone.

Hopkins is known so widely and directly throughout the nation as administrator of the WPA that less need be said about him. He did a splendid job on relief; and one of the things he did there has given a suggestion for his new job. In the WPA, he showed remarkable skill in finding people who could collect facts about almost anything. As head of the department of commerce, he has in the bureau of staandards one of the greatest fact-finding organizations in the world.

Its tests are largely responsible for the enormous improvements in automobile tires. It is testing parachute cloth for both army and navy aviation service. It worked out a method of blind landings of airplanes.

The suggestion has been made that Hopkins be asked to test materials of common use, and publish the results.

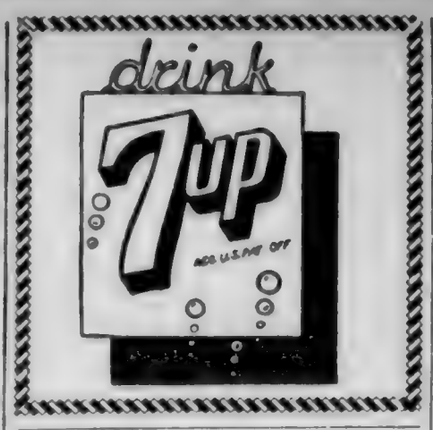
More than 20,000 families formerly living in slum tenements are now living in decent, sanitary quarters in publiv housing projects, and blessing in the United States Housing Authority. Probabably 70,000 or 80,000 more families will get similar improvements in living quarters well before the end of the year, as a result of USHA projects.

There were forty-six local public housing agencies in this country a year ago. There are now 221.

Figures tell stories—and in this case, good stories.

WHAT NEXT?

The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company has shipped the first of 12 units of prefabricated metal farm buildings to sites selected by the Farm Security Administration in three southern states. Each unit includes five buildings—dwelling, barn, chicken house, outdoor pantry and sanitary accommodations. Complete prefabrication enables quick erection of the buildings by bolting the panels together.



Sit-down Strikes Declared "Voted Out" in Michigan

Lansing.—Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald declared in his message to the legislature that "sit-down strikes have been voted out of existence" in Michigan. The newly-elected republican chief executive charted a path of "liberal progress" for the state. He urged enactment of a labor relations law which would define the right of labor and management in industrial disputes. Fitzgerald said:

"The most potent weapons workingmen possess . . . are the right to collective bargaining and the right to strike. These must be preserved. Collective bargaining is a step toward liberal progress. It has been won. It shall be kept. But strikes should be kept on a sound, orderly and legal basis. Strikes should be called by recognized officers and recognized unions."

Under his proposed legislation, "illegal" strikers would face loss of their jobs and employers and organizers alike would be subject to "stiff penalties" for coercing workers to join an organization.

Canadian Labor Head Asks Efforts For Juster Social Order

Ottawa.—We must work for a social order which will permit the reign of social justice and a big improvement in the condition of our less fortunate fellow-citizens, says President P. M. Draper, of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, in a New Year's message. The unemployment situation in Canada is still as unfavorable as a year ago, and we require the application of some extraordinary measures to give jobs, he adds.

A speaker before the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce said the tax collector is the chief enemy to prosperity. If he will include the taxes collected by the managers of corporations strong enough to fix prices, he will not be far wrong.

Humanity Marches On

By CHARLES STELZLE
Executive Director, Good Neighbor League

The character and extent of human progress should not be judged by the immediate situation, whose seriousness we so easily over-emphasize because it is the age in which we live, and by which we are personally affected, but by the study of a period of time which will clearly show wherein humanity has made substantial progress.

Here are some of the facts to which we might give consideration:

First, in international affairs:

On Christmas Eve, 1814, Great Britain and the United States signed the Treaty of Ghent, which on next Christmas Eve will have resulted in 125 years of continuous peace between these two countries.

Trade agreements with nearly twenty countries throughout the world have brought the United States into closer economic relationships with these countries, thus breaking down barriers which have long kept them apart in bitter rivalry.

The agreement which has just been entered into at the Lima conference between the United States and the twenty-one countries of Latin America, by which we shall stand together in opposing aggression by countries across the seas, thus setting up a united front in the Western hemisphere.

Transportation facilities have so greatly improved, that instead of taking weeks and months to cover the continent, or to cross the sea, the journey may now be made in a fraction of the time formerly required.

Communication has drawn together the people of the world so that we may converse with anybody, anywhere, any time, instead of wearily waiting for the slower processes of former days.

Second, in social, economic and physical conditions:

Whereas at one time many of the workers of the United States were employed 16 hours a day, for which they received very low wages, the hours of labor have been cut in two and the wages received have been multiplied.

Standards of living for all toilers have been vastly improved, so that today they enjoy comforts many of which were at one time the exclusive privilege of the royalty.

Death rates have been decreased to such an extent that today the average length of life is twice as long as it was a few generations ago, and certain forms of illness which in former days were responsible for plagues that threatened to wipe out entire communities, have almost completely disappeared.

Third, in education, religion and general culture:

Education, which was once the privilege of a small minority of the people, has advanced so generally that illiteracy in our country is now almost negligible.

Religion, which once divided the people into bitter opponents, is now bringing together for mutual cooperation Protestants, Jews and Catholics, who work in close harmony to bring in a better world.

America has become the haven of countless millions from foreign lands, who have become important factors in building up our country, contributing the wealth of their traditions and their cultures, making the United States the richest country in the world.

Felix Frankfurter Nominated For Vacancy In Supreme Court

Washington. — President Roosevelt has fulfilled expectations and nominated Felix Frankfurter to the place on the U. S. supreme court left vacant by the death of Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo. Confirmation by the senate is taken for granted at the Capitol.

Mr. Frankfurter was born in Vienna, Austria, fifty-six years ago last November, and came to America with his parents when 12 years old. He has been professor of law at Harvard Law school since 1914 record as a teacher is remarkable because of the number of young lawyers he has sent out to plead the cause of the public rather than that of the corporations. He is a prolific, graceful, effective and careful writer. His "Labor Injunction," in which Nathan Greene co-operated, is pretty nearly the last word on that once controversial question; and his little book on "Mr. Justice Holmes and the United States Supreme Court" is a classic.

"There is nothing inevitable in history except it be made by man," is a dictum which he laws down in the introduction to this book, and points the humanness of his outlook as nothing else could. Oddly, and under the circumstances, pathetically, this book was dedicated to Justice Cardozo.

GREEN PRAISES APPOINTMENT

William Green, A. F. of L. president, gave this brief but emphatic commendation: "I regard the nomination and experience as a most excellent one. He is peculiarly fitted by training and experience to serve in such an exalted position. He is a man of broad vision, possessing a fine social and economic point of view, together with a judicial mind and the ability to render exact justice to all litigants and to all classes of people. I heartily commend the president upon his appointment of Mr. Felix Frankfurter."

$95,000 FOR CANES

WASHINGTON, D. C.—That some American males still sport canes is brought out in a recent Census Bureau report estimating that last year's output of walking sticks was valued at $95,000.

How you fill your mind determines very largely how you fill your pocketbook.

IN THE NEWS

DAVID B. ROBERTSON

David B. Robertson, classed by those who know his career as one of the dozen top statesmen of the labor movement, has been president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen since 1922. Through 16 eventful years he has guided his union, one of the largest of the railroad brotherhoods; and through most of that time he was chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association.

He was born in Austintown, a small Ohio burg, on May 13, 1876. His father was a merchant; not always a prosperous one, for David went to work at 12 years. He began in a brickyard, moved to a machine shop; and got his definite direction in life when he became engine wiper on the Pennsylvania. He switched three years later, and was successively hostler, firemen, and engineer on that road from 1898 to 1913. He was general chairman for the brotherhood on the Erie system as early as 1905, and reached the presidency of the order 17 years later.

By this time, it will be no surprise to hear that David went to night schools and took a course in correspondence schools.

He was chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association when the present railway labor act was passed, and his statesmanship got the old act repealed and the new one passed with only a fraction of the struggle in Congress that had been anticipated. He was in the same position when that act was amended. He led the rail brotherhoods in their fight which helped to keep Judge John Parker from being confirmed to the Supreme Court.

A long, fine career—and nowhere near over, yet.

Radio Workers' News

From Local Union No. 662

THANKS

We are grateful for the many acts and expressions of co-operation that have reached us since last Friday when we carried our problem to you through the columns of The Labor World. Your loyalty has been most encouraging to us and we feel deeply indebted to labor and friends of labor. We solicit your continued support.

RADIO NIGHT SCHOOL

The second term of the radio workers night school began Tuesday night at the Vocational school. Members are looking forward to the coming sessions with a great deal of interest due to the fact that the term will be devoted entirely to subjects not only highly interesting but very helpful to the practical service man.

Through the efforts of Radio Workers' Local No. 662 and the co-operation of Mr. C. P. Parsons, evening school co-ordinator of the vocational school, a class for radio workers was organized last fall. Men actually engaged in servicing radios and whose intention it is to keep abreast of a very revolutionary trade realize more than any one else the necessity of constant study and alertness if they are to properly service modern receivers. Classes meet twice weekly for two hour periods and under the able instruction of Mr. J. M. Williams, of the TVA. The course has already proven itself of immeasurable value to those attending.

STRIKE NEWS

Since the public has learned what the Radio Workers are asking for, it is quite interesting to note how many are asking the question as to why they do not ask for more. It seems that people generally have been under the impression that radio service men were paid a fair wage for their services due to the training and equipment necessary to hold down a job. With few exceptions, they have been miserably underpaid in Chattanooga and it has been only their love of the trade and the hopes of a brighter future that has kept most of the men from changing professions.

The reason that a higher wage was not asked for was due to a sincere desire on the part of the local not to work a hardship on those employers who might be inclined to want to co-operate in bettering conditions, not only for the men but for themselves and the public as well. Bryant & Trimble, Motorola distributors, and the Western Auto Supply Company, showed a spirit of co-operation from the first and signed working agreements. Their action was immediately followed by the four independent radio shops, namely, Curle Sound Service, Hunnicut Radio and Sound Service, Radio and Sound Service Company and the Standard Radio Shop.

Three thousand copies of Labor World were distributed last week by Local 662. These papers, carrying facts as radio men know them, were delivered to homes in Chattanooga and vicinity in order that the public might see for themselves how present conditions affect them as well as the radio men. Local 662 says it is a fight to the finish and will determine whether radio is to be a business or a racket.

Local 74, Carpenters and Joiners, wishes to repeat to its friends in the labor movement and the public that it has placed the Home Stores and the Free Press on its "Unfair" list.

TEACHER TALK

Teachers in America have cause to be grateful for the part that the labor movement has played and is playing in improving their lot. We have just read the speech of Geo. L. Googe to the recent 22nd annual convention of the A. F. T. For an instance, he cites the work of labor in his home town, Savannah, Ga., where an unsocially-minded superintendent was replaced by a better man when labor people awoke to the situation and became members of the education board.

Stating the policies of labor on education, Mr. Googe stressed first the need for academic freedom as essential to a true democracy, contrasting the United States with the dictator nations. The A. F. L., he pointed out, was "the first group which came out forcefully against the imposition of the teachers' oath and has consistently opposed it."

On schools and equipment: "We believe in the necessity of well-equipped and modern school buildings, and to that we pledge our utmost support. We want small classrooms, in well-equipped new buildings." To this end the A. F. L. was the first group to demand federal aid to education.

On the vital issue of salaries, Mr. Googe echoed our own sentiments. Salaries should be commensurate with money and time and effort spent on preparation and on keeping abreast of the times, and with living respectably and comfortably, he said.

Foolproof tenure laws, adequate sick leave, sabbatical leave (so that teacher could be a "this year's model," as had been already said at the convention), limitation of teacher-load, and teacher participation in school management are advocated, and last, but not least, the hiring of clerical help to handle the mounting quantity of routine bookkeeping that takes so much of the teacher's time, just as would be done in a similar situation in a sanely managed business.

If you ask us, labor is entitled to our hearty support.

At Wednesday night's board of directors meeting, that group approved the application for membership of three new unionists and reinstated another, heard Miss Josephine Hamilton's preliminary report on the proposed merit system legislation, voted to meet twice a month (second and fourth Wednesdays) instead of once and to replace directors who are absent from three consecutive meetings.

Incidentally, meetings of the board have always been open to all members of the organization. Come to any meeting you like, and see what your representatives do "while you relax," as a Chicago federation bulletin put it recently.

Be sure to read carefully your latest "Federation News" for a fuller treatment of merit systems than the one in this column last week.

The city salary suit is making progress. Federation Attorney Ballard will cross-examine city witnesses in chancery court Saturday.

Mooney Is Pardoned By Governor Olson

Member of Molders Union Freed After 22 Years' Unjust Imprisonment; Absolved of Guilt in Preparedness Day Bombing

Sacramento, Calif. — Thomas J. Mooney was pardoned on Jan. 7 by Governor Culbert L. Olson, after serving twenty-two years in prison following conviction of the charge of murder in connection with the bombing of the San Francisco Preparedness Day parade in 1916, which resulted in the death of ten persons.

Shortly before noon, Governor Olson, whose campaign platform included a promise to pardon Mooney if elected, formerly freed the prisoner in the state assembly chamber in a setting of movie cameras and microphones.

Earlier in the day Mooney, now 56 years old, left San Quentin prison in the custody of the warden, who had been instructed by the governor to bring him to Sacramento.

After reviewing the Mooney case from the beginning to end, Governor Olson said he was thoroughly convinced that the conviction of the murder charge resulted from perjured testimony and expressed his belief that Mooney was innocent of the charge.

Turning to Mooney, the governor said:

"I shall hope and expect that you will, with every other true friend of American liberty and American progress toward industrial and social justice, urge only the intelligent exercise by the people of their democracy, with the realization that they can have any kind of government they want by peaceful process, that any violence of person or property will defeat it."

Directly addressing the gray-haired victim of the law's injustice, Governor Olson said:

"Tom Mooney, will you stand up?"

Mooney arose, smiling.

"I have signed and I now hand to you, Tom Mooney, this full and unconditional pardon. I now instruct Warden Smith (of San Quentin prison) to release you to the freedom which I expect you to exercise with the high ideals I have tried to indicate."

There was an outburst of applause lasting two or three minutes, some of the spectators standing in their seats.

Then Mooney in a brief talk reviewed his own case, declared his complete innocence, expressed the hope for a better social order, and said that he would consecrate himself to securing the freedom of Warren K. Billings, who was convicted along with Mooney of complicity in the San Francisco bombing and given a life sentence, but who, due to legal technicalities is not subject to the same form of gubernatorial action which Governor Olson applied to mooney.

Pardon Pleases Green

Coshocton, O. — President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, at his home here, expressed his gratification over the action of Governor Olson, of California, in pardoning Thomas J. Mooney.

"I know the officers and members of the American Federation of Labor will be greatly pleased over the action taken," Mr. Green said. "It is a most deserving act."

Over Two Thousand Agreements Negotiated By Machinists Association During 1938

Washington, D. C.—With over 2,200 new and renewed agreements negotiated with employers during 1938, the International Association of Machinists, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, is rightly proud of its achievements.

Harvey W. Brown, acting president of the association, said that although the year had been marked by the severe business recession, these agreements had secured genuine benefits for the more than 200,000 workers holding membership cards in the association.

Typical wage increases, Mr. Brown said, were those secured in a Los Angeles agreement with five dairies, which boosted wages an average of $40 a month. In Minneapolis an agreement with a motor freight line added $33 a month to the pay envelopes of union members, and an agreement with a garage and service station in Minneapolis increased wages from $25 to $42.50 a week.

All of us have been immeasurably saddened by tragic developments in Europe and Asia. We have read about the suffering caused by barbaric oppression and persecution with growing amazement that such things could happen in this supposedly civilized age. Yet these very tragedies have strengthened our adherence to American principles, reinforced our faith in American ideals and fortified our determination that such transgressions against humanity must never happen in our own country.—William Green.

Foul Play Feared as Hodcarrier Disappears With Large Sum of Money

Secretary Arthur Williams Was Bonded and Had Property and Savings Account

Fears that some personal enemy or anti-union source had done bodily injury to Arthur Williams mounted this week as the whereabouts of the building labor secretary remained unknown. He left the labor hall last Monday morning with nearly $700 in cash and checks to deposit in the bank, and that was the last seen or heard of him.

Investigation showed that he owned a piece of property worth more than the amount of money belonging to the union, and that in addition he had a nice savings account in his own name. This evidence leads many to believe that he has not disappeared of his own accord.

E. E. McDaniel, representative for the international union, stated that the local would not suffer financial loss since Williams was bonded.

At the present time the building labor of Chattanooga is in a controversy with certain small home contractors.

LET'S TEND TO OUR KNITTING

(From The Week, Tacoma Advocate, Tacoma, Wash.)

Oswald Pirow, the South African minister, who to acquire knowledge of things directly in Europe, visited Hitler and Mussolini, declared that Europe is heading towards a war in the spring and, concluded he, "Unless there is a complete change in the outlook within the next month or two, the international tension will reach the breaking point in the spring of 1939."

It is time that, pondering Pirow's words, some of those in high places in this nation change their own outlook and mind this nation's own business, which is not to be wet nurse to every nation in the world to have it brought up along the lines of democracy. What other nations may do should be their own business, and any interference in its affairs are likely as not to involve us in the world war that may result among the jittery nations of Europe. We tried that once and that should be aplenty. What we got out of it were millions for munitionists, billions of war debts, an unnumbered dead, wounded, gassed and mental wrecks for our pains and we did not make the world safe then for democracy. And we won't in the future.

If we tend to our own knitting we have social problems to solve that should keep us busy for a long time yet.

"Will Fight Injunctions to Limit" Culinary Workers Tell Cafe Men

Attorney King Will Demur Before Chancellor Lon Foust Saturday Morning

Almost resembling a snowstorm, injunction papers fell thick and fast on Local 574, Culinary Workers, during an eight-day period when Judge Yarnell granted picketed restaurants injunctions which temporarily pulled off pickets in front of four nonunion restaurants.

The parade started when the nonunion Home Plate appealed to Judge Yarnell to help him in his fight against the local union. In succession the picket was removed to Harry's Place, the Steak House and the Maypole. In succession Judge Yarnell granted restraining orders.

Hearing will be held before Chancellor Lon Foust Saturday morning. The "union" lawyer, H. G. B. King, whose record for ability in labor law is well established, will enter a demurrer before the chancellor, and according to King, "We have points of law with us, and the injunction will be removed after Judge Foust hears our points of argument."

Officials of the Culinary Workers also expressed a determination to continue their fight to improve conditions in Chattanooga's eating houses.

Cement Workers Elect New Officers

Past President T. J. Adams, of Whitwell, Tenn., was present at the last meeting of the local cement workers to install officers who were elected to serve this local union for the year 1939. The officers elected and installed were as follows:

Fred Sullivan, president,
W. M. Thompson, first vice-president.
Fred Standifer, second vice-president.
T. L. Parson, third vice-president.
Glenn Parson, recording secretary.
V. O. Cunningham, financial secretary.
James H. Cooley, treasurer.
W. G. Gray, Chaplain.
J. P. Merriman, sergeant-at-arms.
John Fenton, Milo Thompson and J. M. Lewis, trustees.
James Johnson, janitor.

The following were elected as delegates to the Central Labor union: Roy Rutherford, J. M. Rogers, John Fenton, Glenn Parson, Henry Hughes.

Negotiations will begin sometime in February with the Signal Mountain Portland Cement company for a new agreement for the year 1939.

At Last, a Union Man Gets Labor Dept. Job

Governor Prentiss Cooper returned the administration of the working people of Tennessee in factories and workshops into the hands of people who know their problems first hand.

Teaching Prnfession Honored

One of the most impressive and certainly the finest occasions in many years took place this week when the Kiwanis Club awarded recognition for distinguished service to this community to Misses Clara Carpenter and Anneta Trimble.

We congratulate the Kiwanis Club in their choice this year. We think that it is the best ever—these fine women were not recognized because of great wealth, nor were they honored because of political ability to garner votes. Their service extended over a period of more than a half-century in the most important business in any community—that of training and educating our children to become fine, honest and Christian people.

One could not keep a slight trace of tears away while they were being eulogized in ceremonies that were sweet and throbbing with lov. At the same time one could not keep back a jarring thought that if this ceremony could have been held in the courthouse or in the city hall while the school teachers' pay schedules were being hacked to pieces maybe veteran trainers of our children would not have to rely upon 56 years of service before they received a pat on the back, with a cheery "Well done, thou good and mistreated servants."

The Lesson of the Long Fight

The Weirton Steel company case before the NLRB has about finished its first stage. It was started by a complaint served a year and a half ago, charging Weirton Steel with about every violation of the Wagner labor relations act that even a steel corporation can perpetrate. Hearings have been held in three states, and in the District of Columbia. Four hundred witnesses have been summoned by the NLRB, 353 by the Weirton concern, and their combined testimony fills 37,000 pages.

A dispatch from Pittsburgh coming from a spokesman of the company says that the fight, so far, has cost the corporation over $1,000,000. And when it is added that the fight against the NRA made by the same company under the same leadership Ernest T. Weir—cost more than another million dollars, a pretty bright sidelight is thrown on a lot of labor troubles.

Mr. Weir has spent more than $2,000,000 of his own and his stockholders' money for what? Necessity? Other firms in the same business have found no such need. Economy? The odds are heavy that he has thrown away twice as much as it would have cost him to obey the law.

He is doing this in response to the demand for industrial despotism, which seems to be a strong element in his nature. He apparently has the weird—no pun intended—notion that the law has no right to interfere with his personal mastery of the conduct, habits and very lives of the thousands of men who work for him. He has a serious case of the mental inflation known as the Jehovah complex.

And that is what brings the bitterest of labor disputes.

We culinary workers have suffered another "setback" and another one since we were with you last. Judge Yarnell again and again handed down more temporary injunctions. This time he saw fit to give an injunction to George Silas of the Maypole and Spiro Vezdoon at his Steak House. The whys and wherefore we are unable to say. Maybe some day we will understand. It is probably that we are an insolvent lot. We may be insolvent but we are persistent.

Juanita Smith and Mary Elizabeth Hill were initiated at our meeting on Tuesday night. They are from Times Square lunch.

Our picket, Jane Doe, has moved. This time she has taken up abode before the door of the president of the restaurant association, Bob Tomlinson. Mr. Tamlinson, who during his off-hours from his work as president of this association operates a restaurant at 428 McCallie avenue. Mr. Tomlinson isn't, according to rumors, the least bit worried by the appearance of this picket—they never are you know. As president of this organization he has helped to establish a fund whereby the fight against our organization can continue. As members of the American Federation of Labor we have no fear of an organization the size of this association. 'Tis said that Mr. Tomlinson will not ask for an injunction as he can take it.

Gee, we are all a-twitter over the way this organizing campaign is pushing forward. You should be at the labor hall every night as I am and see all those people coming in to meetings—new faces. Honestly, we were so excited on Saturday night that we couldn't talk. That is truly unlike us. We went into the hall and before my very eyes were a bunch of people—and when I say a bunch of people I mean a whole flock of them—standing to get in one of the rooms. Mr. Adwell, Erskine Mabee and myself finally got them into a room—and what a meeting.

Modern "Samaritans"

By Dr. Charles Stelzle
Executive Director, Good Neighbor League

The story of the "Good Samaritan" is one of the greatest classics ever written. Everybody knows it. Everybody believes its teachings—at least theoretically. Lodges and other fraternal organizations have adopted it as the basis of their constitutions.

But let's see what is really involved in this great story, and then let's ask ourselves how near we come to following the example of the Samaritan. Here are the chief points in his actions.

First, he made a "survey."

The priest and the Levite passed by on the other side of the Jericho road, leaving the man who had been robbed and beaten, probably with not so much as a backward glance. The Samaritan came where the wounded traveler lay, to get the facts, and to find out what he needed.

Second, he was "moved with compassion."

He did not come merely to get the data in the case, so that he might make a statistical report to the authorities. He put heart into the task, and he did not stop to ask about the wounded man's religion, his race, his color, or whether he belonged to any particular organization.

Third, he helped the traveler.

He bound up his wounds, set him upon his own beast, brought him to an inn, paid his bill and told the keeper that if the sick man needed anything else, to see that he got it, and he himself would make it all right.

And here you have an outline of what should ordinarily be done in meeting the social needs of our neighbors and all other unfortunates who have been "wounded."

This is all right, so far as it goes, but there's one thing else that needs to be done in these modern times — something that a thousand "Good Samaritans," working as individuals, can never do—the "Jericho roads" must be cleared of thieves and robbers!

This will do away with the necessity of caring for "wounded travelers" — whether they have been wounded by industrial, social or political robbers.

And this is a job that requires the combined efforts of all of us. The robbers are strong and ruthless—and they're organized.

When the rest of us get together—churches and lodges, industry and labor, and all others who believe in wiping out injustice and lawlessness and unfair dealing—it will be "good night" to the robber bands on all "Jericho roads."

Resolutions

ZANIS LEDFORD

Whereas, God, the great creator of all things, and of all peoples of the earth, has in His infinite wisdom called home to heaven the 5-month-old daughter of our brother, Zanis Ledford; and,

Whereas, in such moments of grief and sorrow a message of sympathy and love does much to assuage the pain and the sorrow; therefore, be it

Resolved, by Local Union No. 18269, of cement workers, in regular session assembled, That we hereby extend to Brother Ledford and his family our heartfelt sympathy; and be it further

Whereas, his friends and fellow workers deeply deplore his untimely passing, albeit realizing that, since his affliction was beyond the skill of the best of medical science, Mack, as he was familiarly known to his friends, has bettered his lot and exchanged the frailties and sufferings which are the heritage of all human kind for that perfect peace which is the reward of the followers of Christ; and

Whereas, Mack was universally known for his sobriety, his industry, fidelity to his duty and devotion to his family; and,

Whereas, Mack was a faithful member of the International Typographical union, and for the past twenty years or more of Chattanooga Union No. 89; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by we, the members of Chattanooga Typographical union No. 89, That we render homage and respect to him in his passing, recognizing his sterling qualities; and while we mourn his departure from our midst, we are consoled by the knowledge that in that life of peace and purity to which our brother has gone we may all one day be reunited with him and all shall live eternally. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, and a duplicate be given to the widow of our brother.

SOUTHERN LABOR "SPOTS"

Savannah, Ga.—Mrs. J. G. Logan Googe, mother of George L. Googe, of Atlanta, southern representative of the American Federation of Labor, died at her home here last Saturday morning, after an illness of three weeks. Funeral services were conducted Sunday morning, attended by a great throng of friends who had known Mrs. Googe throughout her useful life. Burial was in Bonaventure cemetery, beside the grave of her husband, whose death occurred a little over a year ago.

During the critical illness of his mother, Mr. George L. Googe had been constantly at her bedside, as had the other children surviving, these being James Googe, of Atlanta, of the civil service commission; Paul Googe, of Savannah, prominent railroad executive; Miss Leile Googe, of Savannah; Mrs. Margaret Patrick, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Ben Krajainsky, of Elizabeth, N. J.

High Point, N. C.—Application for a charter to establish a local union of the United Garment Workers of America has been applied for as a result of a meeting held here last week. The workers were assisted in the organization activities by E. L. Ketchie, president, and Everette Morris, secretary, of the High Point Central Labor union. Organizers Scott and Weaver, of the Winston-Salem C. L. U. organizing committee, also rendered assistance to the garment workers in the organization.

C. M. Fox, of the A. F. of L. staff, directed the workers in making application for the charter and addressed the mass meeting last Wednesday night, at which time 125 workers joined the union.

New Orleans, La.—T. D. Grimes, A. F. of L. representative assigned to the organization of freight and express handlers in the south, installed a charter here last Friday night for the recently organized local union made up of workers on the L. & N. and Southern Railway companies. This local unio . has an unusually large membership for a new organization, and leaders in the movement predict that it will become one of the largest locals in the south among freight and express handlers.

Winnfield, La.—Charter for the recently organized central trades and labor council was installed here last Friday night, with E. H. Williams, of the A. F. of L., in charge of the installation program. The meeting was attended by a large number of trades unionists, and there is a very bright outlook for constructive work to be done by the central body.

Gadsden, Ala.—An agreement was signed here last week between the local union of the Upholsterers' International and the Queen City Furniture company. Negotiations have been progressing for several weeks and the successful conclusion is most pleasing to all labor in Gadsden. Closed union shop provision, and many other advancements for the workers are obtained in the agreement. The upholsterers is an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, and J. R. Arrington, representative of the international, assisted the local officials in the negotiations.

Electrical Workers Bring Membership Past 200,000 Mark in 1938

Washington, D. C. — Conditions at the end of the year 1938 looked exceedingly bright to the officials of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, when an examination of their books revealed that membership in the Brotherhood had passed the 200,000 mark.

In commenting on these figures, Marion H. Hedges, research director of the Brotherhood, said, "We have made the greatest advance in the history of our union."

Among the significant features of the union's membership list is the fact that it includes the 30,000 employes of the Consolidated Edison Company of New York City, the local constituting the largest utility local in existence.

With regard to wages of electricians employed on utilities, construction work and in other fields, it was stated that the average wage had been increased $1.17 per hour during 1938, with individual scales running higher than this figure.

In addition, an increase of over 50 per cent, from an average of 40 cents to 62½ cents an hour, for production workers in electrical manufacturing plants had been gained, Mr. Hedges said.

Turning to the generation of electricity, the Brotherhood negotiated during the year agreements covering 70 per cent of all private utilities in the United States and nearly 100 per cent of public utilities. The Tennessee Valley Authority, Boulder Dam, Bonneville, Shasta Dam, and other large government power centers include the Electrical Workers Brotherhood as collective bargaining agency.

The achievements of the International Brothed of Electrical Workers was attributed by Mr. Hedges to the fact that "we are a well managed union, we keep our agreements religiously, and we give wage protection, plus a good many other benefits, to our members."

Mr. T. R. Cuthbert,
Editor, Labor World,
Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Dear Mr. Cuthbert:

May we offer our congratulations on your new, enlarged edition of the Labor World. This new improvement reflects the interest and support of Chattanooga Craftsmen and identifies the Labor World as one or this localities' most progressive and growing newspapers.

We shall continue to advertise in the Labor World as we have in the past, because we feel that this is our most effective method or reaching Chattanooga Tradesmen.

Best wishes for your continued success.

Very Truly Yours,
H. W. Hirsheimer

IT IS the WAGE EARNER who always wants a better home, more and finer furnishings, new clothing, a new radio, a better car. He keeps his wages in circulation, BUYS THINGS with his money. . . . When the WAGE EARNER restricts his buying, merchants feel it immediately. The trade of the WAGE EARNER keeps business booming on Market and Broad streets . . . and the merchant who has the patronage and friendship of Chattanooga WAGE EARNERS is "sitting pretty," as the saying goes.

10,000 UNION MEMBERS ARE READING

THE LABOR WORLD

Three Essentials of a Profitable Advertising Medium

1 It must reach a group of people who are ABLE to buy your goods. Craft unions represent the highest paid labor in the Chattanooga area. Readers of THE LABOR WORLD not only are ABLE to buy, but they DO BUY things they want.

2 It must have the interest of its readers, so that they will read the paper thoroughly and, therefore, are likely to SEE YOUR ADVERTISEMENT. No other publication has such intense reader interest as THE LABOR WORLD. It is the authoritative voice of Labor in Chattanooga.

3 Readers must have confidence in the paper. THE LABOR WORLD is owned and operated by the Chattanooga Central Labor Union and goes automatically to all its union members. They know that the business man who is not reliable, or is unfair to organized labor, cannot buy an advertisement in THE LABOR WORLD.

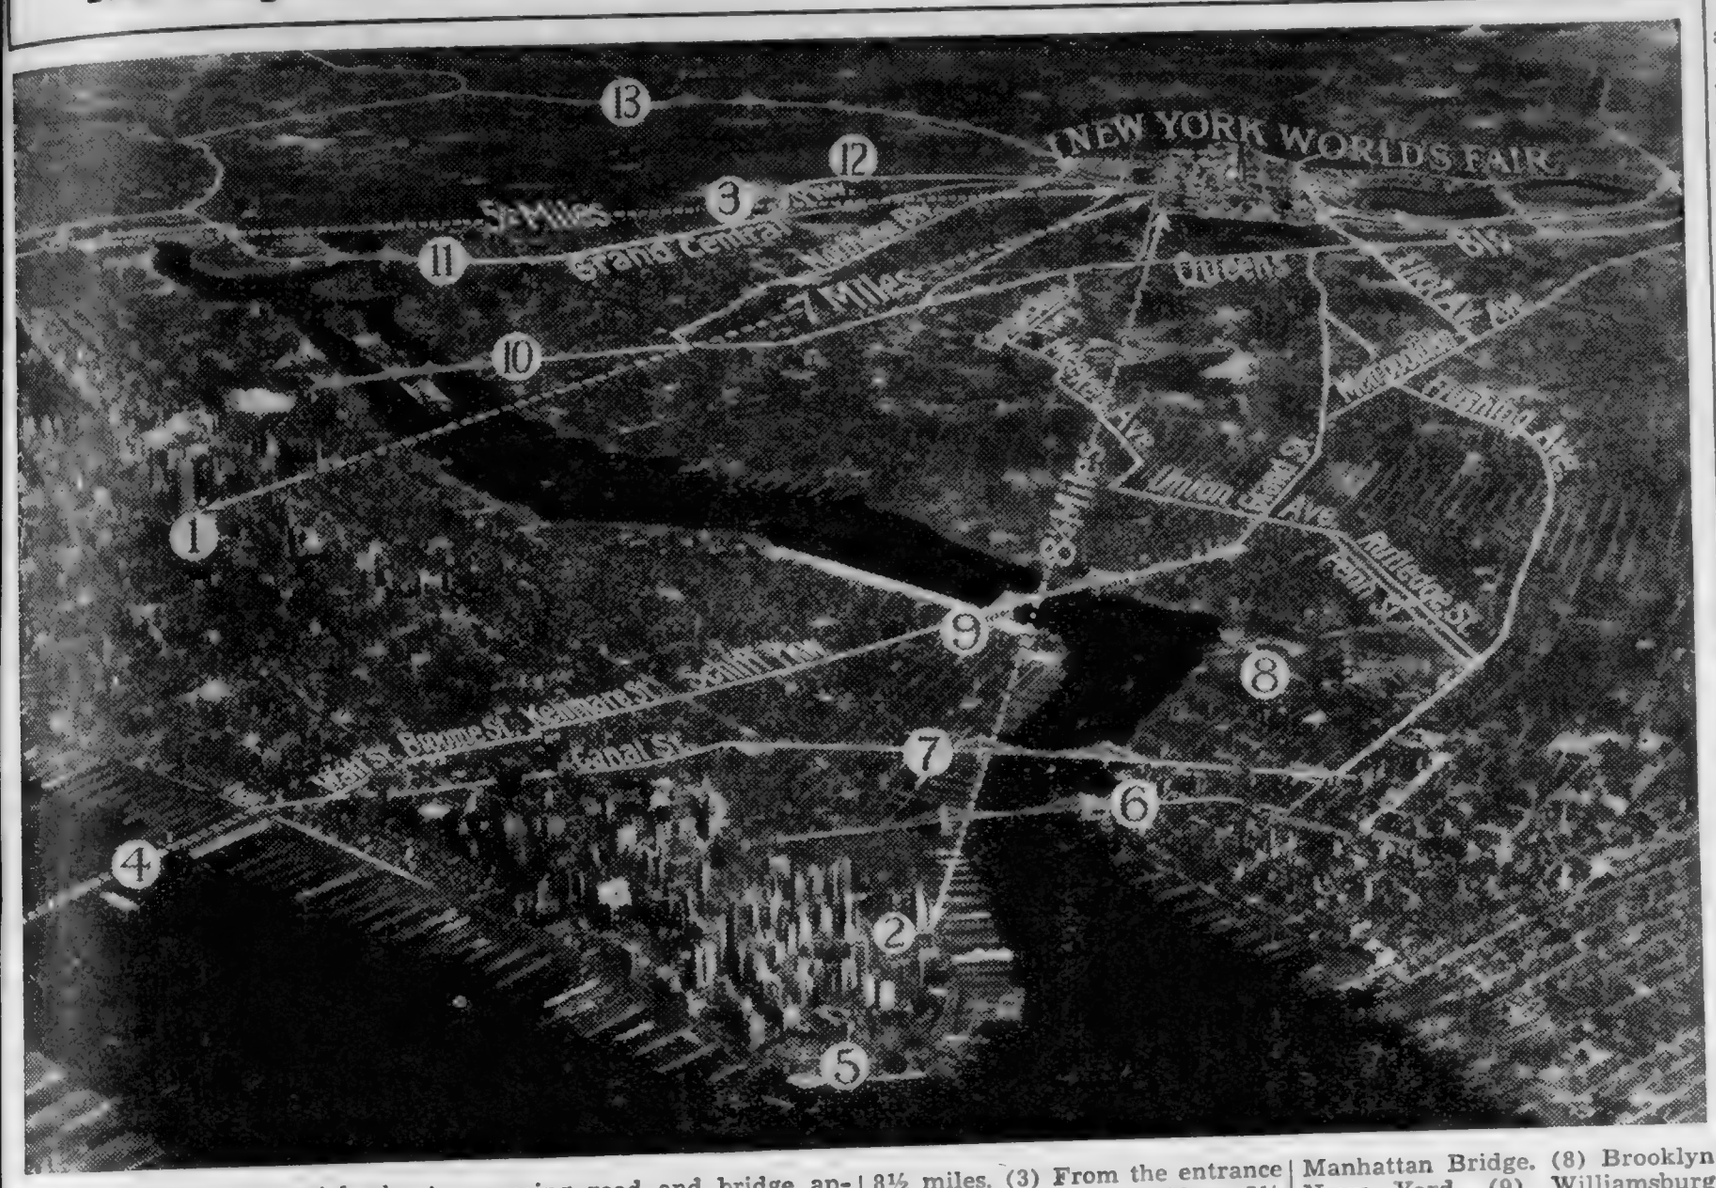
The readers, who are the owners of THE LABOR WORLD, are loyal to business men who use the paper. An advertisement establishes a background of friendliness among union people as no other publication can.

THIS BLANKETS the Labor Movement in Chattanooga --- goes right to the heart of the most responsive and best buying group in this area. THE LABOR WORLD is the most effective approach to this trade. When you are in THE LABOR WORLD it is just like being introduced and sponsored by a friend of the readers.

After repeated tests, PRINTERS INK, the recognized authority on advertising media, gives this verdict: "A labor paper is a far better advertising medium than any ordinary newspaper in comparison with circulation A labor paper having 2,000 subscribers is of more value to the business man who advertises in it than the ordinary newspaper with 12,000."

No Advertising Program Is Complete Unless It Includes THE LABOR WORLD

Air Map of Manhattan and New York World's Fair Grounds



NEW YORK—An aerial photographer recently obtained this remarkable picture showing the skyline of New York with its relation to the grounds of the New York World's Fair 1939. An artist has painted on lines indicating distances from certain points in Manhattan to the Fair grounds. These distances, and other facts, concerning road and bridge approaches to the exposition which is preparing to handle 60,000,000 visitors, are:

(1) From Empire State at Fifth Avenue and 34th Street, in the heart of the retail shopping district, to the Fair grounds, 7 miles. (2) From Wall Street, in lower Manhattan, to the Fair grounds, 8½ miles. (3) From the entrance to the Triborough Bridge, 5½ miles. (Motorists can make this trip without encountering a single traffic light). (4) Holland Tunnel from New Jersey, showing route through lower Manhattan across Williamsburg Bridge (No. 9) to roads leading to the Fair. (5) The Battery. (6) Brooklyn Bridge. (7) Manhattan Bridge. (8) Brooklyn Navy Yard. (9) Williamsburg Bridge. (10) Queensboro (59th Street) Bridge. (11) Grand Central Parkway. (12) North Beach Airport (now being enlarged at a cost of $30,000,000). (13) New Whitestone Bridge furnishing direct gateway from New England and Canada.

How "BIG"..."RICH"... "POWERFUL" is this Company?

You have no doubt heard the telephone company referred to or thought of it yourself as a big, rich and powerful company.

The Southern Bell Telephone Company has to be big in order to properly serve you and more than a million other telephone subscribers in the South. It has an obligation to meet your demands for adequate and dependable telephone service, no matter how big they may be. Big, and able too, is the army of telephone workers. More than nineteen thousand of them are required to serve the South efficiently, day and night.

The riches of the telephone company consist of switchboards, buildings, wires, cables and instruments—modern telephone plant and equipment to serve more than a million subscribers. Most of this property would be valueless if the public need for service should cease.

The money received by the telephone company is continually paid out for wages, for materials, for taxes, and to bond and stockholders for the use of their savings with which the company has bought the equipment and tools needed for the service.

Every penny received by the telephone company must be accounted for. Its books are kept in accordance with the regulations prescribed by federal and state authorities. They must be kept open at all times for governmental inspection. They are audited regularly by accredited outside accountants.

All the power the company possesses is granted to it by state and federal governments. But it cannot choose its customers, and its rates and practices are regulated and controlled by governmental agencies.

The telephone company is powerful, however, in some things. It is powerful in its unity of purpose and loyalty of workers. It possesses the power of the best minds in research, invention and manufacture. It has the power of the highest ideals of service and the courage to go forward, giving the public the most service and the best at the least cost consistent with financial stability.

Less Than Half of City Dwellings Found in Good Condition — National Health Conditions Better, With Syphillis Control Drive Bound to Help in Near Future.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington, D. C. — The latest report from the Works Progress Administration says that of urban homes—meaning homes in cities or good sized towns—only 40 per cent are in good condition. Also, 40 per cent lacked central heating, more than 15 per cent had no private flush toilets, and 20 per cent were without private bath or shower.

Since 8,000,000 urban homes were covered in 203 cities and towns, you may be sure the sample is large enough to furnish a basis for judging the rest.

Most of the dwellings were built of wood, except in New York City. In the southeast, 82 per cent of the houses are wood. In the same region, 25 per cent of the urban homes were without gas or electric light, nearly half were without gas or electric cooking equipment, 32 per cent have no indoor flush toilets and more than 40 per cent have no tub or shower baths.

"From these surveys has been assembled the most detailed body of statistical information now available on the physical characteristics of housing in the United States," says Corrington Gill, assistant administrator. Personally, I think WPA has earned its keep; and that the South will hereafter date its improvement in housing from these surveys.

Surgeon-General Thomas Parran tells us in the annual report of the Public Health Service that the nation has been having good health the last two years. The general death rate was lower in 1937 than in 1936, and in the first half of 1938 was lower still. Infant deaths are lower; dropping to 54.4 deaths per 1,000 live births in 1937, as compared to 57.1 the year before.

But of all the good things that Dr. Parran praises, the enactment by Congress of an act designed to control syphilis he proclaims to be the best. He is right. A new law of that kind never is fully enforced for a season. But what has actually happened is that the American people are taking a definite interest in this matter; they are writing for information, advice and help in literature and even in personnel in such quantities that the Public Health Service is swamped.

All to the good; and with drugs at hand that stop syphilis from being contagious in a very short time, permanent good is certain. Any infectious disease that comes to be talked about is sure to be licked, sooner or later; and with this ailment which has plagued the world since Columbus came home from Hispaniola, it will be sooner.

Spokesmen of big business fighting against relief recall Shakespeare's biting phrase: "What fools these mortals be!"

There is no longer any doubt that the recession of 1937 from which we are now rising was due at least in part to the cutting down of federal relief. Capital was sulking, as it still is, and federal expenditures were needed to keep markets going. Organized labor of all branches saw this from the first and is fairly shouting it now. But the spokesmen of big business, in Congress as well as in the newspapers, are trying their uttermost to cut down relief appropriations.

As if big business didn't need a market!

The more carefully big business is watched, the more it resembles the pig who lies down in the trough to keep other porkers from eating at it, and covers up his own food at the same time.

MORE ABOUT COOKS AND WAITERS

Then Monday night we were faced with a like situation. We went into the labor hall and before my eyes were a crowd that equaled any we have ever seen. We stopped short for we could not pass. We discovered on questioning them that they were there to obtain membership in a labor organization. One of the Truck Drivers came to my rescue and helped to locate a room for them. This room was half filled with men who were waiting admission to the laborers organization. Like sardines we finally got them packed in. Then along came Erskine Mabee to relieve the situation by suggesting that we contact Taylor Buchanan. When he arrived the meeting went forward in a great big way. Gee, there is nothing like this great labor movement of ours.

The dance—now don't forget that. We are sponsoring a dance at the Patten on Friday night, Feb. 24, at the Hotel Patten ballroom. The proceeds will go to the defense fund. This fund is for the fighting of these non-union restaurants that had rather fight organized labor than co-operate with it. We'd like to say here that organized labor is too great for the individual to attempt avoiding.

Don't forget to remember that the Home Plate, Harry's Place, Maypole and the Steak House employ non-union help and even though you do not see a picket before these eating establishments they are still NON-UNION. Demand the label. By helping others you help yourself.

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources
CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Several recent incidents of world importance should be put together, so that their bearings on each other may be plain.

First, Joseph P. Kennedy and William C. Bullitt, American ambassadors to Britain and France, went before the joint military affairs committees of house and senate to tell of present conditions in Europe. Details were kept secret; but the main lines of their evidence are clear. Both expect a world war to start in Europe not later than the coming summer. It is quite as likely to come from Mussolini's demands on France as from Hitler's drive toward the Ukraine.

Next, these ambassadors confirmed the frequent stories that Germany's air force gives her a present great advantage. Germany is held to have adopted the mass production of airplane parts and putting them together on an assembly line which enormously speeds production; and the remarks of members of the congressional committee who heard the two ambassadors seem to verify this. Reports from experts for months have described German pursuit planes much inferior to those of Russia in the fighting in Spain. This would modify but not abolish the gains from mass production.

A secret document of the German secret police has been smuggled out of the country which shows serious signs of mutinies in the German army if the raid on Czechoslovakia had resulted in war. This is rather confirmed and also discounted by the known fact that the high command of the German army had been pretty thoroughly reorganized since that date.

Evidently, the facts cited here—and others—were known to the White House many weeks ago.

A seven-mile steel rope has been devised, to explore the bottom of the ocean. It weighs 5 tons; the gear and tackle which runs it weighs another 5 tons. It has a container at the bottom, into which an explosive throws some of the sea bed for examination. It has been tried before—to a depth of 3 miles—and reports so far are that sea mud contains a good deal of radium.

Does this seem any stranger to some variously dated ancestors of ours who, at their proper times, would have pronounced it silly—

To make a fire,

To find stones that could be chipped to knife or ax,

To find other stones that you could heat in the fire and pound out into tools?

The strange thing is that man so often makes good on his efforts, and the silly thing is that he doesn't get used to it.

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly.

United States Department of Labor points out labor legislation in this country is woefully inadequate.

Take workmen's compensation laws, for example.

There is nothing new about such legislation.

The first workmen's compensation act was passed in 1910—nearly thirty years ago—and today there are only two states lacking compensation laws.

Progress? Surely, BUT—

The Labor Department finds that only half our wage earners have the protection of workmen's compensation laws.

Laws that provide no compensation for millions subject to the hazards of industrial death and accident are not all they might be.

Labor Department also finds few workmen's compensation laws provide benefits for death or disability due to occupational diseases.

Only a beginning has been made at compensating for occupational ills.

"Twenty-eight states," says the department, "still leave occupational diseases uncompensated under workmen's compensation laws—and very few of such laws compensate for all diseases arising out of employment."

Yet occupational diseases are as truly a result of industrial employment as industrial accidents.

Compensation for occupational diseases presents more difficulties than compensation for industrial accidents.

Difficulties, however, can be overcome and compensation given victims, insofar as money and care can compensate them or their relatives.

Other examples of inadequate labor legislation are cited by the Labor Department, including thirty states without legal limits of eight hours, even for women, twenty-six states with a legal weekly limit in excess of forty-eight hours and eight states with no legal limit at all.

These facts give an idea of the task still faced by organized labor in the legislative field.

Much of the work will fall on state A. F. of L. bodies.

International Labor News Service has commented a number of times on the vital need of state labor legislation.

Report of the Labor Department emphasizes this need.

State federations of labor are best fitted to cope with legislative problems in their own territories.

They know conditions and how best to meet them.

Picture of evicted sharecroppers and their families camping in the open air along Missouri highways reminds of similar pictures from Europe.

In the case of Europe, the pictures show refugees fleeing from the tyranny of dictatorial governments.

Both American and European pictures show something is wrong.

Evidently something is decidedly wrong when more than 1,000 sharecroppers camp in the cold January air in protest against their treatment.

How about reforming ourselves before we throw up our hands in holy horror at the sins of our neighbors?

Missouri would seem to be a good place to start the reformation.

SOUTHERN LABOR "SPOTS"

Atlanta, Ga.—An agreement was signed here last week between the A. & P. company and the building trades of the state, in which the A. & P. company agrees to use all union men on all building and construction work done by the company in the state of Georgia. It is provided that where the A. & P. company leases a building that it shall be stipulated in the lease that all repair work and all alterations and building work of every kind shall be done by union building tradesmen.

W. Lee Sorrells, president of the Building Trades Council of Atlanta, representing the building trades, and Charles Schimmat, national personnel director of the A. & P. company, representing the company, negotiated the agreement.

In addition to the agreement with the Building Trades council, the A. & P. company and union committees are negotiating forty agreements with the local unions of the Retail Clerks' Protective association, the Bakery and Confectionery Workers, the Meat Cutters and Butchers and the Teamsters and Chauffeurs in the Atlanta district.

Curtis Sims, representing the Bakery Workers; C. C. Peek and Leo B. Carter, representing the Meat Cutters and Butchers; Horace Whitehead and L. L. Dodson, representing the Retail Clerks, are among the organizers engaged in the drive to organize the employes of the A. & P.

The organization drive among the employes of the A. & P. company began soon after the company signed a nationwide agreement with the International Typographical union to use the union label on all of its printed matter. Other cities and centers report rapid organization work among the A. & P. employes throughout the south.

Agreements presented the company by store employes' unions provide many protective and beneficial clauses for the workers, all of whom are highly elated over the advancements contained in the agreements being negotiated.

Nashville., Tenn.—Representative Roberts, Tennessee solon from Overton, has introduced a bill in the Tennessee legislature which would establish printing offices in one or more of Tennessee's penal institutions. In these prison print shops, the bill provides, the state printing and the printing of school books would be done by prisoners.

President Gerald Foley, of the State Federation of Labor, a member of the legislature, and other unionists in the legislature and their friends, will give Representative Roberts rough sledding over his foolish bill. Typographical unions in Memphis and other Tennessee cities are busy on the job against the proposed measure.

Challenge is to be made to Representative Roberts that there is not a printer in the penitentiary of Tennessee, and if any should be found in any of the penal institutions of the Volunteer State they would be rat printers. Question is: With no printers in the penitentiary, how is the printing office to be operated? Will it become necessary for law-abiding and self-respecting printers to commit some crime and get sentenced to the penitentiary in order to do the printing for the great state of Tennessee? That would seem to be Roberts' idea of the thing.

High Point, N. C.—Employes of the High Point Overall company and the management of the company signed an agreement here last Saturday which clears the way for progressive production in the plant and satisfactory working conditions for the employes. These workers are members of the newly organized lacol union of the United Garment Workers. Earlier in the week a misunderstanding had arisen over pay rates announced by the company. When it appeared that no agreement could be reached a strike vote was taken. The union committee elected to serve the workers in the negotiations called in a conciliator from the department of labor. D. Yeates Heafner, of Charlotte, was assigned to the case.

The local union committee was assisted in its efforts to obtain a settlement without resorting to a strike by Secretary Morris, of the High Point Central Labor union, and other C. L. U. officials. This committee worked with Conciliator Heafner in the attempted negotiations. President Hudson, of the High Point Overall company, was in Florida and did not return here until Saturday. Upon his return he immediately called the committee and Conciliator Heafner into conference, and within a few hours the matters were adjusted, an agreement signed which was ratified by the union membership.

Housing Seen Brightest Spot in 1939 Industrial Picture

Raleigh, N. C. — Secretary of Labor Perkins told a joint session of the North Carolina General Assembly that the "brightest spot" in the 1939 industrial picture is the housing industry.

"The year just ended has witnessed erection of more than 350,000 dwellings, largest number since 1929," she said. "At the present rate of progress, we estimate that more than 400,000 dwellings will be built in 1939 with private capital.

"In addition, existing plans and arrangements call for construction of 50,000 low-cost units under direction of the United States Housing Authority."

National Federation of Labor, Inc. Denied Authority to Transact Business in New York State

Albany, N. Y.—Denial of approval of the application of the National Federation of Labor, Inc., of Delaware, for authority to do business in New York state, has been announced by Chairman William J. Piccard, of New York State Board of Standards and Appeals.

On Sept. 28, 1937, the board denied the organization approval for a certificate of incorporation under the laws of New oYrk. Three days previously Delaware had issued a charter of incorporation to the National Federation of Labor authorizing it "to establish local branches . . . throughout the United States and in foreign countries." It was under this charter that the organization sought to do business in New York.

Provisions of Law

Section 210 of the General Corporation Law of New York state, however, provides that "a foreign corporation, other than a moneyed corporation, shall not do business in this state without first having obtained from the Secretary of State a certificate of authority." Approval of the Board of Standards and Appeals must be obtained before the Secretary of State may issue such a certificate of authority to any corporation "having for its purpose the formation of an organization of groups of working men and women and wage earners or having the name or names of 'labor,' 'organized labor,' 'federation of labor,' 'brotherhood of labor,' 'union labor,' 'union,' 'labor committee,' 'trade union,' 'trades union,' 'union labor council,' 'building trades council or union,' 'allied printing trades council or union,' 'central labor body,' 'local union,' 'national union,' 'state union,' 'international union,' 'district labor council or union,' 'American Federation of Labor,' 'New York State Federation of Labor,' 'industrial union,' 'local industrial union council,' 'Committee for Industrial Organization,' 'CIO,' or the component parts thereof or the significant words therein."

Deceit Held Likely

Denial of approval for authority to do business was substantially on the same grounds on which the board had disapproved the application for incorporation, viz: that the National Federation of Labor is "not wholly altruistic" in its purposes "or solely designed for the promotion of the mutual betterment, protection and advancement of working men and women"; that "the similarity in the name of the proposed corporation to that of the American Federation of Labor would tend to create confusion and to deceive or induce persons to join the National Federation of Labor or to treat with the National Federation as the American Federation and in effect to defraud the latter and the persons so confused or deceived."

Labor in Philadelphia Probes City Managers

Philadelphia, Pa.—Organized labor here does not propose to approve the city manager plan, included in the new city charter scheduled for a referendum in the near future, without complete information. This was revealed in the action of the Central Labor Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, in communicating with A. F. of L. central bodies in twelve cities asking how labor has fared under both the city manager and proportional representation forms of government.

James J. Knoud, A. F. of L. organizer here, said the Central Labor Union wanted to secure representative opinion from unions in other cities before taking a stand on the proposed charter.

The questions asked include the following: Has labor been helped or hindered by the city manager form of local government? Have municipal employes been permitted to organize? Have city contracts required products of union manufacturers?

Physicians have formed a society to study mental diseases, the latest meeting was at Richmond. We strongly recommend them to pay much attention to dictators, and to reactionaries who hope to "balance the budget" by starving the unemployed.

Boston Drivers Truck Drivers Win Wage Increase

Boston.—The seven-day strike of 5,700 truck drivers has been ended by a compromise, backed by an eloquent plea to the strikers from the governer of Massachusetts, Leverett Saltonstall. One of the most useful things he did was to tell the strikers and the public that a man who had been proclaimed murdered when pulled from a truck in reality died of heart disease. The report of "murder," unchallenged, might easily have provoked a disturbance.

The accepted agreement provides $39 a week for a six-day, 48-hour week, which represents a $2-a-week increase for the drivers over the 1938 rate; 85 cents for the first hour of overtime up to the legal limit in this state of twelve hours.

The overtime provisions of the old contract were abandoned in the new agreement, but the 48-hour week remains the same. The strikers had sought $40 a week for a 40-hour week, with time and a half for each hour of overtime. Broken down to hourly pay, the agreement raises the drivers' pay from 77 cents an hour to 81¾ cents on the $39-a-week basis. A minimum rate of $34 a week is also embodied in the new agreement.

The dead man was Joseph Pimentel, a truck helper. "I was told officially by the police that it was "murder," the governor explained. "Not till after a very careful examination of the body of the victim had been made was it found that the death was not due to violence."

STRIKE DAMAGE SUIT PUT OFF

Philadelphia.—Trial of the Apex Hosiery Company's $3,515,000 strike damage suit against the American Federation of Hosiery Workers was postponed by Federal Judge William H. Kirkpatrick until March 13. It had been scheduled for Jan. 23.

The company is seeking the money for damages which it charges sit-down strikers caused at its plant in May, 1937. The union is an affiliate of the CIO.

Strikers Violating Agreements Entitled to Protection of Labor Act, Supreme Court Told

Washington, D. C. — Robert B. Watts, associate counsel for the NRLB, argued before the Supreme Court that workers are entitled to Wagner Act protection even if they strike in violation of a labor agreement.

Watts argued that existence of a labor dispute within the meaning of the act "does not depend on advisability or wisdom of the strike."

He urged reversal of a Seventh District Court of Appeals decision setting aside a board order against the Columbian Enameling and Stamping Co., Inc., Terre Haute, Indiana.

The Circuit Court invalidated the order on grounds that a strike at the firm's plant was in violation of a no-strike labor agreement.

Congress, Watt said, "considered and rejected" suggestions to qualify the Wagner Act by barring labor board relief from employees who might be guilty of wrongdoing.

Earl F. Reed, attorney for the Columbian Company, argued that the strikers clearly were not proper recipients of labor board relief because they struck in violation of a labor contract providing that no strikes should be called.

Reed asserted that the company management was not guilty of violating the contract in any form. He emphasized the management had met frequently with representatives of the workers.

Duke Power Co. Signs Electrical Union Pact

Charlotte, N. C.—Organized labor in this area is elated with the announcement that Local Union No. B-932, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, had negotiated an agreement with the Duke Power Company. The contract provides a higher wage rate for overtime than for regular hours and includes seniority rules.

In addition, the company furnishes rubber boots and coats for the employes in inclement weather.

E. C. Maxwell, president of the Duke Power Company, represented the company in negotiations and signed the contract. T. E. Latham, of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, assisted the officials of the Local Union in the arrangements.

Googe Issues Statement As A. F. of L. Plans Big Textile Organization Drive

At recent conferences in Washington between the legal officers of the United Textile Workers of America and the National Council of Textile Workers of the American Federation of Labor a program of activity was adopted to clarify the textile labor situation and to enable the textile workers to obtain the advantages and protect their rights in their international union, returning their membership into full privileges of the city central bodies and state federations of labor, thereby securing the full support, financial and otherwise, of the American Federation of Labor and its friends. With this point in view, the following definite steps have been taken:

First: The immediate launching of a national campaign by the United Textile Workers of America, with the support of the American Federation of Labor and its affiliated organizations.

Second: That the American Federation of Labor's Executive Council at its meeting in Miami, beginning Jan. 30, be requested to reinvest the United Textile Workers of America with its full charter rights, sbuject to the supervision of President William Green and Secretary Frank Morrison until special convention is held.

Third: That the National Council of Textile Workers continue to function with its present directly affiliated American Federation of Labor unions, numbering over one hundred, assisting the United Textile Workers International union's activities until a special convention is held by the international union in June, when a complete amalgamation will take place.

Fourth: The organization of a Southern Cotton Textile Federation be immediately organized in accordance with the constitutional provisions of the United Textile Workers of America, and that said Southern Cotton Textile Federation be autonomous, democratic body, officers, organizers, representative leadership and membership restricted exclusively to experienced employes of southern cotton mills.

Fifth: That the American Federation of Labor render financial and legal assistance in protecting the constitutional and property rights of the members and local unions of the United Textile Workers of America, as well as their collective bargaining rights with employers.

Sixth: To expedite this entire program, at the request of President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, and President Francis Gorman, of the United Textile Workers of America, a southern conference has been called to meet at the Ansley hotel, Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 28 and 29. Those who have been invited and will participate in the conference consist of presidents and secretaries of state federations of labor, officers and representatives of central bodies from the southern states, as well as officers of the Textile Workers' International union and delegates from local unions affiliated with the international and local federal unions directly affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

At the conclusion of the general conference, the Southern Cotton Federation will be formed and recommendations made to fill vacancies on the executive board from the south of the United Textile Workers of America.

Dimes, Quarters, Dollars Flood Labor Division Headquarters

Washington, D. C. — Birthday greetings to the President of the United States are flooding into the headquarters of the Labor Division in Washington.

A continuous stream of dimes, quarters, dollars, checks and money orders is swelling labor's contribution to the 1939 Infantile Paralysis campaign to record proportions. Union men and women from all over the country are giving and giving generously to the Infantile Paralysis Fight. Union painters of Oregon join with union postoffice clerks of Florida in this humane cause. Men and women of all unions are sharing all they can spare.

Labor United in Cause

Two weeks remain for the Labor Division to press on its campaign in the interest of the health and safety of all America.

William Green, chairman of the Labor Division, encouraged at the early response of organized labor, said:

"The organized workers of the nation are clearly showing the spirit that permeates the American labor movement. In the support of the common good of all we stand united and willing. We have called upon our reserve of forces and resources. The Labor Division has taken its place in the battle against infantile paralysis. We will fight on until a final victory is assured."

Huge Birthday Greeting

With the continued support of the union men and women throughout the country, the Labor Division will carry to President Roosevelt a birthday greeting signed by 5,000,000 men and women of organized labor. The contribution that will accompany the greeting will go to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis as Labor's Silver Salute.

Give, give and give generously, the Labor Division urges.

Keep the dimes and dollars rolling in, the Division adds. Send your contribution through your international union or directly to Labor Division Headquarters, Carpenters' Building, Hashington, D. C.

Lenoir City Labor Movement Thrives

Members of organized labor in Lenoir City are showing new interest and plan to make their city and Loudon county one of the most active union labor centers in the state, according to statements of members and officers of the Central Labor union there.

The state federation of labor had a representative at the Central Body meeting Wednesday night and discussed possibilities of organization work with them. The Lenoir City-Loudon County C. L. U. affiliated with the state federation at the Johnson City convention last summer.

LABOR ATTORNEY NAMED JUDGE

Denver.—Almost the last official act of Gov. Teller Ammons was to name Floyd F. Miles, a prominent labor attorney of this city, to a place on the district court bench. His term runs for two years. There were at least fifteen candidates, but Miles was backed by the State Federation of Labor and the Denver Trades and Labor assembly.

Judge Miles takes the place of Judge Otto Bock, who resigned because he was elected to the junior place on the state supreme court.

GO TO MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM SATURDAY EVENING

Charlie McCarthy in Cafe Business

By LOUISE TINKER

The poor restaurateur has been battling the odds for a long time. They get it from both ends, too. The customers seem to have unconsciously formed a league to keep from paying more than 50 cents for a two-bit steak. That is a constant bother to the restaurant man. Then there's the UNION.

The unions have been on the restaurant owners for years, meddling in his affairs; suggesting, nay, even telling him that waiters and waitresses and cooks and even busboys are entitled to more consideration. Especially on payday.

But both the customers and the union are up against a pretty cagey outfit. The caterers appease the demands of the customers by throwing in coffee and French fries with that steak. This cuts their grumbling down till it blends with gastronimical rumblings and is soon forgotten.

They have a pattern they follow when an organizer gets going well. They know that there is a rapid employe—turnover and they can speeds it up. They don't much trouble replacing help. So when the sharp-sighted organizer points out to the help their heretofore unnoticed shackles, turnover sets in. Of course, there are always some of the help who are too valuable to fire at the first signs of union activity, so the boss bixes a lot of wool with a little green (taken from folding money) and pulls that across their eyes. The result is surefire.

When this turnover takes place it handicaps the organizer. He gets into about the same position as an evangelist who sets his pulpit in a tourist camp. In either case, about the time they think they've got a few people seeing the light, out pulls the prospects and in comes a non-believer. And it starts over again and ends the same way. Those who do stay think that this tonic is meant for others, and they ignore it.

The bosses have been giving the help just enough to get by on, and then they drop hints about how tough a place the world is if you're in it without a sou. That works pretty good. If you can just get by with the sous (or sooee) that you have, it looks lousey if you try to think of getting by without them. After the help has thought this over, they automatically avoid the organizer as though he was a bogieman with a handful of poison apples.

And here are the startling facts that should make you good union men reach for your maces and bucklers. Here's what the restaurant operators are doing. They're just bursting with benevolences—in reverse. Moved by what's certainly not Christian generosity, Fourth of July patriotism, or the yuletide spirit, they have banded together against the Culinary Workers' organization to protect those lucky individuals who get to work for them, from the awful jaws of the American Federation of Labor. They tell these employes that it is jim-dandy—this way of not having to pay dues to an insolvent organization. They purposely fail to mention to these same lucky individuals that a working man's salvation is organization.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL CHATTANOOGA

Be Careful In Handling Money

Organized labor in Chattanooga must resolve to face a serious problem that confronts every organization of any nature anywhere. That is the problem of a strict accounting and stewardship of its finances. Nothing can destroy local unions with more deadly speed than shortages of money. Chattanooga has not been immune to this human frailty, wherein trust has been given to certain members to care for the finances of a union, such trust in some instances being violated and the assets of the union dissipated, either through vicious intent or through lax supervision.

In all instances of a defaulting secretary-treasurer, if analyzed completely, it must be finally admitted that the membership itself is to blame. Memberships of local unions should make it their duty to see that all officers handling the finances of their unions are adequately bonded. They should see to it themselves that the records of such officials are thoroughly audited at regular intervals.

Regardless of why individuals in the labor movement succumb to temptation, the result is the same. Union morale is broken, enemies of labor seize on such instances to tell prospective members that they are foolish to pay into union treasuries dues that will promptly be stolen.

The fact that an erring member is a "good fellow," that he has had "hard luck" is no logical reason for allowing him to go free. Such release from responsibility is encouragement to others to follow, feeling that they, too, will not be severely punished if they fall from grace.

We hope that every local union, no matter how small, no matter how fine a "good fellow" happens to be custodian of funds, will immediately see to it that the custodian is amply bonded and that he is thoroughly audited at regular intervals.

Then if there is any straying from the straight and narrow path, let him be turned over to the bonding company and let his union card be revoked.

Only in this way can the seriousness of business-like handling of funds be impressed on all, and confidence be established.

Cures Cheaper Than Funerals

Paul de Kruif, undoubtedly the most widely read of popular writers on medical subjects, is calling on congress to have at least 35,000 human lives now being snuffed out in this country by pneumonia each year. His figure is modest. More than 100,000 persons die of pneumonia in this land each year and curative serums have been worked out for two types of the disease which kill about half the total number of victims.

The trouble is that a doctor cannot tell the type of the disease by a bedside diagnosis. That is strictly a laboratory job, though a quick one. There is not one laboratory of that sort in the country where twenty are needed, and the serum for a single case costs from $25 to $75. Paul de Kruif's pertinent question, "Is an American life worth $75?" is one that must be answered by an extension of public medicine.

It will cost something to establish laboratories accessible to the whole population, each with a store of the serums known furnished free, and an attendant to diagnose from the sputum which one is required. But, after all, the cure would be cheaper than the unnecessary funerals.

HAPPY VALLEY DAIRY IS ANTI-UNION

The Relief Cut Mystery

More than 7,000,000 organized workers are against the relief appropriations cut. They have said so through their unions. Four or five million men, women and children, on the edge of relief or over it, are against relief cuts because they are against starvation. Every city official in any industrial community—and many in rural communities—oppose the cut because it will force them to see distress which they have no means of relieving.

Yet a big majority of the members of the House of Representatives, elected for two-year terms and needing re-election if they like their jobs, have voted to throw nearly 1,000,000 families out of the WPA, and the throwing process will have to start in the dead winter.

Can any human being make a rational explanation for that?

As said before, this is the worst time of all to pick for such a performance. It is winter, the country is only part way out of a recession that almost certainly was due in some measure to a too quick cut in relief before. Every one, too, sees the coming clash between dictatorship and democracy; and whether that brings direct war or not, it has already created a condition in which the firm satisfaction of the largest possible part of the people with their government is an advantage to which the President of the United States has directed attention.

And yet, for a saving which comes down a shade over $1 per capita in a period of nearly six months, Congress cuts relief $150,000,000.

Here is a short poem that we have taken from the Bakers' weekly magazine. We like it and thought you would.

"A good thing to remember

Is to join a construction gang,
And not the wrecking crew."

The entrance of youth into union membership, a feature of the past year's progress, might be considered one of the most significant trends ever experienced by the American Federation of Labor. Organized labor welcomes youth. It has much to offer in the way of organizational training and in plain, ordinary hard sense. Youth and age in the labor movement can contribute a level-headedness that is obtainable in no other way.

Have you bought your ticket for the dance? If not, then don't let this week go by without purchasing one. Don't forget that it is to be in the Hotel Patten ballroom and is scheduled for Friday evening, Feb. 24th, 9:00 o'clock.

As a parting shot — Patronize only union concerns. Buy Union label goods wherever possible. By helping other unions we help ourselves. Be a loyal union member, help make the Union better and stronger. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link. Fraternity means brotherhood.

TEACHER TALK

Teachers, both city and county, will want to know all the implications involved in the recent action of the board of directors of the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce, which voted this week to institute a referendum to bring about consolidation of the two school systems. Miss Josephine Hamilton's legislative committee is already at work studying this new problem, and a report will be made of their findings as soon as possible.

The legislative committee is preparing a pamphlet on federal aid, soon to be ready. We expect the support of the whole labor movement in our fight for federal grants to education. The last convention of the A. F. L. adopted these sentiments: "We recommend reaffirmation of the principle of federal grants-in-aid to public schools, together with a national education plan which would put an end to those wide differences in educational opportunities for our people who live in the forty-eight states of the Union. Equal opportunities, however, are not identical opportunities, but each individual should be afforded opportunity to develop his talents and abilities to live and contribute to society. Such opportunities must be varied and liberal in content."

At the same time, the convention foresaw a potential evil in the administration of federal funds. We are glad to see labor recognize that vocational and technical education is only a part of the training of our youth—whatever their life work may be. "The limitation of vocational training to a specialized skill by denying a general education is contrary to the principle of equality of opportunity as guaranteed by the democratic structure of the government of the United States. Education for citizenship in a democracy means more than mere training for a single skill. It involves the education of the whole man."

We make no accusations, but we think the evil here mentioned might creep in locally: "The committee on education deprecates the practice of directing large numbers of students into vocational classes without regard for the needs of the community or for the welfare of the individual."

We are sure that the teachers appreciated the editorial in last week's Labor World on Dr. Annetta Trimble and Miss Clara Carpenter.

Send a telegram to your representatives in the state legislature urging them to support the move to reduce the poll tax to the 50-cent minimum now, and to amend the constitution to abolish the poll tax entirely as soon as it is legally possible. The south has retained too long this undemocratic, unconstitutional practice.

The board of directors voted to support these measures which are now before the state legislature, and urges all members to send telegrams as suggested.

The Executive Board of Typo Auxiliary No. 219 met last Friday with the chairmen of all committees and worked out plans for the year's work in the Auxiliary. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Bob Cooke, and the ladies enjoyed a covered-dish luncheon.

The chairman of the label committee called attention to the fact that not only was the food excellent, but that it was union. The coffee was union-made coffee, the ice cream was union-made, the rolls were union-made, the meat was bought from a union meat market and wives of union men prepared it.

James A. Wilson to Go on Speaking Tour

Atlanta, Ga. — Preparations are being made for speaking dates in many southern cities for James A. Wilson, head of the International Labor Office, who will address the workers and the general public on international labor questions. First of these meetings is to be held in Raleigh, N. C., Thursday night, Jan. 26, and then he will go to Columbia, S. C., and speak Friday night. Arrangements are being made in Savannah, Ga., for a meeting Saturday night, and in Jacksonville, Monday, Jan. 30.

Mr. Wilson, for three decades president of the International Pattern Makers Union, serving in the meantime as vice-president of the A. F. of L. and as a member of the executive council, is recognized as being this country's outstanding authority on international labor problems. Part of his time is spent at Geneva, attending the conventions of the International Labor Conference, and his messages in the South are eagerly awaited by workers and the general public.

BE ON GUARD!

(Instructions from the United States Public Health Service)

When Infantile Paralysis prevails prevent unnecessary contacts. The disease may be conveyed by nose and throat discharges of infected persons and carriers or articles freshly soiled with such discharges.

The time between exposure and the appearance of the disease ranges between 7 and 14 days. Paralysis of a group of muscles may be the first symptom noticed.

Less severe symptoms may be moderate fever, headache, gastro-intestinal disturbances such as vomiting, drowsiness alternating with irritability and stiffness of the neck and spine. Tenderness and weakness of the muscles may be present.

When any of these symptoms are noted a competent physician should be summoned immediately. The patient should be kept in a quiet and natural position. Paralyzed parts must be handled with gentleness and the muscles protected against pressure or unnecessary movement.

Be guided by the advice of a doctor!

FUN

Little girls who wear braces and walk with crutches can play with a doll's house as well as little girls who haven't had polio. Teaching victims of Infantile Paralysis to be happy in spite of their handicaps is a major part of the work of the University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Michigan. The children are mentally re-trained in courage and hope, at the same time they are being physically re-trained to walk.

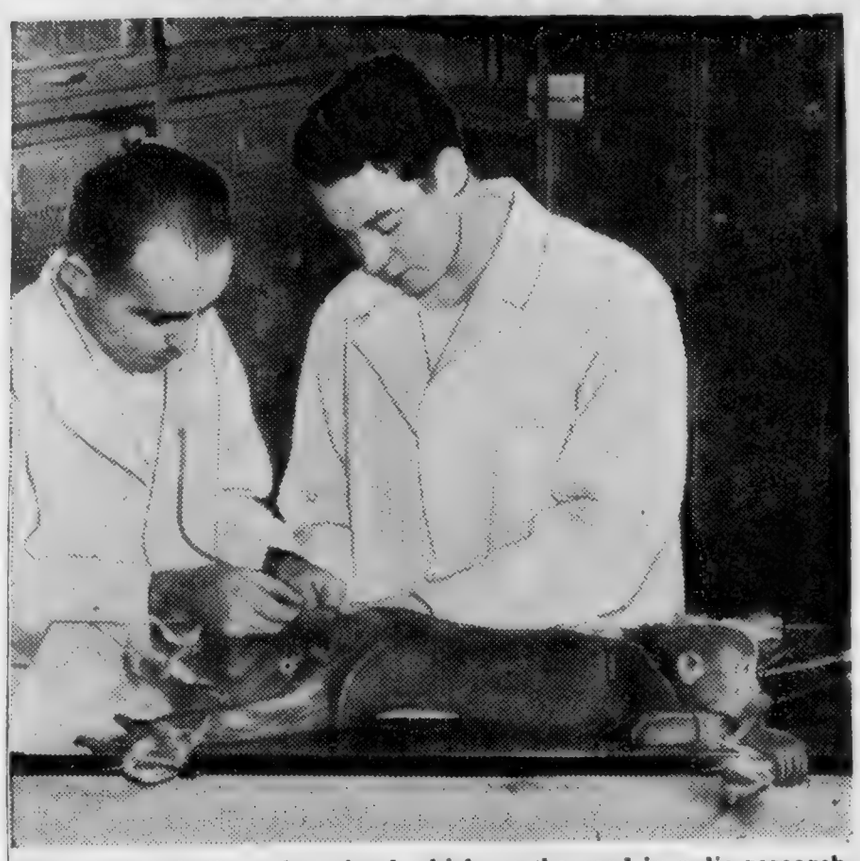
EXPERIMENT



The monkey is the only animal which can be used in polio research. Rhesus monkeys from Indo-China used in polio research cost from $8 to $16 apiece. White mice for pneumonia research cost from 10 to 20 cents apiece. That is why Dr. Paul de Kruif has called polio an "$8 science" compared to pneumonia, which is a "10 cent science". Picture from the Samuel Deutsch Serum Center, Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago.

AFTER-TREATMENT

Mothers bring their children to clinics and hospitals for frequent check-ups and after-treatment. In many cases, growing children improve little by little, year by year, for many years after they have had the disease. But there is a shortage in America of trained orthopedic nurses. Doctors say there are hundreds of neglected cases of polio—little children growing up crippled because of lack of medical attention and hospital facilities. The little girl above is fortunate in being near an orthopedic center. She is receiving massage treatment at Children's Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Union Heads Pledge United Support To Illinois Labor Fight Against Court Ban on Peaceful Pickets

Chicago.—Support of the Illinois State and Chicago Federations of Labor in their fight against restraint of peaceful picketing by court order was pledged by over 200 trade union officials, representing local A. F. of L. unions in Chicago, at a meeting called by John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago federation, and Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the state federation.

The A. F. of L. affiliates intend to fight the menacing implications of a decision by the Illinois Appellate Court, restraining an A. F. of L. hairdressers' and cosmotologists' union from picketing a beauty shop owned by Ross W. Swing, of Chicago, it was made known at the meeting.

The Appellate Court recently ruled that the union had no right to picket Swing's beauty shop because he had no dispute with his employes and his employes were not members of the union.

Case To Be Appealed

The court granted leave to the state and Chicago federations to intervene in the Swing case, also allowed the federations to file a brief asking for a rehearing, which was denied by a two-to-one decision, Judge John O'Connor dissenting.

The state and Chicago federations, in their brief, asserted that court orders restraining picketing are a denial of a citizen's free speech rights and contended that the Illinois anti-injunction act does not require an employer-employee relationship before peaceful picketing is permitted.

The Swing case decision is to be taken to the Illinois State Supreme Court next.

Other Unions Enjoined

Danger that other courts may follow the lead of the Illinois Appellate Court was indicated by two other injunction cases.

A temporary injunction, restraining Auto Mechanics Union, Local No. 701, International Association of Machinists, and Auto Transport Teamsters Union, Local No. 713, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, from picketing the Hendrickson Truck Co., has been issued by Judge Stanley Klarowski, of the Circuit Court. Also, a recommendation that Milk Wagon Drivers Union, Local No. 753, of of the Teamsters' International, be restrained from picketing stores handling milk furnished by the Farmers' Cooperative Milk Co., a non-union dairy, has been made by Robert W. Dunn, master in chancery.

Action in both cases was based on the opinion handed down by the Appellate Court.

Numeral System Given Misnomer

Knoxville.—Though we call our present-day numbers "Arabic numerals," they were not invented by the Arabs but by an ancient people of India, said Roy I. Pepper, instructor of mathematics at the University of Tennessee, in a recent radio speech over Station WSM.

"Until recent years it was generally accepted that our numerals were of Arabic origin, and we are accustomed to speak of the Hindu-Arabic numerals as the ones we use today. But from the most reliable sources it seems to be proved, beyond a doubt, that the numerals are of Indian origin, rather than Arabic, and were possibly invented by the Brahmins sometime before the beginning of the Christian era," asserted Mr. Pepper.

The Brahmins, he explained, were regarded as persons of the highest caste among the Hindus. It is believed that the numerals were brought from India by the Neo-Pythagoreans and introduced nito Italy, where they became known to a few of the learned men of eastern Europe. Another theory is that the Arabs introduced them in Spain.

In the discussion of the origin of the present number system, Mr. Pepper pointed out that our dollar mark ($) likely was taken from the Spanish-American abbreviation for the word "peso"—the Spanish-American dollar. It appeared in the U. S. as early as 1776, and after 1800 broke into print frequently, he related.

If thirty men on the New York subway stole $1,300,000 in nickels in five years, how long do you suppose it would take them to carry it back, one nickel at a time? And would the punishment fit the crime?

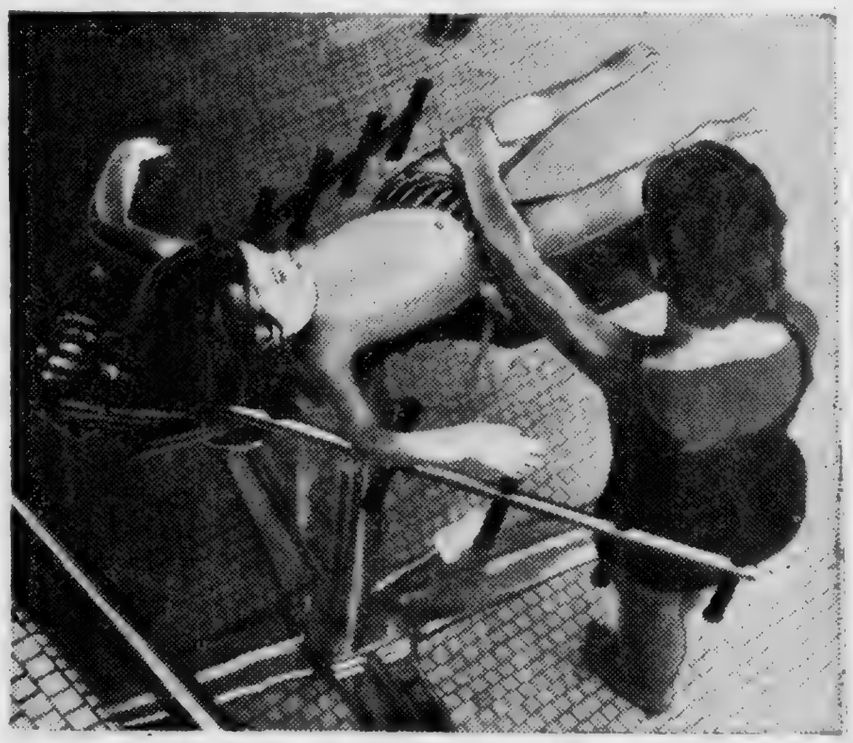
Motion Under Water



The human body has practically no weight in water. That is why the first step in restoring power of motion to limbs which have long been useless is under-water exercise. Labor Unable to see Sound Reason for Sharp WPA Cuts—SEC Up Against Tough Proposition in Tackling Associated Gas and and Electric Company.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington.—The situation at the nation's capital is so contradictory that no one statement gives the whole picture. In his opening message to congress, President Roosevelt said, in substance, that relief measures were also basic defense measures; and labor applauded heartily. And then the mix-up began.

On the one hand, the senate committee on unemployment relief urges that the waiting period of joblessness be cut to a single week, that the payment of unemployment benefits be increased. The social security board urges that more aged and children be covered by the security act, and that old age benefit payments begin with 1940 instead of waiting two more years. The president recommends this policy to the congress in a strong message.

On the other hand, the house has cut the deficiency relief bill $150,000,000; and at the present writing, it is anybody's guess whether the senate will restore part or all the cut, leave it as it stands—or cut still deeper.

Nonetheless, a look back to six years ago shows that the attitude of the federal government toward unemployment and relief has changed almost beyond recognition. Then the most Uncle Sam would do was to lend money through the RFC to states and cities to head off starvation. Unemployment benefits, old age pensions, work relief—none of these things were even mentioned.

But labor cannot understand why progress need stop or fumble; or why, when absence of sound reason for discontent is a big element of national defense, the WPA relief should be cut nearly 20 per cent.

Washington correspondents who followed the federal trade commission investigation of the electric utilities chuckled loud and long when the Securities Exchange commission (SEC) announced the other day that on Feb. 14, it would start a hearing to determine whether the Associated Gas and Electric company had not filed false statements. There were grave reasons to believe that such was the case, said the SEC. If they found the A. G. and E. guilty, said the commission, they would have to order its stock from the exchanges.

Now, I don't want to discourage the SEC; but as an old residenter of Washington, I would warn the SEC that the Associated Gas and Electric many times has been investigated before, and that none of its people are in jail yet. An investigating body summoned H. C. Hopson, head of the A. G. and E., and asked him about some deal. He answered that he could not tell them; he was a lawyer for the A. G. and E., he said, and had to guard his clients' secrets! And he got away with it.

However, the FTC found out something. It found:

That the assets of the A. G. and E. were $6,466,435.69 in 1922.

That the assets of the A. G. and E. were $632,449,417.46 in 1929.

That the investment of Hopson and his pals in this huge property was $298,318.19.

How many men's wages could have been paid with the profits of those seven years?

London chimney smoke is now being "washed" to obtain sulphuric acid. Gases from a big power plant chimney are cleaned at the rate of 750,000 cubic feet per minute. Calcium sulphate (gypsum) formed in the process is allowed to accumulate until it reaches pea-soup consistency. Sixty tons of sulphuric acid a day, or nearly 25,000 tons yearly, is taken from the chimney gases.

Railroad labor in 1938 voted about 10 to 1 to strike if necessary against the managers' plan to make a 15 per cent cut in wages. It was not necessary. The Railway Labor Act, in first form and as amended, has worked on the railroads for 12 years, and has passed its heaviest trial with honors.

YOUR DOLLAR

YOUR DOLLAR will be a regular monthly feature. The facts and opinions given are based on the monthly reports of Consumers' Union, 55 Vandam Street, New York City, a nonprofit membership organization whose object is to safeguard buyers by testing and reporting on consumer goods. Note especially the information on labor conditions under which products are manufactured.

Aminopyrine, painkiller and man killer, has at last been barred from use in patent medicines by an order of the Federal Food and Drug Administration under the new law. As Consumers Union has repeatedly warned, aminopyrine may cause agranulocytosis, a disease in which white blood corpuscles decrease and the victim dies of general infection. Not all persons using aminopyrine will contract agranulocytosis, but there is no way of knowing in advance whether or not an individual is sensitive. One thousand five hundred persons died of the disease in a three-year period, in the United States alone.

The danger of aminopyrine has been known for years to doctors, and to as many of the public as CU could reach in an extensive campaign. Yet manufacturers of such remedies as Midol, Hexin, Kalms, Lydia Pinkham's Tablets and dozens of others callously peddled the drug as long as they legally could do so. Even now, aminopyrine is by no means off the market and with the FDA's limited powers and personnel, it will take a long time to get rid of it.

Aminopyrine is only one of many dangerous drugs sold in patent remedies, and it is therefore advisable for you to take no patent medicine, the contents of which you do not know.

Sheets

Mother knows best. And her deft fingers may acquire considerable experience in selecting sheeting for the family. But she'd have to rip, rub, tug and tub—all with benefit of scientific instruments — before she knew as much about sheets as Consumers Union learned in recent tests.

In the first place, it's expensive to be civilized. If you send your sheets to a pound rate commercial laundry, 35c a week is about what it costs you to sleep between sheets instead of drawing up a dinosaur hide beneath your chin. Good quality muslin will give most wear per dollar initial cost, but if you pay 9c or more a pound for laundry, the original plus laundry costs may total less for lighter, finer percale sheets.

Sheets were rated on thread count, tensile strength, resistance to abrasion, sizing and shrinkage —all factors affecting wear. Best buys of the muslin sheets (81x108 inch size) were Sears' Lady Fair at 98c plus postage, Ward's Treasure Chest at 98c plus postage, and Mayflower (R. H. Macy) at $1.25. Mayflower was the highest quality of the three. These sheets were better than some of the more expensive brands, costing $1.50 to $1.79. Yet the average shopper, unguided by scientific tests, might pay 70c more for a sheet of inferior quality. Among the poor quality Not Acceptable sheets were the much advertised Cannon, selling at $1.39, and Pepperell Red Label, at $1.19.

Best Buy in utility percale was Utica Nonpareil at $1.98, and in true percale, Cooperative Distributors Tudor at $2.95 (90x108 inch).

Low Wages for Textile Workers

Textile workers stand to gain much through the Wage-Hour law, according to a Labor Bureau survey of a large section of the industry. One per cent of skilled textile workers, 7 per cent of semi-skilled and about 20 per cent of unskilled workers covered by the survey earned less than 25c an hour, the legal minimum. And textile workers are forced also to suffer speed-up; irregular employment; company stores; company towns with inadequate housing, schooling and medical care; race discrimination, and persecution of union members.

Spot Removers

Never dry-clean your clothes at home, Consumers Union advises in its January Reports. Two hundred persons are killed, 1,000 injured every year in fires caused by inflammable cleaning fluids. Many others are poisoned by the vapors given off by non-inflammable products. The risk is great, the cost more than you are apt to realize, the results seldom comparable to professional work.

Spot removers may be safe for cleaning small areas of fabric. When using them, work out of doors or at an open window, away from all flame or sparks. Expose as little fluid as possible at one time. Never use such a highly inflammable product as gasoline for cleaning purposes.

Best value in the list of non-inflammable, but poisonous, spot removers tested by CU was Du-Pont's Tri-Clene Fabric Cleaner. Cheaper, but semi-inflammable and also poisonous was Deluxe Cleaning Fluid, sold in 10c stores.

MACHINISTS WIN 140 MORE PACTS

Agreements Signed in December by A. F. of L. Affiliate Include Firms in Fifty-six Cities and Twenty-three States.

Washington, D. C. — Undeterred by their outstanding achievements during previous months, the representatives of the International Association of Machinists, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, negotiated 140 new and renewed agreements with employers during December, bringing the total for 1938 up to over 2,200, according to the report of H. W. Brown, acting international president of the association. This was an average of thirty-five agreements per week for the month.

The broad extent of the territory covered in these contracts for improved wages, hours and work conditions of members of the association is revealed by the fact that the 140 contracts extended to fifty-six cities in the following states: California, Colorado, District of Columbia, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massasachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin.

The tendency toward shorter hours is shown by the fact that a large proportion of the agreements carried provision for the forty-hour and forty-four-hour week. The forty-hour week was included in fourteen agreements. Fifty-eight agreements carried the forty-six-hour week. Thirty-nine agreements provided for the forty-eight-hour week.

The banner town was Stockton, Calif., where twenty-five agreements, all carrying the forty-four-week, were negotiated. Boise, Ida., came next, where the termination of a strike against thirteen garage firms resulted in agreements signed by all of them.

Next in order was St. Louis, Mo., where ten agreements were finalized, one with the Newspaper Publishers Association and nine with locksmith firms.

El Paso, Texas, followed with seven agreements negotiated with machine shops.

Seniority rules were provided in most of the contracts and extra pay for overtime work is the rule rather than the exception.

Fatter pay envelopes to raise the living standards of union members and their families were the result of the December agreements in most instances.

Aeroplane Brace

This young man at the Children's Hospital, Columbus, Ohio, was stricken with polio at the age of two years. The disease left him with a weakened right foot and left arm. He received the proper treatment from the beginning and has shown steady improvement. Here he is standing on his own feet, wearing an aeroplane brace. One day he will be able to stand straight without any braces.

Fighting the Maiming Virus

THROUGHOUT the nation a great drive for funds is under way. Citizens are contributing their dimes and dollars for a common cause—to fight Infantile Paralysis.

Never before has there been such unity and such an earnest desire to help, Keith Morgan, Chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday declared.

It is a fight against an invisible foe—the highly poisonous little microbe that somehow or other gets into the human body and preys upon the motor cells of the spinal cord.

For years polio has stalked the land and local attempts at resisting the invader have been useless Each year in some part of the country the "maiming death" comes again.

The disease strikes mostly at little children. It used to attack those under the age of five years but now it has moved into the ranks of children a little older and most cases are occurring in boys and girls of from five to ten years old.

In the wake of this terrible disease are over 350,000 persons with crippled bodies. In addition there are probably hundreds of neglected cases unreported and uncared for, children growing up to be crippled for life when proper care now would rehabilitate them.

Gradually, through many years, public attention of citizens has been focussed upon the Infantile Paralysis problem. President Roosevelt, himself a sufferer, has led the fight.

Last year the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was created—a permanent organization designed to do everything possible to combat the disease on a united front. This year the foundation is taking another step forward in the advance against polio. Permanent chapters embracing all counties are to be set up following the close of the campaign on January 30th, President Roosevelt's 57th birthday.

The funds raised this year will be divided on a 50-50 basis. One half of the proceeds will go to the National Foundation. The other half will be held in trust and be turned over to the local chapters when they are established.

The dollars going into the National Foundation will be sent out again throughout the land as ammunition in the fight. No endowment fund is being set up because funds are so urgently needed now. The foundation is making grants for education of doctors and parents on how to diagnose and treat polio. It will use money for research for the control of epidemics and to help in the treatment of after-effects.

The funds placed in the hands of the local chapters will be spent as the chapter sees fit for local aid in the community where the money was raised.

In this year's campaign ten thousand chairmen have been mobilized. Nearly every city and town in the land will have its celebration or will participate in some way in the drive. In many localities a great "March of Dimes" is under way. Citizens are asked to "give a dime and wear a button."

In other communities parties and celebrations of many kinds will be held in honor of the President's birthday. Millions will dance that thousands may walk.

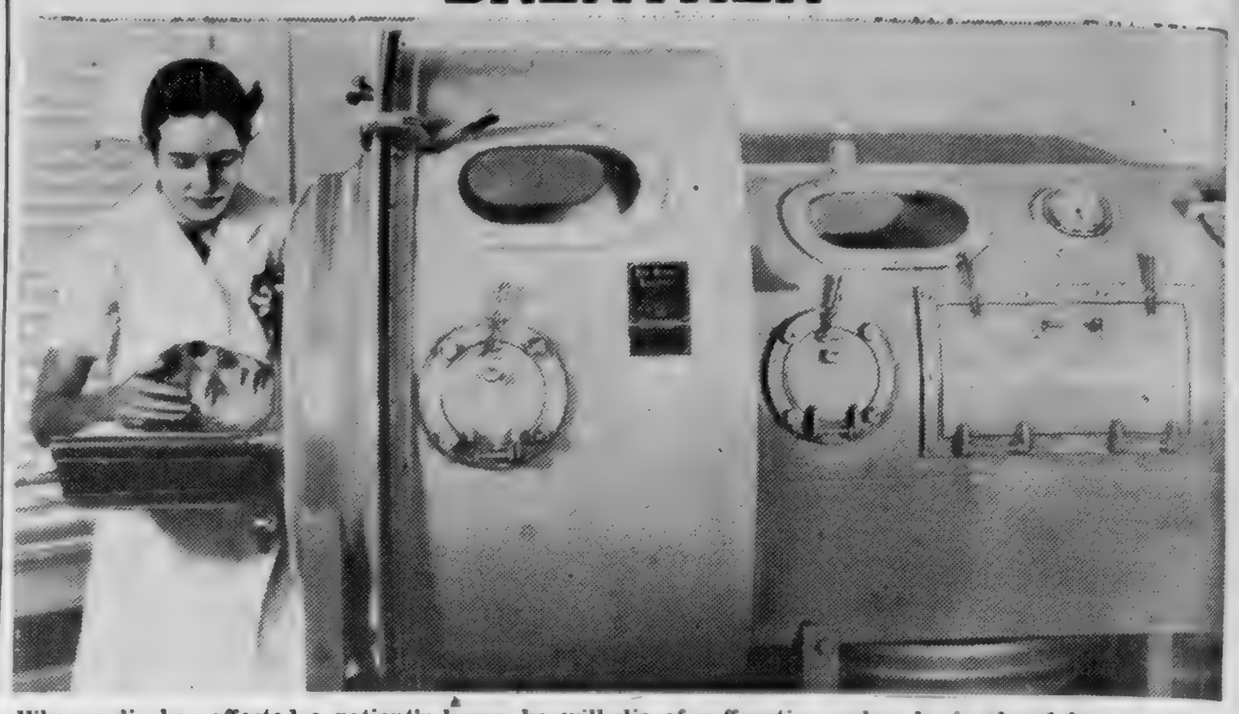
Still countless others will aid the fund by sending in birthday cards to President Roosevelt at the White House. These cards, known as the "March of Dimes Birthday Cards", have been distributed in many of the cities. They will hold as many as ten dimes.

Already there are indications that the stream of tiny silver coins will exceed all expectations and break all records.

Mobilized behind the fight are the churches of the country, labor's legions, the former service men, the school children of many states, and many organizations.

Everyone is being urged to take part and to contribute something to the cause.

BREATHER



When polio has affected a patient's lungs, he will die of suffocation unless he is placed in an artificial respirator. There are only a little over 350 of these iron lungs in America. There are 3005 cities with a population over 3000. Every community should be equipped with at least one in time of epidemic. Big cities need several. Lord Nuffield has just donated 1000 iron lungs for England. England is half the size of Texas. This lung is part of the equipment of the Carrie Tingley Hospital, Hot Springs, New Mexico.

Southern Labor "Spots"

Birmingham, Ala.—Local Union No. 87, of the United Garment Workers union, has reached an agreement with the Liberty Overall company and the "401" Overall company. Employes in the first named plant had been out since the first of the year on account of a wage dispute, but agreement was reached last week, and all employes returned to work. S. E. Roper, of the A. F. of L. office, assisted the union committee in negotiating the agreement.

Atlanta. — Notice has been received from the Boot and Shoe Workers' Local Union and the Binghampton Central Labor Union that Endicott-Johnson shoes are not being purchased by union labor. The Endicott-Johnson Shoe company is declared to be unfair, and has been placed on the "We Do Not Patronize List."

Tampa, Fla.—Six leaders of the Cigarmakers International Union, A. F. of L. affiliate, who were suspended in October on charges that they were seeking to swing the union into the communistic CIO, were reinstated this week after an injunction against them was dismissed following a conference with R. E. Van Horn, international president, in which they pledged complete loyalty to the union.

Dismissal of the injunction also affected eleven other persons connected with the union, who were restrained from engaging in union activities, but who had not been suspended.

Under the agreement with Van Horn, none of the six leaders will seek elective office in the union this year orserve in any appointive office, unless the appointment is made by the international president.

Charlotte, N. C.—"The Carolina Special," "The Carolina Beauty," and "The Carolina Winner" are the trade names of brooms manufactured here by the Carolina Broom company. This plant is 100 per cent union and the brooms carry the union label. These products are distributed by the C. D. Kenny company and are on sale in many retail stores. Union men and women are being urged by Local Union No. 80, of the International Broom and Whisk Makers' Union, to call for these brooms. If your merchant does not have them in stock it is believed he will order these brooms if demand is made for the product. The Charlotte Central Labor Union endorses the appeal for patronage made by the Local Union.

Columbia, S. C.—A local union of bookbinders was organized here last week, charter installed and affiliation made with the Central Labor Union and the State Federation of Labor.

Columbia, S. C. — Contract has been let for a new state office building here, costing $750,000. The work will be done by union labor throughout.

Knoxville, Tenn.—Charter for a local union of Retail Clerks was instituted here last week with a large membership. Maynard Baird, chairman of the organizing committee of the Central Labor Union, and Representative Arthur R. Cook, of the A. F. of L., assisted the clerks in forming the new union.

Lake Charles, La.—R. F. Howell, brought into court here on a charge of fraudulently soliciting advertising in the name of the Louisiana State Federation of Labor, was convicted last Wednesday. E. H. Williams, president of the State Federation of Labor, appeared as prosecuting witness. It is believed that a few more convictions will put a stop to the activities of the high-binders who go without authority about the country selling advertising in the name of organized labor. The State Federation of Labor officials and officers of Central Labor Unions are determined to put a stop to the practice is evidenced by the fact that the conviction of Howell brings the total number of racketeers to five who have been convicted within the past year for fraudulently soliciting advertising in the name of union labor.

Birmingham, Ala. — A bill has been introduced in the state legislature which would abolish the Department of Labor in Alabama and consolidate it with the Industrial Relations Department. The State Federation of Labor is opposing the change, but people who are informed say that the proposed measure is almost certain to be adopted. It is described as a most backward step by labor unionists who worked so many years in getting the Department of Labor established in Alabama.

Memphis, Tenn. — Bids probably will be opened "in about a month" on the $15,000,000 flood control project in Memphis and Shelby county, United States Engineer Capt. L. E. Mielenz told the Labor Review this week.

The office of City Engineer Will Fowler already has entered negotiations to clear right-of-way from the mouth of Nonconnah creek to Prospect and Bodley streets, where a seawall will be constructed to hold back high waters that would flood that part of the city's industrial section.

On recommendation of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, Congress passed a bill allowing for $9,000,000 to promote flood control in Memphis and Shelby county. To this sum the city of Memphis and Shelby county will add $6,000,000 to complete the work.

This week a government representative conferred with business representatives of building trades unions here to determine prevailing wage rates for the score of crafts which will be given work. Under this procedure, the federal government first determines what rates of pay shall prevail and then allows bidding by contractor.

Bob Cooke Climbs on His Record for Re-election

Announcement Cites Rebuilding of Playgrounds and Parks System; Stayed Within His Budget; Never Faltered In His Fealty to Organized Labor

Calling attention to one of the finest, most progressive records ever made by a public official in Chattanooga and Hamilton County, and one which, as he states, "is recognized by friends and opponents alike," "Bob" Cooke, veteran of many labor "battles" covering a period of more than three decades, wants it "blazoned to the world" that his four years in public office has served but to enhance his belief in and support of that group. "In my activities and vote in the Commission as a whole, and in my executive direction of this Department, I have never faltered in my fealty to this cause, which is closest to my heart," he says in his public statement, which is typical of the "old timer's" sincerity and frankness, matters of common knowledge to trades unionists throughout the state, as well as to many national figures in the labor movement which he has served so faithfully and honorably.

Detailing his accomplishments as incumbent of the first major City office to which an active trades unionist was ever elected, "Bob" Cooke gives a large share of credit to his staff (many of whom, incidentally, are active trades unionists), and recalls that "they have worked unselfishly and tirelessly in scheming and planning to stretch a small budget to a point where a real service could be rendered."

"How well we have succeeded," he says, "is a matter of record on which we are content to stand."

His announcement, released to the daily press Thursday, follows in full:

Four years ago, in spite of a determination never to seek public office, I announced as a candidate for the city commission. The greatest thrill of my success in that race was the knowledge that it afforded

Label League Elects

Chattanooga Label League met on Friday night, January 27, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

Marie Reynolds, president; E. E. Crosby, vice-president; Arch Underwood, recording secretary; Paul Reynolds, financial secretary, and Addie Underwood, Warden.

These new officers urge the cooperation and support of the entire labor movement in the important work that the League is doing. All local unions are urged to send 2 delegates to the meetings and the families of union people are especially invited to attend these meetings and to work with the organization in its furtherance of use of the union label, shop card and button.

Locals

O. A. Walker, popular in Chattanooga as a representative of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, spent several days in Chattanooga on business and meeting his friends who were glad to see him again. Brother Walker's injured foot seemed about well again and he looked fine.

He reported the signing up of two large southern utilities in the south the last several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh White announce the birth of a baby girl on Monday, January 30, at the Children's hospital. Both mother and baby are getting along fine.

Brother White is vice-president of Typographical Union No. 89.

We extend congratulations to the young couple.

Mr. S. A. Christian, owner of the Royal Crown Cola company, was called to Monterey, Tenn., Wednesday on account of the serious illness of his mother.

Ed Creek, a member of Cement Workers, Local 18269, suffered a severe injury while he was working at the Signal Mountain cement plant last week which resulted in the loss of his right arm. Brother Creek got his arm hung in the machinery and amputation just below the shoulder was necessary. He is at Erlanger hospital recovering rapidly and will probably be able to leave the hospital within the next week or so.

Milton S. Cooke was reported to be resting fairly well Thursday, after undergoing an emergency operation at the Newell Sanatarium early Thursday morning. "Milt" is a member of the Typographical Union and is employed at the Chattanooga Times. He was working in the Times composing room Thursday when he was stricken with a serious stomach ailment. He was given a blood transfusion Thursday and physicians express grave concern over his condition.

Milt is not able to receive visitors yet.

SQUIRE'S "FAST ONE" RECOILS AS HIS RECORD IS READ BACK TO HIM

Langley's Endorsement Plea Falls on Deaf Ears

Members of the labor movement are quietly chuckling over the predicament Squire Langley found himself in last week when he appeared before a local union and told them what a swell fellow he was, and that he wanted them to vote for him in his race for the city commission. It is generally believed that he is running against Bob Cooke, although the squire says he is willing and able to handle any job available to him.

After Mr. Langley made his speech one of the members rose with a sheaf of records in his hand, and proceeded to show that Squire Langley failed at all points to support his campaign pledges when labor backed him for the county court.

Confronted with facts and dates, the squire frankly admitted that he had not done right and beat a hasty retreat, followed by quiet smiles.

Bakers Elect

The Bakers and Confectionery Workers, Local 25 elected officers for the coming year at their regular meeting on last Saturday. Those to serve in executive capacity for the new year are:

President, John Heiskell; vice-president, Williard Downey; Financial secretary, C. B. Norwood; Treasurer, Charles Mabee; Recording Secretary, Dorothy Soloff; E. D. Wilkey, Business Agent; Sergeant-at-arms, Tom Lovell and L. Barnette; Trustees, George Willis, Robert Rowell and M. A. Jackson; Executive Board, Jack Peck, Joe Yarbro and Hal Reddick.

"Sleep on Union Label," Upholsterers Urge

Atlanta, Ga.—"Sleep on a Union Label" is the slogan of the Atlanta local of the Upholsterers International Union, in a letter addressed by officials of the local union to the general union membership of Atlanta. The Upholsterers' Union officials tell of the Union shop agreement signed by the union and the Imperial Bedding Company of Atlanta. This company does renovating, and manfactures the "Air Spring Mattress," on which is used the union label, hence the slogan: "Sleep on a Union Label."

Upholsterers local unions in the South operate through the Southern States Council, the president of which is George T. Johnson, of Atlanta. This organization is making rapid headway.

LATE EDWARD P. COSTIGAN GREAT PUBLIC SERVANT WHO FORESAW MUCH OF NEW DEAL

Washington. — Former Senator Edward P. Costigan is dead at the age of 63. He was the greatest public servant that Colorado ever gave to the nation; and I think I know them all.

Born in Virginia, with an Irish father and a Spanish mother, except for his happy humor, Costigan inclined to the Spanish side. He was raised in Colorado, graduated from Harvard, came back to Colorado to live. Denver was then a city which had taken the Philadelphia plan of voting, under which, in police ruled precincts, from 50 to 400 ballots were marked and the poll books written up for the same before election day. Since it is hard to get a long list of fictitious names that sound natural, one inspired philanthropist copied the names from Denver's cemeteries; and was known, as long as I was there, as "Graveyard Johnny." Denver, when Costigan came to citizen's estate, was pretty well owned by the public utilities, and the city owners shared ownership of the state with mining companies and railroads.

Championed Mine Strikers

Costigan enlisted for the war when reform was war; and never laid down his weapons to the end. He was chief engineer and attorney for the Denver Honest Election League, president of the Denver Civil Service Reform association, member of the Direct Primary and Direct Legislation leagues. They got results.

One of the greatest works of his genius was that for the miners of Colorado; and they haven't forgotten it. When miners struck in the southern Colorado coal fields, they had to go into tent colonies; for the company owned the shacks in which they lived while they worked. On April 20, 1914, the tent colony of Ludlow was attacked and burned by company guards who had been taken into the militia, and three men, two women and eleven children murdered.

In the report which he wrote for the Congressional committee that probed the Ludlow massacre, Costigan demanded full recognition of labor's right to organize and compulsory collective bargaining; prohibition of guards, gunmen, private detectives, weapons or munitions being carried in interstate commerce during or in preparation for a strike; Federal licensing for all corporations affecting interstate commerce; and:

"The prohibition of interlocking directorates and of dummy directors for corporations engaged in interstate commerce, with severe personal penalties attaching to individual officers for corporate violations of law."

In other words, Costigan, in 1914, foresaw the need of half the New Deal, and of some things the New Deal hasn't got to yet. This is scarcely a tithe of his doings; all were good; many of them truly great.—G. L. K.

WATCH YOUR DIET

By R. M. POWELL
University of Tennessee Physician

One's optimum weight is the weight at which he feels and looks the best. Generally speaking, it is better to be slightly over average up to 30 years of age, then slightly under.

The diet needed to keep on at optimum weight and in good nutrition varies with each individual. The requirement varies with one's build and with one's activity, that is, one leading a quiet life will not require as many calories as one leading a very active life.

The fuel intake that is needed for an individual can be computed very accurately. It is, however, not enough to take in the required amount of fuel, but we must acquire it from proper sources. Approximately 15 to 10 per cent of our fuel should come from proteins, which are derived from meat, eggs, cheese, milk, beans and peas. Approximately 50 per cent of our fuel should come from carbohydrates such as fruits, sugars, cereals, etc. The remaining 30 to 40 per cent should come from fats such as fat meats, butter, cream and vegetable oils.

Vitamin A has much to do with the proper stimulation of growth in the young and also helps to protect us against infections. Its chief sources are the yellow vegetables such as sweet potatoes, carrots and fish liver oils.

Vitamin B tends to stimulate our appetite, improves nerve health, aids digestion and elimination and is found in the whole grain cereals and yeast.

Vitamin C aids in proper tooth formation and prevents scurvy. It is found in the citrus fruits and in tomato juice.

Vitamin D prevents and cures rickets, a childhood disease, and aids in the proper development of the teeth. It is found in variable amounts in milk and butter. One of the best sources is cod liver oil.

Vitamin G aids in digestion and prevents certain skin lesions. It is found in leafy vegetables and in yeast.

Not only do we need the protective substances, but we must take in an adequate amount of digestible food which will give us some bulk in our digestive tract. This bulk gives a mass in the intestinal tract upon which the intestinal muscles may act, preventing constipation. This bulk may be found in such foods as greens, carrots, cabbage, turnips and other vegetables that contain much fiber.

Since each cell of the body is partly water, and the body as a whole is 70% water an adequate amount of water is necessary for the proper functioning of the body. All of our body processes take place in a liquid medium and much water is lost from the body daily. It is estimated that it will take at least eight glasses daily outside of one's meals to supply the daily needs. This may have to be increased on days that cause us to perspire freely.

TO enjoy work, a woman must feel well. Cardui aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more energy from their food—and so increases resistance to the strain of functional periodic pain. Try it!

Samuels Enameling Employees Make Applications to Secure A. F. of L. Charter

During the past two weeks the employes of the Samuels Stamping and Enameling company have been making application for a charter under the American Federation of Labor, and to date a hundred or more have filled in applications and paid initiation fees. Secretary Mabee has already sent off for a charter, and it is only a matter of a few more weeks, it is believed, before the plant in North Chattanooga will be solidly organized under the AFL.

Over one year ago the CIO invaded the plant and succeeded in securing some members and negotiated an agreement which employes said meant nothing other than dues to the CIO. Much dissatisfaction resulted, and on expiration of the "contract" several months ago a committee of employes begged the AFL to organize them so that they could have a real labor union that would get results.

Labor, City and State Officials Voice Sharp Protest Against Federal Relief Fund Cuts

Washington.—Practically every voice in the United States outside of big business and ultraconservative politics is raised in a protest against the cut of $150,000,000 in WPA relief.

President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, has sent the following letter to Senator Alva B. Adams, of Colorado, chairman of the subcommittee of the senate that is considering the bill:

"The American Federation of Labor maintains a very close relationship with the relief needs of the nation. We are constantly supplied with data and information from the subordinate branches of the American Federation of Labor located in every state, city, town and village throughout the country regarding the shifting status of unemployment and the number of those who are compelled to secure relief through governmental relief agencies.

Army of Idle Still Big.

"The last compiled report of the American Federation of Labor, which was for the month of November, 1938, shows that there were 10,423,184 persons unemployed. There may have been a slight increase or decrease in this number during the month of December, 1938, and the current month of January, 1939.

"These figures are deeply significant. They show that the army of unemployed and those dependent upon them for life and sustenance are still tremendously large. They are as great as they were in March, 1936, when the records showed an army of unemployed amounting to 10,482,496. The nation's relief load is as great now as it was during the year 1935 and the first three months of 1936.

"Taking these figures into account and all supplemental facts and information available, it is my sincere and honest opinion that the congress of the United States should appropriate $875,000,000, the amount recommended by the president, for the purpose of meeting in a fairly adequate way the needs of WPA throughout the current fiscal year.

Cut to Mean Suffering.

"I am thoroughly convinced it will require this amount of money to meet the minimum relief needs of our country. Any reduction in this amount will mean a lowering of relief standards and a decrease in the amount supplied those who have suffered very greatly because of unemployment during the last eight years."

And, "in the name and on the behalf of the American Federation of Labor," Green respectfully requested Senator Adams to raise the ante to the $875,000,000 that the president asked for in the first place.

James B. Carey, speaking for the CIO, said:

"There has been much talk, too, about congress showing its 'independence' on this vote. Well, let it show its independence of reactionary interests and the newspaper cry for false economy by voting a full and adequate appropriation."

And Mayor LaGuardia, of New York, spoke for virtually all the mayors in the United States when he told the senate committee that no mayor in the country could tell quite where to turn if nearly a million employes of the WPA had to be laid off.

President Roosevelt took up the matter with his press conference, and no one has any doubt as to where he stands.

One of the most serious features of the case was brought out by Mayor LaGuardia, when he told the committee that practically all our cities are so close to their debt limits that they really have no leeway. Gov. Lehman, of New York, backed this by saying that the slash would cause great suffering and misery, and put burdens on New York towns which they could not bear.

Mr. Carson—What kind of wood us used in making matches?

Mr. Smythe—He wooed and she would.

Revise the Patent Laws

The monopoly investigation has gone far enough to prove that our patent laws need drastic revision. Two companies absolutely control the production of more than 90 per cent of the glass made in this country; and that means they control prices. One of those companies has nothing but patents, and values these around $50,000,000. And now, the committee hears how a tube lasting 50,000 hours is perfectly available for radio sets. But the patents enable the Bell Company to hold the tube out of general manufacture.

To any thinking layman, this last scheme seems to contradict the theory on which patents are granted at all. They are given to reward inventors for devices which will be of use to the public. But if only the Bell Telephone companies and perhaps a few other concerns can get the use of them, that patent should be voided at once.

This grab for replacement profits is found in many places; and it is worth noting that none of them are in high wage industries. Textiles are one: and that is one of the law-wage industries.

Safety razors are another; and there mechanism is so complete that wage costs are very low. Apparently, machines have displaced workers in the manufacture of radio tubes, as well.

The Show of the Season

President Woodrow Wilson once said that the powers of investigating possessed by congress were sometimes more important than its deliberative powers. He was right; but he did not go far enough. Investigations by committees of congress may sometimes stage a rollicking farce which debate seldom reaches.

Nothing so good as the show staged before the senate subcommittee holding hearings on the appointment of Felix Frankfurter has been seen in Washington for quite a long time. Two Washington attorneys noted their chances to advertise; and improved it. One of them objected to Mr. Frankfurter's "alien birth," as some folks at the time of our Revolution objected that Alexander Hamilton was a "foreigner." Another opponent declared that he spoke for the "Constitutional Crusaders of America," and when asked for details answered:

"I am the whole works, myself. I appointed myself a committee to combat the evils of this government."

But the star part of the show came when a woman, author of a book called "The Red Network," took the stand to say that not merely Frankfurter, but Supreme Court Justices Hughes, Brandeis. Cordozo and Stone, President Roosevelt and his wife, and as many lessor persons as she could take time to mention were all foes of the constitution.

It must give one a feeling of independence to get away from all facts like that.

Street Car and Bus Fares Reduced in Chattanooga

Order Went Into Effect Yesterday

Street car and bus fares in Chattanooga were reduced Thursday.

Under an agreement reached in Nashville Wednesday the Tennessee Electric Power company and representatives of the city of Chattanooga, patrons of T. E. P.'s transportation system here, started Thursday paying 5 cents on street cars and 7 cents on busses. Present rate is 7 cents on street cars and 7 and 10 cents on busses.

The utilities commission estimated the savings to Chattanooga street car and bus users at more than $50,000 a year. The rate is effective on all bus and street car traffic within the city limits, including those busses now costing 15 cents.

A compromise setting identical rates for Nashville was reached by Nashville and T. E. P. officials. Application of the reduced rates in Chattanooga was a development at the commission hearing.

The commission convened Wednesday to consider issuance of a formal order for the Nashville reduction.

Attorney Lawrence Spears, of Chattanooga, representing T. E. P., had sought two weeks' delay in making a reduction applicable to Chattanooga, but after a conference with city attorneys he told the commission it would be agreeable to include the Chattanooga transportation system.

Permanent Order.

Chairman Porter Dunlap, of the commission, said the order would be made permanent and not for an experimental period of six months, as was originally set out in the original draft of the compromise.

The agreement regarding Nashville fares came after the commission refused Tuesday to immediately cut street car fares from 7 to 5 cents and the city threatened to inaugurate its own bus transportation system.

The formal commission order, it was indicated, will provide:

1. That street car fares in both Nashville and Chattanooga be reduced from 7 to 5 cents.

2. That bus fares be cut from 10 to 7 cents. Some bus fares in Chattanooga already are 7 cents.

3. That the 3-cent fare for school children be retained.

4. That the present transfer rights be continued and that transfers from street cars to busses be accompanied by an additional 2-cent payment.

After the agreement on lowering the rates in Nashville, Utilities Commissioner Leon Jourolmon pointed out that, under the law, a utilities firm may not discriminate to the advantage or disadvantage of a part of the customers in the same class.

He said that the power company's financial statement showed that the Chattanooga transportation system last year was more profitable than that of Nashville, and said he saw no reason why Chattanooga bus and street car riders should not be included in the lower rate agreement, inasmuch as they were of the same class as Nashville car and bus riders.

Erskine Baking Goes Union "All the Way" As Contracts With Teamsters And Bakers Bring Union Label Cake

Local Labor Movement Busies Itself Removing Ban and Trying to Build Erskine Sales to High Peak --- Nice Wage Increases and Hour Reductions Granted

Saturday closed a long story of conflict between organized labor and the Erskine bakery when management signed two closed shop agreements with Local 25, Bakers, and Local 515, Teamsters.

Hours of work were cut in some instances nearly half, and in some instances as much as ten dollars per week additional was added to the pay envelopes.

The company has indicated that they will use the union label on its cakes as soon as supplies can be secured.

Otherwise Socially O. K.

A young man, well known in Philadelphia, married a girl considered by his relatives to be beneath his station in life.

But he loved her and he took upon himself the task of teaching her the fundamentals of society behavior. She tried very hard to learn. Then came the evening they attended their first bridge party given by one of his exclusive friends.

He cautioned her to be very careful. She promised. They were all seated at the bridge table, when suddenly she said, in a rather loud voice, shaking her finger at the old gentleman next to her:

"Say, you old rascal, you're cheating."

Then turning quickly to her husband, she explained:

"Pardon me, dear, for pointing."

TEACHER TALK

Saturday, Feb. 11, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at Dickinson Junior High school, will be kept in mind by loyal unionists as the date of the next membership meeting of the federation. That's Saturday of next week. The legislation committee will present its report on the proposed consolidation movement, and other business of vital importance will be discussed. Be sure to be there.

Already that committee has conferred with Prof. S. J. McCallie, chairman of the chamber of commerce committee on education, about terms that the consolidation bill might contain. They insisted that any bill drafted must contain protection for city teachers who might have no state certificates, but who have seen many years of service.

A few weeks ago, one of our A. F. T. chapters incurred some unpleasant publicity when Dr. John Childs resigned from the New York College Teachers union charging "red" domination of that group. President Stanton Smith, of our local, wired Dr. Childs for his attitude on teacher unionization in general and received the emphatic reply that such was the only way for teachers to improve their conditions, that he heartily indorsed the movement. Enemies of the federation have evidently been spreading rumors that other well-known teachers are leaving the union, notably Prof. George S. Counts, eminent member of the teachers' college faculty of Columbia university. In a letter addressed to the New York Post, Prof. Counts wrote on Dec. 31, 1938, "What I have said regarding my experience with certain tendencies in union at teachers' college was said with the hope of correcting evils and abuses there. Moreover, I hope and believe that the democratic tendencies and practices in the federation generally will triumph at teachers' college. I am not intending to leave either the New York College Teachers' union or the American Federation of Teachers."

Not only are big-time teachers sticking with the union, but more are joining the ranks all the time. Prof. Franz Boas, professor emeritus of anthropology in Columbia university itself, and one of the most famous authorities on his subject in the world today, joined that same local on the day after Wr. Childs' attack upon it. Dr. Boas is a former president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and has made many contributions to our knowledge. When an emeritus professor joins a union, we think it's new!

Seventy-eight Class 1 railroads in the United States are under receivers or trustees. One would like to know how many were put there by graft, how many by crazy prices paid in "consolidation" schemes, and how many never should have been built at all.

Knoxville, Nashville Central Bodies May Picket Sterchi Stores in Those Cities to Protest 'Unfairness' Here

Unions Determine to Protect Right to Organize Even If Takes Another 12-Year Struggle---Tennessee Federation May Ask Other States to Join Scrap

The defensive fight against Sterchi Stores in Chattanooga appears to be spreading over the state, according to reports received this week from Nashville and Knoxville, in which cities Sterchi also has stores.

Officials of the Tennessee Federation of Labor have informed the Radio Workers in Chattanooga that the Central Bodies in Nashville and Knoxville are planning to declare "unfair" the stores in those cities, and to keep them on the "We do not patronize" list until management changes its attitude toward organized labor.

The scrap in Chattanooga resulted when the management refused to recognize Local 662, Radio Workers. Pickets in front of the Chattanooga store since the last of December have patiently told the friends of organized labor that Sterchi is "unfair." It has been noticeable that not as many people are going into the store, and the new development in Nashville and Knoxville should bring home to the management that all of Tennessee is likely to be drawn into the fray.

Not only that, it is likely that the next Tennessee Federation convention will see a request to circularize other Sterchi towns in other states, and that other labor movements will express themselves there.

opportunity to test a theory practically inborn that the people approve honest, conscientious and efficient service from a public official. Although I had at times seen this theory borne out by officials who had other powerful assets to back it up, I wondered if it of itself would stand. I therefore set about to render this type of service and surrounded myself with associates selected solely for honesty and efficiency. With these associates I shared every confidence in every detail of the operation of the public's business with which I was charged. They have worked unselfishly and tirelessly and literally "burned the midnight oil" in scheming and planning to stretch a small budget to a point where a real service could be rendered. How well we have succeeded is a matter of record, on which we are content to stand.

In the few personal appeals made to the people in the last campaign, I made but one promise—"If you elect me to the city commission, I will get one hundred cents, to the best of my ability, for every dollar of your money spent." I have kept that promise.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the city commission has been faced with an unusually large number of major problems during the past four years. Particularly where questions of a controversial nature arose, I have weighed each case carefully and have voted my honest conviction regardless of what the political consequences might be. For any position I have taken or for any vote I have cast as a member of the commission, I have no regrets and no apologies to any man.

With a budget of which more than 71 per cent is earmarked for lights and water, we have maintained the airport, city hall, our office, weights and measures department. etc., although increased activities in all branches have necessarily demanded larger and larger allotments for maintenance and overhead expense. We set out first to "clean up" our parks and playgrounds and to make our recreation spots places where we might send our wives, sisters and daughters without fear of insult or annoyance, and an idea of our success along this line may be seen in the record which shows hundreds of large outings and picnics held by churches, Sunday schools, fraternal and labor organizations at Warner, Jackson, East Lake and Lincoln parks, where every possible facility has been provided for the enjoyment of people of all ages, under the watchful care of uniformed officers and in a happy atmosphere. As an added attraction for the enjoyment, particularly of children, we have assembled and housed at Warner park what we consider a splendid collection of small animals and birds at a cost to the taxpayers of practically nothing. We have staged or helped to stage Independence day and Labor day celebrations, handling crowds estimated at fifteen to twenty-five thousand people, with half a dozen regular employes, augmented only by public-spirited sports and recreation leaders, who contributed their time and efforts to an accomplished goal with not one single arrest on these big days.

At Lincoln park we have had a similar experience, building a program second to none and affording a happy atmosphere for thousands of our colored citizens. An instance of this may be seen in the fact that on the Lincoln park softball field alone we had, conservatively estimated, an average of twenty-five hundred to three thousand spectators six nights a week without an arrest, although uniformed patrolmen were instructed to and did maintain the strictest discipline and order.

Having been schooled in the value of organization and cooperative action in order to obtain maximum results, we immediately joined the National Recreation association, th e American Baseball congress, the Mid-South Amateur Athletic association and other national recreation bodies. We have been repeatedly told by officials and field workers of each of these organizations that we have one of the best recreation programs in the United States—and this despite the fact that we have operated on a "shoestring" budget. We have increased the playground season from two to three months and added several new ones under competent supervision. We have now in course of construction, with a 45 per cent grant from PWA, ten modern playgrounds, which include complete shelter houses with offices, drinking fountains, sanitary facilities and the latest equipment, all fenced for protection of this equipment. We have in course of construction, with the cooperation of WPA, two modern community centers, one at East Lake and one at East Chattanooga, which, when finished, will be second to none in the south for recreation and sports activities. We plan also a similar project at Ridgedale to add to these and others which we have already developed.

We will not attempt to impose upon the readers or newspaper to the extent of detailing our accomplishments or activities in organizing various branches of sports and recreation, but are content to recall that we have fostered and promoted every branch of sports and recreation possible, and have handled through our office a great many details for most of these activities.

We have fostered and encouraged government spending at the airport. We have made many improvements at the golf course. We believe we have done our part in co-operating with federal agencies in relieving the unemployment situation in our city. We have done what we consider everything possible in building up the Market House. We have enforced without fear or favor the laws covering weights and measures. We have co-operated to the fullest possible extent with the ladies of the garden clubs and have definite ideas and plans to support the work of these good women in continuing their efforts to enhance and exploit the beauties of nature with which our city is blessed.

Life, Health and A

In short, we feel we have created and built up a practically new department serving thousands of our citizens in a most happy and beneficial way, and we deem it worthy of note that this fact has been recognized by both friends and opponents. Many organizations and individuals have given us wonderful co-operation in carrying this out, and we extend to them full credit and our heartfelt appreciation for their co-operation through service and advice.

It is no secret and I do not hesitate to blazon it to the world that organized labor has been for more than thirty years almost my religion, and four years in public office has served but to enhance belief in and support of that group. In my activities and vote in the commission as a whole, and in my executive direction of this department, I have never faltered in my fealty to this cause, which is closest to my heart, although attempting to maintain as I have throughout my life an equilibrium based on sound, intelligent consideration of the facts in each individual case, with fairness and justice for all concerned.

Four years ago I won a post on the city commission through the wholehearted, enthusiastic and tireless work of warm personal friends. The happiest thought of my experience in public office, and one which will go with me to my grave, is the knowledge that I have increased that circle of close friends and have been repeatedly assured of their approval of my conduct of this office and of their hearty support.

I have nothing to apologize for, and in hereby announcing my candidacy for re-election, I am appealing to the old and new friends for indorsement and approval of my record.

May I repeat: I made one promise—"If you elect me to the city commission, I will get one hundred cents, to the best of my ability, for every dollar of your money spent."

I have done it. I am content to rest upon the record, confident that a fair-minded electorate will voice its approval of my administration.

To Broadcast Contributions Of Jewry to American Life

Program "Americans All---Immigrants All" on Nation-wide Hook-up

The far-reaching contributions of Jewish immigrants from all over the world to the social, economic, cultural and political development of the United States will be dramatized Feb. 5 over 98 stations of the Columbia network at 1:00 p.m., Chattanooga time.

This is the thirteenth of a series depicting the role in American life of immigrant peoples and their descendants sponsored by the United States office of education, department of the interior.

Beginning with the part played by men of Jewish birth in the first voyage of Columbus, the broadcast will go on to dramatize the part Jews played in the settlement of this country, their help in the fight for American independence, and how thousands of men of the Jewish faith fought as privates and officers during the Civil war.

The career of Samuel Gompers, first to organize American labor and to help to foster good-will between capital and labor, the work of many notable Jews in the cause of humanity and the efforts of many more in the interest of science and medicine will complete this program.

Dr. John W. Studebaker, U. S. commissioner of education, conceived these weekly broadcasts as a means of popular entertainment and education from which will result better understanding among all the cultural and racial groups in this country.

ICC Asks Investigation Of Zone Fares Plan

Washington, D. C.—Marion M. Caskie, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, has written to Senator Burton K. Wheeler, chairman of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, suggesting that he ask the Senate to order the ICC to investigate the proposal to "postalize passenger rates" on railroads.

The proposal, made many years ago by John A. Hastings, former State Senator of New York, would divide the country into four zones, and the charge for coach passage in any zone would be $1. That it would enormously increase passenger traffic is undoubted; but whether it can be made to pay expenses or not is the question. So much agitation is now calling for it that the members of the ICC think they had better look into it.

Five-Day Week Predicted For Federal Employes

Washington, D. C.—Frank Morrison, veteran secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, told a large meeting of members of the American Federation of Government Employes here, that "at a distant date government employes will not only enjoy the five-day week but the six-hour day."

"It's absolutely necessary," he continued. "There is no other way of putting men to work and giving everybody employment."

Secretary Morrison recounted an impressive list of achievements for government workers through the aid of the American Federation of Labor since 1897, when the labor movement first began its assistance of Federal employes.

President Charles I. Stengle, Henry C. Iler, and Chester M. Wright spoke briefly and a preaudition was given of the A. F. of L. transcribed "Labor Parade" program to be run over 110 radio stations in connection with Civil Service Week, which tells the story of the civil service and of government unionism.

Hearst Newspaper In Chicago Signs With AFL Union

Chicago—Harry Koehler, publisher of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, and Larry W. Kelly, president of the newspaper's unit of the Chicago Editorial Association, announced they had signed a contract covering the newspaper's editorial employes.

Kelly said the contract with the association, an A. F. of L. affiliate, became effective the day following expiration of a contract between the newspaper and the American Newspaper Guild, CIO affiliate.

The guild called a strike against the Chicago Evening American and morning Herald and Exeminer Dec. 5 in protest against alleged "mass firing" in circulation departments.

A trial examiner for the NIRB subsequently ordered the newspaper to re-hire one employe and dismissed pleas for reinstatement of two others.

Kelly said the contract, covering a one year period, provided a five-day, 40-hour week with the same minimum salaries as the guild contract except for an increase of 10 per cent over the old contract for employes with more than five years service with the Hearst papers.

700 CLOAK WORKERS STRIKE IN TWO PLANTS TO BALK ANTI-UNION MOVE

Chicago.—About 700 employes of Hirsh & Sons, cloak manufacturers, of Chicago, Ill., and La Porte, Ind., have been called out on strike by the Chicago joint board of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union.

Reason for the strike, the union charged, is that while the company conferred with the union for a renewed agreement and appeared to be making an effort to continue friendly relations, the management secretly purchased a nonunion factory at Crawfordsville, Ind., intending to move production from the organized shops to the nonunion shop.

The union demanded that the Crawfordsville plans, as it would throw hundreds of union members out of work. The firm refused and the union called the strike as a last resort.

Hirsh & Sons were doing a small business just a few years ago, but with the co-operation of the union, it has grown to be one of the largest firms in the cloak industry. To make it possible for the company to sell garments at a lower price, the union, only recently, agreed to reduce its piece work rates by 10 per cent. Now it appears that the company has reciprocated by making plans to throw the union's members out of work.

Picketing Case To Go Before Supreme Court

New York City—The American Civil Liberties Union is planning to appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court the decision of the Wisconsin Supreme Court upholding the constitutionality of the Wilwaukee anti-leaflet ordinance. The court rejected the contention that arrests of pickets for distributing handbills is an abridgement of free press and free speech.

The case involved twenty-four members of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, A. F. of L. affiliate, found guilty of violating the ordinance during a strike last April. A district court judge found the ordinance invalid, but the decision was reversed in the Circuit Court.

The State Supreme Court held that the Milwaukee statute was intended only to avoid littering the streets with cast-off handbills and that the U. S. Supreme Court decision in the Griffin, Ga., case implied that such a regulation was not unconstitutional. The court also declared that the state labor code making it lawful to "give publicity" and "communicate information" in connection with a strike does not take precedence over existing statutes.

The Civil Liberties Union submitted a brief as friend of the court in behalf of the pickets.

TO TOM MOONEY

(From the New Leader, New York City)

Robert Minor, an emissary of the Communist Party, went to California to meet Tom Mooney on the release of the famous labor prisoner. Minor's mission is to exploit Mooney for the Communist Party and its parasitic money-raising "innocents clubs." It is to be hoped that Mooney will not destroy his influence for good in the labor movement by accepting the treacherous embrace of a movement that is despised and hated by the organized working class.

In 1929 Mooney himself wrote a letter denouncing the Communist International Labor Defense for collecting money in his name and keeping it. Before that the Boston Defense Committee representing Sacco and Vanzetti denounced the C.P. and its stooges for a similar crime. I. W. W. prisoners serving a life sentence in Kentucky also blistered the C. P. racketeers for similar conduct in 1933 and yet the I. L. D. is again collecting funds in the name of these I. W. W. martyrs.

Watch your step, Tom. Your "friends" regard you as a gold mine to enrich their parasitic lives.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

Cut Out The Alibis

By Dr. Charles Stelzle
Executive Director, Good Neighbor League

It's easy enough to prove an "alibi," when the job should have been done — but alibis never get you anywhere — they're generally framed up to prove that you "weren't there." When the roll is called, they won't ask you where you didn't go, and what you didn't do, but what did you "get across."

* * *

The difference between a rut and a grave is just about six feet, but some of us don't have to go the six foot limit to be counted amorg the dead ones. Most of us look for ruts — roads already traveled by others—so that the way will be smoother and easier. But the man who gets there first and wins the prize is he who blazes the way as a pioneer.

One and one don't make two—when you add things that aren't alike. The belief that it does is responsible for most of the trouble in the world today. No one man ever exactly equaled any other man —we're all different in ability and character—but some people want to put us all in the same mold and treat us all alike and make us all live in the same way. They don't allow for individuality—and usually they want to keep the best of us in the same class with the worst of us.

When you see the sign "out of order" it's a challenge for somebody to get busy—not a certificate of exemption. It means that something needs to be righted — not slighted. Sometimes it requires the whole force to straighten things out. And this is one of the times.

It's usually in the little things that most men fall down—in the day by day tests of character. Whether you can get on with others, and give credit to whom it belongs, and speak an even tone when there's provocation to shout in anger, and whether you are giving to other what you expect of them—an absolutely square deal—these are some of the things that show what kind of a man you are.

* * *

If any one tells you that there's no need to become a better worker, a clearer thinker and a stronger citizen, because some time soon there's going to be a social revolution which will usher in the millenium, you can make up your mind that he's a liar or a fool—for no matter what kind of a social system may develop, there will still be need for big, brainy men—and brains will continue to rule the world so long as the world shall last.

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly.

Sit-down strike once flourished, or at least appeared to flourish. Now it has largely gone the way of the dodo, the handle-bar mustache, the big 5-cent glass of beer and other extinct things.

Past are the days when the sit-down grabbed front page space. Now it gets a few lines on inside pages, when it occurs at all, which is seldom. When the sit-down was in its prime, back in early 1937, lots of folks were sure it would sweep all before it. Others didn't think so.

Among the dissenters was the American Federation of Labor, which saw at once the foolishness and danger of the sit-down technique and warned emphatically against it.

Fervid advocates of the sit-down, including the communists, hooted derisively at the federation's stand. They extolled the sit-down to the skies and could scarcely find words adequate to glorify it. These days most of the former sit-down champions are quite content if the subject of sit-downs is not mentioned.

If put in position where they have to say something, they sing exceeding low. Why the change in heart? Because what the A. F. of L. foresaw has come to pass and all but the most bigoted of the sit-down defenders have come to realize that the new form of strike can do more harm to labor than good.

A. F. of L. pointed out, among other things, that the sit-down gave power to a minority which could easily wreck a union through its reckless use.

Federation also pointed out that the sit-down was bound to stir up strong public opposition. Truth of the two points was soon evident and has become even more evident in recent months.

The union that made the most use of the sit-down strike, the CIO-affiliated United Automobile Workers of America, has been torn with dissension for months. Flare-up of the sit-down by some of its members in the last few months has weakened its position as a responsible bargaining agency and lost its friends among the general public.

Point two of the A. F. of L. indictment was plain from the very beginning of the sit-down strike movement. The public didn't like it and likes it even less now.

Public hostility to the sit-down is generally conceded to have been an important factor in the defeat of Gov. Frank Murphy in Michigan, despite his united labor support. His opponents made effective use of his conciliatory policy during the biggest of the sit-downs. This is not to say that Gov. Murphy's policy was wrong. Probably most union members, A. F. of L. and CIO alike, think he pursued the wisest course under difficult circumstances. But his refusal to enforce the law against the sit-downers rankled with many middle class voters.

Incidentally, Gov. Murphy, when he faced a senate committee inquiring into his fitness to serve as attorney-general, didn't champion the sit-down. The sit-down was illegal and has been "thoroughly discredited," he said.

Truth is that the sit-down did not really flourish, in the sense that a healthy plant or tree flourishes.

Outwardly it appeared strong. Inwardly it was weak. It was rooted in a soil in which strong popular support was essential to its health and continued growth. It did not have a large measure of popular support and did not succeed in winning such support. Its decline was inevitable.

Wagner Offers Bill to Increase Housing Authority Loan Funds

Washington, D. C.—Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, has introduced a bill to increase loan funds of the United States Housing Authority by $800,000,000.

The bill also would authorize the authority to enter into additional contracts for annual contributions of $45,000,000.

"All of the funds made available to the United States Housing Authority in 1937 and 1938 are now covered by contracts or earmarkings for local housing authorities," Wagner said. "So that no further projects can be undertaken until Congress makes additional funds available to the Housing Authority.

"These sums by no means cover in full the low-rent housing needs of the country. But based upon the record of experience during the past year, they do represent the modest program which the United States Housing Authority can administer and the localities can carry forward during the next year. They do represent the funds necessary to prevent a hiatus in the program, to bring its benefits to the hundreds of localities still clamoring for participation, and to provide for the fifteen states have not yet enacted enabling housing legislation but are likely to do this year."

President Urges Broad Federal-State Health Program for Nation

Washington.—In a sober but impressive message, President Roosevelt has laid before congress the repore and recommendations of the interdepartmental committee on the needs and ways to co-ordinate health and welfare activities.

"We have reason," he suys, "to derive great satisfaction from the increase in average length of life in our country and from the improvement in the average levels of health and well being. Yet these improvements in averages are cold comfort to the millions of people whose security in health and survivals is still as limited as that of the nation as a whole 50 years ago.

"The average level of health or the average cost of sickness has little meaning for those who now must meet personal catastrophes. TO KNOW THAT A STREAM IS FOUR FEET DEEP ON THE AVERAGE IS OF LITTLE HELP TO THOSE WHO DROWN IN THE PLACES WHERE IT IS 10 FEET DEEP."

Health Needs Outlined

The summary of the report goes straight to the chain-tight linking between low income and high sick rate. "Sickness is much more frequent and more severe, and survival is more precarious, among low income families than among families in moderate or comfortable circumstances."

Taking up health needs which need to be met, the report lists them under five main heads, as follows:

1. Services to prevent sickness are grossly insufficient for the nation as a whole.

2. Hospitals and other organized facilities are too few, too small, or wholly lacking in many communities, particularly in rural areas.

Heavy Sickness Burdens

3. One-third of the population, on relief or in the low-income brackets, receives no medical service, or, inadequate service.

4. A far larger part of the nation suffers from the economic burdens created by illness. The largest of these burdens arise from the variable costs of medical services, costs which can be budgeted by the large group as a whole but not by the individual family.

5. Wage earners and their families need protection against loss of income during periods of temporary or permanent disability.

General Recommendations

Neither the President nor the report gives any detailed instruc- The President urges careful study tions as to what should be done. by the Congress of the whole report; and the report makes three general recommendations. They are:

"A. The committee recommends the expansion and strengthening of existing Federal-State cooperative health programs under the social security act, through more nearly adequate grants-in-aid to the states, and through the states, to the localities.

"B. The committee recommends grants-in-aid to the states for the construction, enlargement and modernization of hospitals and related facilities where these are either non-existent or inadequate but needed.

"C. The committee recommends that the Federal government provide grants-in-aid to the state to assist them in developing programs of medical care."

Capital Highlights

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington, D. C. — Nearly everything done for labor by the United States government or by most of the state governments is going very well. Leaving out, because they have been statted before, the remarkable record of the Counciliation Board of the Department of Labor and the NLRB, and here are a few days gatherings:

The United States Employment Service got 2,701,349 jobs during the year 1938. Of these, 1,885,744 were in private industry, not all permanent, of course; and 139,028 of those were veterans.

The State Mediation Board of New York settled 122 strikes during the year before a strike was called, and settled 99 strikes after they were called.

The Wage-Hour division of the Department of Labor blocked one of the meanest schemes ever devised, one to take pecan shellers for 90 days at substandard wages as "learners," when at most learning that job takes from two days to a week. The decision in this case is calculated to rasp the hide of an army mule, and should check other schemers.

But with all this and its own previous record to guide it, will some one please tell why Congress even debates such a proposition as cutting down the WPA funds so much that nearly a million depending on that for a living will have to be dropped?

Harriet Martineau, a lady radical of Old England, once said in lofty tones: "I accept the universe." To which that unrivalled grouch, Thomas Carlyle replied: "Gad! she'd better!"

This story came to mind when word arrived that a cork company in Pittsburgh is going to try the yearly wage. Those who have served the company 5 years or more will be guaranteed pay for 24 hours every week in the year. And the statement is made as if it were a new thing.

It's all of 30 years since Louis D. Brandeis, then a lawyer in Boston, persuaded his friend McElwain, a shoe manufacturer, to try to make his employment steady, and told him how to do it. Before long, he was guaranteeing men 50 weeks work a year; and his sons are still doing it.

It would save a vast deal of time, woes and cash if big business as well as little would accept steady employment as Harriet Martineau did the universe. And as old Tom said, they'd better.

A Japanese society denounced President Roosevelt's last message to congress. That makes it unanimous among the fascist powers.

"SETTLE ROW"--LaGUARDIA

Boston—Mayor La Guardia of New York called upon labor to settle its own "family row" as the first step toward restoring prosperity in America.

"The quicker labor gets together and settles its family row, the better it will be for labor and industry throughout the country," he said in an extemporaneous speech here.

An armistice in labor's factional fight is only the first step in La Guardia's program, he said. Labor and industry must sit down and work out a plan that will insure labor peace for at least three years.

"Then we must find the purchasing power to keep industry going and people employed," he declared.

Sterchi Seeks Hated Injunction Against Labor

Then Asks for Postponement When Union Comes Before Judge Foust For Argument on the Plea

Case Set Again for Next Monday--Petition Filed By Union Before National Labor Board

Apparently realizing that they had a "shaky case," Sterchi Stores last Wednesday asked Chancellor Lon Foust to postpone his hearing on its injunction plea against Radio Workers, Local 662. The case was postponed until next Monday after the union attorney, H. G. B. King, agreed. The union was ready to defend itself in court against the familiar injunction weapon frequently used against working people, but the management evidently feels uncertain of its ground.

Feeling the devastating results to its business because of its refusal to deal with the radio men, Sterchi evidently decided that something had to be done to get that picket from its place of business, and thereby (they hoped) cause the public to forget about the mistreatment of organized labor. Thereupon they prayed for an injunction from Judge Lon Foust, who refused to grant one until a hearing had been held on the facts.

The dispute was caused when local radio installation and repair men formed a local union, signing up both radio stations and many other radio repair shops to closed shop agreements. Although Sterchi employed just one full-time radio man, and although management stated that the matter of wages was of no consequence, the store flatly refused all overtures for recognition of organized labor in its regular personnel.

This is not the first time that Sterchi had been wrong with organized labor, having been on labor's unfair list for a period of more than ten years, after which they prayed for peace, and peace was effected for a period of a few years.

Radio Workers' union, through labor Attorney King, has filed a case against Sterchi before the labor board in Atlanta for refusal to bargain collectively with the union. A strikebreaker is now being employed by Sterchi, it is reported.

Unless management loses its nerve again, the injunction hearing is scheduled to be heard Monday.

Negotiations for a union wage scale and work conditions were immediately started.

Police Strikebreakers Hit by Atlanta Unions

Atlanta, Ga.—Emphatic condemnation of the practice of supernumerary policemen in Atlanta being used as strikebreakers while wearing the uniform of the city of Atlanta policemen was voiced by the Atlanta Federation of Trades in a resolution which the delegates uanimously adopted.

In addition, the federation appointed a special committee to confer with the mayor, the general council and the police committee for the purpose of developing a policy whereby organized labor in Atlanta may be able to conduct peaceful strikes without interference from thugs and gunmen wearing the uniform of policemen but hired and paid by employers whose employes are on strike.

The resolution charged that "men wearing the city of Atlanta police uniforms, displaying and using blackjacks and guns, have followed union pickets away from the job and beat them up on their way home and then gone back to the general contractor's office and reported that they had beaten up the pickets to the extent that they would not be able to report for picket duty the next day."

The resolution also said "it was reported that the above mentioned men, wearing city of Atlanta police uniforms, have advocated and advised the scabs and strikebreakers to "cut the damn throats of the union pickets."

Ten days of modern war would kill more people than the Chilean earthquake.

MEETING CALLED TO HEAR ADDRESS BY JAMES A. WILSON

International Labor Problem To Be Discussed Feb. 17 At Labor Hall

Chattanooga unionists and the public will have the opportunity on Friday, Feb. 17, to hear a most capable discussion of international labor problems by a man who has made a study of them for more than thirty years, James A. Wilson.

Brother Wilson is a past president of the Patternmakers' union, and also a member of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. He resigned from these posts to accept the position of labor co-ordinator in the International Labor Office, which is an organization composed of representatives from labor unions all over the world. He is recognized as an authority on international labor problems.

Mr. Wilson will speak at the labor hall, 114½ West Seventh street, at 8 o'clock, under auspices of the Chattanooga Labor union. A committee from Central Body will greet him at the Patten hotel prior to the speaking.

Teamsters Mobilized Against Unfair Firms

Owosso, Mich.—Following the negotiation of a new agreement with W. R. Roach & Co., including better working conditions than were contained in last year's contract, the Owosso local of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, an A. F. of L. affiliate, mobilized the union's purchasing power for union-made goods by ordering a fine placed on all members of the local who are found patronizing firms on the unfair list of the Central Labor Union of Oowosso and Shiawassee County Central Labor Union or their individual unions.

Adding impetus to his campaign is the increasing enthusiasm from the local unions in the city, some twenty or more having indorsed him formally and pledging to him their strenuous participation in his campaign.

This action is simply a reaffirming of organized labor's past indorsements of "Bob," but it will serve as a centralization of the call to the ballot box next March 14.

One of the remarkable angles of the union indorsements is the fact that Commissioner Bob is not commended simply because he is a union man, but the point is stressed that he has done a splendid service to all classes of citizens on his job.

Conviction Secured For Fraudulent Ad Soliciting

Lake Charles, La.—R. F. Howell, brought into court here on a charge of fraudulently soliciting advertising in the name of the Louisiana State Federation of Labor, was convicted. E. H. Williams, president of the State Federation of Labor, appeared as prosecuting witness. It is believed that a few more convictions will put a stop to the activities of the highbinders who go without authority about the country selling advertising in the name of organized labor. The State Federation of Labor officials and officers of central labor unions are determined to put a stop to the practice is evidenced by the fact that the conviction of Powell brings the total number of racketeers to five who have been convicted within the past year for fraudulently soliciting advertising in the name of union labor.

Charlotte Firm Makes Union Label Brooms

Charlotte, N. C.—Wives of trade union members in the South who desire to keep their homes clean with brooms carrying the union label can now accomplish this laudable purpose by purchasing "The Carolina Special," "The Carolina Beauty" and "The Carolina Winner," which are the trade names of brooms manufactured in Charlotte by the Carolina Broom Company.

The plant employs members of Local Union No. 80 of the International Broom and Whisk Makers' Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It is a 100 per cent union shop and its products carry the union label.

The brooms are distributed by the C. D. Kenny Company of Charlotte and are on sale in many retail stores.

The Charlotte Central Labor Union has joined with the Broom and Whisk Makers' Union in urging housewives to insist on having brooms carrying the union label, and thus support the higher living standards enjoyed by union broom makers.

WPA IMPROVES 169 AIRPORTS

Washington, D. C.—Administrator Harry L. Hopkins of the Works Progress Administration reports that WPA has improved 169 of the 191 regular airline stops in the United States at a cost of about $66,000,000. Hopkins said that WPA's improvements to the airports benefited forty-seven states. Airport projects recently approved by President Roosevelt involved an expenditure of more than $16,000,000, Hopkins said.

Dear Mr. Cuthbert:

May we offer our congratulations on your new, enlarged edition of the Labor World. This new improvement reflects the interest and support of Chattanooga Craftsmen and identifies the Labor World as one of this localities' most progressive and growing newspapers.

We shall continue to advertise in the Labor World as we have in the past, because we feel that this is our most effective method of reaching Chattanooga Tradesmen.

Best wishes for your continued success.

10,000 UNION MEMBERS ARE READING

THE LABOR WORLD

Three Essentials of a Profitable Advertising Medium

1 It must reach a group of people who are ABLE to buy your goods. Craft unions represent the highest paid labor in the Chattanooga area. Readers of THE LABOR WORLD not only are ABLE to buy, but they DO BUY things they want.

2 It must have the interest of its readers, so that they will read the paper thoroughly and, therefore, are likely to SEE YOUR ADVERTISEMENT. No other publication has such intense reader interest as THE LABOR WORLD. It is the authoritative voice of Labor in Chattanooga.

3 Readers must have confidence in the paper. THE LABOR WORLD is owned and operated by the Chattanooga Central Labor Union and goes automatically to all its union members. They know that the business man who is not reliable, or is unfair to organized labor, cannot buy an advertisement in THE LABOR WORLD.

The readers, who are the owners of THE LABOR WORLD, are loyal to business men who use the paper. An advertisement establishes a background of friendliness among union people as no other publication can.

THIS BLANKETS the Labor Movement in Chattanooga—goes right to the heart of the most responsive and best buying group in this area. THE LABOR WORLD is the most effective approach to this trade. When you are in THE LABOR WORLD it is just like being introduced and sponsored by a friend of the readers.

After repeated tests, PRINTERS INK, the recognized authority on advertising media, gives this verdict: "A labor paper is a far better advertising medium than any ordinary newspaper in comparison with circulation A labor paper having 2,000 subscribers is of more value to the business man who advertises in it than the ordinary newspaper with 12,000."

No Advertising Program Is Complete Unless It Includes THE LABOR WORLD

Over 40! So What?

By Dr. Charles Stelzle
Executive Director, Good Neighbor League

There is one very important fact in connection with the tendency in industry not to take on men after they have reached the age of 40 to which we must give serious consideration; namely, the steady increase in the percentage of older men in our total population.

To better understand what causes this situation, let's examine a few statistics as revealed by the Bureau of the Census. First, as to birth rates. These have decreased from 25.1 per 1,000 of the population in 1915 to 16.9 in 1935. Second, as to death rates. These have decreased from 14.1 in 1915 to 10.3 in 1935.

This means that during this period birth rates decreased 8.2 per cent, while death rates decreased 3.2 per cent. It means also that there are proportionately fewer children in this country today than there were ten years ago. In fact, there are today 7.8 per cent fewer children in kindergartens and the first five grades in the nation's schools than there were in 1928. But there are proportionately many more adults in this country, because the average length of life in 1910 was 51 years, whereas in 1938 it was 61 years. Apparently, the great problem of the future will no longer be that of the children, but that of the adults, particularly those over 40 years of age.

The question is, what will happen to the men and women who are losing their jobs because they have passed over the 40-year "deadline," and who will not be rehired because of their "old age." This is not a new situation. It has been steadily creeping up on us because the development of the machine and new methods of production has been destroying jobs faster than they can be created by the government and industry.

This whole question lays upon our statesmen, our economists and upon industry as a whole, grave responsibilities which they dare not shirk. What Congress will do in this respect remains to be seen, but the measure of every member of Congress will be taken by the position which he will assume when this problem comes up for consideration and concrete action. Unquestionably, new, and sometimes radical measures must be adopted, for we are living in a new age, such as has never before existed in the history of the world.

unjust to working people, Central Body at its last meeting reiterated its opposition, and asked the Hamilton county delegation in Nashville to defeat any such movement.

Central Body also requested that the income tax form of levying revenue be made possible by a constitutional amendment.

The resolution that was sent to the members in the legislature said:

Whereas, there has been increased propaganda during recent months in behalf of a general sales tax for Tennessee; and,

Whereas, organized labor has always been strongly opposed to the sales tax, because such a tax is inequitable and places the heaviest burden of taxation on those least able to pay; and,

Whereas, there is a proposed amendment to the constitution of Tennessee now before the state legislature which provides for a graduated income tax; and,

Whereas, we believe a graduated income tax to be the fairest method of taxation yet devised; therefore, be it

Resolved, That Chattanooga Central Labor union, in regular session assembled this 23rd of January, 1939, restate its strong opposition to a sales tax; but on the other hand, its strong approval of a constitutional amendment which will permit the enactment of a graduated income tax law; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Hon. Prentice Cooper, governor of Tennessee, and to Senator Joe Bean and Representative D. M. Coleman, J. D. Ragon and French Grubb, and to the press.

Hiring of Strikebreakers Takes Money That Might Go to Higher Wages—Big Banks Boost Idea of Dole—Dr. Parran Gets Results.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington, D. C.—The Civil Liberties Committee of the Senate, in its report on strikebreaking services, helps workingmen to understand why Big Business can't pay higher wages. It pays too much to strikebreaking agencies. To start with some small instances:

"The Board of Commissioners of the Lake Charles (La.) Harbor and Terminal District purchased . . . four Thompson submachine guns with 1,500 rounds of ammunition. On this sale, the Railway Audit & Inspection Company (the spy and strikebreaking agency) made a commission of $197.50."

The same board then bought $948 worth of tear gas equipment. "On this sale, Railway Audit & Inspection Company took a commission of $284.40."

"Pennington Rand, Inc., made use of eight detective agencies, paying them in all over $145,000."

The R. C. A. in its strike in Camden in 1936 "turned over $150,000 without question" to the agencies employed.

The facts and quotations are all from the report of this committee.

It isn't often that you find in a New York bank the explanation of a vote in Congress at Washington. But the monthly survey by the Guaranty Trust Company helps to explain how the slashing of relief has been put throgh Congress in the middle of the winter, with an example not two years old of the bad effects of such tactics.

The whole article is much too long to quote. It assumes, at the start, that relief expenses are needlessly large. It insists that the "present situation must not be allowed to continue." It demands that that part of the burden which is unavoidable must be "brought within a balanced Federal budget." And then:

"To achieve this ai, it will probably be necessary, and certainly desirable, to administer relief as such, instead of combining it with other objectives."

This is simply a roundabout way of saying abolish work relief and establish the dole, and that even the dole must be brought within the budget. The dole does almost nothing to stimulate industry; work relief does, and that is admitted by all but a few diehards. But the Guaranty Trust is one of the ten largest banks in the United States, one of the ten banks which holds almost a quarter of all the commercial deposits in the United States; and undoubtedly it speaks for the lot. And Congress has taken a $150,000,000 step toward driving us to the dole.

Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon-general of the United States and head of the anti-symphilitic drive, is getting an enormous following, for two reasons. First, the increased frankness and common sense of the present day, even when compared to a short time ago. As a sample of this fact, as late as 1934 he was not allowed to mention syphilis over the radio.

The other reason is dramatic ruthlessless with which he sometimes puts things. Talking a little while ago to an audience rather close to Washington, he said:

"'Everyone in this audience has had syphlitic cases somewhere along his family tree."

You can bet that no one in that audience missed a word of anything else that Dr. Parran had to say.

Knoxville, Feb. 6.—Charter for a newly organized local union of Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America was installed here last Wednesday night, with Maynard Baird, president of the Knoxville Central Labor Union, in charge of the installation ceremonies. Membership of this new organization is made up largely of employes of the A. & P. company. President Baird had, a few days prior to the installation of this charter, installed a charter here for the Retail Clerks' union, which, it is said, is already one of the most active organizations affiliated with the Knoxville Central Labor Union.

In addition to the above, many cafes and restaurants are signing up with the Restaurant Workers' local union here, and report is to the effect that amny eating places in Knoxville now display the union shop card.

Knoxville. Feb. 6.—Local Union No. 1164 of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Operoators, has renewed an agreement with the Knoxville Transit company for another year. This local union was formed about a year and a half ago, and in January, 1938, secured an agreement for its employers. The renewal last week is for one year, and provides an increase in pay of 2 cents an hour. A year ago an increase of 3 cents an hour was obtained, thus making a net gain for the members of 5 cents an hour since organization of the local union. Clint Maples is president of the local, and John Essary is secretary. They were assisted in the renewal negotiations by C. N. F. Reddick, international representative.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 6.—Charters for a newly organized local union of Common and Construction Laborers was installed here last week, with L. H. Jones, international representative, and Joe Powers, vice-president of the State Federation of Labor, assisting the local workmen in setting up the new organization. Charter was installed, officers named, and the local affiliated with the Central Labor Union and the State Federation of Labor.

Augusta, Ga., Feb. 6.—A new impetus to the local labor movement was given when employes of the various units of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company last week formed a local union of the Retail Clerks' Protective Association, receiving their charter from the national organization. The new union is the entering wedge to unite the sales employes of the other retail establishments of the city, according to an announcement by the local organization committee of the Central Labor Union.

The new union is affiliated with the Central Labor Union through its regular quota of five delegates.

It is understood that wage and working agreements with the A. & P. management are now being negotiated through the division offices in Atlanta.

High Point, N. C., Feb. 6.—The newly installed local union of the United Garment Workers, which has already obtained an agreement with one manufacturing concern, is making rapid progress. Workers in many other plants are joining the local union of Garment Workers, and International Organizers Sallie D. Clinebell and David W. Crawford are here, leading the membership campaign. It is believed that agreements with many manufacturers will soon be obtained, and the United Garment Workers' label will become a generally used emblem of good workmanship and good working conditions in the High Point area.

Florence, Ala., Feb. 6.—Charter for a textile local union affiliated with the A. F. of L. was installed here Saturday night, with Organizer Elmer Estes and S. E. Roper of the A. F. of L. staff assisting the workers in setting up their new local. Officers were elected, committees appointed and an expansion program adopted by the new local.

Salisbury, N. C., Feb. 6.—A Newswriters' local union of the American Federation of Labor was officially set up here Sunday, the charter installed, officers elected and obligated and a campaign of expansion adopted. President C. A. Fink and Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Fisher attended the installation meeting and assisted James F. Barrett of the A. F. of L organizing staff in the installation work.

Hartsville, S. C., Feb. 6.—Charter for a newly organized local union of textile workers was applied for last week, and will be installed upon its receipt. Colored employes of the Hartsville Print & Dye Works constitute the membership in the new local. Organization of this local union follows closely upon the heels of the installation of a charter for the local union organized here during December, of which the white employes of the above named company are members. Officers and members of the white local assisted the colored workers in forming their local union. C. M. Fox of the A. F. of L. staff, assisted the workers in the formation of the local union.

Knoxville, Feb. 6.—Twenty-five new members were initiated into the Standard Knitting Mill Textile local union here last Saturday night. C. M. Fox of the A. F. of L. and Larry Dukes of the Knoxville Central Labor Union, delivered inspiring addresses. Refreshments were served and other meetings of like nature were planned for in the future. This local union is having steady growth and soon will be in position to approach the management of the mill with suggestions for opening negotiations on an agreement.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 6.—Announcement has been received here that the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, meeting in Miami, had reinstated the international charter of the United Textile Workers of America. A national convention will be held at an early date, at which time complete reorganization will be made, it is said, and international officers elected.

The numerous textile local unions directly chartered by the American Federation of Labor, it is said, will attend the convention, as will the officers of the National Council of Textile Workers, in which the A. F. of L. textile unions operate. President Green is the chairman of the national council, with Frank P. Fenton heading the Eastern division and George L. Googe heading the Southern division.

The reecntly organized Southern Cotton Textile Federation also will attend the convention and, because of its numerical strength, be a powerful influence in the deliberations of the convention and in shaping the policies of the international.

Copperhill, Tenn., Feb. 6.—Those critics who say the American Federation of Labor should not be demanding that Congress amend the Wagner Labor Relations Law by curbing the powers and activities of the National Labor Relations Board ought to come to the copper basin and get first-hand information as to how the Labor Board trots along with the C. I. O. and violates not only the Wagner Law, but all laws of common justice and fairness.

On March 18, 1938, the American Federation of Labor union here won an election held among the employes of the Tennessee Copper Company by a clear majority of fifty-five.

The Labor Board ruled that election out, and ordered another election, after apparently giving the C. I. O. the time it needed to get in its bluff and bulldozing.

On November 4 another election was held, and the C. I. O. won that election by six votes, getting that number of votes over half of the votes cast.

On February 2 the Labor Board certified the C. I. O. as the bargaining agent in the copper basin, with that slim majority, after having set aside the election wherein the A. F. of L. won by a clear majority of fifty-five votes.

No wonder John L. Lewis and his cohorts are against any change in the Labor Law or the Labor Board. The C. I. O. would have been in the discard long ago, it is believed by many, if it hadn't been for the ready helping hand of the Labor Board to pull their chestnuts out of the fire.

More is expected to be heard from this copper basin miscarriage of common justice at an early date.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 6.—James A. Wilson, labor coordinator in the International Labor Office in Washington, D. C., and an official in the International Labor Organization of Geneva, Switzerland, is touring the Southern states and delivering most instructive and interesting addresses. He has already appeared before many groups in Southern states, and his itinerary, which brings him to Atlanta for the final address in the South, is as follows:

Montgomery, Ala., February 14; Birmingham, Ala., February 15; Nashville, Tenn., February 16; Chattanooga, Tenn., February 17, and in Atlanta, Ga., February 18.

Officials of Central Labor Unions, State Federations of Labor and local labor unions are arranging the meetings in each city for Mr. Wilson.

"Sugar" for Union Members---

10,000 Candy Workers Win Better Conditions

Chicago.—A week's strike against the Sphinx Candy company, of Brooklyn, N. Y., called by Candy Workers' Union, Local No. 452, Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International union, has been settled, Joseph Schmidt, corresponding secretary of the international union, has announced.

Settlement brought a union shop, wage increases of $1.50 to $2.50 a week, a 5-day, 40-hour week, time and one-half for overtime, and a week's vacation with pay for the 72 workers involved.

In the neighborhood of 4,200 employes in the candy industry are working under agreements obtained by Local No. 452.

West Coast Progress

Union organization of candy workers on the west coast is progressing satisfactorily. Contracts submitted by the candy workers' branch of Local No. 119 of Oakland, Calif., have been signed by two companies.

Over 90 candy companies, employing an estimated 10,000 workers, are in accord with local affiliates of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union in cities and towns scattered throughout the nation.

Nearly 3,500 employes of bakery shops operated by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. in Boston, Baltimore, Richmond, Va., Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo., Cincinnati, Detroit, and New Orleans, are working under union shop agreements.

Kroger Still Fights Union

Stiff opposition to union recognition is still being manifested by the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., whose workers are still out on strike, but an effective label campaign is now under way by the local affiliate of the Bakers' International. Because of the firm's anti-union policy, two large contracts, amounting to over $50,000, have been cancelled.

General Executive Board Member Peter Beisel reports an agreement covering employes in the Little Rock, Ark., plant of the Colonial Baking Co., has been signed, ending a dispute of long standing.

In New York City, Local No. 50 has signed a pact affecting more than 600 workers, employed in four plants of the Continental Baking Co., one of the largest chain bakeries in the country.

Legislature Must Either Add Taxes Or Reduce Budget

Knoxville, Tenn. — Tennessee's legislature faces the question of either reducing the present state budget by $3,500,000 to $4,000,000 or imposing additional taxes, said Dr. Charles P. White, University of Tennessee professor of finance, in a discussion of "Tennessee's Tax Problems" over radio Station WSM recently.

"Since revenues in 1938 and 1939 were not sufficient to meet the appropriations actually made, and will probably be even smaller in 1940 and 1941, there seems to be only these two solutions," Dr. White pointed out. "It would be possible, of course, to leave appropriations at their present level, and allow the budget director to make the necessary reductions. This, however, would merely place on the budget director a responsibility that should be assumed by the legislature."

The possible reduction would come in the general fund, he added, and would affect appropriations for education, institutions and public welfare, health, the court system, agriculture, conservation, labor, law enforcement, etc. This fund amounted to $20,908,000 during the 1938 fiscal year, approximately half of total state expenditures. The remainder was spent on highways.

If the legislature decides not to enact new tax bills, it will mean that funds for education and public welfare (old age pensions, penal and charitable institutions, etc.) probably will be slashed most, said Dr. White. Three-fourths of the general fund was spent by those services last year, and it is likely that they will have to foot the bill of a reduction.

"Proposals to reduce appropriations for either education or public welfare are likely to meet vigorous opposition. The Tennessee Education association, which represents all phases of public education, insists that more money is needed for schools, and is supporting a program which calls for additional appropriations of $2,000,000. A recent report by a special advisory committee on public welfare points out that an additional $2,500,000 per year is required."

Three proposed new taxes have been mentioned often are the sales tax, the tax on legalized liquor, and the income tax, continued the finance professor. A state income tax is unconstitutional at present, however, though an amendment which will make it constitutional will be voted on by this legislature, then referred to the people at the next election if passed.

Dr. White pointed out a retail sales tax, which is now used in some form by 23 states, would bring in from 10 to 12 million dollars a year if it were a 3 per cent tax, and would enable the state to do away with some other taxes. The legalized liquor tax, imposed by 44 states, would bring in more than three million dollars, and the general income tax, imposed by 31 states, from three to four million dollars.

The income tax is "the most equitable tax in existence," declared Dr. White. "In the final analysis, all taxes are paid out of income. Since this is true, why not impose our taxes directly on income rather on property or on the volume of business done?"

Auxiliary to the Typos, No. 219, will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Ona Elder at 201 North Seminole Drive. Mrs. Martin Peyer and Mrs. Dan Power will be associate hostesses.

Don't forget your valentine!

There will be several matters of interest to come up. Four new members will be obligated and other applications will be received.

Mrs. Ruby Williams will give a talk on magazines, telling which are union and classifying them according to reading matter.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock.

Consumers' union reports that the sheets sold by Sears are the best buys on the market—and they are not expensive either.

A certain out-of-town man was in Chattanooga the other day and, unthinkingly, stepped into a cab without asking whether it was union. Later, he found out it wasn't. But, in the meantime, he rode for six blocks and had a wreck, receiving a skinned knee. There's a couple of morals in that story—figure them out for yourself.

A story came in this week about a woman who boasted that whenever she saw a picket in front of a place she always made a point of going in to buy something. It was almost impossible to believe until I found out that her husband's place of business had been picketed because he was unwilling to negotiate with the members of a local union. That sort of explained matters.

Noticed in the Memphis labor paper that the wives of the electrical workers in that city have organized a "Current club." Though that was a clever name for that particular organization.

Many unions and central bodies over the country are saving the coupons on Kools, Raleighs and Viceroy cigarettes and redeeming them for cash at the Brown & Williamson company. The amount received is being used to aid some needy member of organized labor in the city where they are collected. Sounds like a good idea.

Some bright wise-cracker had the audacity to call this column "Libel Leaders." He assured me that it was a typographical error.

Meatcutters Notes

Local 600, Meatcutters, held its regular meeting Tuesday night, Feb. 7. We had a large crowd, but still have some members we want to see at these meetings.

Say, our new executive board is really going to town. Herbert Gilbreath is president; Raymond Hyde, vice-president; George Henry, secretary, and C. R. Chandler, treasurer.

The sympathy of Local 600 goes out to Brother Hugh Rowland, who lost his brother, B. S. Rowland, early Monday.

George Henry is back on the job after an appendicitis operation.

Raymond Smith is also back at work after a brief illness.

Five new members were accepted into the fold at our last meeting. Let's make it five more next meeting.

Come on, Butchers, let's put Local 600 on the map. We can get a full attendance if every man will do his part. Better be there because lots of matters of importance will be discussed.

A new shop card was issued to George Langston's new market at 427 Market street. Lots of luck to you, Red.

Hope to see every member present at the meeting on Feb. 21. Please be on hand.

A. F. of L. Executive Council Invites World Labor Federation to Hold 1939 Convention in U. S.

Miami.—The American Federation of Labor Executive Council, beginning its regular winter meeting here, invited the executive council of the International Federation of Trade Unions, which is to have its first meeting outside of Europe in May, to meet in Washington or New York.

The invitation also suggested that the I. F. T. U. hold its annual congress, now scheduled in Zurich, Switzerland, in June, in the United States.

The A. F. of L. council faced a busy session here. Problems of vital importance were on the program, including completion of the A. F. of L. legislative program, relations with other labor organizations and organizational matters.

One of the first matters considered was the call of Labor's Non-Partisan League for action to elect delegates to the 1940 Democratic national convention. The Executive Council instructed President William Green to warn all affiliates against taking part in the activities of the league, which is headed by John L. Lewis, president of the C. I. O.

League "Purely Political."

President Green, announcing the council's decision, said it had acted for the following reasons:

The league "is a purely political organiaztion" with a program "entirely contrary to the A. F. of L.'s traditional nonpartisan policy."

"The league is an agency of the C. I. O."

The league's proposal for a national convention and a united program was directed to all laborers and "any workers outside accepted labor organizations would be accepted for membership."

"The league," Green said, "is going into partisan politics by attempting to control the selection of President and Vice-President of one party."

Detroit Ruling Repudiated.

Faced with a jurisdictional ruling in Detroit which President Green said was contrary to "the highest ruling of the A. F. of L.," the council sent a telegram to the Detroit Federation of Labor asking the membership to "refuse to accept the decision or to abide by it."

The dispute was between the Brewery Workers' Union and the Teamsters' Union over control of 975 brewery truck drivers. The federation, in national convention, awarded control of the drivers to the teamsters, Green pointed out.

When the drivers decided to join the Teamsters' Union, the Brewery Workers' Union refused to permit their withdrawal. A strike followed, the dispute went into the courts and both sides agreed to have Frank X. Martel, head of the Detroit Federation, arbitrate it.

Martel's ruling in favor of the brewery workers was "repudiated" by the council, which refused to recognize it and said the decision was regarded as "a violation of the laws and decisions of the American Federation of Labor."

Before the Executive Council meeting began, President Green said that he thought the "psychological" atmosphere surrounding prospects for peace between the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. had changed for the better, but that unity would be difficult, chiefly because of the problems of blending rival unions in industries where both A. F. of L. and C. I. O. have organizations.

"The psychological situation has changed. It is much better," he said. "That is true among both the officers and members of the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. The members of both organizations are pressing for a settlement. That goes for the leaders, too."

Pecan Shelling Company Loses Plea To Pay Learners 15c Hourly Wage; Shocking Conditions Revealed

Washington.—The chiseling scheme of the Southern Pecan Shelling company to keep up its indecently low wages has been knocked into a cocked hat by the decision of the wage-hour division of the department of labor. Merle D. Vincent, presiding at the hearing in San Antonio, has ripped away every rag of excuse, and shown the company depending brazenly on public taxes and public charity to help feed its workers.

The Southern Pecan Shelling Co. applied for permission to employ "learners" at 15 cents an hour for ninety day periods. The hearing showed:

That two days to a week is all that is required to learn pecan shelling;

That the shellers directly employed by the Southern before the passage of the Wage-Hour bill got from $2.50 to $3.50 a week.

Even Family Earnings Low

That stories of higher wages merely mean that the earnings of a whole family are put into a single pay envelope, which even then contains usually not more than $7 to $10;

That "in a real sense, the worker would pay in a substandard wage for a part of the cost of training management and mechanizing the factory."

Abraham Gallegos, a pecan picker, testifying at the hearing, said:

I have heard this morning that they claim some pickers made as much as $7.50 to $10 . . . . That is including the family of four or five pickers in one payroll envelope. In November of last year, I made as much as $10.28, but that was five pickers.

Vincent Assails Wages

Mr. Vincent: Members of your family?

Mr. Gallegos: Yes, sir.

Mr. Vincent: How young are these children?

Mr. Gallegos: Well, they been, some of them, 10, 12, 15 years.

In his decision. Mr. Vincent declared of the pecan workers that "their meager wages were insufficient to mee the lowest standards of civilized life. WPA relief, church aid and private charity have had to bridge the gap between their slender earnings and starvation."

The record which he quotes proves it. Four thousand in San Antonio who shelled pecans part of the year were registered with the Texas Relief Commission.

T. B. Rate Highest

And one witness gave a statement, from the National Tuberculosis Association, that:

"San Antonio has the highest tuberculosis rate of any city in the United States, and by far the highest tuberculosis rate in San Antonio is in the pecan workers section of the city."

Two witnesses said it might take someone a week to learn pecan picking. Others said two days.

The decision denies absolutely any cheap wages during a learning period.

Supreme Court Rules Public Utilities Have No Right to Challenge Validity of TVA Plan

Washington, D. C.—The Supreme Court, by a vote of 5 to 2, gave a finishing blow to the Gore injunction, which for two years has hampered and delayed the Tennessee Valley Authority and a dozen Southern towns and cities in taking advantage of a source of cheap electric power.

The court did not pass upon the constitutionality of the TVA act, as the fourteen utility companies asked it to do. It took a much simpler course. It said that the utility companies had shown no right or authority to raise that question, and no right to complain of anything which they allege the TVA is doing. The heart of the decision is this:

"The vice of the position (of the utilities) is that neither the charters nor their local franchises involve the grant of a monopoly or render competition illegal. The franchise to exist as a corporation, and to function as a public utility, in the absence of a specific charter on the subject, creates no right to be free of competition, and affords the corporation no legal cause of complaint by reason of the state's subsequently authorizing another to enter and operate in the same field.

Minor Claims Rejected.

"The local fracnhises, while having elements of property, confer no contractual or property right to be free of competition, either from individuals, other public utility corporations or the state or municipality granting the franchise."

The court might have stopped right there. But Mr. Justice Roberts, speaking for the court, went farther, and tossed out of court the minor claims of the utilities. He remarked that "the sale of government property in competition with others is not a violation of the Tenth Amendment." He dismissed the charges of "conspiracy" against the TVA and the Public Works Administration, and made a clean sweep of the whole business by his closing words:

"In no aspect of the case have the appellants (the utilities) standing to maintain the suit."

Butler and McReynolds Dissent.

Justices Butler and McReynolds dissented, the former writing the minority opinion.

Judge John J. Gore of the Federal District Court of the Middle District of Tennessee granted the injunction which nineteen utility companies asked for, though other Federal judges in the same region refused to grant it, on the ground that the Supreme Court had ruled out such a proposition in the Ashwander case. A three-judge court, presided over by Circuit Judge Florence Allen, ruled against the injunction. Fourteen of the companies appealed to the Supreme Court.

Alabama Unions Fight Measure to Abolish Labor Department

Birmingham, Ala.—A bill has been introduced in the state legislature which would abolish the Department of labor in Alabama and consolidate it with the Industrial Relations Department. The State Federation of Labor is opposing the change. It is described as a most backward step by labor unionists who worked many years in getting the Department of Labor established in Alabama.

The terrific storms which followed the passage of the emasculated relief bill ought to each even a reactionary senator the folly of throwing men out of work at this season.

TEACHER TALK

Four very important questions are coming before the general meeting next Saturday at 2 p.m. in Dickinson Junior High: (1) McMillan's proposed amendment to the tenure law, (2) the chamber of commerce's proposed consolidation of city and county schools—do we want it or not and what should the bill contain? (3) a proposed amendment to the county teacher pension law increasing the amount of outside services for which a teacher may receive credit, and (4) the question of sponsoring a law to require a special school fund for the city of Chattanooga with a minimum school tax.

The board of directors has recommendations on these problems, but they will be decided by the general membership meeting. No member can afford to miss this very important meeting.

The department of the interior is presenting this series, a history of the use and misuse of our natural resources and the necessity for citizens to conserve public assets.

Our own teachers' credit union is enjoying a healthy growth, but we are not alone. In Chicago, there is a union teachers' credit union, which during 1938 made to unionists loans totaling $101,212. Teachers everywhere are learning to save and to help one another in time of need.

The Indianapolis Teachers' Union News Bulletin expresses our sentiments thus: "It is true teachers are compensated by a certain joy in rendering a noble service, but that 'certain joy' will not pay rent, buy food and send children to college; that 'certain joy' will not keep money in circulation and keep parents of children employed. The teacher who claims to work only for the love of the work is ultimately a selfish economic slacker."

Here is something else worth repeating, from the Cincinnati Teacher:

"We do not believe in affiliating with labor; we are members of a 'professional' organization," is a statement often made by leaders of non-union teaching organizations and repeated by their followers. This remark is made with no real understanding of the meaning of a "professional organization."

Sometimes, teachers falsely place their non-union organization in the same professional category as the Bar Association and the Academy of Medicine. Although this classification might enable some teachers to hold their heads higher, they are deceiving only themselves in believing that they are in a professional class similar to the lawyers and doctors. Let them ask themselves the following questions:

1. Do we, as the lawyers and doctors, set up our own standards and professional requirements for teachers?

2. Do we set our own hours or do we punch time clocks?

3. Are we even consulted in the case of teacher dismissals?

4. Have we anything to say about educational policy?

5. Has a teacher the right to express her own opinion at a teachers' meeting, or is she required to listen to the law as laid down by the principal?

6. Are we asked to evaluate or to give our opinions on a new educational set-up or are we told that such a plan has been decided upon by "experts" and we must adopt it?

Now that the Supreme Court has knocked out the theory of utility monopoly, what is Congress getting ready to do about the fact of monopoly in glass?

A. of F. L. Warns of Danger Next Year And Holds National Planning Is Only Way to Full Employment

Washington.—The Monthly Survey of Business of the A. F. of L. contains inspiring encouragement, largely due to the activities of organized labor; and also its earlier warning that the nation needs as a planned program for production in private industry.

Business has started the present year at a much higher level than that of 1938. Steel production is up 65 per cent, heavy building orders 88 per cent, orders for machine tools more than doubled, and nearly everything else has registered an increase. The survey goes on:

"The rapid business rise which began last June tapered off in mid-November to a temporary lull which observers believe is normal after so swift an upswing. War scares had a dampening effect in January, but observers point out the underlying soundness of the business structure and the stimulating forces now present, believing that the Spring will bring a new upsurge of recovery. . . .

1939 Outlook Good.

"Observers seem unanimous in the belief that, barring war, recovery will soon be resumed. The outlook for 1939 is distinctly encouraging. A more constructive labor policy is developing, typified by Roger Babson's advice to his clients that 'regular conferences with labor's representatives may avoid serious trouble.'

"Of the wage increases which, due to union activity, lifted the general hourly wage from 58¼ cents in 1936 to 65¼ cents at the end of 1937, very little was lost in the recession of 1938. There were some wage cuts, but no general move of wage cutting. By October, 1938, the wage tide had turned upward again and the average was 63 cents for industry as a whole. Thus of the 7-cent gain only 2 cents were lost.

"Trade unions have done important service to American industry. Maintenance of buying power was one of the chief reasons why the recovery of 1938 was the swiftest in our history. At a time when general wage cutting was imminent, trade union resistance checked this destructive force."

But the outlook for 1940, the survey declares, is not good, and repeats its demand for national planning in no uncertain terms. It says:

Trouble Seen in 1940.

"Men are thrown out of work and denied an opportuuity to produce what they need for a decent living. There is no prospect of a return to 1929 levels of production and employment in 1939. Unless the American nation can devise some means of national planning, labor will be permitted full employment to create full production only for short periods of prosperity; the years between will be times of widespread unemployment and low production, with miserable living standards and actual nunger for millions.

"A very real danger lies ahead for 1940. The Federal government, with all its spending for recovery, has not succeeded in getting private industry to put men to work and produce goods to capacity. By 1940 the present wave of government spending will have largely exhausted its stimulating effect on business, and unless plans are devised to set private industry to work producing goods and raising living standards, we shall either face another depression or a greater armament program to put men to work. Excessive armaments lower living standards and increase danger of war. Also, government cannot forever go on piling deficit on deficit.

"In this critical outlook, which literally may be a matter of life or death to all of us, the first step is to establish a National Planning Board of representatives from business, labor, agriculture, consumers, government with provisions for experts to assist them and a mandate to stimulate the production of goods by private industry."

Peoria Truck Drivers Win Short Work Week

Peoria, Ill.—Cracker truck drivers in Peoria now have a very effective organization as a unit of Teamsters' Local No. 627 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

Elmer Schofield, business agent of the local, announced that the National Biscuit Company and Loose-Wiles have both signed an agreement reducing the work week of drivers to forty-eight hours, compared with the former work week which ran to fifty-five and sixty hours.

An increase in wages is also provided in the agreement with these two firms, Mr. Schofield said.

Adequate Pay for Women Workers Still Far from Being Realized, Women's Bureau Head Says

Washington.—Old problems of women workers still persist, despite "very real progress" in the last year, Mary Anderson, director of the United States department of labor women's bureau, says in her annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1938.

"Adequate wages and equal pay for equal work still are far from realization: industrial accidents and disease remain uncontrolled; household employment and agricultural labor are almost wholly unregulated; seasonal employment, home work, lack of vocational training are problems unsolved; women's organization and participation in the labor movement are extremely backward; there still are citizens who consider that married women should not be gainfully employed no matter how low the family income may be. These and others too numerous to cite are matters pressing for attention if the Women's Bureau is to be wholly successfully in its job of promoting the welfare of wage-earning women."

A plea for more funds with which to meet the increasing demands made upon the bureau is included in the report. The past year saw a great growth in demands for labor unions for help in workers' education programs, it was pointed out. Workers also need more factual information for use in collective bargaining.

A major activity of the bureau, that of encouraging and coordinating the development of state minir um-wage legislation, was greatly expanded during the year, Miss Anderson reports. The continuing need for such laws is seen in the wage surveys made, which showed women's average earnings to be $10 to $15 a week in the states and industries covered. On the other hand, the same surveys showed some progress toward a shorter work week for women.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 25th day of February, 1927, R. M. Shaver and wife, Mattie Shaver, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration February 28th, 1927, and recorded in Book Q, Vol. 21, page 88 et seq., in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said R. M. Shaver and wife, Mattie Shaver, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Second Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lots Thirty-one (31) and Thirty-two (32) Miller and Grady's Subdivision of the Williams Gillespie tract, as shown on plat thereof of record in Register's Plat Book 7, page 20 of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

Labor Department Conciliators Settle 339 Strikes During Year

Washington, D. C.—In the fiscal year 1938, the Conciliation Service of the U. S. Department of Labor prevented 339 strikes involving 230,565 workers, Director John R. Steelman reported to Secretary Perkins.

"With an average of twenty workdays lost per striking employe, as computed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the number of threatened strikes averted equals a potential saving of 4,611,300 man workdays," the report said. It listed the number of disputes handled during the year at 2,319, involving 1,460,795 workers.

Altogether the Conciliation Service handled 4,231 situations which included service rendered to wage earners and employers outside actual disputes, operating on an appropriation of $373,000. This, when compared with the 4,231 cases, averaging 363 workers each, reveals an average cost of $88.16 per situation, or 23 cents per employe involved.

"Geographically we have been active in every state, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands," the report said. "Pennsylvania had the largest number of situations, totaling 721, involving 223,298 workers. Of the 2,319 labor disputes disposed of by the service, 90 per cent were terminated on a basis that was mutually satisfactory to labor and management. Also 95 per cent of the 4,231 situations referred to us during the fiscal year were disposed of in a manner satisfactory to all parties interested. In only six instances were the services of this agency declined."

1938 Last Quarter Unemployment Higher in 13 Nations Than in 1937, ILO Figures Show

Geneva — Unemployment increased in 13 countries in the last quarter of 1938, compared with the corresponding quarter of 1937, the International Labor Office reports.

The countries, and the amount of increase in each, are: Australia, 947; Belgium, 33,436; Canada, 27,881; Chile, 2,488; Estonia, 246; Finland, 1,248; France, 38,405; Great Britain and Northern Ireland, 328,900; Hungary, 2,467; Lithuania, 310; Norway, 967; Switzerland, 10,840; United States, 2,668,535.

Eleven other countries show a decrease. They are: Czechoslovakia 11,858; Danzig, 3,043; Denmark, 2,003; Germany, 420,191; Ireland, 1,191; Japan, 69,079; the Netherlands, 21,762; New Zealand, 14,979; Poland, 30,590; Rumania, 1,053; Sweden, 62.

Increases Over Previous Quarter

Compared, however, with the previous quarter of 1938, the figures show an increase in fourteen countries, and a decline in six. For the remaining two countries—Estonia and New Zealand—third-quarter figures are not available.

The countries showing an increase over the third-quarter of 1938, and the amount in each are: Australia, 3,282; Belgium, 9,628; Chile, 882; Danzig, 937; Denmark, 29,711; Finland, 2,435; France, 34,625; Great Britain and Northern Ireland, 68,861; Hungary, 1,959; Ireland, 22,671; the Netherlands, 17,074; Norway, 8,768; Poland, 5,652; and Sweden, 3,868.

U. S. Shows Decrease

Those showing a decrease are: Canada, 634; Czechoslovakia, 25,622; Germany, 14,861; Japan, 35,583; Lithuania, 818; Rumania, 5,617; Switzerland, 1,950; and the United States, 969,498.

Index numbers of employment for the final quarter of 1938, which were made public at the same time by the ILO, disclose that fourteen countries now have more persons in employment than in 1929. These are: Australia, Estonia, Finland, Germany, Great Britain, Hungary, ment in the United States during the third quarter of 1938, the numbers show, stood at 84.4 per cent of the 1929 figure.

Quiz on Milk

H. B. Henderson, assistant in dairy husbandry at the University of Tennessee, asks and answers the following questions on milk:

Q.—I have heard milk called the perfect food. Is it true?

A.—Milk is not a perfect food, but it is more nearly perfect than any other single food. There are foods higher in minerals than milk; there are foods richer in fat; there are foods richer in vitamins, and there are foods with higher protein and carbohydrate contents; but there is no other single food that contains as many food elements as properly proportioned as milk.

Q.—Just what is in milk that makes it such a good food?

A.—Normal cow's milk contains an average of approximately 87 per cent water; 4 per cent butterfat; 3.3 per cent protein; 5 per cent lactose or milk sugar; and 7 per cent minerals, the most important of which are calcium, potassium and sodium.

Q.—How is "vitamin D" milk made?

A.—There are three general types of vitamin D milk, each made by a different process. First, is the metabolized vitamin D milk produced by feeding irradiated yeast to the cows at such a rate that the milk produced will have a definite high vitamin D content. The second type is irradiated milk which is produced by exposing milk in thin flowing films to ultra-violet radiations from a carbon arc lamp or a quartz mercury vapor lamp. The third type is that in which vitamin D concentrates are added directly to the milk.

Q.—Well, how important is vitamin D milk?

A.—I do believe vitamin D milk has a definite place in the trade, especially for children during the winter months and for those who do not obtain sufficient quantities of vitamin D in other forms. In those parts of the country where there is a lack of sunshine and in cities where children do not receive sufficient sunshine to make up for the deficiency of vitamin D in the diet, I believe vitamin D milk fills a definite need.

Q.—Should one use "raw" or "pasteurized" milk?

A.—There are several things to consider in this connection. As long as a supply of properly pasteurized milk is available, I would prefer to play safe by using it rather than raw milk. Of course, in rural communities pasteurized milk is not available, and it is necessary to use raw milk. Raw milk in most cases is perfectly safe, but the danger of contracting disease through milk is greater in a raw milk supply. On the other hand, there is the possibility of contamination of the milk after pasteurization, but this possibility is not so great since the milk is immediately cooled and bottled and is never exposed to the open air.

Q.—When is milk properly pasteurized?

Properly pasteurized milk has been heated in a sanitary container to such a temperature that any disease producing bacteria will be killed.

Q.—What diseases have been contracted through milk?

A.—The diseases that are known to have been spread through milk fall into two groups. In the first group we have those diseases in which the infectious material comes primarily from the producing animals. In this group we have tuberculosis, undulant fever, and septic sore throat as the three principal ones. In the second group we find those diseases in which the infectious material comes primarily from human sources, either directly or by being carried in water, on utensils, etc. The diseases of this group often appear in epidemic form. In this group we find typhoid fever, dysentery and diarrhea, septic sore throat, scarlet fever, diphtheria, and a few others of minor importance.

Q.—How do I know that the milk I buy is safe?

Most of the larger towns and cities have their own ordinance setting forth the sanitary requirements for milk sold in that area. Most of the ordinances are based on the standard milk ordinance of the United States public health service. This includes regular inspection of the premises and equipment, and the bacterial analysis of the milk. Standards are set up for the various grades of milk, and if a dairy or milk plant fails to meet these requirements the grade is lowered or they are not allowed to offer the milk for sale. In smaller towns where no local ordinance is in effect, the state department of agriculture makes periodic inspections of licensed plants. They do not inspect small retail dairies.

Sterchi Stores Make Peace With Organized Labor

Negotiations Monday Wind Up Short Dispute With Most Friendly Feelings

Radio Department Now Completely Union---Management Praised for Desire to Keep Labor's Co-operation

The short period of unpleasantness with Sterchi Stores has ended, and former patrons are being urged by the labor movement to resume their business relations after a series of conferences last Monday which resulted in the complete unionization of the radio department in the Sterchi store.

The dispute arose over the effort of Local 662, Radio Workers, to organize the radio repair and installation departments of all furniture houses in Chattanooga. Due to a hitch in things, it became necessary just before Christmas to place a picket in front of Sterchi's. The picket was removed last Monday morning as negotiations started, and the nonunion radio repair man was discharged. From then on everything moved smoothly and successfully.

Clemons Bros., now being picketed, has not as yet accepted opportunity to settle its troubles. It is hoped that they too will soon take the attitude shown by Sterchi.

The injunction suit instituted by Sterchi was dismissed on request of Sterchi attorneys, and the complaint filed before the labor board by the union was likewise withdrawn.

"Let's forget our brief unpleasantness," said Business Agent Jean Paul Jones of the Radio Workers, "and pitch in to regain for Sterchi the customers lost. We want to patch up any sore spots and live together in peace and harmony."

MEETING CALLED TO HEAR ADDRESS BY JAMES A. WILSON

International Labor Problem To Be Discussed Feb. 17 At Labor Hall

Chattanooga unionists and the public will have the opportunity on Friday, Feb. 17, to hear a most capable discussion of international labor problems by a man who has made a study of them for more than thirty years, James A. Wilson.

Brother Wilson is a past president of the Patternmakers' union, and also a member of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. He resigned from these posts to accept the position of labor co-ordinator in the International Lamor Office, which is an organization composed of representatives from labor unions all over the world. He is recognized as an authority on international labor problems.

Mr. Wilson will speak at the labor hall, 114½ West Seventh street, at o'clock, under auspices of the Chattanooga Labor union.

A committee from Central Body will greet him at the Patten hotel prior to the speaking.

TEACHER TALK

No news about the local elections yet. This must be the calm before the storm.

The first few weeks of the new congress saw many bills pertaining to education introduced. A new measure for federal aid to education, based upon the recommendations of President Roosevelt's advisory committee on education, is being drafted, as are bills relating to vocational education. Another bill would provide for making the WPA educational services permanent. It is supported by the AFT because we believe there is much work to be done in the field of adult education, not only in stamping out illiteracy but also in raising the cultural level of our people.

When new books are to be adopted as texts, keep in mind that some major publishers are nonunion. Though most of our adoptions are made at another time, we frequently examine textbooks and talk with representatives from their publishers. Here's the situation with the bigger publishers: UNION: Allyn and Bacon, Gregg, Harcourt Brace, Laidlow Brothers; Scott Foresman, Ginn, Winston, Scribners, Rand-McNally; NONUNION: American Book, Doubleday-Doran, Houghton Mifflin, Little Brown, Oxford U. P., Southwestern. We'll remind you again when general adoptions are to be made.

From Franz Boas, professor emeritus of anthropology, Columbus University:

"I have just joined the Teachers' Union because I believe that the tendencies of our times demand the active co-operation of all who believe in intellectual freedom and the necessity of educating the coming generations to greater intellectual freedom. Our greatest task is to invigorate those who hold that freedom can flourish only in a democracy, so that we may steer a clear course forward, patiently but unhesitatingly."

Machinists 1450 Really Go to Town In Endorsing Commissioner Cooke

Not only did Lodge 1450, Machinists, express its enthusiastic support of Bob Cooke for re-election on March 14, but they sort of served notice on other candidates that they would not like it if they "ganged up" on Bob. In other words, "Let Bob alone and we will like you fine," they said in effect.

The resolution, one of the strongest from local unions, says:

Whereas, Commissioner R. M. Cooke has announced for re-election to the city commission, having served a most useful term for a period of four years; and

Whereas, "Bob," as he is affectionately known by us, has been active in organized labor for more than thirty years, during which time he has been entrusted with every position of trust that we could bestow upon him, and he has discharged all trusts with honor, faithfulness and merit; and

Whereas, during his commissionership he has made an outstanding record in attending to the taxpayers' interests and welfare, applying himself with his usual wont to his duties, therefore be it

Resolved, by Lodge 1450, International Association of Cahnists, in regular session held Thursday, Feb. 9, 1939, That we unanimously and enthusiastically indorse his achievement as a public servant, and commend him to the voters of Chattanooga as worthy of re-election; be it further

Resolved, That in the coming city election we express ourselves as being primarily interested in Commissioner Cooke's campaign, that we inform other candidates that he is dear to our hearts, that our sponsorship of him will in no wise injure other aspirants' ambitions, and that we earnestly hope that in their campaigns they will allow us to continue our program of neutrality so far as their various interests are concerned.

Plumbers Fall in With Cooke Approval

Falling in line with the dozens of local unions in Chattanooga that are so enthusiastic for Bob Cooke that it had to be told to the world, Local 43, Plumbers and Steamfitters, at its last meeting gave its approval of the administration of the old union warhorse, Bob Cooke.

In addition to Bob Cooke, the local indorsed Judge Martin Fleming, police judge, who carries a card in Local 43. Capt. Fred Payne, E. R. Betterton and T. H. McMillan were also given the green light.

OIL REFINERS STRIKE AGAINST STRETCH-OUT

Armour Plant Closed As Cots and Supplies Rushed In Under Cover

Approximately 175 members of Local 323, of International Butchers' union, struck at the Lookout Oil company in Alton Park last Monday in protest against violation of an agreement. Officials of the union claim, among many other things, that more machines were added to each worker in a stretch-out scheme, and that as a result regular employes were laid off.

Apparently despairing of hope to adjust their complaints, the plant was closed down and pickets are now around the plant in protest. Some eight strikebreakers were rushed into the plant after nightfall with police protection, along with cots and supplies to last some time, reports say.

Out-of-town ownership has been requested to send someone in authority to Chattanooga to settle the difficulty. Already large cancellations have been made by customers of Armour.

MABEE IN ATLANTA ON CLERK BUSINESS

Erskine Mabee, secretary of Central Body, who is assisting organization of the clerks in grocery stores, will be in Atlanta this week-end to help in negotiations for a contract with the Atlantic & Pacific stores in Chattanooga.

Crane Enamel Boys To Meet Saturday

Employes of Crane Enamel company will meet at the Labor Hall, 114½ West Seventh street, to perfect organization of an American Federation of Labor union. John Heald, representative of the International Molders' Union, will be present along with Curtis Sims and Erskine Mabee of Central Body.

The session will start at 7:30 p.m.

Contracts With Bus Lines Giving Pay Increases and Other Gains Approved by Vote of Unions

Chicago. — Contracts with the Central, the Illinois and the New England Greyhound bus lines, providing for an exclusive union shop, have been accepted by a four-to-one vote by members of local divisions of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, American Federation of Labor affiliate.

The drivers affected by the agreements were formerly represented by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which failed to renew its contracts when the drivers joined the A. R. of L. union.

Twenty-one specific improvements, including wage increases and paid vacations, were obtained under the contracts.

Pay Guarantees Boosted

The minimum monthly guarantee for all drivers, regular and extra, formerly $80, has been boosted to $100; and the daily guarantee for special charter or other work has been raised to $5.40, an increase of 40 cents. The mileage rate remains the same.

One week's vacation each year, with compensation of $45, is to be given to operators who have served the company for five or more years. Also included in the contracts are improvements in working conditions, some of which will increase the income of the drivers.

The agreements establish an arbitration board of three members, one from the company, one from the local division, the third to be chosen by the other two.

Union Protests Election

On the west coast, Division No. 1114 of the Amalgamated Association is demanding that it be certified as the collective bargaining representative of employes of the Pacific Greyhound bus lines and that the results of an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board, which apparently was won by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, be set aside on the grounds that the labor board exceeded its jurisdictional powers and authority by calling an election when a contract with the Amalgamated Association was in full force.

The division is also demanding that the contract entered into by Division No. 1114 and the Pacific Greyhound lines be recognized and remain in effect until its expiration. The election order, it is charged, was drawn up in such a manner as to place the A. F. of L. union at a decided disadvantage, it being necessary for it to poll a majority of the drivers and all other employes to obtain certification, whereas the Trainmen had to obtain a majority of the drivers only to be certified.

St. Louis Embalmers Win High Pay Pact

St. Louis, Mo.—Embalmers' Union No. 21301, A. F. of L. affiliate, has negotiated an agreement covering the employment of about seventy-five licensed embalmers by approximately sixty-five funeral directors in the city and county of St. Louis, R. L. Brinkman, secretary of the union, announced.

The contract, which runs for two years, is the closed shop type. The wages of embalmers are raised from $40 to $42.50 during 1939 and to $45 a week for 1940. Men now paid more than the minimum are to receive a 5 per cent raise. The agreement also provides that embalmers shall work fewer nights and not later than 10:30 p.m.

The union agrees to bar its members from working for funeral directors who are under contract to any burial society or insurance association.

Kansas Wage-Hour Bill Offered

Topeka, aKns. — A wages and hours bill has been introduced in the house. Its eventual goal would be a 40-hour five-day week and minimum hourly pay of 40 cents.

If adopted, the measure would do for intrastate labor what the national wages and hours act is designed to do for interstate workers.

Laundry Union Signs Up Four Los Angeles Firms

Los Angeles, Cal. — Current reports from American Federation of Labor union offcials in Los Angeles indicate decided progress for the benefit of workers who carry union cards.

George P. Healey, secretary of Local 52 of the Laundry Workers' International Union, announced that after several weeks of negotiations the local had finalized an agreement with the California Overall Laundry, which in connection with their overall cleaning plant specializes in cleaniing wiping rags and in providing a dependable wiping towel service. The agreement with the California Overall Laundry raises to five the laundry plants in Los Angeles which have 100 per cent union contracts with the Laundry Workers' Union.

Offcials of Packing House Workers' Local No. 53 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America reported a gain of over 1,000 members in the last year, raising the membership from 200 to 1,200.

Furniture Workers' Union 1561, another A. F. of L. affiliate, has been certified by the National Lal bor Relations Board as the sole bargaining agent for the employes of the William J. Jaeger Furniture Company and the California Table & Chair Company. The two plants employ about 100 workers, all of whom are members of the local. Certification of the A. F. of L. union followed the withdrawal of the claim of the C. I. O. union which could not prove any membership in the plant.

Following the development of opinion among Los Angeles watchmakers that organization in an A. F. of L. union was desirable, a new union of that group has been formed here. At the first meeting enough members signed application cards and paid their initiation fees and one month's dues to apply to the International Jewelery Workers' Union for a charter.

In this connection it is interesting to note that at a recent conference of all jewelry workers' locals on the Pacific Coast, including Vancouver, B. C.; Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Stockton, Sacramento and Los Angeles, a Pacific Coast Council of International Jewelry Workers' Unions was set up.

Peoria Teamsters Win Wage Raise Contract

Peoria, Ill. — Officials of the Peoria Local of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America announced the negotiation of an agreement with the Paul Schulze Cracker company here providing for a $5 per week increase in wages and shorter hours for truck drivers. The brotherhood is an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

TONS of Prevention

WHEN you see those interesting big gray-green Southern Bell trucks rolling along, you're likely to think they are going to the scene of some break in the telephone lines. Breaks ARE repaired quickly, day or night, but merely repairing breaks after they occur wouldn't provide the kind of telephone service you're entitled to. It is also necessary to prevent interruptions to your vital telephone service. This is done by constant checking—replacing weak units—reconstructing in accordance with new knowledge and materials—maintaining unceasing vigilance over the long distance lines to locate and correct faults before they become serious. The number of "troubles" on Southern Bell lines has been reduced two-thirds in ten years, by using such "tons of prevention", as well as "tons of cure". These "tons" of prevention are one part of the Bell System's constant effort to insure for you a constantly improving telephone service that is efficient—dependable—economical.

Live and Help Live

By Dr. Charles Stelzle
Executive Director, Good Neighbor League

When the average man gets to the point where he boastfully declares that he has taken for his motto for life the slogan "Live and let live," he often imagines that he is practicing the height of unselfishness and fairness to others.

It is quite true that in the world of competition, in which men are ready to destroy anything or anyone that stands in their path toward success, it is an admirable trait to give the other fellow a chance for his life, when so many others are ready to "how him down," to quote Charlie McCarthy.

And yet, in a sense, all that is promised is that he will let the other fellow alone. He will let him live if he manages to survive. That is, he won't put anything in his way which will keep him from living. And this is certainly an advance on the philosophy of "dog eat dog."

But there's another consideration which should be kept in mind. Its basis is found somewhere in Scripture, although it has been widely quoted with variations, namely, "No man liveth unto himself." None of us can go through life without affecting others' lives for good or ill. The way we live vitally affects the lives of our associates, our friends and neighbors.

Booker T. Washington once said that we cannot keep a man in the gutter without getting into the gutter with him. And I think it was George Washington who said that "we had better hang together, or we will all hang separately."

I'd like, therefore, to suggest a further consideration of the motto we are discussing. Write it this way, "Let live, and live." This means that it is only as we let the other fellow live that we ourselves shall live. It's a matter of self-preservation. If the other fellow goes down, we'll go down with him.

But we can't stop here. There is still too much selfishness in this expression of our interest in the other fellow, if we are to accept it as our life's motto. There's another Scripture verse which should be considered in our discussion. It is the principle laid down by Jesus. This great Teacher once declared: "He that saveth his life shall lose it, and he that loseth his life for my sake—" and that means for the sake of others—"shall find it." One could write the history of all human progress around this declaration.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt recently said: "I will do more than 'live and let live;' I will 'live and help live.'" That's the idea practically stated. It is the whole philosophy of being a "Good Neighbor."

Senate Committee to Hold Hearings On AFL Amendments to Labor Acts

Washington, D. C.—The Senate Education and Labor Committee has decided to hold public hearings upon amendments to the Wagner Labor Act introduced by Senator Walsh and sponsored by the American Federation of Labor.

The hearing will furnish a battle ground for a bitter fight over controverted provisions of act.

Chairman Elbert D. Thomas said that the Walsh amendments have been sent to the N. L. R. B. and the Labor Department for executive expressions.

Thomas said that he would not open the hearings until after the Senate Military Affairs Committee, of which he is a member, has completed consideration of the national defense program. He said that he must be free to devote his entire time to a hearing of the controversy over the amendments.

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources
CY KOLOCY, EDITOR

On the surface of things, the future looks dark for democracy in Europe. Only a quarter of Spain is left under the government which two-thirds of the Spaniards voted for. This conquest for Fascism has not been made entirely by Spaniards. It has been made with the help of Mussolini and Hitler, who have furnished much of the troops and the war machinery which Gen. Franco, rebel leader, has used. And when that conquest is finished, France will be open to attack from three sides.

But when one looks a little farther, there is much more ground for hope.

It has been known for weeks that the Sudetenland wrenched from Czechoslovakia has been a white elephant to Germany. That is a highly industrialized region, whose manufactures once had a plentiful foreign market. But Germany does not want those goods, and cannot sell them from Germany. The foreign nations which formerly bought are not buying.

You may remember the phrase in Hitler's last speech: "Germany will export or die." He meant, of course, that somebody else should die. But profitable exports that will buy foreign food cannot be carried on bomb laden planes.

There is actually a project in Berlin to hand back the Sudeten area to Czechoslovakia. At present, food has to be imported to feed the Sudetens; and they have not enough exports with which to buy. That this handing back would be coupled by a thousand chains of control from Berlin is certain. But, neither in economics nor in military power has Germany gained by Hitler's treachery.

Eggs are rationed in Germany; to get more than a taste of them, and especially to get those from Denmark, they must be prescribed by doctors. Chinese eggs, forming most of the supply in German cities, have a higher flavor than most folks like—in eggs. Milk is a luxury; no full account of the foot-and-mouth disease has came out of Germany; but it is known to be there. Germany had good crops of rye and wheat last fall; but she is still making cannon instead of butter.

A story was going the rounds the first of the year that Italy's bread ration had been reduced, either in quantity or quality. It has not been verified; but Italy had a bad grain crop.

From Shanghai comes the word that foreign correspondents believe it will take 500,000 more Japanese troops, not to conquer the rest of China, but to pacify the part they now hold, wipe out guerilla war, and get some revenue other than that brought by the sale of loot to the Japanese treasury.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL CHATTANOOGA

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1939

Labor Is Proud of Bob Cooke!

Organized labor can well be proud of its contribution of Bob Cooke's services in city affairs for the past four years. Four years ago Labor told the citizens that it knew Bob Cooke to be a man of integrity, diligence and common sense—that he was capably fitted to hold a post in the city commission. Evidently the voters were willing to take Labor's recommendation, and Bob was elected.

Today, almost four years later, Labor is justified in feeling proud of Bob's achievements. This time Labor can tell the voters that Bob's administration of affairs in his department justifies approval and reelection.

Under his able initiative and leadership the parks and playgrounds of Chattanooga have earned the reputation of being the most active in the state. He has taken a dead and unattractive park system and transformed it into a valuable adjunct of our city government—parks and playgrounds teeming with young and old alike, enjoying the facilities he has provided for them.

The Negro population should rise up and call him blessed. Lincoln park is a place of enjoyment where the Negro race can send its children in perfect safety and ease of mind. Their own swimming pool is equal to any. They have not been neglected as in the past.

And he has done these things without exceeding his budget as set out by the board of commissioners. He has proven himself a good business man, which fact we believe will be recognized by other business people of the city.

Time for a Diagnosis

Labor would like to have a capable group of physicians, psychological specialists preferred, confer on those senators and congressmen who originated and drove through the cuts in the WPA relief, and find out what makes them tick.

Even Herbert Hoover, while secretary of commerce, could understand that public works could make up to some extent for private unemployment. He didn't stick to this rational faith through his presidency; but that wasn't the fault of the faith. It just wasn't tried. Even in a depression there are some variations of employment; but every month of each year of the Hoover regime, there were fewer jobs than the same month the year before.

The New Deal first stopped the downslip. Then it began with work relief. Everything had to be done anew; but there was a pretty steady uprise. By 1936, there was a perfect clamor of demand that big business could do the whole job, now, and that relief should be cut.

It was cut. And business began to go down, and down, and it didn't start up till the federal government renewed its work; and now, in the face of that double or rather triple demonstration, congress slashes $150,000,000 from the work fund in winter.

How do folks get that way? There's no difficulty about the has-beens and the die-hards; they're built that way. But how does the mind run of congressmen and senators; intelligent, educated, anxious to give their people better times, how came they to "have eaten on the insane root,

"That takes the reason prisoner?"

Example of a State Labor Official

What the labor department of a big industrial state can do, not only for labor but for the rest of the producing population, is well shown by the annual report of Frieda S. Miller, industrial commissioner of New York. Speaking in a kind of foreword, she tells the people of her state that all of them are interested in good labor laws and good labor administration, which make for prevention of industrial unrest.

"Just as it is true that a plague destroying wheat fields takes bread out of the mouths not only of those who till the soil, but of all who eat, so it is true that a strike or shut-down which silences the wheels of industry undermines the strength, not only of workers and employes who are made idle, but of the grocer, the butcher, the banker and the clerk."

Which is just a common sense way of saying it. Miss Miller deals with the state labor laws as if dealing with those of a nation—and indeed, it is an open question if Belgium or any lesser nation has as many workers as New York state. She scores the chiseling employer who wants to give an "apprentice rate" for work that needs no training—and her words apply as clearly in Texas pecan factories as in New York candy factories.

Strike, Picket, Boycott Right Upheld By Court

Philadelphia. — United States District Judge Kirkpatrick ruled in effect here that organized labor has the legal right to strike and picket, and use the "secondary boycott" on the sole issue of a union shop, provided it uses legal means and not "violence or fraud."

He refused a petition by Wilson & Co., meat packers, Philadelphia, for a permanent injunction to restrain three American Federation of Labor units from picketing the plant in a union shop dispute, but held three of the forty-two individuals, also named as defendants, had used threats or violence and unless they desisted he would issue an injunction against them.

LA FOLLETTE COMMITTEE URGES DEATHBLOW AT STRIKEBREAKING "FINKS"

Legislation Prohibiting Employers From Hiring "Mercenaries" Asked

Senate Civil Liberties Investigators, Revealing Strikebreakers' Activities, Declare Employers Are Squarely Responsible for Tactics of Aggression and Violence Carried Out by Agencies Working to Smash Organized Labor.

Washington.—The senate civil liberties committee, Senators La Follette, of Wisconsin, and Thomas, of Utah, has just made a 200-page report on the strikebreaking services subsidized and maintained by Big Business of the United States. It is like all the reports of that committee ha\ been —sound, solid, full of the meat of fact and spiced with the salt of humor.

"The committee finds," says the report, "that strike services are offered by detective agencies and employers' associations, not so much for the purpose of assisting employers to protect property and maintain operations during strikes, but rather for the purpose of destroying unions and the processes of collective bargaining."

It gives a list of 108 firms and indsutries which have hired strikebreaking help, and thirty-three detective agencies and two employers' associations which have employed "finks" and hired them out to industries.

Firms and Agencies Named.

Among the firms are Remington Rand, Radio Corporation of America, American Bridge company—a subsidiary of U. S. Steel—and New Orleans Public Service, whose breakers of the street car strike copped the fears, and left the poor company with both ends of the stick to hold. The detective agencies are quite as familiar: Bergoff, Pinkerton, Burns, Addis, Thiel and the like.

The employers' associations listed in the report are Associated Industries of Cleveland and National Metal Trades Association of Chicago. The latter will not admit any firm having an agreement with a union. It has 952 members of companies making metal trades products.

Spreading of Dissension Advised.

"That approximately one-third of the strikebreakers listed should be discovered to have criminal or arrest records," says the report, shows how closely the strikebreaking business approaches a gangland racket." Of one group of these finks, 1 had been arrested for homicide, 10 for assault with intent to kill, 15 for shooting with intent to wound, 3 for rape, 3 for robbery, 4 for burglary and 1 for arson.

The "missionaries" or word-of-mouth propagandists are probably the most damaging of all strikebreakers. From a letter written by W. Howard Downey & Associates, the committee quotes this paragraph:

"In the first place, to insure a prompt and early return of your employes, they should be confused, dissension should be spread among them, and they should be influenced, encouraged and urged to go back to their jobs by your own trained agitators and propagandists."

"The focal point of remedial action should be the market for strike service," concludes the report. "Federal jurisdiction over industrial relations in or affecting interstate commerce is now clearly established. The committee recommends legislation to forbid the employer to engage agencies or individuals who will indulge in the customary practices that have made the strikebreaking business notorious.

"The employer is the key to the strikebreaking problem. His responsibility for the persons he pays to take his part in an industrial dispute cannot be denied or evaded. . . . Such a prohibition will not in any way affect the right of an employer to provide legitimate and bona fide watchmen or patrolmen. . . .

Legislation Being Drafted.

"It should, however, subject him to penalties for the tactics of aggression, intimidation, provocation, deception and brutality, carried out by irresponsible mercenaries which have cost the nation so much in human life, suffering, bitterness and misery since 1885.

"The committee is drafting legislation which will shortly be submitted to Congress."

Union Cigarette Coupons Roll In; Half Million More Wanted to Aid Labor's Fight on Dread "Polio"

Washington, D. C. — During January union men and women throughout the country went in for a new plan of hoarding. They saved the coupons found on packages of Raleigh, Kool and Viceroy, union-made cigarettes, to add the cash value of these coupons to the contribution of the Labor Division of the 1939 Infantile Paralysis Campaign.

Already 5,000 of these coupons have been sent to the labor division by the members of organized labor. When all the returns are in the labor division hopes to realize 500,000 coupons. The cash value of these coupons will be added to the contributions of Labor's Silver Salute and presented to the president of the United States to further the important work of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Commenting on the drive for coupons, Gilbert E. Hyatt, secretary of the labor division, reminded the members of organized labor:

"Each coupon has a cash value of only a fraction of a cent. But multiplied by the thousands this value is increased to a size that can spell the success of this campaign.

"It is possible that the money realized through these coupons may be directly instrumental in the discovery and destruction of the dreadful polio virus. With this money victims of infantile paralysis may be restored to a happy and useful life.

"We cannot measure our contribution or its effects by smallness of the unit that is used, but it is to be measured by the size and generosity of our united effort."

The labor division urges every member of organized labor, men and women, to forward their cigarette coupons saved during the month of January to the national headquarters of the Labor Division, Carpenter's Building, Washington, D. C. All local chairmen of the coupon drive are urged to mail their coupons to Washington as soon as possible.

Those who are hearing of the coupon drive for the first time are urged to join in now and send all the coupons on hand to the labor division.

Q.—How cold does it get in Florida?

A.—During the winter months the mean temperature hangs near 60. The lowest temperature recorded deep in Florida, at Miami, is 27, occurring in February, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Typographical Auxiliary.

Auxiliary No. 219 met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. O. G. Elder, with Mrs. Dan Power and Mrs. Martin Peyer as associate hostesses. The Elder home was beautifully decorated for Valentine's day and everybody had a most enjoyable time.

Many matters of business came up in the new group and definite action was taken on several questions. Four new members were obligated.

Mrs. Ruby Williams gave a talk on union magazines and gave the ladies the names of all leading union magazines. She also stressed the fact that Life and Time magazines are nonunion and that the Typographical Union is making an intensive drive against against these two publications.

Refreshments which carried out the valentine scheme were served and the ladies opened the valentine box which the entertainment committee had planned.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be on March 17.

The cleverest valentine at the Typo Auxiliary meeting was sent by Barbara Springer (believe she must have had husband Bob's help in preparing it). She sent a card to Mrs. Nancy Bush which read:

VALENTINE GREETINGS

I could not find a valentine
To suit on this occasion,
So just thought I'd print you one
And use the [pencil]

I refuse to tell you about the comic valentine which fell to me at the party, except to say that it wanted to know if I thought I was the life of the party. However, Addie Underwood and Juanita Davis also received a comic greeting, so I did not feel too bad about it all.

This column pays special tribute this week to Susan B. Anthony, who was born 119 years ago Wednesday. Her life was devoted to securing for women many of the legal rights we now enjoy—in fact, we can't imagine not having them.

When she was a young lady no married woman could own anything and a man could give away his wife's children. A married woman had no legal right to any money she earned and could collect no damages to her person or reputation.

Times have changed—thanks to the courage of women like Susan B. Anthony!

Sharecroppers Victims of Terrorism, Tenant Farmers Union Charges, Asking U. S. Investigation

Memphis — "Terror, violence, threats and intimidation" have been used in forcibly breaking up the sharecropper encampments on United States highways, swamplands and river levees in Missouri, the executive committee of the Southern Tenant Farmers Union declared in telegrams to President Roosevelt, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Attorney General Murphy.

"We appeal to you for an immediate investigation by the U. S. Department of Justice of denial of civil liberties of evicted members of the Southern Tenant Farmers Union who last week camped on highways of southeast Missouri," the committee said.

"These camps have been forcibly broken up with violence, threats and intimidations at instigation of plantation interests. These interests have tried to deny relief by either government or private agencies."

The telegrams added that union organizers, including J. R. Butler, president of the union, had been escorted across state lines by state police.

Secretray H. L. Mitchell stated that he had reports that the sharecropper demonstrators in a number of cases were forced into county-owned trucks over their protests, their household goods scattered, and set down on back country roads with no houses in sight and that many of the demonstrators were dumped into empty houses and left without food.

Washington, D. C.—Attorney General Murphy announced here that the FBI will investigate the sharecropper situation in southeast Missouri. Murphy said agents had been sent to Missouri to determine what action, if any, the Federal government could take.

Agents of the Farm Security Administration had already gone to Missouri to investigate charges that sharecroppers had been ousted from farms and left without means of support.

Elgin Cheese Company Signs Teamsters' Pact

Elgin, Ill.—Teamsters' Local No. 330 of the International brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has finalized a 100 per cent union agreement with the Pure Milk Cheese Company of Elgin, a subsidiary of the Pure Milk Association, covering the inside dairy workers' division of the local.

Officials of the union announced that under the agreement the company will hire only union men or those who join the union within thirty days of the date of employment.

The agreement also gives twenty-five employes pay increases ranging from 8 to 15 per cent. The contract is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1939.

The company manufactures Gold-N-Rich cheese, which is said to be the only union-made cheese in the United States.

WOODWORKERS UNION ENDORSES BOB COOKE

At a regular meeting of our local union 1882, Woodworkers, on February 14, at which time all members were invited to attend, a resolution was presented to the members for their consideration and action in behalf of Commissioner Cooke.

The resolution was read by W. O. Bankson, treasurer, and was accepted without any opposition. Commissioner Cooke was unanimously indorsed for re-election as city commissioner.

The same resolution was adopted by the Furniture Workers also.

Commissioner Cooke, the local said, has always been a friend to the labor movement and for years has been admired for not only being a friend to labor, but for having at all times a desire to help build a greater Chattanooga. They feel that he has helped to do this for the past four years, as they realize the improvements in the parks and playgrounds and other improvements made on Chattanooga property.

"It is the desire of our organization to have Chattanoogans to consider the accomplishments that have been in the department of public utilities, grounds and buildings and to join with us in re-electing Commissioner Cooke again for city commissioner, feeling that he is capable to improve any department of which me might be assigned as commissioner of," the local said.

The resolution follows:

Whereas, as it is to the Interest of all citizens of Chattanooga who take part in naming of our board of commissioners and other city officials to have capable and efficient officials in charge of each department; and

Whereas, organized labor controls a large percentage of votes cast for these city officials; and

Whereas, labor has had a representative for the past four years as city commissioner, and indorsed Bob Cooke as their choice for a commissioner; and

Whereas, the improvements which have been made by him have built up a rceord which speaks for itself and that organized labor is proud of; and

Whereas, organized labor through its representative has at all times harmonized its action with the board of commissioners and mayor for the interest of all concerned; and

Whereas, Commissioner Cooke has announced that he will be a candidate for re-election; therefore be it

Resolved, That we join in with all other local unions in indorsing Commissioner Cooke for re-election as city commissioner; also that we ask our families and friends to support him in every way possible; and be it further

Resolved, That we send a copy of this resolution to Commissioner Cooke, to The Labor World and to the daily papers for publication.

ELECTION MARCH 14

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly.

Playing of peanut politics in congress isn't doing democratic government any good.

Face making, name calling, heavy sarcasm, caterwalling in senate and house contribute to the happiness of the world's dictators.

They love to see American senators and representatives act much like spoiled children.

Tug of war between congress and president, with both sides making plays savoring strongly of small-time politics, seems particularly unwise, in this critical year 1939.

Now is no time to rock the boat, in view of serious internal and international outlooks.

Yet there has been some congressional boat rocking, on Judge Roberts' nomination, sale of airplanes to France and other matters.

James P. Pope, new Tennessee Valley Authority director, pointed out the other day that making democracy work is one way to offset influence of the dictatorships.

"The great battle cry of the dictators," he said, "is that democracy is inefficient."

We must make democracy efficient to refute the argument of Messrs. Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin. No dispute on that.

Recent events in congress have not indicated any too efficient working of democracy.

Of course in any democracy, there is some lost motion, some lack of co-operation.

But there has been too much of this in the United States in recent years.

In short, there has been too much of the kind of stuff that gave the dictators one of their best talking points when they first started their climb to arbitrary power.

Congress will have a chance to show its calibre when it considers amendments to the National Labor Relations Act proposed by the American Federation of Labor.

The amendments have been carefully drawn to promote fairer and better administration of the act.

They call for real consideration and study, temperate and thorough discussion, action in an atmosphere of reason and common sense.

There will undoubtedly be "thunder on the left" when they come up for hearing and approval.

Members of congress can show efficient working of democracy by disregarding noise and listening to reason when they take up the proposed changes.

Millions of people, with the World War tragedy in mind, must have felt a great sense of relief when President Roosevelt categorically denied he had said the Rhine was America's frontier.

The president's denial gave added point to the demand for publicity in foreign relations.

If there had been more frankness on what took place at the meeting between the president and the senate foreign affairs committee, the report Mr. Roosevelt called the Rhine our frontier would not have been blazoned throughout the land.

"Telling the nation what is actually taking place would put a damper on circulation of rumors that may or may not be true," the Cherry Tree said recently.

That is good for ALL the affairs of government, except in the case of strictly military secrets.

WICHITA CEREAL UNION INCREASES MEMBERSHIP

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 26th day of February, 1921, R. M. Shaver and wife, Mattie Shaver, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration February 28th, 1921, and recorded in Book Q, Vol. 21, page 88 et seq., in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said R. M. Shaver and wife, Mattie Shaver, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Second Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lots Thirty-one (31) and Thirty-two (32) Miller and Grady's Subdivision of the Williams Gillespie tract, as shown on plat thereof of record in Register's Plat Book 7, page 20 of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

In this cause, it appearing from the petition, which is sworn to, that the Chattanooga Housing Authority, a public corporation organized and existing by and under the laws of the State of Tennessee, is seeking to condemn the fee in certain real estate situated in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, and further described as follows, to-wit

Lot Thirty (30), Cypress Street, formerly Maple Street, Fort's First Addition, as shown by plat of record in Book "W," Vol. 1, page 192 of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, According to said plat said lot fronts fifty (50) feet on the east side of Cypress Street and extends back eastwardly, between parallel lines and along the south line of West Thirteenth Street, a distance of one hundred forty (140) feet to the west line of Cedar Street alley, including all fixtures and improvements thereon, for use in the development and construction of a slum clearance and low-rent housing project for people of low income, a public purpose, and, for which the property will be used in the public interest, and it further appearing from said petition that the defendants Limuel Daniel, John Housch, nonresidents of the State of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Illinois; Ethel Daniel Drew, Junior Housch, Marie Housch, Lizzie Housch, Annie Ruth Housch, Mary Eliza Housch Esters, nonresidents of the State of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Georgia; Marion Housch, a nonresident of the State of Tennessee and a citizen and resident of the State of Michigan, and the Unknown Heirs of Taylor Daniel, Deceased, have an interest in said property and that they are nonresidents of the state, or are unknown, so that ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them, it is ordered by me that publication be made once each week for four consecutive weeks in The Labor World, a newspaper published in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, as notice to said nonresidents and unknown defendants that they are required to appear in Circuit Court, First Division, at Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, on or before the 20th day of March, 1939, the same being a rule day, and make defense to said petition, or the allegations of same will be taken for confessed and the cause set for hearing ex parte as to them.

Said nonresident and unknown defendants are further notified that the petitioner will, on March 20, 1939, at 9:00 o'clock A. M., present said petition to the court for hearing in the Circuit Court, First Division, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at Chattanooga, and ask for an order sustaining the petition and of condemnation against said property, and the issuance of a writ of inquiry to summon a jury of inquest to set apart said property by metes and bounds and assess damages, or that the jury inquest be appointed by the court, or both, and that the court fix, by order, the time and place of the inquest, and for other relief.

Said nonresident and unknown defendants are further notified that on said March 20, 1939, and on subsequent dates petitioner will ask for other and additional orders incident to these condemnation proceedings.

The petitioner has heretofore, to-wit, on February 16, 1939, filed its petition as required by law, describing particularly the property sought to be condemned, with which is filed a plat or map showing the location, to which reference is here made.

W. Lupton, Deceased:

In this cause, it appearing from the petition, which is sworn to, that the Chattanooga Housing Authority, a public corporation, organized and existing by and under the laws of the State of Tennessee, is seeking to condemn the fee in certain real estate situated in Hamilton County, Tennessee, and further described as follows, to-wit:

Lot Eight (8) Grove Street, Fort's First Addition, as shown by plat of record in Book W, Volume 1, page 192 of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

According to said plat said lot fronts fifty (50) feet on the east line of Grove Street and extends back eastwardly, between parallel lines, a distance of eighty-four (84) feet to the west line of an alley, including all fixtures and improvements thereon, for use in the development and construction of a slum clearance and low-rent housing project for people of low income, a public purpose, and, for which the property will be used in the public interest, and it further appearing from said petition that the defendants, Mrs. C. D. (Dora) Whitsell, Mrs. N. H. (Ola) Hazlewood, Mrs. Henry (Lula) Thomson, George Lupton, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens resident of the State of Virginia, C. A. Lupton, T. C. Lupton, Junior, a minor, Glen Woodson, Sam Woodson, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Texas; Nancy Jane Lupton, a minor, Laura Belle Lupton, a minor, Purcell Lupton, Junior, a minor, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of California, and the Unknown Heirs of F. W. Lupton, Deceased, have an interest in said property, and that they are nonresidents of the State, or are unknown, so that ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them, it is ordered by me that publication be made once each week for four consecutive weeks in The Labor World, a newspaper published in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, as notice to said nonresident and unknown defendants that they are required to appear in Circuit Court, First Division, at Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, on or before the 20th day of March, 1939, the same being a rule day, and make defense to said petition, or the allegations of same will be taken for confessed and the cause set for hearing ex parte as to them.

Said nonresidents and unknown defendants are further notified that the petitioner will, on March 20, 1939, at 9:00 o'clock, A M., present said petition to the court for hearing in the Circuit Court, First Division, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at Chattanooga, and ask for an order sustaining the petition and of condemnation against said property, and the issuance of a writ of inquiry to summon a jury of inquest to set apart said property by metes and bounds and assess damages, or that the jury inquest be appointed by the court, or both, and that the court fix, by order, the time and place of the inquest, and for other relief.

Said nonresident and unknown defendants are further notified that on said March 20, 1939, and on subsequent dates, petitioner will ask for other and additional orders incident to these condemnation proceedings, and will prior thereto, to-wit, on February 27, 1939, ask for the appointment of a guardian ad litem for the minor defendants.

The petitioner has heretofore, to-wit, on February 16, 1939, filed its petition as required by law, describing particularly the property sought to be condemned, with which is filed a plat or map showing the location, to which reference is here made.

This 16th day of February, 1939.

New York City.—Approximately 900 truck drivers employed by contractors improving the municipal airport at North Beach, Queens, went on strike for $1.50 wage increases.

Private Industry Can Never Employ All Jobless, Senator Declares

Chicago.—Private industry alone will never be able to employ all the men and women of the country who "need to work and want to work," Senator Claude Pepper of Florida told the National Canners' association here.

He cited relative unemployment figures for the United States, England, France, Holland, Italy, Germany and Japan and said part of the world had sacrificed liberties and submitted to wartime discipline for economic stability and security.

"There are some who think that a return to prosperity will solve the unemployment problem," he said. "They might as well expect the unemployment problem to be solved by the return of the buggy factories as to anticipate that."

Pepper reviewed statistics presented to the Senate monopoly investigating committee showing the nation's unemployment figure still would be 6,000,000 with a return to the prosperity level of 1929.

"The machine age is with us," he said. "In spite of all of its virtues, nothwithstanding the fact that it has given us a higher standard of living than we could ever have enjoyed the other way, it is yet a fact with our economy organized as it is there will never be an opportunity in private industry for anything like the men and women of this country who need to work and want to work."

Group Formed to Organize Southern Textile Workers Under AFL

Atlanta, Ga. — Organization of the Southern Textile Federation, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, was completed at a meeting of Southern labor leaders here.

George L. Googe, Southern representative of the A. F. of L., said the move was the first step in a proposed ten-year program of completely organizing Southern textile workers under the banner of the A. F. of L. John W. Pollard of Spartanburg, S. C., was elected temporary president of the new group.

Googe announced that a convention would be called by the new federation, probably within ninety days, for the election of permanent officers and the adoption of a permanent constitution.

He said that the A. F. of L. planned to organize a similar group, to be known as the Eastern Cotton Textile Federation, in New England, in February. The executive committees of the two groups then would form a national cotton federation, which would be an autonomous unit of the United Textile Workers of America.

PACKING PLANT STRIKE ENDS

Sioux City, S. D.—The four-month strike of the United Packing House Workers, a C. I. O. affiliate, at the Swift & Co. packing plant has been settled on compromise terms. The company will take back 158 strikers, "as rapidly as plant operations will permit," but sixty-five strikers will not be taken back; though the company acknowledged their right to appeal to the N. L. R. B. A recent report of the N. L. R. B. charged the company with interference with and coercing union members. The company will appeal to the Circuit Court.

NOTICE TO NONRESIDENT AND UNKNOWN DEFENDANTS

To the Unknown Heirs of Minnie Kavanaugh Turner, Deceased:

In this cause, it appearing from the petition, which is sworn to, that the Chattanooga Housing Authority, a public corporation, organized and existing by and under the laws of the State of Tennessee, is seeking to condemn the fee in certain real estate situated in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, and further described as follows, to-wit:

The north twenty-five (25) feet of Lot Twenty-eight (28), Cypress Street, formerly Maple Street, Fort's First Addition, as shown by plat of record in Book W, Vol. 1, page 192 of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee. According to said plat said part of lot makes one lot fronting twenty-five feet (25) feet on the east line of Cypress Street and extending back eastwardly, between parallel lines, a distance of one hundred forty (140) feet to the west line of Cedar Street Alley, including all fixtures and improvements thereon, for use in the development and construction of a slum clearance and low-rent housing project for people of low income, a public purpose, and, for which the property will be used in the public interest, and it further appearing from said petition that the defendants, the unknown heirs of Minnie Kavanaugh Turner, deceased, have an interest in said property and that they are unknown, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them, they being nonresidents of the State of Tennessee, it is ordered by me that publication be made once each week for four consecutive weeks in The Labor World, a newspaper published in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, as notice to said nonresident and unknown defendants that they are required to appear in Circuit Court, First Division, at Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, on or before the 20th day of March, 1939, the same beilng a rule day, and make defense to said petition, or the allegations of same will be taken for confessed and the cause set for hearing ex parte as to them.

Said nonresident and unknown defendants are further notified that the petitioner will, on March 20, 1939, at 9:00 o'clock A. M., present said petition to the court for hearing in the Circuit Court, First Division, Hamilton County, Chattanooga, Tennessee, and ask for an order sustaining the petition and of condemnation against said property, and the issuance of a writ of inquiry to summon a jury of inquest to set apart said property by metes and bounds and assess damages, or that the jury inquest be appointed by the court, or both, and that the court fix, by order, the time and place of the inquest, and for other relief.

Labor Bodies of Six Southern States Sharply Condemn Punitive Chain Store Taxation Measures

Atlanta, Ga.—A conference of state federations and city central bodies of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi, held here on Jan. 28 and 29, roundly condemned punitive chain store taxes, "whether by municipalities, state legislatures or national congress."

Especially selected for condemnation was the so-called Patman chain store tax bill and measures based upon the principal of "steeply pyramiding taxes for the purpose of destroying this type of retail distribution."

Action of the conference was invoked by Dewey Johnson, president of the Atlanta Federated Trades, who broke into his address of welcome to urge indorsement of a resolution passed by the Georgia Federation of Labor pledging "vigorous support of the tax policy of the American Federation of Labor" which has "always opposed punitive and discriminatory taxes."

President Johnson declared that the proposed national and state bills and ordinances introduced in many cities to be "prostitution of the taxing power of government."

> "This campaign," he said, "is not for the bona fide purpose of raising revenue but is for the avowed purpose of destroying one type of retail service, and that the most modern and efficient, because other types of distribution fear efficient, modern competition."

When the resolution came up for consideration, an open forum was held in which the rapid unionization of the A. &P. Tea company was cited as evidence of the dual interest of organized labor as consumers defending low prices of chains and as wage-earners defending their jobs.

It was pointed out that more than 20,000 jobs in Georgia alone, "increasingly held by members of organized labor," would be abolished if the program of taxing chains out of existence is successful.

Officers of every state represented participated in the debate, which was, without exception, emphatically condemnatory of the campaign and eulogistic of the manner in which the chains, especially the A. & P., had met the challenge.

The dangers to all forms of progressive business from political reprisal formed a prominent part in this debate.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

N. Y. Bakers' Fight Gordon Baking Co.

New York.—Local No. 50 of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America, affiliated with the Amediran Federation of Labor, are carrying on militantly their battle against the anti-union Gordon Baking Company, manufacturers of "Silver-Cup" scab bread.

The struggle of Bakers' Local No. 50 against the notorious Gordon Baking Company dates back more than four years, when the union charged that after the invalidation of the National Recovery Act the company instituted the speed-up system in their plants, thereby inflicting severe hardships on their employes. In October, 1935, sixty-two members of Local No. 50 were discharged from the Silver-Cup plant because they dared to belong to the union, officials of the local said.

It is also stated that the company's plant in Detroit has discharged 200 union members in that city.

The militant campaign of the union here is revealed by the fact that over 00 union members picketed the stores throughout Greater New York where Silver-Cup bread is sold as a persuasive measure to induce the grocery keepers to cease selling Silver-Cup bread until the firm signs up with the union.

Safetygrams

BY FRED W. BRAUN
The Safety Man

Because automobile drivers in the country have been aroused to the need of safe driving, America reduced its automobile fatalities in 1938 by at least 7,500. Accurate figures are not yet available, but the first eleven months of '38 showed that reduction.

All you readers have helped to establish this fine record. The saving of 7,500 lives proves that by concentrated effort a further reduction is possible in 1939.

That is your job. Safety is an individual problem. States, counties and cities can inaugurate safety programs, but actual application of safe driving is the responsibility of the man behind the wheel.

Safety is 99% common sense—accidents are 99% thoughtless hurry.

It's smart to drive carefully.

Security Board Backs Oregon Law to Pay Out of Work Benefits

Washington, D. C.—The Social Security Board has certified the Oregon unemployment compensation law, which was sharply criticized by representatives of organized labor at hearings in Washington last December. The board said that recent amendments to the law, enacted in November by initiative proceedings, removed objections to the measure.

The question before the board arose out of provisions in the statute which regulated the activities of labor groups and organizations. Subsequently the state legislature enacted a law retroactive in its application, which incorporates in the state unemployment compensation law the requirements of the Social Security Act, thus making certain that unemployment compensation benefits shall not be denied to individuals who refuse to accept new jobs under "yellow-dog coitracts" or under substandard labor conditions, or vacant by reason of a strike, lockout or other labor dispute.

That legislation, and the fact that no worker had been denied benefits under any such circumstances, made it possible for the board to determine that the Oregon law conformed with the standards of the Social Security Act, and could be certified for tax credits for the year 1938, the board announced.

"Southern Labor Spots"

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 13.—Representative Isadore L. Culler, from Orangeburg, has introduced in the South Carolina legislature a bill to make it "unlawful for any foreign labor organization, its officers, agents or servants, to engage in this state in organizing labor or soliciting laborers in this state to join foreign labor organizations or to engage in establishing labor unions in this state without first registering with the secretary of state its name, the names and addresses of its executive officers, the place of its principal business as well as the names of its representatives assigned, to be assigned, to carry on its business in this state."

The bill further provides that monthly reports shall be made to the South Carolina tax commission of all moneys collected, initiation fees, dues, etc., and then the bill assesses a tax of 50 per cent of such collected moneys by union officials, representatives, etc.

Earle R. Britton, chairman of the legislative committee of the South Carolina State Federation of Labor, and Al Flynn, president of the state federation, together with union officials from all sections of the state, have been busily engaged in opposing the bill. Committee hearings will be held on the bill on Wednesday of this week. The bill is one of the most drastic pieces of legislation ever offered in the South.

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 13.—An agreement has been signed here between the McPhillips Manufacturing company and local union No. 1932, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, ending a controversy which has called for many conferences in negotiating the agreement. The agreement calls for recognition of the union as sole bargaining agent, overtime pay at rate of time and one-half and double-time pay for work done on holidays; two hours' pay for workers reporting and not being given work that day; an increase of 3 cents per hour, which, added to recent increases obtained, amount to 40 per cent in some instances over the rate of pay in effect when the local began its negotiations some time ago. Many other valuable gains were made for the workers.

General Representative Howatt, of the Carpenters and Joiners, and the union's local representative, Charles H. Franck, assisted the members in obtaining the agreement.

The company is engaged in the manufacture of sash, doors and general millwork. Significance of this victory is seen in the activity of workers in similar plants along organization lines. The regional office of the N. L. R. B., with Regional Director Charles H. Logan giving his personal attention to this cause, rendered valuable service to the management of the plant and the local union through participation in the negotiations.

Spartanburg, S. C., Feb. 13.—J. W. Harrison, president of the Spartanburg Central Labor Union, welcomed the news that the textile workers are returning to the house of their fathers—in the American Federation of Labor. Before the C. I. O. and its stepchild, the T. W. O. C., came into existence there were twenty-two local textile unions in Spartanburg county affiliated with the Central Labor Union. The twenty-two unions were strong A. F. of L. unions and meant much to the central body.

It became necessary for these locals to leave the C. L. U. when the T. W. O. C., a dual movement, claimed the textile locals. For a long time the Central Labor Union fought the battles, and kept the labor movement here intact. The tireless work of President Harrison and his associates during these trying months kept the C. L. U. in strong position. Now that the textile locals are leaving the T. W. O. C. and again affiliating with the Central Labor Union there is genuine rejoicing in the labor camp here, and President Harrison is a happy man. "Many of my best friends were in the textile locals," he said, "and I hated to see them leave, but now am most happy in welcoming them back home."

Baton Rouge, La., Feb. 13.—An agreement was reached here last week between the general contractors and the Building Trade Council whereby the contractors will work with the Building Trades Council through an established committee. This agreement is acclaimed by both sides as being one of the most progressive steps ever taken in this city, in so far as construction work is concerned. E. H. Williams, of the A. F. of L. staff, assisted the Building Trades Council in obtaining the agreement.

Shreveport, La., Feb. 13.—A closed shop agreement has been signed between the Schuster Produce company and the local union of Teamsters and Chauffeurs. Business Agent Festervand of the local union, International Representative Frank Prohl and E. H. Williams of the A. F. of L. assisted in the negotiations.

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 13.—At a meeting of the South Carolina Building Trades Association held here last Sunday report was made that a charter for a local Building Trades Council for Columbia and vicinity had been received and installed. In addition to this charter, announcement also was made that a local union of Sheet Metal Workers had been organized in Columbia and charter applied for. This news was gratifying to the State Council, which transacted much business during the session.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13.—R. W. Reynolds, international representative of the United Garment Workers of America, has signed an agreement with Marcus Loeb company, of this city. An increase in pay, time and one-half for overtime work and improvement in working conditions were features of the agreement. Mr. Reynolds further announces that the contract with the Empire Manufacturing company, an Atlanta concern, was renewed last week for another year, and in the renewal agreement the workers obtained additional advancements.

The United Garment Workers of America, an A. F. of L. affiliate, is making splendid progress throughout the South in organizing work and in obtaining agreements with employers wherever a local union is organized.

Maryville, Tenn., Feb. 13.—On Thursday, February 9, representatives of the A. F. of L. union here, representatives of the independent union and representatives of the C. I. O. local appeared before the N. L. R. B. in Washington, discussing the runoff election which must be held among the aluminum workers here. It will be recalled that an election held in December resulted in no election, no obtaining a majority of the votes cast at that time.

The custom of the N. L. R. B. has been to prepare a ballot for a runoff election with only that union receiving the highest vote on the ballot thus having a "yes" and "no" election. The C. I. O., being second high in the first election, asked the N. L. R. B. to place the C. I. O. on the ballot with the independent union.

The next day, or on Friday, February 10, the C. I. O. distributed handbills announcing an open meeting and declared in that handbill that the C. I. O. would be on the ballot with the independent union. A wire was sent to the N. L. R. B. telling the board that the C. I. O. was announcing even before the board had considered the arguments that the C. I. O. would be on the ballot. The N. L. R. B. replied as follows:

"If C. I. O. has printed and circulated statements you mentioned it has done so without any official knowledge whatsoever. Board has as yet not even reached decision as to problem argued before it recently."

Miami, Fla., Feb. 13.—Plans to organize Dade county tomato workers, now outside of the American Federation of Labor fold, were discclosed last week by George L. Googe, of Atlanta, Southeastern representative of the A. F. of L., who was in Miami attending sessions of the Federation's executive council.

Mr. Googe said closed shop contracts have been concluded with a number of the packing concerns in the county.

"We are submitting contracts to other packers," he added, "and hope very much that they will sign with us."

Googe estimates that between 1,000 and 4,000 persons annually are employed in handling the tomato crop along the east coast of Florida, whom he seeks to line up in the Federation's Agricultural Workers' Union.

He said approximately 100 workers were discriminated against last season for union activities and warned that an investigator for the National Labor Relations Board will soon be sent here. "We hope," he said significantly, "that these discriminations can be adjusted without formal proceedings. Those that can't be settled, however, we'll take action against."

A Business Man . . . for a Business Office!

"I hereby announce my candidacy for city commissioner.

"In entering this campaign I wish it understood that I am not running for any particular place on the commission, but if elected will accept any place the board sees fit to assign me. I feel that with my experience as a business man I can fill any of the four positions with credit to the other members of the commission and to the city of Chattanooga.

"My view of the city government agrees with the charter provision, that the commission as a whole is responsible for each department of the city government; that the five men on the board are supposed to oversee the entire city government to the best interests of the people.

"When elected to a place on the commission I will give my entire time to the office. I think government has reached the point where businessmen should be willing to devote their ability for business methods in government and I will do my utmost to give the public an honest and faithful business administration.

"I oppose higher taxes on real estate. Many fine citizens have lost their homes due to high taxes and extravagances in government.

"As I have made a success of my own business, I feel that I would be capable of handling the affairs of the city in a businesslike manner. I have been an active member of the First Christian church for twenty years, also am a member of the Masonic order and the Elks club.

"In offering myself for a place on the city commission, I pledge my loyalty and support to the other members of the board and my best service to all the people."

"LEAVE COOKE ALONE," BUTCHERS WARN IN A STIRRING RESOLUTION

Local 600 Says Labor Has a Duty to Perform

Declaring that four years ago Bob Cooke announced for city commissioner at the determined insistence of organized labor, and that now his splendid record puts it right up to labor to support him, Local 600, Meatcutters, last Tuesday evening indorsed Bob Cooke to succeed himself. The election will take place March 14.

The resolution took recognition of rumors that Commissioner Bob may be "ganged up" against by other political elements when the local stated that such attempts would be "resented."

The resolution says:

Whereas, Commissioner R. M. Cooke, an honorary member of this local union, has covered himself with credit and esteem in the most efficient and business-like administration of his department in the city government; and,

Whereas, Brother Cooke was prevailed upon four years ago to announce for the city commission at the insistence of the thousands of trades unionists of this city; and,

Whereas, it will be to organized labor's honor to return Commissioner Bob to his post of duty this March 14, therefore be it

Resolved, by Local 600, Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, in regular session Tuesday, Feb. 21, 1939, hereby urge every member of this local to qualify himself and every eligible member of his family to vote on March 14, 1939; be it further

Resolved, that we declare ourselves for Commissioner R. M. Cooke before all other candidates in the field, and that we resent the undercurrent among political powers that they might combine against Commissioner Cooke in an effort to defeat him.

Hear Bob Over WDOD

Bob Cooke, who will be reelected on March 14 to the city commission, will speak over WDOD next Monday evening at 6:20. Voters interested in efficient administration of city affairs are asked to listen to this ten-minute program.

CLEMONS FURNITURE STORE ONLY ONE BEING PICKETED

Sterchis Business Improves After They Unionize Radio Department Into Closed Shop

Following its new policy of refusing to allow a union inside its store, while at the same time inviting union people to trade with them, Clemons Bros., furniture dealers, last week failed to follow the lead set by Sterchi Bros. in dealing with Local 662, Radio Workers.

Last week Sterchi Bros. made its radio installation and radio repair department 100 per cent. union, and already a noticeable increase in its patronage has been eveident. The picket in front of Clemons continues his weary and cold walk in order to tell friends and members of organized labor of the attitude now in vogue at Clemons.

Building Trades Boys Speak Up for Cooke

Just another of the many local union declarations for Bob Cooke is the following endorsement from the Chattanooga Building Trades council, composed of nineteen crafts:

"Whereas, R. M. Cooke, Commissioner of Parks and Playgrounds, has announced his candidacy for re-election as a member of the city commission; and,

"Whereas, Mr. Cooke has long been an honored and respected member of Chattanooga Typographical union and an active and tireless worker in the ranks of the general labor movement, and we believe labor is entitled to representation in the government of this city; and,

"Whereas, Mr. Cooke has worked zealously in the department to which he was assigned, and has given to the citizenship of this city a parks and playgrounds system that is the envy of all neighboring cities, we point with pride to the fact that he has built for himself a splendid record in the brief time he has been a member of the city commission.

"Now, Therefore Be It Resolved, That Chattanooga Building & Construction Trades department heartily approves the candidacy of Commissioner Cooke and urges the citizens of this city to join with us in returning to offjce a man who has made good as an official and has reflected credit upon himself and the Chattanooga Labor movement in general.

"Wm J. Everhart, President.

Hudlow Reported Busily Engaged In Strikebreaking Act

On Tuesday evening at approximately 10 o'clock eight men (members of the Culinary Workers) relieved themselves of their uniforms and walked out of the High Hat—a sandwich shop at McCallie and Hawthorne street—as a means of obtaining decent working hours. These men were fairly well satisfied with their wages, but could never hope to endure the punishment of laboring for 16 and 18 hours each day for a mere livelihood and therefore took this method to better their working conditions. They left their posts only after they were unable to negotiate with the manager, Oscar Boggess.

Louise Tinker, business agent of the organization, was present at the time the boys approached Mr. Boggess in regard to their long hours. Carl Sherrod, head chef, acted as spokesman for the employes and told the manager the requests of the boys. On his failure to comply with same, Miss Tinker and the employes left the restaurant to brave the wind and snow outside for some forty-five minutes before retiring for the night.

The first customer to come for curb service was a member of the Culinary Workers, who was waited on by none other than W. C. Hudlow, manager and owner of the Home Plate lunch, who suddenly dropped from the position of a non-union restaurant operator to the role of a nonunion curb boy. This ttrade unionist refused to order when she was informed that a strike had been pulled only half an hour earlier. The place, because of the lack of customers and Street Car and Bus Men Flocking Into AFL Union!

One hundred thirty-five Tennessee Electric Power company busdrivers and street car motormen Wednesday night voted unanimously to organize themselves into a American Federation of Labor offiliated union.

Out of the 135, 74 were present at the meeting, which took place at the K. of P. hall, 615 Walnut street, at 7:45 p.m., and 61 men voted by proxy. Among those voting there was not one dissenting vote.

Approximately 30 bus drivers and street car men were not present at the meeting. According to several bus drivers, the majority of those absent either were sick or had not received word of the meeting.

A second meeting has been called for 11 o'clock Friday morning, according to W. E. Whitt, of Atlanta, a representative of the Amalgamated Street Railway and Bus Union of America, who presided at last night's meeting.

OIL REFINERY STRIKE BEING SETTLED

As The Labor World went to press the strikers at the Southern Oil Refining company, an Armour subsidiary, went back to their jobs after a strike of some two weeks.

No definite information is available other than the committee is now meeting with the company to negotiate final details of the settlement, which, it is understood, will be underwritten by the labor board.

CEMENT WORKERS HEAR THEIR PRESIDENT

William Schoenberg, president of the National Council of Cement Workers, visited Local 18269 last week and assisted the union in contract negotiations.

The Cement Workers met in special session last Friday afternoon at their labor hall and Brother Shoenberg addressed the group.

He told the local men that all cement workers in Illinois and the state of Washington are 100 per cent organized and that the Marquette Portland Cement plant, which is the largest in the country, is 100 per cent union with a closed shop and the check-off.

The cement workers' jurisdiction includes all gypsum and lime workers and there are more than 15,000 members serving under the Cement Workers' council. The American Federation of Labor is now considering the application of the Cement Workers for an international union and Brother Schoenberg says that they will have their international within a very short time.

Another feature of the special meeting was an address by James Wilson, who was in Chattanooga representing the international labor organization.

Brother V. O. Cunningham, financial secretary of the local union, has been appointed an organizer in this section. His territory will be Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama.

St. Paul Street Car Union Wins Pay Hike

Increases Ranging From Four to Eighteen Cents an Hour Gained in Agreement With Twin City Transit Company.

St. Paul, Minn.—An outstanding agreement carrying many wage increases and improved work conditions was finalized here between the Twin City Rapid Transit company, operating in St. Paul and Minneapolis, and Division 115 of the Agalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

Under the contract, which the union ratified by a vote of 1,316 to 512, one-man car operators, mechanics and skilled helpers receive a graduated increase of 4 cents per hour, 1 cent being retroactive to Nov. 1, 1938, another cent increase to become effective May 1, 1939, and the remaining 2 cents to become effective Aug. 1, 1939, bringing the rate of pay for one-man car operators up to 75 cents an hour at that time.

In the miscellaneous departments, the hourly wage rates were equalized for the various crafts, some increases in pay ranging up to 18 cents per hour.

In addition to the increase in the wage rate, employes have been granted two additional days' vacation allowances. The new contract calls for eight days' paid vacation.

The contract is to run until Nov. 1, 1939. It is estimated that the improved working conditions and the increase in pay will net the men $160,000.

Since its organization several years ago the union has steadily increased the wage scales for its membership through negotiations, according to Andrew Wigstrom, business representative. The entire system is now unionized.

Agreement Ends Long Strike Of Omaha Truck Drivers

Omaha.—Trucks of four of Nebraska's largest operators moved from their terminals with union drivers at the wheel on Feb. 9 as result of an agreement ending a 22-week strike.

Operators of the lines, Watson Brothers, Union Transfer, Red Ball and On Time, signed an agreement extending to Oct. 31, 1940, with heads of the General Drivers Union last night.

The contract provides for a closed shop, with the 11-state area wage scale of 2¾ cents per mile and 75 cents per hour prevailing on the long hauls, scaling down to 60 cents an hour on strictly Nebraska shipments.

AFL POSTPONES CEMENT UNION CHARTER RULING

Miami, Fla. — The Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, in session here, postponed until its May meeting consideration of the application of the National Council of Cement Workers for a national charter. William Schoenberg, president of the national council, said it comprised more than ninety locals with a membership of over 15,000.

The proposal to charter the cement workers as a national union was opposed by spokesmen for the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union of America, led by Joseph V. Moreschi, president of the union. They asked for jurisdiction over the cement workers because common laborers who are members of the Hod Carriers and Common Laborers Union handle cement on road construction and in other lines of work.

Q.—How do large lakes in America compare with other lakes in the world?

A.—Lake Superior is third in size, Lake Michigan is fifth, Lake Huron sixth, and the Great Salt Lake thirteenth. The Caspian sea, 170,000 square miles in area, is the largest lake in the world. Lake Victoria, in Africa, is second largest.

"Southern Labor Spots"

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 20.—An agreement was signed here last Saturday between the Fulton Sylphon company of this city and Federal Labor Union No. 21754, in which the local union is recognized as the sole bargaining agency for all workers employed in the plant. The agreement is for the closed shop, none but members of the local union to work in the plant after a short specified time given to workers not in the union at present to make application for membership.

The Fulton Sylphon company is controlled by the Reynolds Metal corporation, and the agreement is similar to those in effect between the A. F. of L. unions and several other Reynolds plants throughout the country. General Manager Mynders, acting for the company, and Carl K. Greene, in charge of the Pittsburgh office of the A. F. of L., were principals in negotiating the agreement.

The local union was organized late last year, and negotiations for the agreement were begun early this year. The membership of the local union here is made up of highly skilled workers, the best citizenship of the city being enrolled in the union. Mr. Greene and the local union's committee paid high compliment to the splendid attitude of General Manager Mynders and his associates and their readiness to sign a fair agreement. In addition to the closed shop provision, the agreement further provides:

Strict seniority rules; shop stewards for adjusting grievances, and provision for arbitration of disputes which cannot be settled by the union and the company; equal pay for women as that paid men for same work performed; reduction of forces to be on seniority rating; no loss of seniority when a worker is transferred from one department to another; time and one-half for overtime work, and other provisions of great benefit to the workers. The agreement is said by labor leaders in Knoxville to be one of tremendous importance to labor throughout

Miami, Fla.—Urging the formation of labor unions among municipal employes, officials of the American Federation of Labor last Thursday night called on Miami members of the International Firemen's association "to elect labor's friends to office and defeat its enemies."

The recently organized Miami local of the firemen's association was asked by Joseph A. Padway, general counsel for the A. F. of L., and George Richardson, international secretary of the association, to use their political strength to obtain better working conditions and eliminate governmental corruption.

Among the 75 persons, most of them union members, listening to the addresses in Carpenters' hall, were City Commissioner John W. DuBose, City Judge Cecil C. Curry, Fire Chief H. R. Shaw and Jack Moore, chairman of the civil service board.

J. L. Bowers, Central station fireman and president of the local union, was in charge of the meeting, and Walter Hoyt, president of the Central Labor union, introduced the speakers.

Padway, describing the setup and functions of the A. F. of L., said its main object was to promote legislation which would "kick society ahead" by improving working conditions and when necessary to call strikes to achieve its ends.

However, both he and Richardson emphasized that firemen and other municipal employes belonging to unions are forbidden from striking by the A. F. of L.

Spartanburg, S. C.—Employes of the Saxon mills here who have had cases pending before the national labor relations boar for some time have turned from the TWOC to the United Textile Workers of America, and have placed their cases in the hands of the A. F. of L. group for representation. There are about forty cases before the board, and practically all of the complainants have signed the following card, expressing their determination to be represented by the United Textile Workers of America:

"I, the undersigned, a member of the United Textile Workers of America, hereby cancel and withdraw any and all authority given and granted to the Textile Workers' organizing committee of the CIO to represent me before the national labor relations board, and give and grant to the United Textile Workers of America full and complete power and authority to file with the said national labor relations board in my behalf charges of discrimination against Saxon mills. The United Textile Workers of America is to represent me fully and completely in the hearing of all complaints before said board, and to have sole and exclusive power in the matter."

Maryville, Tenn. — Announcement is made that the Aluminum Company of America has granted vacations with pay to its employes in Alcoa, Calderwood, Tapoco and Rymer's Ferry. Carl K. Greene, of the A. F. of L. staff, in charge of the organization of the workers in the aluminum company, has worked in season and out for vacations with pay for the aluminum employes, and announcement that the company has finally granted the oft-repeated plea is most pleasing to Mr. Greene and his associates.

Workers who prefer to continue work and not avail themselves of the week's vacation with pay, can do so and draw an extra week's work in wages. In speaking of the splendid advancement made by the aluminum workers, Mr. Greene said:

"In 1936 and for the AFL employes of the company in its various plants, we negotiated a wage, hours and working agreement, which gave the employes in six or more company plants an addition to their weekly wages. At that time we sought a vacation with pay clause but were not successful.

"In 1938 we reopened these contracts for revision as to several clauses and again sought a vacation with pay clause for workers of two years and more service."

Fyffe Barracks Not Strikebreakers!

... the group who have come to my attention. Knapp, Chamber, and their executive director of the Chamber and secretary of the military affairs and parks committee, said it had "brought on a very serious situation.

Mr. Clarke said Chattanooga manufacturers should get behind the campaign for a new armory as assurance for them. He said the Kingsport armory was built because the manufacturers there demanded it. "Kingsport is planning on protecting its industries," Mr. Clarke said.

The above is an excerpt from a newspaper story last week concerning efforts being made by certain groups in Chattanooga interested in having the City of Chattanooga rebuild a national guard barracks to replace the one just lost by disastrous fire.

So Chattanooga, like Kingsport, "is planning on protecting its industries." Mr. Clarke says! Protection from what? The seacoast is far away, and so is Mexico and Canada. Why not be practical and place these posts at the point of contact if our industries are in danger from invasion? Let's not wait for the enemy to wade through a half dozen states to get to us. Let's meet them at the border line!

Protection of Chattanooga industries by the military indicates an impending military invasion. The military post of the national guard could not protect industry from bad business methods, surely. Neither would it be of any use from fighting fires—we have a fire department. What else is there to insure our industries' safety in the form of a bayonet?

We could not be so unkind to believe that Mr. Clarke has in mind the possible use of a national guard for a prodding agency. You know, prod women back into a mill like Governor Talmadge of Georgia did in Rossville.

Chattanooga certainly should "protect its industries." Buying military insurance for that purpose alone is expensive. It would be a continuous overhead charge for a service that might be needed once every generation. It has not been needed here. It would be much cheaper to employ the professional "finks" and gunmen that are available on call. In other words, buy the service if, as and when needed. When they are not "needed" the expense stops.

We would not desire to see Chattanooga lose Fyffe barracks and the attendant trade possibilities with Chattanooga merchants. Of course we would want Chattanooga craftsmen to have an opportunity for employment on the job. While we would like to join in an effort to keep Fyffe barracks, let us have good and valid reasons for doing so. If Mr. Clarke's reason is the only one given, we should oppose Fyffe barracks being replaced.

The best "insurance" that industry can buy in Chattanooga to "protect" itself is decent wages, good working conditions, and a brotherly and Christian spirit rather than a profit-mad ambition.

Hysteria Preferable

A Maryland doctor is denouncing "hysterical" laws against syphilis. But as between hysteria, however unpleasant that may be, and a contagious disease that even when cured seems to shorten life and that is a fair ticket, if allowed to run, to insanity and locomotor ataxia, most of us would choose hysteria.

HAPPY VALLEY DAIRY IS ANTI-UNION

"Valuable Training"

The American Newspaper Publishers' Association strongly opposes having the child labor provisions of the wage and hour law being applied to newsboys. At the hearing in Washington on this matter before the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, the attorney for the publishers made the argument that newsboys work is valuable training for the youth of America, not injurious to school work, but extremely beneficial to the well-being of those so engaged.

The publishers should have given cases of such benefits. Al Capone, now, served quite an apprenticeship as a newsboy in New York before he became a gangster's assistant, and worked himself up to the chief gangstership of America. Quite a number of prominent gangsters in Chicago got their start in this way, though the Genna brothers didn't.

Perhaps that is why they were killed so early. The Annenberg brothers, now believed to be the chief purveyors of race track news, gained their experience handling the Chicago Tribune.

It is true that one of them was indicted for manslaughter or murder, but he was not convicted. Neither was Al Capone, who fell from grace by cheating Uncle Sam on income taxes. One is sure he did not learn that by crying the "Noo Yoik Chomal."

Newsboys on strike have been beaten up by full sized policemen; but perhaps this was part of their "valuable training." It is always well to give details in such matters.

ILO PROBES BAN ON ELDERLY WORKERS

Geneva, Switzerland.—The International Labor office has been instructed by its governing body to make a further study of the question of "discrimination against elderly workers."

Decision to this effect was taken by the governing body at its recent quarterly meeting, held in Geneva. At the same time it instructed the office to submit to all of the fifty-eight governments having membership in the I. L. O. copies of the preliminary study made last year with a view to obtaining from the governments complimentary information and suggestions which can be drafted into the the new report.

Urging the need for a further study of the question, Robert J. Watt, United States Workers' representative, told the governing body that it was of particular interest in the United States where 40 per cent of all gainfully occupied workers are now over 40 years of age.

Frederick W. Leggett, British government representative, suggested that the I. L. O. pay special attention to the causes of unemployment among elderly workers and to possible remedies. He promised that his own government would give all possible assistance to the office, and expressed the hope that other governments would do likewise.

Mennonites Exempted From A. F. L. Contract

Philadelphia.—An unusual principle was promulgated here when local 463, Bakery and Milk Wagon Drivers' union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, excused three employes from membership in its organization because of their religious scruples.

The union took this action in connection with the closed shop contract negotiated with the milk firm of Martin Century farms, of Lansdale, Pa.

The contract which ended a ten-day strike affected three Mennonite employes of the company's Lansdale plant. It stipulated:

"The employer and the union agree that members of Mennonite or other religious faith, whose religious beliefs prohibit them from joining labor organizations, may be employed and retained without becoming members of the union."

The contract, however, specifies a closed shop for other workers.

Mennonites own to no authority outside the Bible. Hence, they feel they should join no organization. Some unions have an understanding they need not join, even in a closed shop. However, some do join, but avoid union activities.

John Backhus, union business agent, said the union's agreement is in line with the United States constitution's guarantee of religious freedom.

INTERNATIONALLY RENOWNED

Playgrounds, Parks, Vastly Improved By 'Bob' Cooke

Commissioner R. M. Cooke, of the department of public utilities, grounds and buildings, directly from Labor's ranks, is completing a four-year program of intense activity and progressive action.

Besides extensive improvements in the airport and public buildings of the city, Commissioner Cooke will long be remembered by thousands of Chattanoogans as the man behind one of the most progressive recreational programs in the United States.

In cultivating Chattanooga into a city where all the citizens—big, little, great and small—can find some recreational activity which appeals to them, he has as his recreational director a man who is deeply interested in activities which give everyone a chance to develop his physical make-up and his talents. Ed Hargraves is an untiring worker in promoting the happiness of Chattanoogans.

One of the important features of Commissioner Cooke's recreation program is the administration of playgrounds. To keep children off the streets and permit them to get physical exercise under the supervision of a trained director, who is a graduate of the American Red Cross first aid course.

The Commissioner saw to it that 34 playgrounds were conducted last summer. Of these playgrounds, 26 were white and 8 were colored, and had a total attendance of 351,258.

Once a week the entire staff met for professional training in arts and crafts, nature study, hobbies and pets, dramatics, music, recreational athletics, group games, special events and stunts, story-telling and quiet games, mass play and hiking.

As part of Commissioner Cooke's recreational program, free swims were given to both white children and colored. The white children had a free swim each Monday at Warner Park and each Tuesday morning the colored chidlren had a free swim at Lincoln Park.

The total number of children who took advantage of the free swims at Warner Park last year was 5,369, while 4,452 colored children swam free of charge at Lincoln Park.

Two community centers, one in East Chattanooga and another in Alton Park, are maintained by Commissioner Cooke's department. Among the activities carried on at the centers are dramatics, music, recreational athletics, wood craft, social games, story telling and nature study.

Because of the tremendous growth of the community centers, two new ones are now being built—one in East Lake and a new one in East Chattanooga. These new centers are to be large and modern in every respect.

Softball is one of the fastest growing national sports, and the Commissioner hasn't been asleep to its recreational possibilities. One hundred and two teams played at Warner Park last year and forty teams kept the diamonds not at Lincoln Park. About 3,000 players a week last year gave Chattanooga one of the largest softball programs in the country.

As for baseball—seven senior leagues, affiliated with the Amateur Baseball Federation, carried on a well-organized program. Thirty-six junior and midget teams, the largest number of such teams in the history of Chattanooga, carried out a well-organized program.

The co-operation given by Commissioner Cooke to those interested in basketball has brought about an increase in the number of teams, with an addition to gymnasium space. In addition to the Alton Park gymnasium, in which eight-een teams played, the department rented six other gyms for basketball teams.

In 1938, Chattanooga had the largest junior midget and mite tennis tournament held in the South, with 357 entries in the singles' tournament and 192 doubles teams. The tennis program for 1938 was said to be the best in the history of the department.

The 1288-acre Brainerd Municipal Golf Course was patronized by thousands throughout the season last year.

A fishery is maintained by the department at East Lake, to which permits are granted for fishing. Boats are available for those wishing to boat as well as fish.

As for picnic grounds—eighty-nine large picnics were held at Warner Park, in adidtion to numerous family gatherings. It has been the purpose of Commissioner Cooke's department to co-operate at all times with picnic groups by furnishing play leaders or play equipment. A large number of picnics were also held at East Lake and Jackson Parks.

In addition to the many other activities of the community with which Commissioner Cooke's department co-operates, community sings, held at Warner Park and Lincoln Park attracted large groups of people. Fun nights last season proved popular throughout the city.

Not only does the department co-operate with local groups and institutions in the planning of special events, but continually gives advice and information to those planning recreational programs.

In all its co-operative and recreational activties the department has successfully worked toward the goal which it has set: "To Build Better Chattanoogans."

Directs Play

ED HARGRAVES

"The chief objective of our recreational program is to make better citizens by making the people of Chattanooga happier, healthier and more socially-minded," said "Ed" Hargraves, recreational director under Commissioner Cooke.

Hargraves, by daily and weekly reports coming in to him and by his personal contacts, keeps his finger on the pulse of the many recreational and educational activities to which the department is the foster father and provider.

By his own personal affiliations Hargraves is well equipped to be the important factor which he is in Commissioner's Cooke's department. He is a charter member of the National Society of Recreational Executives, and a member of the International Olympic Baseball Games committee. He is executive secretary of the American Baseball congress, and secretary of the Mid-South Amateur Athletic association, and also registration commissioner for the Chattanooga district of the Amateur Athletic union. Hargraves is president of the Chattanooga chapter of Sigma Delta Kappa alumni (national honorary law fraternity), and president of the Baylor School Alumni association. Besides these other things, he finds time to be active in several fraternal organizations and to teach a class at the Southern Methodist church.

He is also a member of the teachers' union in Chattanooga and a member of the railway clerks.

AID UNORGANIZED LABOR IS WARNED

Labor was warned Friday night by an official of the International Labor Organization, Geneva, Switberland, that unless it organizes the unorganized, the latter will "pull you down to their level."

The speaker was James Wilson, past president of the Pacternmakers' union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate. He is now stationed in Geneva.

Wilson came here to represent the I. L. O. and to explain the nature of its work.

After outlining the formation of the International Labor Organization and its inclusion in the Versailles treaty as Article 13, Wilson lauded the late Samuel Gompers for his leading part in its formation and told how the organization attempted to set up world-wide standards of working conditions through the co-operation of governments, representatives of employers and labor.

A total of sixty-three nations are now affiliated with the organization, which considers only economic and industrial questions. It is now attempting, he said, to fix a world-wide forty-hour week for industry. The first effort in textiles, involving 15,000,000 workers, failed because it lacked the necessary two-thirds vote, but the organization is continuing its work, he said.

Q. Are all persons born on American soil citizens?

A. All except those born in foreign embassies or born of foreign tourists in America. Persons born of foreign parents in America may be citizens if they choose, said Dr. Ruth Stephens, U. T. assistant professor of history and political science.

Picketing to Secure Closed Shop Is Upheld

Federal Judge in Philadelphia Decides It Is Legitimate Object of Labor Unions; Protests by Wilson & Co. Against Secondary Boycottting Also Are Rejected.

Philadelphia.—Declaring that the closed shop is a "legitimate" object of trade union activity, Judge William H. Kirkpatrick in the United States court here refused to issue an injunction restraining three unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor from picketing the plant of Wilson & Co., meat packers, and "interfering" with the company's customers through a "secondary boycott" in an attempt to force a closed-shop agreement.

The A. F. of L. unions involved were the Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, the Teamsters and the Warehouse Employes.

Without ruling directly as to the legality of picketing solely for a closed shop, Judge Kirkpatrick said that an opinion of the circuit court of appeals in the Apex hosiery case indicated that it was legal.

He added that decision on that proposition was immaterial because a closed shop was a legal objective in itself, and that the Norris-LaGuardia act had stripped the federal courts of any right to issue injunctions in bona fide labor dispuates.

Unions Exonerated of Violence Charge.

Judge Kirkpatrick declared the only stipulation was that labor must not use "violence or fraud" or other illegal means in seeking its ends. He exonerated the unions of butchers, truck drivers and warehouse employes of charges of using violence or fraud, but said that three of forty-two individuals named as defendants had resorted to "illegal acts." Unless they desisted, he added, he would issue an injunction against them.

The unions called a strike against the packing company on Dec. 29 because it had refused to discharge five non-union employes. Counsel for the company argued that a strike and picketing in a closed shop dispute which involved the dismissal of non-union employes were illegal because it would force the company itself to violate the labor law by discharging workers who refused to join the unions.

Norris-LaGuardia Act Cited

Judge Kirkpatrick said that although the business of Wilson & Co. had dwindled enormously during the strike, diminution in interstate commerce did not necessarily mean that the Sherman and Clayton laws had been violated.

After referring to restrictions of the Norris-LaGuardia act, the opinion said:

"Hence it is immaterial whether the closed shop, plainly the objective of the defendants' program, is by the law of Pennsylvania a legal or an illegal end, and, for the same reasons, were it not for the decisions of the circuit court of appeals for this district in Apex Hosiery vs. Leader, I should have said that it is also immaterial whether or not the defendants intended to restrain commerce."

Discussing the "secondary boycott" methods alleged to have been used by the defendant unions, he declared that the Norris-LaGuardia act was "very broad' and contained "no restriction as to where the advertising and patrolling may be carried on, except that it must not involve fraud or violence."

"Neither of these elements," he added, "appears in this part of the present case."

Painters Get Mural Artists Jurisdiction

Miami, Fla.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, in session here, awarded jurisdiction over mural artists to the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America.

Representatives of the brotherhood informed the council that it had succeeded in enlisting 1,000 of these artists into its union, and requested formal recognition of that fact.

MORE ABOUT Hudlow

employes, was automatically closed for the night.

Mr. Hudlow came to their aid on Wednesday morning when he imported a couple of colored boys to Mr. Boggess to help him "carry on." Later he brought more help. That was just another gesture of Mr. Hudlow's to fight the Culinary Workers. It is not a hidden secret that since the birth of this organization that W. C. Hudlow has done everything possible to destroy it. Mr. Hudlow forgets that at one time he also worked for a living just as these boys are doing today. It isn't necessary to mention that shortly after the first of the year Oscar Yarnell, one time judge of the circuit court and a man who says that he hasn't an enemy in the world, granted Clarence Hudlow a temporary injunction against the members of the Culinary Workin court.

Louise Tinker, reporting on the walkout, said: "It was a beauty—the biggest thrill of our years in the labor movement. Each and every one of those boys (six white and two colored) were willing to stick together and fight for the cause of their brothers. They have more grit and determination than any bunch of youngsters that has been our privilege of knowing. They have the welfare of their fellowman at heart and we don't intend to let any man—Clarence Hudlow included—stand in the way of them and their future. Only one boy has returned to his job—Haskell Vaughn."

COOKS' AND WAITERS' SCRAPS

»»»» Louise Tinker, Correspondent ««««

On this very evening, Friday, Feb. 24, the Culinary Workers are having a dance in the ballroom of the Hotel Patten. George Rogers and his orchestra will play for the dancing and the gala affair will get underway at 9 o'clock. Mae Simmons, Louise Petty, Eva Norton and Lon Allen have charge of the arrangements.

Don't forget our dance. After 12 tonight there will be no more dance and then you will be sorry that you were not there when you hear your friends tell about the good time they had. All of the fairer sev are telling us that they are buying new evening frocks for the affair. We are not promising you that for ourselves because if there is any remaining part to ours of the last ten years we will wear it. And new footwear—now that's because we don't like for our feet to hurt when there is no dancing to do. Be in the Patten Hotel ballroom at 9 o'clock tonight and have yourself a time. We are going to be looking for you, and we don't like disappointments.

Miss Helen Dawn is ill.

Gladys Cox Williams and Mr. Williams spent the week-end in Monteagle. Louise Petty was there, too.

H. P. King and M. V. Smith were obligated at the meeting on Tuesday night. Mr. King is employed at the Central lunch, while M. V. "Pete" Smith works at Charlie Parsons.

Gee, but we wish each and every one of you could have been with us out at the High Hat Sandwich shop on Tuesday night—only we wish that the weather had been more favorable. No child was ever thrilled over a new Christmas toy than were we when Carl Sherrod, speaking for the nine employes at this restaurant, told Oscar Boggess that they were dissatisfied with conditions and wanted an adjustment made. Mr. Boggess refused to bargain and the boys refused to work. Immediately thereafter these same boys boys dressed in street clothes and departed for parts unknown. They no longer believe in the old saying (one these non-union restaurant operators like so well) "A half penny is better than no penny at all."

We forgot to tell you that George Rogers and his orchestra will play for the dance tonight—and a swell job these boys do, too.

PAY YOUR POLL TAX AND VOTE FOR BOB COOKE.

Right when we are thinking about the dance and planning a good time in a great big way something has to happen to upset us. As usual it is a union man who smokes rat-made cigarettes. He fu:ses at us when he asks for a cigarette and we offer him a union-made one. If we were this man we would smoke rabbit tobacco before we would smoke his brand of cigarettes.

Evelyn Bass has returned to Ford's restaurant after several weeks' absence.

Eva Norton and W. F. Newton are at Ham's cafe.

TEACHER TALK

The National Union of Teachers of England is worth a careful study. Consider its accomplishments. More than three-fourths of the teachers of England belong to it, and its vigorous methods have brought it many economic gains for them. British teachers do not hesitate to use the strike, although this method is regarded by the union as a "card up the sleeve" and not too readily resorted to.

The union has become so effective in protecting tenure of office there that no teacher who is even "reasonably efficient" can be dismissed. These things about which the teachers of America have passed resolutions for many years, the teachers of England have accomplished by united effort and dynamic action. Their union is functional, as well as theoretical, on national, local and individual bases.

National dues of approximately $5.25 per year have, over a period of more than fifty years, provided a defense fund of seven and a half million dollars. Income from investments of surplus capital is equal to one-half the income from per capita dues. In case a teacher is unjustly dismissed, the union fights the case and, in case the teacher is not reinstated, pays the salary until employment is secured. While the union is non-political in its structure, it protects every member in his right to political belief, including adherence to the labor groups and minor political groups.

Non-political, the British union is still very active in securing legislative enactments favorable to the schools. In general, its policy is that of the A. F. L.—"Elect our friends and defeat our enemies, regardless of party."

One more note on the British: A. F. T.'s Irvin R. Kuenzli reports a conversation with an Englishman, when on a recent visit to British union conferences, in which he asked whether the school term was shortened during the depression there. The Englishman seemed very much surprised, and replied, "Indeed not! It would be unfair to turn the children out on the streets." We wonder if human values are taken so much for granted in this country.

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly

For, lo! the winter is past and the bleat of the bock beer goat is heard in our land, to paraphrase Solomon.

Well, maybe the winter isn't quite past, but the capering goat of the bock beer ads is certainly seen, if not heard.

And bock beer flows freely, at least in some parts of the nation. And thereby hangs a tale.

Bock beer made its 1939 bow in Washington, D. C., in early days of February. But the thirsty of New York City are still denied the lusty fluid and must wait until March 13 to quaff their fill.

Brewers in the New York metropolitan area say bock beer before the Ides of March is "agin" a 2,000-year tradition, and they have formed a united front to prevent bock's flow until March 15.

To back their stand for opening the bock season on March 13 and not a day before, the Gotham brewers are advertising "traditional bock beer" as a collective enterprise. Advertising will continue until the gladsome date is at hand.

The brewers' stand is based on fundamentalist principles—you can break a 2,000-year tradition, but what's the use? You do not trim your Christmas tree in August or send valentines on New Year's, so why drink bock before the "right date"—thus runs the argument.

And so perforce, New York's bock lovers must wait until March 13 unless they drink imported bock or emigrate to Washington and other non-fundamentalists communities where it is already on sale.

The New York brewers are hopeful that the advertising campaign will increase the demand for bock when the "season" finally opens, and so contribute to prosperity. Here's hoping. Anyway, the advertising drive contributes to the prosperity of printers, engravers, commercial artists, ad writers and others.

News of New York's bock beer "deadline" is hardly of world shaking importance, but it makes for more cheer than news from European points.

As for example, that piece of transparent propaganda from Paris which tells of the speech of one Senator Amaury de la Grange, president of the Aero Club of France, before the American Club.

The German "war machine" is so formidable that there is little hope for survival of European democracies unless they are aided by American industry, the senator said.

In other words, America must again be the goat and lend a hand to one side in Europe's ancient quarrels.

The Frenchman's words seem part and parcel of that "persistent propaganda" which Farmer-Labor Senator Shipstead, of Minnesota, sees drawing the United States toward war.

More cheerful news comes from Miami, where the A. F. of L executive council ended its mid-winter meeting with a call for further development of co-operation between management and labor.

Government, industrial management and labor must co-operate fully to put the unemployed to work, the council said, adding:

"The council stands ready and willing to assist and to render all service possible in the promotion of a plan which will provide for the employment, in private industry, of the millions who are now idle."

This column has yet to hear a better plan. How about trying it?

Glass Bottle Blowers Back Bryan Candidacy

Branch 92 of the Glass Bottle Blowers' association, an A. F. of L. affiliate, announced through its secretary, William Bland, that it had indorsed the candidacy of Eugene Bryan for re-election to the city commission.

"There was much enthusiasm when Mr. Bryan's name was presented for an indorsement, and it was apparent to all present that he was the logical one for a continuation in that office.

"We know him to be just and fair in his dealings with the public. His competency should assure him a continuation in office, and we ask our friends to support Bryan for re-election," Bland reported.

Clerks' Pact Signed By National Tea Co.

Chicago.—Grocery Clerks Union No. 1248, of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association, an affiliate of the A. F. of L., has negotiated an agreement with the National Tea company covering the firm's stores in Chicago and six Illinois counties. About 2,500 employes are covered by the contract, which provides for wage increases, vacations with pay and seniority rights.

Max Caldwell, representing the international union, assisted the local union in finalizing the contract. He said that all National Tea company stores will display the house card of the union.

NOTICE TO NONRESIDENT AND UNKNOWN DEFENDANTS

To Mrs. L. D. (Dora) Whitsell, Mrs. N. H. (Ola) Hazlewood, Mrs. Henry (Lula) Thomson, George Lupton, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Virginia; C. A. Lupton, T. C. Lupton, Junior, a minor, Glen Woodson, Sam Woodson, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Texas; Nancy Jane Lupton, a minor, Laura Belle Lupton, a minor, Purcell Lupton, Junior, a minor, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of California, and the Unknown Heirs of F. W. Lupton, Deceased:

It [illegible] appearing from the petition, which is sworn to, that the Chattanooga Housing Authority, a public corporation, organized and existing by and under the laws of the State of Tennessee, is seeking to condemn the fee in certain real estate situated in Hamilton County, Tennessee, and further described as follows, to-wit:

Lot Eight (8) Grove Street, Fort's First Addition, as shown by plat of record in Book W, Volume 1, page 192 of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

According to said plat said lot fronts fifty (50) feet on the east line of Grove Street and extends back eastwardly, between parallel lines, a distance of eighty-four (84) feet to the west line of an alley.

including all fixtures and improvements thereon, for use in the development and construction of a slum clearance and low-rent housing project for people of low income, a public purpose, and, for which the property will be used in the public interest, and it further appearing from said petition that the defendants, Mrs. C. D. (Dora) Whitsell, Mrs. N. H. (Ola) Hazlewood, Mrs. Henry (Lula) Thomson, George Lupton, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Virginia, C. A. Lupton, T. C. Lupton, Junior, a minor, Glen Woodson, Sam Woodson, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Texas, Nancy Jane Lupton, a minor, Laura Belle Lupton, a minor, Purcell Lupton, Junior, a minor, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of California, and the Unknown Heirs of F. W. Lupton, Deceased, have an interest in said property, and that they are nonresidents of the State, or are unknown, so that ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them, it is ordered by me that publication be made once each week for four consecutive weeks in The Labor World, a newspaper published in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, as notice to said nonresident and unknown defendants that they are required to appear in Circuit Court, First Division, at Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, on or before the 20th day of March, 1939, the same being a rule day, and make defense to said petition, or the allegations of same will be taken for confessed and the cause set for hearing ex parte as to them.

Said nonresidents and unknown defendants are further notified that the petitioner will, on March 25, 1939, at 9:00 o'clock A. M., present said petition to the court for hearing in the Circuit Court, First Division, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at Chattanooga, and ask for an order sustaining the petition and of condemnation against said property, and the issuance of a writ of inquiry to summon a jury of inquest to set apart said property by metes and bounds and assess damages, or that the jury inquest be appointed by the court, or both, and that the court fix, by order, the time and place of the inquest, and for other relief.

Said nonresident and unknown defendants are further notified that on said March 25, 1939, and on subsequent dates petitioner will ask for other and additional orders incident to these condemnation proceedings, and will prior thereto, to-wit, on February 27, 1939, ask for the appointment of a guardian ad litem for the minor defendants.

The petitioner has heretofore, to-wit, on February 16, 1939, filed its petition as required by law, describing particularly the property sought to be condemned, with which is filed a plat or map showing the location, to which reference is here made.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 25th day of February, 1927, R. M. Shaver and wife, Mattie Shaver, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration February 28th, 1927, and recorded in Book Q, Vol. 21, page 58 et seq., in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said R. M. Shaver and wife, Mattie Shaver, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Second Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lots Thirty-one (31) and Thirty-two (32) Miller and Grady's Subdivision of the Williams Gillespie tract, as shown on plat thereof of record in Register's Plat Book 7, page 20 of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

American vs. English Conditrons

By Dr. Charles Stelzle
Executive Director, Good Neighbor League

A certain type of American citizen, who in most respects is a perfectly normal human being, and who really has some very excellent qualities, seems to lise his mental balance completely when he compares the so-called "bad" conditions in the United States with the allegedly "good" conditions in certain foreign countries—England, for example.

A famous English corporation lawyer is now in the United States for the purpose of investing large sums of money in this country for his English clients because they believe that their money is safer here than it is in the old country. He presented his plan to the legal representative of some wealthy Americans. The American lawyer smiled, as he said:

"I have been sending large sums of money to England for my clients because they have been greatly disturbed that America is 'going to the dogs' due to the lagor legislation which has recently been enacted by congress." And then he added: "Recently they have been eager to have their new English investments sold out, even at a loss, because they have discovered that conditions in England are not as good as they are in America." The two lawyers agreed, also, that taxes in England are higher than they are in the United States.

Quite a good many American employers of labor, and some industrial "experts" had been getting red in the face when they discussed the "tyranny" of organized labor in this country, as compared with labor conditions in England, where, it was believed, they had labor where it should be—completely "hog-tied" and "safe."

Then President Roosevelt appointed a commission to study the relations of organized labor to industry in England—and he did it without fear as to what would be the result to American labor. The commission made its report, and to the amazement of the American industrialists who had been envying their English associates with regard to labor relations, it was discovered that in most respects Englishmen had learned by long experience to deal more reasonably with each other than we do in our country because of the antiquated methods which have long been practiced in the United States.

On the whole, therefore, American investors are pretty well off when comparisons are made with the way things are going in England, although American employers may learn from English employers how to avoid strikes and other labor troubles by dealing collectively with the workers through a mutually accepted program.

Amendments to Enlarge Scope of Public Contracts Are Offered

Washington, D. C.—Senator David I. Walsh and Representative A. D. Healey, co-authors of the Public Contracts Act, have joined in introducing six amendments enlarging the scope of that act.

One amendment brings contracts over $2,000 under the law, instead of $10,000, as now. One extends to all government contracts the clause allowing a maximum profit of 10 per cent, which now applies to Navy contracts. To make the act agree with the wage-hour act, one lowers to 16 years the age of girls, now put at 18, and one increases the penalty the employer must pay for too low wages.

MR. HOPKINS' OPPORTUNITY

(From the New York Times.)

The senate has now confirmed the appointment of Harry Hopkins as secretary of commerce. Whatever one thinks of Mr. Hopkins' previous career in public office—and Mr. Hopkins himself conceded in his testimony before a senate committee that he had erred in making political speeches while he was works progress administrator—the new secretary deserves a chance to demonstrate his ability as a member of the cabinet. The president has the fullest confidence in him. Business, which now becomes his special care, is clearly awaiting a signal to push ahead with greater confidence. Mr. Hopkins has an opportunity to help it do so, by preaching and practicing the methods of co-operation.

GREEN MIGHT ATTEND TFL JUNE CONVENTION

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 13.—The 1939 convention of the Tennessee Federation of Labor will be held in Nashville, beginning Monday, June 5. Gerald Foley, president of the State Federation, has sent a letter of invitation to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, asking that labor's chief executive attend this important get-togethter of Tennessee's local unions and various governing bodies affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and its subsidiary, the State Federation.

President Green has not visited Nashville in several years and Brother Foley feels confident that the head of the A. F. of L. will accept the invitation to attend our state convention in June. President Green's presence here will do much to stimulate the local labor movement and at the same time allow more business leaders of Nashville to become better acquainted with a labor leader who commands the respect and esteem of all with whom he comes in contact.

Nazi authorities say all passenger auto tires in Germany this year will be made from buna, a synthetic rubber. Two large factories are producing buna from coke and lime. It is claimed improvements have been made in technique, speed and production costs.

Q.—When and by whom were the first slaves brought to America?

A.—In 1616 slaves were brought to Virginia by the Dutch traders.

Denver Teamsters Win Wage Increase Strike

Four Dollars Per Week Added to Pay Envelopes of Drivers Employed by Weicker Company; Hours Cut.

Denver, Colo. — A three-day strike against the Weicker Transportation company, called by Local No. 13 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, resulted in the negotiation of an agreement carrying large wage increases and shorter hours for union members on the Denver-Colorado Springs-Pueblo circuit of the company. The strike was called by the A. F. of L. affiliate because of the company's refusal to sign a closed shop contract.

Under the provisions of the new agreement, members of Teamsters' Union No. 13, composed of teamsters, warehousemen, freight handlers, dock men and furniture packers, receive increases in wages ranging from a few cents to 10 cents an hour and totaling as high as $4,00 a week, and a reduction in the work week from 60 to 54 hours. The most important feature of the new contract is the union shop clause stipulating the employment of only paid-up members in good standing, and numerous improvements in working conditions. The local gained over 100 new members.

All of the employes of the local branch were reinstated by the management.

Q.—What winter was the coldest in Tennessee?

A.—According to records kept by the U. S. Weather Bureau since 1884, the lowest temperature —32 below zero—was registered during the winter of 1917. However, the lowest mean temperature for the year was established in 1885, at 56 degrees, and the year 1917 is second lowest, at 56.3 degrees. Of course, the mean temperature will vary at different locations throughout the state. East Tennessee usually has lower temperatures than the other grand divisions.

YOUR DOLLAR

YOUR DOLLAR will be a regular monthly feature. The facts and opinions given are beased on the monthly reports of Consumers' Union, 55 Vandam Street, New York City, a nonprofit membership organization whose object is to safeguard buyers by testing and reporting on consumer goods. Note especially the information on labor conditions under which products are manufactured.

Don't buy a more expensive car than you need, Consumers Union counsels in its report on 1939 automobiles. Size and flashy performance may impress the neighbors, but the added upkeep and initial cost will dig a big hole in your pocket.

Prices are lower on many models, and a number of improvements have been made in safety and riding qualities. However, a really satisfactory investment can only be made by carefully selecting a car to meet the individual's or family's needs.

In the twelve and one-half-page article in Consumers Union's February issue (full edition), experts strip the advertising glitter to compare body design, safety of operation, engine construction, durability and operating economy of new models. They advise on such features as steering column gearshifts, "catwalk cooling," overdrives and fourth speeds. Best buys are selected in each price class, from $400 to $2,595.

Best buy in the economy group is the Overland 39 Speedway ($595 at the factory). Best buy in the popular-priced group is the Plymouth Roadking, Model P-7 ($726 at the factory).

A report on automobile labor conditions accompanies the automobile article. Ford, Lincoln and Mercury are the only important brands not union-made.

Rouge.

Ten cents or $1.25 will purchase the same amount of cheek allure, reports Consumers Union after tests of thirty rouge compacts. Composition of the rouge is practically identical, color range about the same, at either price. Convenient, good-looking compacts can be bought at 10 cents, while even the most glamorous case will hardly cost more than 5 cents to manufacture, rouge and all. Where does the difference between 10 cents and $1.25 go? To advertising and profit, if you buy the high-priced rouge. To you, for healthful food and recreation, if you take Consumers Union's advice and pay a dime.

All the thirty samples tested were harmless, with the exception of Embassy (20 cents) and Elizabeth Arden ($1.25), which contain starch and may irritate dry or sensitive skins.

Best buy was Elizabeth Post (Kress, 10 cents). Cashmere Bouquet, Irresistible, Cheek - Lure, Lady Esther, Outdoor Girl, Princess Pat Du-Tone, Tattoo, Varady of Vienna are other satisfactory 10 cent brands.

Tomato Juice

Canners don't maintain quality from year to year, Consumers Union found in testing forty-three brands of tomato juice. Samples of Kemp's Sun-Rayed, a brand highly recommended in 1936, now rate only Grade C. quality. Each of the five brands rated highest in 1936 slipped two or more points in this year's ratings.

Quality score was based on color, consistency, flavor and absence of defects, and the brands rating highest quality this year are White Rose, Royal Scarlet and S&W. Sunbeam and Van Camp's were rated substandard because excessive mold was found in some of the samples tested.

Can sizes are bewildering, and prices for each brand vary at different times and places. Housewives are advised to buy whatever good brand is selling cheaply in their neighborhood.

Insurance Agents

Consumers Union has consistently exposed the evils of industrial (weekly-payment) insurance. The insurance companies try to defend themselves by blaming the industrial insurance agents.

The blame, however, does not rest with the insurance agents. Formerly, the agents were compelled to return commissions on all lapsed business, and in order to earn a living wage were driven to replace lapsed policies by forcing contracts on people who didn't want or could ill afford them. This practice was reformed only when the agents formed a union, the Industrial Insurance Agents Union, UOPWA (CIO), strong enough to protect their interests.

In retaliation, the insurance companies are using their gigantic resources (the property of their policy holders) to defeat the organization of their employes. The Metropolitan Insurance company, world's largest financial institution, was recently ordered by the New York State Supreme Court to recognize the IIAU, which had won a majority over the company union in a State Labor Relations Board election. In its efforts to destroy the union, whose program embraces protection for both policy holder and agent, Metropolitan tried to have the New York State Labor Relations Act declared unconstitutional! Company spokesmen said that it "will never in a million years recognize the union."

Policy holders interested in liberalizing policy provisions and lowering insurance costs should write to Metropolitan protesting the use of their money to fight the union. Industrial insurance is a national scandal. One of the surest ways to guarantee its reform is to support the insurance workers in their hard battle for union recognition.

Two Newspapers Merged Newswriters Lose Jobs

Washington, D. C. — Eleanor Patterson, who recently bought the Washington Herald and the Washington Times, morning and evening papers in the nation's capital, from William Randolph Hearst, decided to merge them into one paper called the Times-Herald, published as a 24-hour paper with frequent editions coming out all day.

It was reported that one of the first steps in the economy program for the merged paper was the discharge of around forty editorial and news writers.

Flint Culinary Workers Gain Pact After Strike

Flint, Mich. — Flint Culinary Workers Local No. 605 of Hotel and Restaurant Employes International Alliance and Bartenders International League of America announced the finalization of a closed shop agreement providing standard union conditions with the Coney Island restaurant here.

The negotiation of the agreement ended a strike in which the restaurant owner persuaded a judge to issue an injunction restraining the union from engaging in peaceful picketing.

The judge could compel the union to remove its pickets, but he could not compel union members and their families to patronize the non-union place. The loss of business was so pronounced that finally the restaurant owner yielded to reason and came to terms with the union.

A Business Man . . . for a Business Office!

"I hereby announce my candidacy for city commissioner.

"In entering this campaign I wish it understood that I am not running for any particular place on the commission, but if elected will accept any place the board sees fit to assign me. I feel that with my experience as a business man I can fill any of the four positions with credit to the other members of the commission and to the city of Chattanooga.

"My view of the city government agrees with the charter provision, that the commission as a whole is responsible for each department of the city government; that the five men on the board are supposed to oversee the entire city government to the best interests of the people.

"When elected to a place on the commission I will give my entire time to the office. I think government has reached the point where businessmen should be willing to devote their ability for business methods in government and I will do my utmost to give the public an honest and faithful business administration.

"I oppose higher taxes on real estate. Many fine citizens have lost their homes due to high taxes and extravagances in government.

"As I have made a success of my own business, I feel that I would be capable of handling the affairs of the city in a businesslike manner. I have been an active member of the First Christian church for twenty years, also am a member of the Masonic order and the Elks club.

"In offering myself for a place on the city commission, I pledge my loyalty and support to the other members of the board and my best service to all the people."

Vol. XXIII. CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE, FRIDAY, MARCH 3, 1939 Number 43

COMMITTEE SUBMITS REPORT ON BOB COOKE'S RECORD FOR THE LAST THIRTY-FIVE YEARS

Central Labor Union Passes on Two Readings Official Approval as Drive Really Starts

In a larger than usual meeting of Central Body last Monday evening the delegates heard the formal report submitted by a committee appointed at a previous meeting to investigate the labor record of Commissioner R. M. Cooke. Although there never has been any doubt concerning the solid support of labor for Bob Cooke, laws of the Central Labor Union require that a written report of an investigation be made. The report of the committee, while lengthy, is given elsewhere in this issue.

After hearing the impressive list of good works done by Bob as a true and loyal member of organized labor for the past thirty-five years, a motion was made to endorse that record on first and second readings. A rafter-ringing roar of "ayes" demonstrated that the representatives of various local unions in Chattanooga knew the sentiment of their memberships.

In keeping with the technicalities of rigid AFL law, the matter will have to be voted on again for final reading at the next session of Central Body.

Gilbert Hyatt, personnel director of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea company, spoke to the delegates concerning the immense unionization campaign in the A&P stores all over the country.

Brother Whitt, representing the Amalgamated Street Car and Bus Union, told the delegates that by the next meeting of Central Body every driver would be in the union, and that to date less than a dozen had not come in, due to lack of sufficient application cards.

GLASSBLOWERS SAY BOB COOKE IS O.K.

A very fine letter from Secretary William Bland, of Local 92, Glassblowers, states that Bob Cooke had the whole-hearted support of its members. They also supported Mr. Fred Payne.

Secretary Bland said:

"Bob's past record in the labor movement was stressed. His record in the advances of labor and his achievements in his present position as commissioner speak for him—every branch in his department is conducted in a business like way, and his recent controversy with the airline company proves this.

"He has made it possible for the young people to get more pleasure and enjoyment out of life by creating playgrounds and other facilities. These advantages and improvements alone should influence the people to keep him in the department where he has done so much good.

"We feel proud of Bob Cooke, and take great pleasure in giving him our whole-hearted support in his re-election."

No one expects that the president's plea for labor peace will end the strife in labor's ranks instantly, but everyone hopes for some gain.

Barbers Urge Voters To Support Bob Cooke

Local 415, Journeymen Barbers, joined in the already long procession of local unions to announce their admiration of Commissioner Cooke's splendid record for the past four years. In a resolution the local said:

Whereas, R. M. (Bob) Cooke, commissioner of parks and playgrounds, has announced his candidacy for re-election as a member of the city commission; and

Whereas, Mr. Cooke has long been an honored and respected member of Chattanooga Typographical Union and an active and tireless worker in the ranks of the general labor movement, and we believe labor is entitled to representation in the government of this city; and

Whereas, Mr. Cooke has worked zealously in the department to which he was assigned, and has given to the citizenship of this city a parks and playground system that is the envy of all neighboring cities and we point with pride to the fact that he has built for himself a splendid record in the brief time he has been a member of the city commission;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved That Journeymen Barbers' Local No. 415 heartily approves the candidacy of Commissioner Cooke and urges the citizens of this city to join with us in returning to office a man who has made good as an official and has reflected credit upon himself and the Chattanooga labor movement in general.

PAINTERS "GO AFTER" C. C. HOWARD FURN. CO.

Local 226, Painters, requested Central Body to declare the C. C. Howard Furniture company, 55 East Main street, "Unfair to Organized Labor." The painters charge the management with painting their store with nonunion painters.

The furniture house has been declared to Local 226, and the executive board of Central Body was instructed to investigate the matter.

BLDG. TRADES ENDORSE JUDGE MARTIN FLEMING

Chattanooga Building Trades Council sent the following letter of endorsement to Judge Martin Fleming, who is running for re-election as police judge:

Dear Sir and Brother:

At the last regular meeting of the Chattanooga Building and Construction Trades' Department of Chattanooga, Tenn., the Council was very pleased to endorse you for re-election as city judge in the coming election, March 14, 1939, without a dissenting vote of the Council.

We, the members of Organized Labor, appreciate your attitude in the past towards the working man in this city. Any time that we may be of service to you, feel at liberty to call on any member of Organized Labor.

Roosevelt Urges Renewed Peace Efforts by A. F. of L. and C. I. O.

President Believes That "Peace With Honor" Will Result From Resumption of Negotiations of Representatives of Both Sides

Miami, Fla.—President Roosevelt intervened to settle the controversy between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, a new name for the Committee for Industrial Organization which was set up by John L. Lewis in 1935 to destroy democratic procedure and majority rule in the American Federation and establish an organization based on dictatorship.

In identical letters, made public here, the president asked William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and John L. Lewis, president of the C. I. O., to appoint committees to negotiate a "peace with honor."

Text of Roosevelt's Letter

The text of President Roosevelt's letter to Mr. Green follows:

"My Dear Mr. Green:

"In the development of this great nation the continued results of good will, co-operation and mutual helpfulness among the people have been demonstrated continuously. The need of the exercise of these qualities is as urgent now as at any time in American history, particularly as they apply to the welfare of men and women who

STATEMENT by GEORGE L. GOOGE

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 27.—George L. Googe, southern representative of the American Federation of Labor, issued the following statement here this morning:

"There was created during the 1936 national political campaign the so-called 'Labor's Non-Partisan Political League,' for the purpose of assisting in the re-election of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Since that campaign ended the CIO has continued this organization as a subterfuge and snare for its own activities. The conventions of the American Federation of Labor have repudiated the organization, and most of the original people associated with it prior to the 1936 election have disassociated themselves entirely from its present activities. The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has warned our membership repeatedly against the activities of the Non-Partisan League and ordered our directly chartered organizations to shun it as they would a plague.

"In Atlanta on Feb. 19, the Georgia branch of Labor's Non-Partisan League was reorganized under guidance of the CIO. Not being able to secure sufficient citizens of Georgia to serve as officers of the league, the following CIO officials from outside the state of Georgia were elected officials of the Georgia branch of the Non-Partisan League: Clyde Mills, of Washington, D. C., acting directly for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; Roy R. Lawrence, of Winston-Salem, N. C., director of the TWOC, and an additional list of non-residents of Georgia too numerous to mention.

"All city Central Bodies and State Federations of Labor should carefully investigate any efforts in their communities relative to the activities of the so-called 'Non-Partisan League.' It is strictly a branch, part and parcel of the CIO, and is just as dual to the American Federation of Labor as the CIO itself. No member or officer of a directly chartered organization of the American Federation of Labor, such as a city Central Body or a State Federation of Labor, can retain membership in this dual organization and remain with directly affiliated organizations of the American Federation of Labor. I hereby call upon all city Central Bodies to take appropriate action themselves, thereby removing the necessity of this office or of the field representatives of the A. F. of L. in the South from taking drastic action.

"The American Federation of Labor in no way interferes with the political convictions, affiliations and activities of its members. They have a right to be a member of any political party they may choose. But the so-called 'Non-Partisan League' is not a political organization, as such, but is simply a subterfuge for the organizing activities of the CIO against the American Federation of Labor."

Blue & Gray Transfer Charged With Using Union-Busting Tactics

The Blue and Gray Transport company, doing business in Chattanooga, has had charges filed against it by the Teamsters union, Local 515, according to officials of the union. The charges are before the national labor relations board.

The company is accused of using illegal methods to prevail upon its employes to leave their union, it is said, and according to evidence secured it looks like a dark day ahead for the company.

In addition, Local 515 has requested Central Body to declare the company "Unfair to organized labor."

JOB LOSS CALLED SMALL.

Washington.—Secretary of Labor Perkins estimates that approximately 880,000 workers in non-agricultural industries lost their jobs in January. Miss Perkins attributed it to the usual seasonal employment change. She said that the decline was "only slightly larger than that which took place from December, 1936, to January, 1937, and is much smaller than the unusually sharp decline from December, 1937, to January, 1938."

ILO to Continue Investigation Of Employers' Discrimination Against Elderly Workers

Gevena.—The International Labor Organization will make a further study of the question of "Discrimination Against Elderly Workers," by instruction of its governing body. Particular attention will be paid to the problem in the United States, it is expected.

Decision to this effect was taken by the governing body at its regular quarterly meeting held here. At the same time, it instructed the office to submit to all of the fifty-eight governments having membership in the I. L. O. copies of the preliminary study made last year, with a view to obtaining from the governments complimentary information and suggestions which can be drafted into the new report.

Urging the need for a further study of the question, Robert J. Watt, United States workers' representative, told the governing body that it was of particular interest in the United States where 40 per cent of all gainfully occupied workers are now over 40.

Frederick W. Leggett, British government representative, suggested that the I. L. O. pay special attention to the causes of unemployment among elderly workers, and to possible remedies. He promised that his own government would give all possible assistance to the office.

Evert Kupers, Netherlands workers' represenative, estimated that of the 302,000 workers unemployed in the Netherlands on Oct. 1, last, 177,000 were between the ages of 40 and 60 years. He asked the employer members of the governing body to make an urgent appeal to all employers to help the cause of workers over 40.

Leon Jouhaux, French workers' representative, stressed the need for statistics from all countries showing not only the number of unemployed workers over 40, but the industries from which older workers are most rapidly eliminated.

Joseph Hallsworth, British workers' representative, discussed the effect of long spells of unemployment upon the skill of elderly workers, and asked that all the countries pool their knowledge in an effort to help find a solution to the problem.

New Income Tax Changes Before Congress Blow at Favoritism and Privilege — Big Share of Corporation Profits Shown Going to Top Executives — Some Brandeis Questions.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington.—Two very good things indeed came out in Washington in the last few days.

The house passed and the senate probably will pass a bill granting any state the express permission to tax the income of federal employes living in that state, and claiming the right to tax the incomes of state employes for federal purposes. The favorable vote was a little more than two-and-a-half to one. It may be held up in the senate; maybe modified; but that principle is going through.

Of itself, this will not make a great difference. But it is one more step in cutting out favors and privileges; which always work badly. One of the reasons for the slowness of capital to invest in business—and everyone admits that—is the fact that anyone with half a million dollars or more can invest it in tax-exempt bonds, and draw an income insuring a luxurious living without paying a penny of tax on it, risking a dollar or doing a lick of work.

Privileges are out of place in a democracy. Especially privileges which go in overtopping measure to the fortunate.

The other good thing is the report on executive salaries of corporations, made by the Twentieth century fund to the monopoly committee. It says, for instance, that corporation officers got in 1931 42.2 per cent as much as total dividend payments, and goes on:

"As the depression deepened, the proportion (between executive salaries and total stockholders' dividends) rose to 52.3 per cent in 1932 and 62.4 per cent in 1933."

,In the latter year, the study showed executive salaries of corporations totaled $2,000,000,000 which was "more than all the rent paid by corporations, and five times the corporation income tax.

"These figures do not include dividends on stock owned by officers, the total of which is unknown; nor do they include the profits which officers of companies may have made by speculating in the stocks of their own companies."

"In bad times," says the report, "total payments to officers are stickier than wages and dividends. They go down more slowly and less far. In good times they go up faster and farther."

For even if the president of a big corporation cuts his own salary in depression—and my recollection is that Walter Gifford of the A. T. & T. cut his salary from $230,000 a year to $205,000 a year—he didn't get a lay-off. And the A. T. & T. dropped more than 30 per cent of its wage-earners during the depression.

Justice Brandeis has put in the records of the supreme court a quality of English prose unmatched by any American jurist except Holmes and Cardozo.

In the Anita Whitney case, he was upholding the sacredness of free speech, which might not even be curbed merely because the powers that be were sacred. Se said:

"Fear alone is not enough. Men feared witches and burnt women."

In the Bedford Cut Stone case, he was standing for the right of organized labor to refuse to finish work on non-union cut stone, and said that the court's denial of this right

"Reminds of involuntary servitude."

And in the Oklahoma ice case, he was pleading for the freedom of states to experiment with economic regulation, and closed his plea with the words:

"If we would guide by the light of reason, we must let our minds be bold."

Report of Committee of Seven Appointed Under Law of Chattanooga Central Labor Union to Investigate Request to Endorse Candidacy of

to the City Commission:

We have earnestly compiled facts concerning the past record of Commissioner R. M. Cooke that pertained to his activities and principles regarding organized labor, and have the honor to present a document which is remarkable as a history of loyalty, devotion and service toward organized labor.

Bob Cooke first came into the labor movement in 1902 as an apprentice in the typographical union. He received his journeyman's card on May 1, 1907, and since that time he has remained continuously a member in good standing without one moment's lapse.

The Chattanooga Typographical Union has sent him to the Central Body as a delegate for 32 years without a break. For 25 consecutive years he was also a delegate to the conventions of the Tennessee Federation of Labor.

On two occasions he was sent to the conventions of the International Typographical nion as a delegate from the Chattanooga Typographical nion, which is regarded by its members as the highest honor that can be given to a member.

For nearly twenty years he has served as chairman of the Typographical scale committee, which negotiates with the publishers wages and conditions of employment. During this period he gained the sobriquet of "7½ Hour Bob" when he alone led the fight for a 7½ hour day for his local union and gained it more than a decade before any other local union thought seriously of attempting the project.

For three years he served as president of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, the highest honor to be bestowed by the labor movement in Tennessee.

For five terms he was the president of Chattanooga Central Labor Union, during which period the local labor movement became more respected and recognized than ever before.

For eighteen years he served as the editor of The Labor World, the official organ of organized labor, owned by the Chattanooga Central Labor Union. So intense was his fealty to labor Brother Cooke led The Labor World through the depression of 1931 to 1935, staying on the job even though his wages were not paid to the amount of nearly three thousand dollars. To date he has not been reimbursed, and he has frequently officially and sincerely offered to mark it off.

His services to various local unions has been such that from a natural feeling of gratitude and recognition, the following local unions have honored him and themselves by making Bob Cooke an honorary member of their respective locals:

Meatcutters, Moving Picture Machine Projectionists, Lodges 56 and 1450 of Machinists, Stage Employes, Painters and Brick and Clay Workers.

In the department of Parks and Playgrounds, Brother Cooke has 44 employes. Out of these 44, 28 hold union cards.

A thorough investigation shows that during Brother Cooke's administration there has not been as much as one hour's work done by craftsmen who did not possess union cads in that craft. More than that, no work has been allowed done except by the proper craftsmen. We do not believe that this can be claimed and proven by any other officeholder.

Every piece of clothing he wears has the union label.

Four years ago Brother Cooke was beseeched by members of organized labor to give up the editorship of The Labor World in order to announce for the city commission. The project was placed before him on a basis of service to labor, and as a result he gave up that means of livelihood and made the race and was elected.

His voting record on the board of commissioners shows that at no time has he ever voted contrary to the wishes of organized labor. Many times he has single-handedly fought for the principles he has supported and believed in for 35 years.

As editor of the labor paper he alone led the fight to secure free textbooks for city school children. He succeeded in that fight.

He repeated to this committee what he has said publicly many times that he was in the hands of organized labor. If organized labor does not desire him to make the race he would not ask for re-election. Many times during the last four years he has become heartsick concerning the nature of politics. He says now that he is in office solely because organized labor took him from a steady job he possessed and demanded of him that he enter politics. He is not a politician after four years, but is still a union man, loyal to all its principles and conditions.

We feel that it is almost a joke to speak of "endorsing" such a man. Just as well should we expect the sun to light itself or, as Brother Burk said, "Go to the courthouse to see if you are married." Just as well should we investigate Samuel Gompers or ask a mother if she loves her child.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL CHATTANOOGA

FRIDAY, MARCH 3, 1939

An Old Story Heed It

One of the best things about the latest report of the Senate Civil Liberties Committee is that it ties in our present labor troubles with past ones, and shows that always and at all times, serious labor troubles are due to the tyranny of employers. A House committee 50 years ago, said of a coal company town:

"A more ingenious, effective, and devilish system for legally enslaving men cannot be devised."

The United States Industrial Commission reported on the strike in Colorado in 1913:

"The Colorado strike was a revolt of whole communities against arbitrary economic, political and social domination by the Colorado Fuel & Iron company."

The Civil Liberties Committee quotes these old cases, follows them down almost year by year for a half century, finds them not only in coal mines but in manufactories and on railroads. And that should warn labor that nothing but a finish fight will do.

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources
CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Labor newspaper men in Washington had a chance to interview Alberto Cianca, Italian anti-Fascist editor who has been in exile for many years. Two of his family are in prison for opposing fascism.

Mr. Cianca says that probably a majority of the Italian people were willing to invade Ethiopia. They thought it might give them a place to settle. But he is emphatic that a heavy majority of Italians do not want to fight in Spain; and that a still larger majority are opposed to any war with France. He declares, from personal contacts, that most of the Italians in Tunis and still more of the larger number settled in southern France would resent bitterly going back under fascist rule. Wages are better under French rule.

This is direct testimony on matters only indirectly reported before. On other matters Mr. Cianca confirms and extends what everyone has heard. Tens of thousands of Italians have volunteered for Ethiopia and found themselves in Spain. The anti-fascist block in Italy is still able to get information, and ge it out. He gave the number of each war plane sent to Spain from Italy between Jan. 18 and Jan. 23, the number of troops, the names of commanders and th e names of the ships they went on.

He confirms the reports that Italy has neither food nor munitions for a long war. At the latest check, many munitions depots were empty because of supplies sent to Franco, Spanish rebel general. Food is short, the grain crop of Italy this year was decidedly short, and is never enough to avoid imports. And the morale of the army will not stand up to any serious defeat.

Add to this the official announcement that the Hitler government is drafting men from other work for that "important to the state," and often at lower wages, though all wages are low, and you can see why American wage-earners are able to keep down any enthusiasm for the "totalitarian state."

The federal insurance of bank deposits up to $5,000 has just had a rather unusual test—and come through it without a quiver. The New Jersey Title, Guarantee and Tust Co. closed its doors with $20,000,000 of depositors' money inside them. But there was no local panic. There were 39,000 depositors with less than $5,000 in the bank, and they knew that they would be paid. By the time this is printed they will be paid. There were 138 people whose deposits were more than $5,000, and that's as high as Uncle Sam's insurance goes, but probably they didn't lose much.

When this item of the New Deal was enacted it was bitterly denounced as making for "bad banking," and putting a terrific burden on good bankers to make up the follies of bad ones. The fact is that an insured bank pays 1½ of 1 per cent.—one-twelfth of one per cent—each year on its average deposits. This trifling levy has paid all the cost of administration, made good all deposits without delay and is building up a surplus that probably will lower the insurance fee.

RADIO ENTERTAINERS WIN . . .

Union Shop, Pay Raises, Provided in Contract

New York City.—Signing of a two-year agreement by the American Federation of Radio Artists and the National Broadcasting company and Columbia Broadcasting system, covering actors, singers and announcers on sponsored programs, has averted a threatened nation-wide strike of radio entertainers.

The contract, announced by the union and a committee of advertisers, representing the sponsors, provides for a 100 per cent union shop and salary increases of 15 to 75 per cent.

Actors are to receive minimums of $15 for programs lasting 15 minutes or less, $25 for a half-hour and $35 for one hour. On thirteen-week arrangements, minimums of $105 a week for one 15-minute broadcast per day, five days a week, $100 for four days a week and $80 for three days a week are guaranteed. Pay for rehearsals amounts to $6 an hour.

Singers (soloists) are to receive $40 for 15 minutes or less, $50 for a half-hour, $60 for 45 minutes and $70 for an hour.

For announcers, the minimum was set a $15 for 15 minutes or less, $25 for 30 minutes and $35 for one hour, with a guaranteed minimum of $75 a week for 15 minutes a day, five days a week. Rehearsal pay is to be $6 an hour.

The contract contains most of the conditions demanded by the union and affects about 4,000 entertainers. The New York City, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco units of the union had voted to strike against the advertising agencies if the demands were not met. The union is an affiliate of the Associated Actors and Artists of America and the American Federation of Labor.

About 70 per cent of the agencies handling commercial broadcasts will be affected by the agreement.

Q.—Is rain absolutely pure water?

A.—At the moment of condensation into microscopic drops, it is probably chemically pure water. But gases of the air are soluble in water, and some of these gases go into solution. Furthermore, even at high altitudes above the earth, the air contains dust floating about, and many of these dust particles are caught by the raindrops in their descent to earth, said Dr. J. A. Switzer, professor of dyhraulic and sanitary engineering at U. T.

Green Accepts Roosevelt's Request To Resume Peace Talks With C.I.O.

New York, N. Y.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, promptly accepted President Roosevelt's invitation to appoint a committee to meet with a committee representing the Congress of Industrial Organizations in an effort to settle the strife in the labor movement which began in 1935 when the CIO was set up as an organization dual to the A. F. of L.

The committee named by Mr. Green consists of three A. F. of L. vice-presidents, Harry C. Bates, president of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union of America; Matthew Woll, first vice-president of the International Photo-Engravers' Union of North America and editor of the American Photo-Engravers, and Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America.

In announcing the appointment of the committee Mr. Green said the American Federation of Labor would not consent to make the "democratic principles" which underlie the structure of the American Federation of Labor the subject matter of negotiations. He added that the mechanical difficulties in the way of peace had increased since the unsuccessful negotiations at the end of 1937.

Text of Green's Statement.

The text of Mr. Green's statement follows:

"I have offcially advised the president of the United States of my acceptance of his invitation to appoint a committee representing the American Federation of Labor to meet with a committee representing the Congress of Industrial Organizations for the purpose of healing the breach which was created within the ranks of labor.

"In my letter addressed to the president I stated there could be but one answer to such an invitation, and that would be to respond favorably to his request. Authority for such prompt action on my part is found in the declaration of the Houston convention of the American Federation of Labor held last October, which declares that the con convention authorized the executive committee 'to continue to carry on the battle and at the same time stand ready to respond to any genuine appeal for peace or any honorable and sincere opportunity to reunite the labor movement.'

"I advised the president that I appointed Mr. Harry C. Bates, Mr. Matthew Woll and Mr. Daniel J. Tobin, all members of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, as a committee to represent the American Federation of Labor in peace negotiations, as the president requested.

A. F. of L. Principles Are Sacred.

"It must be obvious that time has served to develop new complications which will now make it more difficult to establish a basis of accommodation and to reunite labor under the banner of the American Federation of Labor.

"The preservation of the structure of the American Federation of Labor and the preservation of its democratic principles are of transcendent importance and cannot be compromised or made the subject matter of negotiation. That fact will be kept constantly in mind in all negotiations which may be initiated and carried on.

"In addition, the economic and political philosophy evolved by the American Federation of Labor out of almost three-quarters of a century of experience cannot be compromised.

Problem Has Become More Difficult.

"The reabsorption of the groups which left the American Federation of Labor and the new unions which said group created will present a problem more difficult of solution now than it was when committees representing the two organizations carried on negotiations for several weeks about a year and a half ago.

"The American Federation of Labor will enter into peace negotiations as the president requested. As I stated to the president in my letter today the officers and members of the American Federation of Labor have always been fully conscious of the injury imposed on organized labor through the division which was created within the ranks of labor. For that reason we greatly deplore the organization set-up of a rival, dual movement such as the committee for industrial organization, now known as the Congress of Industrial Organizations."

Mr. Green said he had consulted with President Roosevelt about a month ago and was aware that the president's letter would be sent. He made clear that he had not requested the president to take action.

Mr. Green was in New York to speak at a meeting of Local No. 3 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and remained here for conferences with A. F. of L. officials.

work. Labor faces a challenge in finding itself divided into opposing camps, but I am sure that labor can and will meet this challenge with understanding and good will.

"The American people sincerely hope that a constructive negotiated peace with honor may come about between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations within the early months of the new year. The secretary of labor tells me that after careful investigation and prolonged conversations with responsible leaders in both groups there appear to be no insurmountable obstacles to peace and that in fact there is a real and honorable desire for unification of the labor movement among all parties concerned. The desire of the general membership of both organizations for peace and co-operation with each other is demonstrated by the mass of messages which have come to me, to the secretary and to Daniel Tobin as the result of simple public statements in favor of peace.

United Labor Movement Stressed

"The opportunities for a united and vital labor movement to make a contribution to American life of help to the present and future generations were never better. The National Manufacturers association recently has made a statement expressive of a better understanding of the problems of labor relationships and of their willingness to work with labor in a realistic effort to improve their mutual relations and to better general working conditions. The complicated economic and social problems of today require the co-operation of responsible groups of citizens of all walks of life and the effectiveness of labor in this type of council can only be realized by its fundamental unity of purpose and program.

"I do not need to remind you of the great variety of opportunities to be of service which will come to a united labor movement. Many of your members have spoken to me of these opportunities and many of them have also pointed out to me the hazards and dangers to which the labor movement is subject, both internally and from without, if it cannot find a pattern of unity.

Gives Reasons for Peace Effort

"Therefore, first, because it is right; second, because the responsible officers from both groups seem to me to be ready and capable of making a negotiated and just peace; third, because your membership ardently desire peace and unity for the better ordering of their responsible life in the trade unions and in their communities, and, fourth, because the government of the United States and the people of America believe it to be a wise and almost necessary step for the further development of the co-operation between free men in a democratic society such as ours, I am writing to ask you to appoint a committee to represent your organization and to negotiate the terms of peace between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations. Whatever assistance we in the government can give you in this matter will be gladly given.

"I wish to reiterate the sincerity of my belief in labor's capacity to end this breach and my faith in the intention of the wage earners of America to play their part along with all other groups in our community in overcoming our mutual problems and bringing about the good American democratic life.

"I am sure that these results can be achieved if the parties come together with open minds and a clear intention to effect genuine peace and harmony in the labor movement.

"It is with confidence that I write you, dear Bill, as a man of good will, of experience and high principles. I trust I shall very shortly receive a reply giving me the names of the members of the committee which you will appoint.

"Sincerely yours,

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

Andrews Clamps Down On Pay Act Violators

Washington, D. C.—Definite action to tighten enforcement of the Fair Labor Standards act of 1938 were announced by Administrator Elmer F. Andrews.

Declaring that his purpose was to provide "fair and even handed administration," Mr. Andrews detailed 100 inspectors to check up on 2,800 charges that employers had violated the measure.

Meanwhile, the department of justice announced that it was prepared for the first criminal prosecution under the act on the basis of complaints filed against an unidentified shoe manufactnrer of Lawrence, Mass.

"The law has teeth in it, and we are going to see that the teeth bite when occasion requires, both for the protection of workers against conscienceless employers and of law-abiding employers against chiseling competitors," Andrews said.

Civil actions—the only kind filed thus far—and carrying no penalties. But conviction on criminal charges subjects employers to a fine which may not exceed $10,000 for the first offense, and a fine and imprisonment up to six months for subsequent convictions.

Although the law has been in effect nearly four months, only five court actions have been filed against alleged violators.

36-Cent Floor Asked For Wool Textile Pay

Washington, D. C.—The special committee for the woolen textile industry, following a two-day meeting here, recommended that the minimum wage for the woolen textile industry be fixed at 36 cents per hour—11 cents over the present 25-cent minimum fixed by the Fair Labor Standards act of 1938 for all industries, and 4 cents under the 40 cents per hour minimum prescribed as the goal of the act several years in the future.

The committee vote was 8 to 4, the labor members voting for the 40-cent minimum and the employer and public members united on 36 cents.

Under the Fair Labor Standards act, Mr. Andrews must hold public hearings on the recommendations of the committee, after which he may issue an order making the 36 cents rate effective or refer it back to the committee for further consideration, or he may appoint an entirely new committee for further study of the economic conditions in the industry.

The committee asked Andrews to reconvene it a year hence in the event he approves the recommendation, to permit it to consider the effect of the new wage on the industry. It also created a subcommittee to confer with textile industry representatives to clarify matters of jurisdiction.

Organized Labor

(Clipping from Topeka (Kan.) Capital Feb. 5, 1939)

It is just as true today as ever that frequently the simplest solution to a difficult problem is the best solution. A lot of employers have found this to be true in dealing with labor unions. The employer who wears himself out worrying about his employes being organized, and about being dictated to by labor leaders is passing up the simplest solution to his entire employment problem.

Any employer who can put two and two together and get the correct answer knows that organized labor is here to stay. It may not be in any of its present forms, but democratic American workers who have learned to appreciate a voice in their own affairs will cling to their right to organize so long as democratic processes govern America.

An apt illustration of the truth of the above observation is told in a recent article appearing in the Christian Century. The story concerns the Paraffine Companies, Inc., operating a huge factory in San Francisco, and it illustrates how simply the company solved the problem of the unions.

So sure were the managers of the company of the loyalty of their employes that when union organizers called on them and asked for a contract they were laughed at. "Our workers don't need your union," said the boss; "they have their employes' council through which they settle all grievances and through which they let us know what they want."

"Yeah, company union," said the organizers. "Your employes can't get what they want through a company union; company union officers are afraid to say anything. You don't know what your employes want right now."

This was quite a challenge to the boss. "O. K.," he said, "we'll take a secret ballot, and you will see." To his dismay, when the result of the ballot was announced he found the majority had elected to rely on the union organizers and their unions rather than the kind of organization they had been working under.

Naturally, the first reaction of the Paraffine executive was that workers are an ungrateful lot of animals. High wages, insurance vacations had all meant nothing to them. All right, let them look to the unions from here on out and see what would happen to them.

But Mr. W. H. Lowe, the president, thought of something. He remembered that when the company lost a good customer they didn't get sore at him; they went to him with a better product and tried to resell him. He decided to sell his company to his employes, and to do it through the union organizations.

Mr. Lowe took charge of employment problems himself. He opened his office to union organizers and committees. He found he had to deal with fifteen A. F. of L. unions and three C. I. O. unions. So successful was he that not once has there been a stoppage of machinery, although disputes have occurred which might have easily disrupted the entire plant.

Of course, Mr. Lowe was severely criticized by other employers, who insisted that the closed shop was unfair to the worker who did not want to join a union. Mr. Lowe settled it by saying there could be nothing but bickering between union men and nonunion men working side by side, and he was willing to put them on their mettle and hold them responsible for the plant's efficiency.

This employer recognized that older superintendents, men who had been accustomed to "bossing" their departments under the company union idea, would not get along with union business agents. Consequently he placed young men in charge of grievance meetings wit union spokesmen, believing tey would ave a more progressive viewpoint on labor relations.

Through the whole proceedings, the president was carrying on an intensive campaign to sell the company to the unions and the employes. He insisted that union shop stewards would be better union men and better stewards if they knew everything about the Wagner act and labor organizations. He established a night training school to teach unionism. Even some of Harry Bridge's lieutenants heard about it and asked for permission to attend. More than 100 key men in the plant enrolled, all voluntarily.

According to the story, all that President Lowe expected out of the new deal was added loyalty and efficiency. But as it turned out, he got much more than that. He found out that he was employing a large group of citizens, men who pay taxes and wield votes, and that they were pulling for his company.

He found, for example, that the unions were making organized and effective campaigns with school boards, governmental agencies and others to have them use the products which Paraffine had to sell. One of the unions carried on a direct mail campaign to have Paraffine products stocked in stores which were not stocking them at the time.

"When we first signed up with the unions," states Mr. Lowe, "our belly-ache meetings used to last till midnight, our executives resisting what they believed to be an encroachment on their rights. Now we are willing to hand it to the unions. We're paying the highest wages in our history, and are getting more for our wage dollar. The unions not only increased the efficiency in our plant, but they are helping to sell our products. That's what we got out of playing ball with the unions."

We can think of several Topeka firms that might have solved their employment problems just as satisfactorily as the Paraffine company did. But they chose the hard way—the wrangling way. Some of them believe they are duty bound to fight the unions. How foolish!

Fibre Board Container Firm Signs Union Pact

Richmond, Va. — Officials and members of Local No. 92 of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders' affiliated with the A. F. of L., are gratified with their success in negotiating an agreement with the Fibre Board Container company, of Richmond. Local No. 92 represented the employes of the company in the negotiations.

The difficulties experienced in financing the contract were set forth by John G. Davis, an official of Local No. 92.

"These workers," Mr. Davis said, "have been organized for a number of years, and they have been negotiating with this company the pas ten months for an agreement, but it required the combined efforts of the United States Department of Labor, the National Labor Relations board, the American Federation of Labor and the Central Trades and Labor council to get an agreement. The greatest obstacle was due to the fact that this industry is a family affair. There are more relatives of the owners and managers working in this plant than any other industry of which we have any record.

"However, we hope the ice has been broken and that the way has been paved for a more satisfactory agreement at some future date."

Q. What is the function of corn silk in the corn plant?

A. It serves in fertilization. The pollen grain develops a tube which grows down the silk to the germ of the corn grain. Each corn grain has one of the silky fibers, or "styles," said Dr. Stanley A. Cain, U. T. botanist.

Public Housing Program Serves Lowest Income Groups, Gives Big Boost to Employment

Washington, D. C.—The public summary of the report of the United States housing authority to congress is a most encouraging thing. The work created under the USHA lending program will make possible 270,000,000 man hours of work at project sites, and more than $257,000,000 will be paid in wages to workers at the sites. But the bureau of labor statistics shows that for every man hour of direct labor, one and one-half man hours of employment will be created in the mills, mines, factories, quarries and the transportation agencies which supply the materials and bring them to the site.

In other words, the total employment insured by the USHA is at least 670,000,000 man hours of work.

Public Housing Proved Sound

"We now know," the report says further, "that public housing can be and is being produced as economically as private housing; that rents can be and are being reduced to the point where slum dwellers and the slum dwellers alone will be served, thus avoiding any possibilitiy of competition with decent private housing; that the small amount of outright expenditure (as distinguished from strictly returnable loans) for public housing makes it one of the most economical and at the same time one of the most durable forms of public improvement; that the machinery of the USHA affords a striking illustration of the feasibility of enlisting local capital investment and local expenditures in support of local public improvements; and that federal financial assistance and the development of sound standards can be combined with local administration and genuine local responsibility."

It is estimated that medium shelter rent for all 76 approved southern projects will be about $13.80 per month per dwelling, and for the 64 northern projects, about $16.80. These rents, the report asserts, "will be the lowest achieved in recent times for decent housing, public or private."

Lowest Income Groups Served

Detailed tables reveal that 20 southern projects and 1 northern project will provide dwellings for famalies with average annual earnings from $450 to $659, that 56 southern and 49 northern projects will serve families with average annual incomes ranging from $650 and $949, and that the remaining 14 projects, all in the north, will serve families with average annual incomes between $950 and $1,149.

Interpreting these facts, the USHA comments:

"In other words, the program will serve only the lowest income group and will supply decent housing to families having only about half the income that they would need to rent or purchase modern homes supplied by private enterprise. It will reach down to the vast majority of those now forced to live in slums. But if a family has no income, or an income absolutely inadequate for a minimum subsistence, then there is no practical and non-Utopian way to furnish it with decent housing until it receives such minimum income, either from private or public sources."

TEACHER TALK

The federation is considering the proposed salary schedule that would take the place of the present salary law which is in the courts.

Send telegrams to the state senators and the house delegation from Hamilton county in support of this resolution on a matter in which you, as teachers, are vitally interested:

Resolution Memorializing Congress to Approve the Federal Aid Bill (S1305).

"Whereas, the public schools in America are a vital force in preserving and carrying on our democratic traditions, and whereas all American children are entitled to equal educational opportunities; and,

"Wheras, the burden of maintaining high standards in school programs is becoming increasingly difficult for our states and municipalities to bear since they do not all have equal resources for supporting adequate education; and,

"Whereas, several of our states and municipalities are in a precarious financial position resulting in the closing of schools and stringent retrenchment, thus causing a serious problem of national concern; and,

"Whereas, there has been introduced into the United States senate by Senator Thomas and Senator Harrison a bill to 'promote the general welfare through appropriation of funds to assist states and territories in providing more effective programs of public education; and,

"Whereas, this federal aid bill (S.1305) gives grants to states on the basis of the index of educational load and financial ability for edult education, rural library services, co-operative educational research and demonstrations and for the improvement of public elementary and secondary schools by improving teacher preparation, construction of school buildings, and administration of state departments of education; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the senate and the house of representatives of the state of Tennessee hereby memorialize the congress of the United States to approve Senate Bill 1305, the federal aid to education act of 1939; be it also

"Resolved, That one copy of this resolution be forwarded to each of the following . . . (Includes President Roosevelt, Vice-President Garner, Speaker Bankhead, Senator Elbert D. Thomas, chairman senate committee on education and labor; Congressman William H. Larrabee, chairman house committee on education and labor, and the senators and representtives from Tennessee.)"

Four thousand women, many of them college graduates, crowded to a New York armory to apply for fourteen jobs. And still reactionaries blather that the "unemployed won't work."

Mr. T. A. Cuthbert,
Editor, Labor World,
Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Dear Mr. Cuthbert:

May we offer our congratulations on your new, enlarged edition of the Labor World. This new improvement reflects the interest and support of Chattanooga Craftsmen and identifies the Labor World as one or this localities' most progressive and growing newspapers.

We shall continue to advertise in the Labor World as we have in the past, because we feel that this is our most effective method of reaching Chattanooga tradesmen.

Best wishes for your continued success.

Very Truly Yours,

IT IS the WAGE EARNER who always wants a better home, more and finer furnishings, new clothing, a new radio, a better car. He keeps his wages in circulation, BUYS THINGS with his money. . . . When the WAGE EARNER restricts his buying, merchants feel it immediately. The trade of the WAGE EARNER keeps business booming on Market and Broad streets . . . and the merchant who has the patronage and friendship of Chattanooga WAGE EARNERS is "sitting pretty," as the saying goes.

10,000 UNION MEMBERS ARE READING

THE LABOR WORLD

THIS BLANKETS the Labor Movement in Chattanooga -- goes right to the heart of the most responsive and best buying group in this area. THE LABOR WORLD is the most effective approach to this trade. When you are in THE LABOR WORLD it is just like being introduced and sponsored by a friend of the readers.

After repeated tests, PRINTERS INK, the recognized authority on advertising media, gives this verdict: "A labor paper is a far better advertising medium than any ordinary newspaper in comparison with circulation A labor paper having 2,000 subscribers is of more value to the business man who advertises in it than the ordinary newspaper with 12,000."

Three Essentials of a Profitable Advertising Medium

1 It must reach a group of people who are ABLE to buy your goods. Craft unions represent the highest paid labor in the Chattanooga area. Readers of THE LABOR WORLD not only are ABLE to buy, but they DO BUY things they want.

2 It must have the interest of its readers, so that they will read the paper thoroughly and, therefore, are likely to SEE YOUR ADVERTISEMENT. No other publication has such intense reader interest as THE LABOR WORLD. It is the authoritative voice of Labor in Chattanooga.

3 Readers must have confidence in the paper. THE LABOR WORLD is owned and operated by the Chattanooga Central Labor Union and goes automatically to all its union members. They know that the business man who is not reliable, or is unfair to organized labor, cannot buy an advertisement in THE LABOR WORLD.

The readers, who are the owners of THE LABOR WORLD, are loyal to business men who use the paper. An advertisement establishes a background of friendliness among union people as no other publication can.

Jacksonville Light Plant Is Union-Built

A. F. of L. Unions Strike Against Three Firms Which Refuse to Grant Union Wages and Hours.

Jacksonville, Fla. — Jacksonville organized labor is supporting strikes against three firms which refuse to recognize American Federation of Labor unions and grant unio wages, hours and work conditions.

The Glaziers' union is conducting a vigorous strike against the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company and the French Mirror Plate Glass company. Confronted with information to the effect that the strike breakers employed by the construction was not proceeding under conditions prescribed by the merchants that the strike was settled and that they were union men, officials of Glaziers union asked merchants to demand that each glazier employed be required to show his union card.

The Building Trades Council announced that non-union workers were employed at the Firestone service station. The council placed signs on the job stating that the two non-union firms were telling building trades unions. In addition, pickets were detailed to patrol the approach to the job.

In strong comparison with the subversive labor policy of these three firms is the fact that the contract for the extension of the electrical facilities of Jacksonville's municipally owned and operated light plant was awarded to the Miller Electric company, of Jacksonville, which pays the union rate at the prevailing wage scale and operates on a 100 per cent union basis.

"Southern Labor Spots"

Hartsville, S. C.—Charter for the newly organized local union of colored textile workers was installed here last Saturday night, with C. M. Fox, of the A. F. of L. staff, in charge of the installation program. Officers were elected and obligated, and the new local officially added to the constantly growing list of A. F. of L. textile locals in South Carolina.

Birbingham, Ala.—Officers of local cement workers' unions here have received information of the rapid progress being made by the council in obtaining agreements with employers where the workers are organized. Report is to the effect that the following agreements have been secured within the past thirty days:

Local 19310, Dallas, Tex., signed agreement with Trinity Portland Cement company.

Local 21144, Manitowoc, Wis., negotiated an agreement with Medusa Portland Cement company, which was to be ratified by the union before signing.

Local No. 21758, Waco, Tex., signed agreement with Universal Atlas Cement company.

Local 21790, Houston, Texas, signed agreements with Trinity Portland Cement company, and Lone Star Cement corporation.

Local No. 21287, Fredonia, Kan., signed agreement with Consolidated Cement company.

Local No. 21715, Medicine Lodge, Kan., signed agreementt with Best Brothers Keene Cement company.

Local No. 21716, Sun City, Kan., signed agreement with Best Brothers Keene Cement company.

Florence, Ala.—Elmer Estes, representing the U. T. W. in this section for several days in most effective manner, organized a local union of culinary workers while carrying on his textile activities. Charter for the local has been ordered and will be installed upon its receipt here.

Spartanburg, S. C.—John W. Pollard, president of the Southern Cotton Textile Federation, is a native of this section, and has lived here all of his life. He has served the textile workers in many capacities, both in local union work and as president of the South Carolina Textile Federation. Friends of Mr. Pollard declare that he is the right man in the right place, in leading the southern organization of southern textile workers. Mr. Pollard is receiving encouragement from textile centers throughout the south, he says, and further states that there is genuine rejoicing among the textile workers in the "movement back home—back into the American Federation of Labor."

BREWERY WORKERS' UNION LANDS 3 MORE CONTRACTS

Cincinnati, O.—Officials of the international union of the United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America announced the negotiation of agreements with the Charles Bach Malting company and Bauer & Schwietzer, both of San Francisco, and the Schlitz Distributing company, of Oklahoma.

Q.—What is the value of the average farm in Tennessee?

NEWS FLASHES

Duncan, S. C., Feb. 27.—Charter for the U. T. W., local textile union dormant for some time, will be re-instated during the week, a large number of workers having signed application for re-instatement. Furman Garrett, long active in the interests of textile workers, has assisted the group here in its work and will act as installing officer.

Ruston, La., Feb. 27.—Charter for the newly organized local union of Common and Construction Laborers was installed here last Monday night, with E. H. Williams, of the A. F. of L. organizing staff, in charge of the meeting. Officers were named and obligated, and the local affiliated with the Louisiana State Federation of Labor.

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 27. — A State Council of Teamsters and Chauffeurs local unions in North Carolina was organized here Sunday, the meeting being held in the county courthouse. Delegations from several cities of the state were present. D. G. Kiser, president of Local No. 71 in Charlotte, whose local acted host to the visitors, opened the meeting and welcomed the delegates to Charlotte. One main feature of the meeting was adoption of plans to give more effective aid to the striking truck drivers at Wilmington, whose employer, one R. I. Brinson, of the Southern Oil Transportation company has to date refused every effort made to adjust the trouble which caused the strike on Oct. 30.

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 27.—Isadore L. Culler's famous bill, presented weeks ago to the South Carolina legislature, wherein the solon would control all labor organizers by strict law and then demand 50 per cent of initiation fees and dues collected be paid into the coffers of the state, is meeting with plenty of opposition. The bill has not been reported out of committee as yet, and many hearings have been held by the committee to which the bill is referred. Earle R. Britton, legislative representative of the State Federation of Labor, says opposition to the bill has been registered from many states.

Already, Mr. Britton says, the opposition has been so pronounced that the author of the bill has withdrawn the more objectionable parts of the measure, such as taxing the organizations half of the initiation fees, dues, leaving the original bill based upon the matter of registration of organizations and their representatives as the chief item in the measure. The railroad brotherhoods have aided greatly in opposition to the measure.

Florence, Ala., Feb. 27. — TWOC's high-handed policy of betraying the interests of textile workers for a closed shop agreement was halted here last Thursday when a circuit court judge granted an application of workers for a restraining order against TWOC officials interferring with the workers here. The TWOC had negotiated a contract with a local mill, accepting a 10 per cent reduction in pay for the workers in exchange for a closed TWOC shop agreement. No local committee had any part in the negotiations, and when the workers had been informed of the contract which reduced their wages 10 per cent they rebelled, and voted three to one to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor.

The TWOC sent a flock of organizers into this city and demanded that the company discharge all employes who were not members of the TWOC, although three-fourths of the employes were members of the A. F. of L. The workers applied to the Circuit Court of Alabama for an order restraining the TWOC and the CIO from interferring with their employment. The court found in favor of the workers, and declared the TWOC contract, negotiated and signed without any consent of the workers involved, was null and void, and granted the prayer of the workers for a restraining order against the TWOC officials.

Hon. John Busby, Birmingham attorney and former president of the Alabama State Federation of Labor, appeared for the workers and the A. F. of L. union. Mr. Busby is recognized as one of the most outstanding attorneys in the South in all matters pertaining to labor and industry. He volunteered his services, appearing for the A. F. of L. workers, without charge.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 27.—All A&P stores operating in the state of Georgia, except in Savannah, are under agreement with several unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, the last of the agreements having been signed last week. Savannah is in the Jacksonville district and agreements are now being negotiated for that district.

The agreements call for the closed shop, and contain many decided advancements for the workers in the several stores. The clerks, being members of the Retail Clerks' International Protective Association, obtained a minimum wage of $18 a week for all clerks who have had three years service with the company, with increases for those whose employment has been for a shorter duration. This agreement covers the clerks in all stores in the state except those in Savannah, which is in the Jacksonville district.

Machinists employed by the A&P throughout the state obtained in their agreement a minimum wage of 95 cents an hour, with price and one-half for overtime.

Teamsters and warehousemen obtained a splendid agreement, with the teamsters getting a minimum wage of $28.50 weekly, and price and one-half for overtime. Increases were noted for all workers in this group.

Bakery workers obtained a union label agreement, which gives the bakeries operated by the A&P the right to use the union label, a right and privilege enjoyed only by those concerns who have a standard closed shop agreement with the Bakery Workers' International Union.

George L. Googe, southern representative of the American Federation of Labor, acted as chairman of the negotiating committee for the several unions, and represented the Teamsters and Warehousemen at request of the international officers. Serving with Mr. Googe on the negotiating committee were L. L. Dodson and Erskine Mabee, of the Clerks International, and B. H. Whitehead, Atlanta, business agent for the Clerks. The Bakery Workers were represented by Curtis Sims, of the international union. Representative Howell, Business Agent King and Paul Chipman, secretary of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, represented the machinists.

Agreements had already been signed between the company and the Amalgamated Association of Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers, and a state-wide agreement was signed three weeks ago between the A&P company and the Building Trades of the state of Georgia.

The successful ending of the above negotiations marks a victorious milestone in the labor movement, as the A. F. of L. unions have been working toward this goal for many years. Georgia is the first state in the South to become a 100 per cent organized state with the A&P company. Campaigns are in full swing in Florida and other southern states, and it is believed that negotiations now being carried on in those states will soon result in closed shop agreements between the A&P and the A. F. of L. union membership employed by that great concern.

A MESSAGE TO ORGANIZED LABOR

What YOU BUY and WHERE You Buy It

MAKES . . .

The LABOR WORLD

. . . GREATER

BUSINESS MEN who advertise regularly in THE LABOR WORLD are responsible for the recent enlargement of the paper. A larger paper gives new strength and prestige to the labor movement in Chattanooga.

BEING BUSINESS MEN, if their advertising does not bring results which they can trace to THE LABOR WORLD, these advertisers will not continue to use the paper.

THE LABOR WORLD is the only voice of organized labor in Chattanooga. It is YOUR voice—you who read the paper. In helping THE LABOR WORLD to grow YOU are creating an agency of great value to YOU—personally.

PERSONAL PRIDE, personal interest and organization expediency demand that union people buy from business men who advertise regularly in THE LABOR WORLD.

WHEN YOU NEED SOMETHING, first try to buy it from some of the regular advertisers in THE LABOR WORLD. If each of our readers will adopt this policy, and stick to it, we will build one of the nation's greatest labor organs here in Chattanooga—and very quickly . . . and it will help the unions of Chattanooga to secure improvement in conditions affecting our working people.

THE LABOR WORLD is already something to be very proud of, and if readers stick to the cause it will surprise all of you.

LET'S GO! Buy from advertisers in THE LABOR WORLD—and tell them WHY you are buying from them. Tell business men who are not advertising that they must get in THE LABOR WORLD if they want a share of Chattanooga's great union trade.

AND FINALLY, if you hear any news about any of our people, yourself included, call us up and tell us about it. Call us when you have talked to some advertiser, and think we can get him to advertise in THE LABOR WORLD.

Lupton, Junior, a minor, Glen Woodson, Sam Woodson, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Texas; Nancy Jane Lupton, a minor, Laura Belle Lupton, a minor, Purcell Lupton, Junior, a minor, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of California, and the Unknown Heirs of F. W. Lupton, Deceased:

In this cause, it appearing from the petition, which is sworn to, that the Chattanooga Housing Authority, a public corporation, organized and existing by and under the laws of the State of Tennessee, is seeking to condemn the fee in certain real estate situated in Hamilton County, Tennessee, and further described as follows, to-wit:

Lot Eight (8) Grove Street, Fort's First Addition, as shown by plat of record in Book W, Volume 1, page 192 of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

According to said plat said lot fronts fifty (50) feet on the east line of Grove Street and extends back eastwardly, between parallel lines, a distance of eighty-four (84) feet to the west line of an alley, including all fixtures and improvements thereon, for use in the development and construction of a slum clearance and low-rent housing project for people of low income, a public purpose, and, for which the property will be used in the public interest, and it further appearing from said petition that the defendants, Mrs. C. D. (Dora) Whitsell, Mrs. N. H. (Ola) Hazlewood, Mrs. Henry (Lula) Thomson, George Lupton, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens resident of the State of Virginia, C. A. Lupton, T. C. Lupton, Junior, a minor, Glen Woodson, Sam Woodson, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Texas, Nancy Jane Lupton, a minor, Laura Belle Lupton, a minor, Purcell Lupton, Junior, a minor, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of California, and the Unknown Heirs of F. W. Lupton, Deceased, have an interest in said property, and that they are nonresidents of the State, or are unknown, so that ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them, it is ordered by me that publication be made once each week for four consecutive weeks in The Labor World, a newspaper published in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, as notice to said nonresident and unknown defendants that they are required to appear in Circuit Court, First Division, at Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, on or before the 20th day of March, 1939, the same being a rule day, and make defense to said petition, or the allegations of same will be taken for confessed and the cause set for hearing ex parte as to them.

Said nonresidents and unknown defendants are further notified that the petitioner will, on March 25, 1939, at 9:00 o'clock, A M., present said petition to the court for hearing in the Circuit Court, First Division, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at Chattanooga, and ask for an order sustaining the petition and of condemnation against said property, and the issuance of a writ of inquiry to summon a jury of inquest to set apart said property by metes and bounds and assess damages, or that the jury inquest be appointed by the court, or both, and that the court fix, by order, the time and place of the inquest, and for other relief.

Said nonresident and unknown defendants are further notified that on said March 25, 1939, and on subsequent dates, petitioner will ask for other and additional orders incident to these condemnation proceedings, and will prior thereto, to-wit, on February 27, 1939, ask for the appointment of a guardian ad litem for the minor defendants.

The petitioner has heretofore, to-wit, on February 16, 1939, filed its petition as required by law, describing particularly the property sought to be condemned, with which is filed a plat or map showing the location, to which reference is here made.

Start Them Right!

By Dr. Charles Stelzle
Executive Director, Good Neighbor League

There's a great difference of opinion as to whether the character of parents or the living conditions is the determining factor in the future life of children. The arguments on either side are equally convincing. The workers of America have come a long way in spite of their humble beginnings. Even those born in the tenements have risen to places of power and influence.

But it is quite likely that most of these had back of them the strong character inherited from their parents. On the other hand, many of the sons and daughters of the rich have failed because of a weak strain in their parents. When a child has to contend with both bad surroundings and weak parents, he is sure to have a pretty tough time, but even many such have finally won out.

The famous Jukes family consisted of a lazy, irresponsible fisherman and five daughters. In five generations the known descendants numbered about 1,200 persons, of whom 310 were paupers, living in almshouses; 440 were physically wrecked by their own wickedness, more than one-half of the women were immoral; 130 were convicted criminals; sixty were habitual thieves; seven were murderers, and 200 died in infancy. Not one of them had even a common school education. Only twenty of them learned a trade, and ten of them learned it in the state prison. This family has cost the state of New York millions of dollars and the cost is still going on.

At about the time that Jukes, the fisherman, died, Jonathan Edwards—a humble New England preacher—left a large family. In 1900, as many as 1,394 of his descendants were identified. Of these, thirteen were college presidents; three were United States senators; sixty-five were college professors; thirty were judges; 100 were lawyers—many of them distinguished; sixty were physicians; seventy-five were officers in army and navy; 100 were clergymen, missionaries, etc.; sixty were prominent authors and writers; 295 were college graduates; eighty held public office.

One was a vice-president of the United States; several were governors of states, members of congress, mayors of cities, ministers to foreign courts. Fifteen railroads, many banks, insurance companies and large industrial enterprises have been indebted to their management.

Every man owes it to his children to give them a better chance than he enjoyed. He may not be rich enough to afford a college training for his children; he may not even give them a better home so far as luxuries are concerned; but he can help immensely in giving them healthy bodies and strong characters. This is the least—but it is also the best—that he can give them.

What is the best government?—That which teaches us to govern ourselves.—Goethe.

MACHINISTS' PACTS SET WAGE PEAKS

Thousands of Employes Make Gains in Contracts Signed With 60 Employers.

Contracts with sixty employers, bringing wage boosts and reduced hours to thousands of workers, arrived at the International Association of Machinists' headquarters this week.

A number of them established wage scales as high as $1.50 an hour. Many yielded paid vacations for the first time, while others doubled such vacations from one to two weeks annually. Work weeks as high as fifty-eight hours were cut to forty-four without reductions in pay.

Among cities in which the agreements were signed are: San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Me.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Dayton, O.; Tacoma, Wash.; Providence, R. I.; Hoboken, N. J.; Seattle, Wash.; St. Louis, Savannah, Ga.; Fresno, Calif.; New York, Brooklyn, Mt. Vernon, Ill.; Des Moines, Ia.; Somerville, Mass.; Houston, Tex.; Gardner, Ore.; Hastings, Neb., and Corry, Pa.

THE WORM TURNS

(From Erie Railroad Magazine)

It used to be the order to sue the railroad when the motorist ran into the train, but apparently times do change, so Myrtle C. Gochanour, brakeman on the Burlington, has been awarded $30,000 damages by a superior court jury in Illinois for injuries sustained when a truck crashed into his train, throwing him from the baggage car.

Justice Brandeis Ends 23 Years of Great Service to Mankind as Supreme Court Member

By ELIOT HARRIS

Washington, D. C.—Louis Dembitz Brandeis, "this friend of justice and of men," has retired from the United States Supreme court, on which he has given unexampled service to the progress of the law and to the political and economic liberties of mankind for more than 23 years. He is now 82.

He is one of the greatest and luckiest of our men. He was born with an overtopping intellect and an exacting conscience. At his service is a memory never surpassed; a memory that seems to translate as well as retain; and that stored away the last word and gesture of "Macbeth," that he might take Shakespeare's masterpiece with him into the blindness that he then expected. And he is blessed with a wife, one with him in genius and vision; a counsellor, an inspiration and a trained nurse in one.

Gave Much to Public Service

As a lawyer, he set aside a part of his time for public service without pay. He taught a manufacturing client how to avert strikes by giving 52' weeks work a year at fair wages; and the client's sons are still doing it. Leading and backed by the labor unions of Massachusetts, he established savings bank life insurance in that state 30 years ago. He was people's counseel in the railroad rate hearings of 1910; where, as has well been said, he cross-examined railroad magnates till they scarcely knew their own names when they came from the witness stand. And he earned, in these ways, the opposition of every rich reactionary in America when President Wilson named him to the supreme court.

Wrote Splendid Decisions

He wrote many splendid decisions; and his dissenting opinions will be the guides of a wiser court. They are packed with facts which no one can really grasp and not obey. His dissent in Liggett C. v. Lee packs in 20 pages more cogent facts about American corporations than you will find in half a dozen volumes of corporate history.

His concurring opinion in Southwestern bell and his dissents in half a dozen other cases lay down the paths that must be followed if utilities are to be made to obey the law. In Burnet v. Coronado, he gives 28 cases in which the supreme court has overruled its own prevision decisions, and 14 others in which the preceding decision has been strongly "qualified."

Lives to See Court Change

He has seen the court swing round to the views expressed in many of his dissents. May he live to see it travel farther on that road. This brief article began with President Wilson's description of Brandeis; it cannot close better than with the words which Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes frequently said to his wife as they watched Brandeis drive away from a visit:

"There goes a really good man."

Now You Can Get Union-Made Cheese

Chicago.—An agreement with the inside dairy workers' division of Teamsters and Chauffeurs union, local No. 330, International rBotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffers, Stablemen and Helpers, has bene signed by the Pulk Milk Cheese company, of Elgin, Ill., Howard A. Floyd, business agent, and Leonard Gromer, secretary-treasurer, of the union, have announced.

Under the agreement, which is retroactive to Jan. 1, the company is to hire only union members of those who will become union members within thirty days from the date of employment, and employes are to receive increases in pay of from 8 to 10 per cent. Signing of the contract, it is believed, makes Gold-N-Rich cheese, the product of this company, the only union made cheese in the country.

Q.—How often do multiple births occur in the United States?

A.—Of more than 2,000,000 registered births in 1936, there were 24,569 sets of twins, 277 sets of triplets and six sets of quadruplets.

A new process which reduces the cost of one phase of separating minerals from ores from $20 to 5 cents a ton, and may lead to wide use of abandoned mines, low-grade ores and mine refuse has been announced by W. B. Foulke of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. He said its chief benefits will be in the iron and anthracite industries. The entire nation may profit, however, Foulke said, from a "tremendous increase" in natural resources and the employment of thousands of workers in the new mining fields he said the process would open.

SALES TO JAPAN PROTESTED

Chungking, China.—Residents of the American colony sent a joint cable to President Roosevelt, urging immediate prohibition of the sale of American gasoline, scrap iron, etc., to Japan. The message directed attention to the heavy civilian casualties in China from incendiary bombs and machine guns, "making the United States a virtual partner in Japanese crimes in China."

TEPCO LINEMEN TRY TO COMPLETE SET-UP DUE TO TVA PURCHASE

Greatly Cheered Over Success of 'Nooga Streetcar and Bus Boys

There has been a decided pickup in interest among power distribution employes in the Tepco system since two important developments during recent weeks.

The most important is the knowledge that the street car and bus drivers of the power company have completely organized and a charter has already been received. The organization was done quickly, quietly and with the company having full knowledge that organizers were on the ground directing the work. This appears, some say, as if the Tennessee Electric Power company will no longer resist unionization on its properties.

The impending transfer of the Tepco line system to the various municipalities has impressed on linemen that a union is more important than ever under public ownership in the event an attempt might be made to "play politics" with public power. A definite union movement in a public power system could be most effective in preventing any misuse by management.

In Nashville it is reported that street car men have been watching with interest the Chattanooga situation, and the linemen themselves have noted that the Chattanooga Public Power Board has employed union labor and has paid a higher union scale throughout.

Stanton Smith Goes On Road for A F L

Stanton E. Smith has accepted a position as organizer in the southern states for the American Federation of Teachers. He will begin his new duties on Saturday, having been granted a leave of absence from his duties as a teacher in Central High school until the beginning of the next fall term.

He will work through the American Federation of Labor, but his organization work will be confined entirely to teachers.

Brotner Smith is a vice-president of the American Federation of Teachers and has been president of Local 246 since its organization seven years ago. He has worked tirelessly for the local union, and it was largely through his efforts that the teachers here obtained enactment of a tenure law and teachers' salary bill.

He has participated actively in the Central Labor Union and is secretary of the board of trustees of The Labor World.

His headquarters will be in Chattanooga.

We predict that teachers in the south will find out about what a union can do for them and for advancement of education generally.

Everybody's for Our Own Bob Cooke!

Organized labor is at another crossroads in Chattanooga this next week. It has the most wonderful opportunity to demonstrate its prestige and standing in this community that has presented itself for many years. It can demonstrate to the public that it will stand by its principles or it can make come true the libel that "labor just won't stick."

Four years ago Labor told Bob Cooke that he would make a good city commissioner and that he owed it to the labor movement and the city to run for public service as city commissioner. Labor told the public at large that Bob would be a good commissioner and that they would be proud of him.

He has done a good job. He has made come true Labor's contention four years ago that the public would be proud of him. He rightfully deserves to be sent back on the job he is doing so well.

Report of Committee of Seven Appointed Under Law of Chattanooga Central Labor Union to Investigate Request to Endorse Candidacy of

to the City Commission:

We have earnestly compiled facts concerning the past record of Commissioner R. M. Cooke that pertained to his activities and principles regarding organized labor, and have the honor to present a document which is remarkable as a history of loyalty, devotion and service toward organized labor.

Bob Cooke first came into the labor movement in 1902 as an apprentice in the typographical union. He received his journeyman's card on May 1, 1907, and since that time he has remained continuously a member in good standing without one moment's lapse.

The Chattanooga Typographical Union has sent him to the Central Body as a delegate for 32 years without a break. For 25 consecutive years he was also a delegate to the conventions of the Tennessee Federation of Labor.

On two occasions he was sent to the conventions of the International Typographical Union as a delegate from the Chattanooga Typographical Union, which is regarded by its members as the highest honor that can be given to a member.

For nearly twenty years he has served as chairman of the Typographical scale committee, which negotiates with the publishers wages and conditions of employment. During this period he gained the sobriquet of "7½ Hour Bob" when he alone led the fight for a 7½ hour day for his local union and gained it more than a decade before any other local union thought seriously of attempting the project.

For three years he served as president of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, the highest honor to be bestowed by the labor movement in Tennessee.

For five terms he was the president of Chattanooga Central Labor Union, during which period the local labor movement became more respected and recognized than ever before.

For eighteen years he served as the editor of The Labor World, the official organ of organized labor, owned by the Chattanooga Central Labor Union. So intense was his fealty to labor Brother Cooke led The Labor World through the depression of 1931 to 1935, staying on the job even though his wages were not paid to the amount of nearly three thousand dollars. To date he has not been reimbursed, and he has frequently officially and sincerely offered to mark it off.

His services to various local unions has been such that from a natural feeling of gratitude and recognition, the following local unions have honored him and themselves by making Bob Cooke an honorary member of their respective locals:

Meatcutters, Moving Picture Machine Projectionists, Lodges 56 and 1450 of Machinists, Stage Employes, Painters and Brick and Clay Workers.

In the department of Parks and Playgrounds, Brother Cooke has 44 employes. Out of these 44, 28 hold union cards.

A thorough investigation shows that during Brother Cooke's administration there has not been as much as one hour's work done by craftsmen who did not possess union cards in that craft. More than that, no work has been allowed done except by the proper craftsmen. We do not believe that this can be claimed and proven by any other officeholder.

Every piece of clothing he wears has the union label.

Four years ago Brother Cooke was beseeched by members of organized labor to give up the editorship of The Labor World in order to announce for the city commission. The project was placed before him on a basis of service to labor, and as a result he gave up that means of livelihood and made the race and was elected.

His voting record on the board of commissioners shows that at no time has he ever voted contrary to the wishes of organized labor. Many times he has single-handedly fought for the principles he has supported and believed in for 35 years.

As editor of the labor paper he alone led the fight to secure free textbooks for city school children. He succeeded in that fight.

He repeated to this committee what he has said publicly many times that he was in the hands of organized labor. If organized labor does not desire him to make the race he would not ask for re-election. Many times during the last four years he has become heartsick concerning the nature of politics. He says now that he is in office solely because organized labor took him from a steady job he possessed and demanded of him that he enter politics. He is not a politician after four years, but is still a union man, loyal to all its principles and conditions.

We feel that it is almost a joke to speak of "endorsing" such a man. Just as well should we expect the sun to light itself or, as Brother Burk said, "Go to the courthouse to see if you are married." Just as well should we investigate Samuel Gompers or ask a mother if she loves her child.

Respectfully submitted,

FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1939

PRAISES BOB COOKE

Editor of The Labor World.

Dear Sir:

I would most certainly appreciate it if you would please print a few words in The Labor World in behalf of OUR FRIEND, R. M. (Bob) Cooke.

I have known Bob Cooke for some 15 or 20 years and have always known him to be a gentleman of the highest type and a man who made friends and held them once the friendship was formed.

Four years ago the friends of Bob Cooke saw it to their duty to the high class of commissioner in the city of Chattanooga so that at the time he took the office of commissioner of parks and grounds, for which we know he was well fitted.

It is true he is not the best man having two efforts, but I am sure we will all agree that he has done more on less cash than any of the others.

He has tried out Warner park in a wholesome way for all kinds of games and sports and has arranged the softball grounds so that several games may be played at one time and all of them are well attended, as I guess every one knows. Other cities in order to get out of hard times entertainments all at the same time. It has given the old and young a chance to take part in this sport. Having been a boy myself and having coached and grandchildren of my own, we also seek to start a day at Warner park, where the children from a number of playgrounds to participate in different games and sports and all parents may be present. Sunday afternoon we find from four or five deep looking and commenting on the animals.

He has installed a swimming pool for the summer months, something they have wished and wanted for a long time, and not only these things, but a good many community playgrounds have been arranged so that the children may go there and play and not have to play in the streets where there is so much danger to them.

Now if Bob Cooke was not re-electing to this office the last man to think the office would look at the matter in this respect.

"Bob Cooke held this office for four years and made wonderful progress and took lots of effort and pains with the work and the people did not see fit to put him back for another four-year term, so why should I put forth any more effort than he did and if the people had been interested in these things they most certainly would have let Bob continue on with the work that he had started and was so interested in."

I am sure that the labor unions of Chattanooga will see R. M. (Bob) Cooke in their ballots on March 14, next, and will mark X when they find this name, and will well know that they are standing by a friend who will and does stand by them, or should I say U.S.

With kindest regards and many thanks I remain

Yours very respectfully,
W. B. DYCHE.

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Readers we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly.

Pet cat of a Washington D. C., man goes to celebrated Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore for treatment of infected feet.

"Mr. White," as the cat is listed at the hospital, gets the care of renowned specialists.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC and a friend of the cat's owner, got the hospital attention for "Mr. White."

Why can't human beings get as good treatment as "Mr. White"?

Story of "Mr. White" must have posed this question to many who read it.

Moneyed cat and moneyed humans get the best of medical care.

Poor cats and poor humans sometimes have good care, more often do not.

Growing realization of humanity's right to adequate medical treatment, when needed, is leading to widespread demand for such treatment for all.

Doctors will have to heed this demand, co-operate, or get clamped.

No one knows how adequate medical treatment for all will come. It may come by private co-operative effort, by government effort, or through a combination of both.

But it's on the way.

The boys who know all about what is going to happen in Europe in the next few weeks are at it again.

Forgetting their past losses, they are jumping in a rumba-ing of speculation. Their guess may be right, at last.

Hitler and Mussolini are busy to read their coffee grounds.

They have the totalitarian powers shaking in so many directions at once.

One day they have Russia doomed to attack within forty-eight hours. The next day they see Holland and Belgium overrun this spring. Another day it is England and France. Again, Switzerland and Denmark are the victims.

So far they have not predicted the principality of Monaco will be the early object of totalitarian wrath. Maybe they'll get around to that soon.

The prophecy boys forget how hard they fell down last year. They had war coming at a dozen different times. Dates and even hours were set. But they never came. Some of the boys were deeply pained. Hardly fair, you know, for the totalitarian powers to fail to perform according to schedule, as mapped out for them by hard-working journeymen soothsayers.

No wonder the Montreal Star poked fun at the boys as "pin-headed prophets of evil."

Gosh, suppose they should fall down this year, too! That would be too bad—for the prophets.

Labor papers from various sections report increased union label activity.

Union men and women everywhere are alert to the need of promoting the demand for union label goods and services.

They know that the union label is an insignia of guarantee to the purchaser that goods bearing it are made by wage earners receiving fair wages and working under good conditions.

They are emphasizing that the union label is an insignia of American fair play and as such is deserving of the support of every American who has the interests of his country at heart.

EVERYBODY LIKES BOB COOKE

To be sent back on this job, he must receive a majority of the votes. Although he has made many friends aside from the labor movement, it is most important that labor should swing in behind him. Failure of Labor to turn out and vote for Bob will mean not only disappointment for Bob, but a blow to Labor's prestige that will take years to recover.

Other candidates for city commission are all good men. They MIGHT make good commissioners. Bob has PROVEN himself a good commissioner. Any of the candidates running, receiving Labor's votes, will be almost certain of election. Yet, none of them can rightfully expect the solid vote from Labor that Bob Cooke can expect.

We therefore warn Labor that apathy at this time might be fatal. Not for Bob Cooke. He is just one man. He does not have to have that job. He made a living prior to his past term of office.. It will make Labor seem silly if its own man, who has made a universally admitted splendid record, falls short.

We helped put Bob in office. He made good. We intend to keep him there, and nothing will stop us from it.

Anti-Union Bakery Suspends Operation

Milwaukee, Wis.—As the climax to its long fight against the recognition of the Milwaukee locals of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International union and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters' Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, the Carpenter Baking company announced the suspension of operations for an indefinite period because of "economic" reasons.

Following the persistent refusal of the officials of the company to deal with representatives of the unions to negotiate agreements covering union recognition, wages, hours and work conditions, union pickets were stationed at the plant as an educational method to persuade the plant management that it has poor business policy to operate a bakery as an anti-union shop.

Union officials said the Carpenter bakery has defied all unionization efforts during almost the entire 70 years of its existence, and that the shutdown order was just the final grand stand play of the firm to defy organized labor and prevent the operation of collective bargaining and union agreements for the amicable adjustment of industrial relations.

As an emphatic demonstration of their determination that the closed plant must open under union conditions, the unions continued picketing after the shutdown.

Auxiliary 219 to Typographical Union No. 89 will meet Tuesday night, March 14, at the home of Mrs. Ted Kirby, 1904 Chamberlain avenue. Mrs. M. M. Morris, Mary Echols and Turner Bell will be associate hostesses.

Little Judy Worthington, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Worthington, has been ill for two weeks, but has almost fully recovered now.

Paula Hallmark (Mrs. Vic) is spending several days in Miami, Fla., with relatives and friends. We're fully expecting to get a card from her any day now.

More famous union people — SOPHIE TUCKER is a very active member of the American Federation of Actors. In fact, that organization is building a fund to help their sick and needy members and this fund is to be known as the "Sophie Tucker" fund.

Roy Reynolds was in Cleveland last week, attending the National Association of Teachers' Agencies which has members from coast to coast . . . and he was elected president of the organization. Congratulations, Roy!

* * *

Be sure there's a union shop card in the barber shop when any member of your family goes down for a hair cut!

* * *

Mrs. Bob Cooke is sick with the "flu." Hope you get well soon, Cookie.

Do you look for the union shop card when you go into a meat market? You will find it hanging in plain sight—be sure it's there before you make your purchase.

Did you know—there's a brand-new drink on the market here now? It is called Lime Cola, and Asa Muse, who is a member of Local 79, Brewery Workers, is manager of the company. Of course, it is union—try it soon.

TEACHER TALK

President Stanton Smith will remain as head of the federation until the close of his present term, and will be in Chattanooga a good deal of the time, we hope, since he will maintain his headquarters here for his organizing activities in connection with the A. F. T. The A. F. T. is financing this work, and both organizations expect the fruits of it to help us in our fight for the federal aid bill which will soon be before congress. The more active organizations of teachers there are, the more likelihood of progress in the ideals of education that we inculcate.

Negotiations are being carried on with Mayor Bass, but as President Smith says, they seem to be getting nowhere fast. The fate of the proposed bill on which you voted two weeks ago is about to be decided as we go to press.

Don't forget the Cooke rally Friday night (tonight), 7:30, in Judge Fleming's courtroom in the new police court building. Remember that Commissioner Cooke has voted for our best interests in commission meetings, and that he is labor's man on the commission. He deserves our support.

Harold Ickes wants a "department of conservation," so that the very name will put a certain pressure on the head of it. A good idea—but Ickes didn't need that pressure.

BLUE AND GRAY TRUCKS STILL IDLE

Teamsters' Local, 515, is "going strong" in the strike which began last week at the Blue and Gray Transportation Lines. There are no new developments, according to H. F. Blanset, business agent for the local.

The union men are striving for union recognition and better working conditions and several conferences have been held with the management. A representative from the conciliation department of the department of labor is helping to adjust the difficulties.

Since fascism and nazism started to show the world, the labor unions of two nations have been wiped out, Jews within reach have been persecuted savagely, Ethiopia conquered, China half overrun, Czechoslovakia despoiled, and now Spain subdued, who gets it in the neck next?

Q. What form of government has Czechoslovakia?

A. It is legally a republic, with an elected president at its head, said Dr. Paul K. Walp, of the U-T Political Science Department.

Swimming Pool for Colored Race Only One of Many Things Done by Commissioner Cooke for Negroes

"Best in the South" Is Verdict of Race Leaders as Their Children Splash and Play

Commissioner Cooke, of the department of playgrounds and public utilities, is responsible for the construction of a $65,000 swimming pool for colored people at Lincoln park.

The pool was built under the supervision of P. R. Olgiati, superintendent of the department, who has charge of the construction and maintenance of Commissioner Cooke's many projects.

The 600,000 gallons of water in the pool are completely refiltered every 24 hours, and Olgiati says that the pool water is disinfected to the standard of drinking water by the addition of chlorine. The filters are similar to those at the City Water company and at Warner park.

The sand-beached pool is flood-lighted for night swimming, and is under the constant care of Red Cross life guards.

Stone bath houses of the most modern type are provided for the swimmers. Persons entering the pool pass through continuously flowing showers and step through foot baths. Individual booths are in the women's locker room.

It is estimated that during the two months following the completion of the pool last year, 12,276 persons took advantage of the pool. This number included the free swim given the colored playground children each Monday.

Besides the swimming pool, other improvements at Lincoln park done under the sponsorship of Commissioner Cooke's department include the building of retaining walls and a drainage system; gradings, levelings, resoddings, the construction of a new fence around the baseball and football fields; the remodeling of an old building into a dance hall, and the construction of stone entrances to the park, new walkways and driveways.

The lighting system of the park was rearranged, and new picnic grounds with barbecue pits and tables were built.

"The world's first facsimile network" has been inaugurated by the McClathy new papers, with 100 experimental receiving sets operating in Sacramento and Fresno, Cal. An eight-page newspaper, with wire news, comics, features and other material, is broadcast seven nights per week from midnight to 6 a.m. The reproducing process is similar to that used in transmitting pictures by wire.

BOILERMAKERS ENDORSE BOB COOKE

Local Union No. 656, International Brotherhood of Boilermakers Iron Ship Builders and Helpers of America, desire to join with the other labor organizations of this city in commending the record of our union brother, R. M. Cooke, as commissioner of public utilities, parks and playgrounds and urges members of all labor unions to support and work for Brother Cooke for his re-election as one of our city commissioners.

"Whereas, R. M. Cooke, commissioner of public utilities, parks and playgrounds, has announced his candidacy for re-election as a member of our city commission, and

"Whereas, R. M. Cooke has long been an honored and respected member of organized labor and an active worker of the labor movement and we believe that labor is entitled to representation in the government of our city, and

"Whereas, R. M. Cooke has worked faithfully and efficiently in the department to which he was assigned and has given to this city a park and playground system that is a credit to Chattanooga and that we well may be proud of, and has made for himself a wonderful record for the time he has been a member of the city commission; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Local Union No. 656, International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Ship Builders and Helpers of America go on record of approving and indorsing the past record and candidacy of Brother Cooke as a member of the city commission and urge the citizens of Chattanooga to join with us in returning Brother Cooke to the city commission, as he has made a record that is creditable both to organized labor and the citizens of this city.

M. A. CHAMBERS, President.
W. E. SMITH, Secretary.

THOMAS J. RICKERT NAMED TO AFofL PEACE COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C.—Following appointment of a committee of four to represent the American Federation of Labor in peace negotiations with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, which were urged by President Roosevelt on Feb. 25, Daniel J. Tobin, member of the A. F. of L., declined to serve. In a telegram to President Green, of the federation, Tobin said:

"Because of the enormous amount of work involved, and innumerable wage contracts expiring in this large international union, it is absolutely and utterly impossible for me to serve as a member of the committee representing the American Federation of Labor in discussions with the representatives of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. I am therefore compelled to decline your appointment of me as a member of that committee."

Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, has been a leading advocate of peace with the CIO and urged his viewpoint vigorously at the last A. F. of L. convention.

President Green announced that he had selected Thomas A. Rickert, second vice-president of the A. F. of L. and president of the United Garment Workers to take Tobin's place. The committee now consists of Rickert, Matthew Woll and Harry C. Bates.

Other developments in the labor peace situation included:

Appointment by John L. Lewis of a committee to represent the CIO. Lewis named himself, Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman.

Announcement by Secretary of Labor Perkins that she would summon representatives of the A. F. of L. and CIO to a peace conference at an early date.

Molders Seem Proud Of Commissioner Cooke

Local 53, Molders, are evidently well pleased with the splendid record made by Commissioner Bob Cooke during the past four years, if a letter received by him this week means anything. Here is what they say:

"My Dear Commissioner:

"At the last regular meeting of Local 53, I. M. U. of N. A., we were pleased to endorse the record you have made during the past four years, and heartedly approve your candidacy for the four years to come.

"We feel proud of Bob Cooke. He has made possible a place for recreation after a hard day's toil in offices and shops, for the old as well as the young; who made it possible for all the softball diamonds in our city, which have been so much enjoyed on hot nights. And you colored people don't forget your friend Bob Cooke, who made it possible for you to have some pleasure as you struggle through this life.

"Bob Cooke is an honor to any city in the way he has conducted his office. We, labor, are proud of him, and should have a hand in having representation in the government of this, our city, of which we are equally proud.

"Remember March 14 — and MARCH Bob back to his department, parks and playgrounds.

"Respectfully yours,
"R. L. MOWERY,

MEMPHIS COUNCIL RE-ELECTS LORING

"We see by the papers," referring specifically to the Memphis Labor Review, that unionists affiliated with the American Federation of Labor in the "Bluff City" have re-elected Lev Loring as president of the Memphis Trades and Labor Council. Serving his third term as head of this progressive central body, Brother Loring was unopposed at the recent election and retained in his position by acclamation.

As business agent for the Memphis Plumbers Union, Brother Loring has achieved a notable record of progress in that capacity in addition to his exceptional leadership of the council. He is well known to Chattanooga labor, especially Brother O. E. Cook, who is business agent for Chattanooga Plumbers Union No. 43.

Excellent Airport Will Provide Better Advantages Commercially To Compete With Other Cities

Rose Gardens, Tennis Courts, Golf Courses, Repaired Buildings, Picnic Grounds Give Fine Array

One of the great contributions of Commissioner Cooke, of the department of public utilities, grounds and buildings, has been the improvements on the Chattanooga Municipal Airport.

This airport means a great deal to the people of Chattanooga and labels this city as one of the progressive cities of the south. Besides its regular utility services and value, the airport furnishes pleasure, entertainment, and a place to go for hundreds of persons, not only on Sunday but on other days.

Said Eddie Stork, manager of the airport, "I and the other flyers of Chattanooga cannot praise Commissioner Cooke highly enough for the personal interest he has taken in the airport and for the splendid cooperation he has given

"Besides the physical improvements," said Stork, "the co-operation of Commissioner Cooke has established a great increase in interest of airport activities by the people of Chattanooga. This interest is especially evident at our air meets and air tours. During the last week of the Chickamauga celebration we had two of the largest air shows here that have ever been held in the state."

"During the last four years there have been approximately 158,704 flights from the field and during this time there has been a minimum of accidents," said Stork.

The state flying school, itself, has done much to increase interest in aviation in the city.

Says Harry Porter, instructor for the state school here, "Although the flying school is a state sponsored project, the co-operation of the city commission is necessary for its successful existence. Commissioner Cooke has co-operated with us in every possible way and has even gone to the trouble of furnishing us with a classroom."

"We now have in the ground school 200 students," said Porter. "The school is free to the students and the state foots the bill. Fifteen of the 200 ground students will be given 50 hours flying, a private pilot's license. For this, the state will furnish us with a new plane this year."

Porter said that he expected the new ship about the first of May. He spoke again of the co-operation given the school by Commissioner Cooke in permitting the use of airport facilities and numerous other ways.

The state school idea, he said, was conceived and worked out by Major Walter Williams, state director of aeronautics and commanding officer of the Tennessee National Guard. Major Williams and Commissioner Cooke worked out the plans for Chattanooga.

In the Chattanooga school last year, said Porter, in 700 flying hours with new students not an accident occurred. In a large measure, he explained, this fine record was due to the way the airport was run under Commissioner Cooke.

The airport has undergone many improvements during the last four years. Commissioner Cooke's department sponsored the program of building and enlarging. Much of the work was done by the WPA.

During the last four years the acreage of the developed airport has been increased from 130 acres to 322 acres. Originally 230 acres were provided for the airport, with 130 of the 230 acres developed four years ago. Commissioner Cooke and his able airport manager, Eddie Stork, have not only developed the other hundred acres provided for but also they have added and developed an additional 92 acres, bringing the developed land up to 322 acres.

Not only has an additional hanger been built which has increased housing facilities 120 per cent, but also the original buildings have been reroofed, repaired and painted.

As for drainage of the airport, and protection against high water, the levees have been raised from a 47 to a 49-foot elevation and extended around the entire field. Under the field, nine additional miles of tiling have been placed, bringing the total underfield tiling up to 31 miles. A half-mile of 36-inch storm sewer has been placed along the south side of the field to prevent outside water from entering the field.

Rip-rapping with ruble-stone, 10,560 square yards of it has been constructed on the wall of the levee next to Chickamauga creek. Over a mile of hillside terracing has been done to prevent the washing of soil onto the runways. Two 50-horsepower electric centrifugal pumps have been installed to drain the field in wet weather.

Besides a grading of the entire field, 120 tons of fertilizer and two tons of grass seed have been sown thereon.

Complete flood lighting of all runways has been installed, and three large runways with taxi strips connecting have been paved. This is equal to about 14½ miles of highway.

All obstructions on the north, south and west sides of the field have been removed. There has been an installation of a new and large heating system. Four thousand eight hundred feet of water main, connecting with East Brainerd water supply, has been laid.

These and other improvements have been done at the airport under the administration of Commissioner Cooke.

The improvements done at Warner park under Commissioner Cooke are important to the happiness and recreation of Chattanooga. Among these are the hard surfacing of two tennis courts; the building of a rose garden and an iris garden; a new zoo building; the general repairing of all the buildings at the park, and the building of driveways; the repairing of barns; the resurfacing of the race track, and what is of outstanding importance to so many baseball fans—the construction of four lighted softball diamonds, known as Cooke field. A barbecue pit, some 40 feet long, has been built.

The rose garden was built with the co-operation of the Rose society, under the leadership of Mrs. Will Clemons, and the iris garden was constructed with the help of the Iris society, during the time when the late Mrs. Herman Ferger was president of the society.

At Lincoln park, Commissioner Cooke has sponsored the construction of a new swimming pool (now completed) with a capacity of 600,000 gallons. The pool, 80x200 feet, completely refills every 12 hours. Modern locker rooms and a sand beach greet the visitors to the park. In conjunction with the pool is a filtering plant and a distribution system.

Also at Lincoln park, an old building has been remodeled into a modern dance hall, and a new fence has been built around the baseball diamond. A barbecue pit also has been built here, and there has been a general grading, leveling and excavating of the park area. A stone retaining wall, and two stone entrances to the park have been built and the park has been adequately lighted.

At the Municipal Golf course work in grading, leveling and draining has been done. Culverts have been built over open drain ditches, and ditches have been lined with rock.

No story about Commissioner Cooke's fine building program would be complete without mention of his able superintendent of the departments, P. R. Olgiati, who is the man who doesn't talk a lot but a man who has a way of getting things done.

No. 58188

In the Circuit Court at Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee

NOTICE TO NONRESIDENT AND UNKNOWN DEFENDANTS

To Mrs. C. D. (Dora) Whitsell, Mrs. N. H. (Ola) Hazlewood, Mrs. Henry (Lula) Thomson, George Lupton, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Virginia; C. A. Lupton, T. C. Lupton, Junior, a minor, Glen Woodson, Sam Woodson, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Texas; Nancy Jane Lupton, a minor, Laura Belle Lupton, a minor, Purcell Lupton, Junior, a minor, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of California, and the Unknown Heirs of F. W. Lupton, Deceased:

In this cause, it appearing from the petition, which is sworn to, that the Chattanooga Housing Authority, a public corporation, organized and existing by and under the laws of the State of Tennessee, is seeking to condemn the fee in certain real estate situated in Hamilton County, Tennessee, and further described as follows, to-wit:

Lot Eight (8) Grove Street, Fort's First Addition, as shown by plat of record in Book W, Volume 1, page 192 of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

According to said plat said lot fronts fifty (50) feet on the east line of Grove Street and extends back eastwardly, between parallel lines, a distance of eighty-four (84) feet to the west line of an alley, including all fixtures and improvements thereon, for use in the development and construction of a slum clearance and low-rent housing project for people of low income, a public purpose, and, for which the property will be used in the public interest, and it further appearing from said petition that the defendants, Mrs. C. D. (Dora) Whitsell, Mrs. N. H. (Ola) Hazlewood, Mrs. Henry (Lula) Thomson, George Lupton, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens resident of the State of Virginia, C. A. Lupton, T. C. Lupton, Junior, a minor, Glen Woodson, Sam Woodson, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of Texas, Nancy Jane Lupton, a minor, Laura Belle Lupton, a minor, Purcell Lupton, Junior, a minor, nonresidents of Tennessee and citizens and residents of the State of California, and the Unknown Heirs of F. W. Lupton, Deceased, have an interest in said property, and that they are nonresidents of the State, or are unknown, so that ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them, it is ordered by me that publication be made once each week for four consecutive weeks in The Labor World, a newspaper published in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, as notice to said nonresident and unknown defendants that they are required to appear in Circuit Court, First Division, at Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, on or before the 20th day of March, 1939, the same being a rule day, and make defense to said petition, or the allegations of same will be taken for confessed and the cause set for hearing ex parte as to them.

Said nonresidents and unknown defendants are further notified that the petitioner will, on March 25, 1939, at 9:00 o'clock, A M., present said petition to the court for hearing in the Circuit Court, First Division, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at Chattanooga, and ask for an order sustaining the petition and of condemnation against said property, and the issuance of a writ of inquiry to summon a jury of inquest to set apart said property by metes and bounds and assess damages, or that the jury inquest be appointed by the court, or both, and that the court fix, by order, the time and place of the inquest, and for other relief.

Said nonresident and unknown defendants are further notified that on said March 25, 1939, and on subsequent dates, petitioner will ask for other and additional orders incident to these condemnation proceedings, and will prior thereto, to-wit, on February 27, 1939, ask for the appointment of a guardian ad litem for the minor defendants.

The petitioner has heretofore, to-wit, on February 16, 1939, filed its petition as required by law, describing particularly the property sought to be condemned, with which is filed a plat or map showing the location, to which reference is here made.

This 16th day of February, 1939.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 6th day of July, 1931, H. L. Travis and wife, Hattie E. Travis, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration July 16, 1931, and recorded in Book U, Vol. 25, Page 615 et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said H. L. Travis and wife, Hattie E. Travis, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will,

TUESDAY, MARCH 28th, 1939,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot No. 7, Block No. 3, LeClerq's Addition to East Lake, as shown by plat of record in Book W, Volume 8, page 556, of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

NONRESIDENT NOTICE IN ORIGINAL ATTACHMENT SUIT TO ENFORCE FURNISHERS LIEN

Docket No. 146016

Before Hays Clark, Justice of the Peace, Hamilton County, Tennessee

C. W. Hoffman vs. Gid McFarland and Wife, Eva B. McFarland

Whereas, said C. W. Hoffman, by attorney, on the 7th day of February, 1939, made affidavit before me, the undersigned Justice of the Peace, that the said Gid McFarland and Eva B. McFarland are justly indebted to him in the sum of $130.25 by reason of plaintiff having furnished defendants with lumber and materials to construct a house, and that said defendants reside out of this state, and gave a bond, as required by law in attachment cases; and whereas I, the said Justice of the Peace on that day issued an original attachment against the estate of said defendants, and said attachment has been levied on certain property of the defendants, and an order for this publication has been duly made;

Now, therefore, said Gid McFarland and Eva B. McFarland are hereby notified to appear before me, at my office in Chattanooga on the 7th day of April, 1939, and make defense to said suit or it will be proceeded with ex parte. This 24th day of February, 1939.

Chattanooga Housing Authority vs. Sam McKenzie, et al.

No. 58186

In the Circuit Court at Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee.

NOTICE TO NONRESIDENT AND UNKNOWN DEFENDANTS

To the Unknown Heirs of Minnie Kavanaugh Turner, Deceased:

In this cause, it appearing from the petition, which is sworn to, that the Chattanooga Housing Authority, a public corporation, organized and existing by and under the laws of the State of Tennessee, is seeking to condemn the fee in certain real estate situated in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, and further described as follows, to-wit:

The north twenty-five (25) feet of Lot Twenty-eight (28), Cypress Street, formerly Maple Street, Fort's First Addition, as shown by plat of record in Book W, Vol. 1, page 192 of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee. According to said plat said part of lot makes one lot fronting twenty-five feet (25) feet on the east line of Cypress Street and extending back eastwardly, between parallel lines, a distance of one hundred forty (140) feet to the west line of Cedar Street Alley, including all fixtures and improvements thereon, for use in the development and construction of a slum clearance and low-rent housing project for people of low income, a public purpose, and, for which the property will be used in the public interest, and it further appearing from said petition that the defendants, the unknown heirs of Minnie Kavanaugh Turner, deceased, have an interest in said property and that they are unknown, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them, they being nonresidents of the State of Tennessee, it is ordered by me that publication be made once each week for four consecutive weeks in The Labor World, a newspaper published in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, as notice to said nonresident and unknown defendants that they are required to appear in Circuit Court, First Division, at Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, on or before the 20th day of March, 1939, the same being a rule day, and make defense to said petition, or the allegations of same will be taken for confessed and the cause set for hearing ex parte as to them.

Said nonresident and unknown defendants are further notified that the petitioner will, on March 25, 1939, at 9:00 o'clock A. M., present said petition to the court for hearing in the Circuit Court, First Division, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at Chattanooga, and ask for an order sustaining the petition and of condemnation against said property, and the issuance of a writ of inquiry to summon a jury of inquest to set apart said property by metes and bounds and assess damages, or that the jury inquest be appointed by the court, or both, and that the court fix, by order, the time and place of the inquest, and for other relief.

Said nonresident and unknown defendants are further notified that on said March 25, 1939, and on subsequent dates petitioner will ask for other and additional orders incident to these condemnation proceedings.

The petitioner has heretofore, to-wit, on February 16, 1939, filed its petition as required by law, describing particularly the property sought to be condemned, with which is filed a plat or map showing the location, to which reference is here made.

This 16th day of February, 1939.

WAGNER OFFERS BILL TO BRING BENEFITS OF MODERN MEDICAL SCIENCE TO ALL NATION

Washington, D. C. — The National Health Act of 1939 has been introduced in the senate by Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York. Senator Wagner, in explaining his bill, said in part:

"The national health bill which I have just introduced is the culmination of five years of intensive federal study and investigation concerning the health problems of the nation. . . .

"The bill utilizes the sound procedure of grants-in-aid . . . which gives the greatest latitude to the states. . . . The fullest development of this program would bring the benefits of modern medical science, both preventive and curative, within the reach of all groups of the population, especially in rural areas and areas suffering from economic distress."

Bill Amends Security Act

The health bill is really a series of amendments to the Social Security Act. It makes grants in aid to the states on a number of health measures; and in nearly every case, it makes grants for three separate years, the fiscal years of 1940, 1941 and 1942, each ending on June 30 of the year named.

The first grant, for mothers and children, is a total of $8,000,000 of federal money for 1940, $20,000,000 for 1941, $35,000,000 for 1942. Another grant, partly for children, ranges from $13,000,000 the first year to $35,000,000 the last; another, dealing with tuberculosis, malaria, cancer and pneumonia, runs from $15,000,000 up to $60,000,000; and one promoting hospital construction starts with a modest $8,000,000 in 1940, jumps to $30,000,000 in 1941, and to $100,000,000 in 1942. On the other hand, a general health appropriation is made for the states of $50,000,000 and one of $10,000,000 for the establishment of disability compensation in which the first year only is specified, further sums being as required.

Measure Not Perfect

The Children's Bureau, the Public Health Service and the Social Security Board would have charge of the allotment of all federal funds.

Senator Wagner says frankly that he doesn't think this is a perfect national health act. He also says that he believes it the most that can be accomplished in this direction at this time.

And in his explanation, the senator makes the strongest kind of plea:

"No social legislation projected in our time is more closely related to the general welfare than a national program of health protection. No legislation makes as wide an appeal to the public conscience and to the dictates of sound economy. No legislation was launched with more widespread approval among persons in every walk of life. We must take action now to conquer this last remaining frontier of social security in America."

18 Tire Firms Sued For Fixing Prices

Department of Justice Demands Over Million Dollars Damages for Conspiracy to Overcharge the Government.

Washington, D. C.—The evident determination of certain large business interests to evade statute law appears to be revealed in a suit brought by the department of justice against eighteen of the largest tire manufacturers in the United States on charges of conspiracy to fix prices of tires sold to the government between Oct. 1, 1936, and March 31, 1938.

The department alleged that the companies resorted to collusive or identical bidding on government contracts, which is held to violate the provision of the Sherman act, which seeks to give the government the advantages of competitive bidding.

Taking action under Section 7 of the anti-trust act which provides for triple damages, the government sued the companies for $1,053,474.

The eighteen companies named by the government as defendants are: Cooper corporation, Dayton Rubber Manufacturing company, Dunlop Tire & Rubber corporation, Falls Rubber company, Firestone Tiree & Rubber company, Fisk Rubber corporation, General Tire & Rubber company, B. F. Goodrich company, Goodyear Tire & Rubber company, Kelly-Springfield Tire company, Lee Tire & Rubber Company of New York, Inc.; Mohawk Rubber Company of New York, Inc.; Norwalk Tire & Rubber company, Pennsylvania Rubber company, F. G. Schenuit Rubber company, Seiberling Rubber company, United States Rubber Products, Inc., and U. S. Tire Dealers' corporation.

Supreme Court Outlaws Sit-Down And Strikes Three Blows at Labor Board's Authority

Washington, D. C.—The supreme court, by a vote of 5 to 2, struck three sharp blows at the authority of the national labor relations board, and in the first one, read the judicial burial service over the sit-down strike.

In all three cases, Justices Black and Reed dissented; and in one, Justice Stone concurred with the majority only in part. In all, too, the order of the board requiring the employer to cease and desist from interference with the organization of its employes was upheld.

The restoring to jobs of sit-down strikers was the real issue.

The NLRB vs. Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation, a company in North Chicago, was the first one read, and the opinion of the court was given by Chief Justice Hughes.

The Fansteel had refused to bargain with its workers because they belonged to an "outside union," the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. While the dispute was in progress, part of the workmen seized two of the key plants of the company, and held them until driven out by a sheriffs posse. Then the company created a company union. Most of the men were taken back, but the sit-downers were not. The labor board held that the sit-down strike was provoked by the unfair refusal of the company to bargain with the union, and that all should be reinstated.

Strike Held Illegal.

Chief Justice Hughes could not see this part of the order at all.

> "The strike was illegal in its inception and prosecution," he declared. "It was an illegal seizure of the buildings in order to prevent their use by the employer in a lawful manner, and thus by acts of force and violence to compel the employer to submit.

"When the employes resorted to that sort of compulsion, they took a position outside the protection of the statute (the Wagner act) and accepted the risk of the termination of their employment on grounds aside from the exercise of the lagal rights which the statute was designed to conserve."

Mr. Justice Reed, dissenting for himself and Justice Black, declared that:

"Both labor and management had erred grievously in their respective conduct. It cannot be said to be unreasonable to restore both to their former status. . . . I am of the view that the provisions of the order of the board ordering an offer of reinstatement to the employes should be sustained."

Lower Courts Upheld.

In the case of the Columbian Enamel and Stamping company, of Terre Haute, Ind., the board ordered the company to reinstate strikers who had gone on strike in March, 1935. The circuit court invalidated this order, solely on the ground that the strike came before the Wagner act was passed. Justice Stone, for the supreme court, upheld the circuit court, but also said that there was no "substantial evidence" that the company had refused to bargain. Justice Black, in his dissent, held that there was such evidence.

In the case of the Sands Manufacturing Company, of Cleveland, the board had ordered the company to reinstate strikers, and a contract, the board held, was violated by the company. Justice Roberts, for the majority of the court, held that there was no "substantial evidence of such violation. Justices Black and Reed dissented without opinion.

Reinstatement Orders Rejected.

In sum:

The court invalidated the reinstatement orders of the labor board in all three cases; in two cases, by 5 to 2, in one case, with only four justices fully agreeing.

The minority, Justices Black and Reed, insisted that the sit-down was fully balanced by the unfair labor tactics of the Fansteel corporation and that the reinstatement orders of the board should have been upheld in all cases.

The order of the board to the Fansteel to discontinue its company union was upheld.

The cases were argued before Justice Frankfurter was appointed, so he took no part.

Sit-Downers Leave Plant.

South Bend. — Approximately 400 sit-down strikers of the aircraft division of the Bendix corporation left the plant late on Feb. 27 when informed of the supreme court decision that sit-down strikes were illegal.

Springfield, Ill.—Edmund Burke, counsel for thirty-nine Fansteel Metallurgical corporation, sit-down strikers convicted of contempt of court last year, said the steel workers "have no further appeal" and must serve their prison terms and pay their fines, in view of the supreme court decision.

CENTRAL BODY OPPOSES CHAIN STORE TAXES

Charleston, S. C.—The Charleston Central Labor union has nuanimously adopted a resolution opposing "punitive and discriminatory" taxation of chain stores. Declaring that the destruction of chain store systems in South Carolina would destroy at least 20,000 job opportunities now increasingly open to union members, the central body pledged vigorous opposition to any tax legislation directed against chain establishments in retail distribution, manufacturing or transportation.

Two Hundred Sit-Down Strikers Discharged

Newark, N. J.—Two hundred or more employes of J. E. Mergott company, manufacturer of metal novelties, had their dismissals put in the mails as soon as the news of the Supreme Court decision in the Fansteel case reached this city. Some of them had staged a sit-down strike a few days ago. The company got their dismissals ready and waited. When the word came in from the Supreme Court that employers could fire sit-down strikers and that the NLRB could not get them rehired, the letters were sent.

The Margott company was having a dispute with a CIO union on the ground whether the contract should be renewed without an election. The company demanded an election. The matter is before the NLRB.

MEAT CUTTERS SIGN WITH FIRMS IN TWO CITIES

Chicago.—Signing of a 100 per cent union shop agreement providing for increases in wages, a forty-four-hour week, time and one-half for overtime, vacations with pay and seniority rights has ended a two-year strike against the Consolidated Dressed Beef company, Philadelphia, Pa., called by Local No. 195 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, American Federation of Labor affiliate.

The contract, announced by Patrick E. Gorman, president of the international union, sets up an arbitration board for the settlement of any dispute that may arise.

President Gorman also announced that the Albert F. Goetze company, Baltimore, Md., one of the largest packers in the eastern section of the country, had signed an agreement which would make all of their employes members of Local No. 195 of the Amalgamated within thirty days. The pact stipulates that every worker is to receive 5 per cent increase in pay at the end of sixty days and provides for reopening of the wage question after ninety days for further beneficial adjustments.

The Consolidated Dressed Beef company employs about 300 workers; the Albert F. Goetze company, around 400.

Unionists Graduate From Bosses' School

San Francisco Company Conducts Classes for Benefit if Labor Leaders.

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—A labor school financed by an employer graduated twenty-five students here this week, all of them union officials.

Paraffine Industries, Inc., sponsored the school for leaders of eighteen bona fide unions with which it has contracts covering its 1,500 workers. Instruction was given by two University of California teachers and subjects included labor history, labor economics, business administration and labor laws.

Company executives said the school was part of the company's policy to encourage co-operation with its unions.

Coleman, Ragon, Grubb, Thanked for Aid to Smith

Wilhoite Also Praised for Unselfish Defense of Stanton Smith---Vote of Confidence Given By Central Body to Popular Teacher

At its regular meeting last Monday evening, Chattanooga Central Labor Union instructed Secretary Erskine Mabee to write letters to Representatives Coleman, Grubb and Ragon commending them for refusing to allow amendments to be passed which were aimed at Stanton E. Smith, who had incurred the ill will of individuals who were reported to have persuaded Senator Joe Bean to aid them.

At the same meeting French Grubb was declared in good standing with organized labor. Years ago he had some misunderstanding with some building crafts, but the situation no longer exists.

Another warm letter was ordered sent to Chairman L. J. Wilhoite, of the public power board, who also came to the defense of Smith. Although the amendment was tacked onto a bill which would have made Wilhoite a $10,000 employe of the board, Wilhoite refused to allow the sacrifice to be made.

A fine expression of continued confidence in the matter in which Smith had served the power board was also tendered, which served as a reaffirmation of the indorsement given Smith four years ago when he was appointed to the board originally.

Smith this week has taken up his new duties as a representative of the American Federation of Labor, serving particularly as an organizer of school teachers in the south.

FIRM FINED $2,000 FOR VIOLATION WAGE-HOUR

Boston.—Fines totaling $2,000 were imposed in U. S. District court on a Lawrence shoe firm and its treasurer who pleaded guilty to violation of the wage-hour law.

The defendants were the Gerber Shoe company and Nathan Gerber, treasurer and general manager of the 60-year-old firm.

OMAHA TEAMSTERS WIN LONG, STUBBORN BATTLE

Closed Shop Contract Is Setback For Anti-Union Business Men's Association.

Omaha, Feb. 16.—A twenty-two-week strike, waged in defiance of drastic court orders forbidding picketing, was won by the Teamsters' Union this week when four major Nebraska trucking companies signed closed shop contracts with the union.

During the struggle over 200 strikers were arrested. The victory was a severe setback for the Omaha Business Men's association, which had been fighting to make this city "open shop."

Fleming Congratulates Bob Cooke's Victory

Editor of Labor World,
City.

My dear Friend:

Allow me to thank you and your paper and the members of organized labor for the splendid and gracious support that I received. I am deeply grateful to organized labor for their part in my splendid victory. I also want to congratulate your able and efficient Commissioner R. M. Cooke on his splendid victory. It shows that our public appreciated him. Your paper was the only one in the city that did not attack my eight-year extension.

Sincerely,
M. A. FLEMING.

BOB COOKE THANKS LABOR MOVEMENT

I wish to take this opportunity of thanking my loyal friends in the labor movement for their enthusiastic and united support in the recent city election.

It makes me feel good to know that after being in public office for four years that the labor movement stood so solidly behind me, and I shall never forget this loyalty displayed by my boys in the labor movement.

R. M. COOKE.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS PROTECT WAGES, HOURS

Washington.—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins announced that during the week ending March 4, 1939, twelve government agencies reported 82 contracts valued at $2,557,026 complying with the provisions of the Walsh-Healy public contracts act.

Firms awarded the contracts are required to pay employes not less than the minimum wages prescribed by the secretary of labor without any deduction or rebate, apply the eight-hour day and 40-hour week, refuse employment to male persons under 16 years and female persons under 18 years, and ban convict labor.

Benn-Hubb Candy Co. Ordered to Give Pay To Former Employes

The national labor relations board yesterday ordered the Bennett-Hubbard Candy company here to pay back wages to nineteen employes who have been reinstated on their jobs since a strike in June, 1936. The company was ordered to pay back wages for the period from Oct. 15, 1936, to April 28, 1938.

Attorney H. G. B. King estimates that the company will have to pay out in back wages approximately $20,000.

In the order, the board also directed the company to stop "discouraging" membership of its employes in the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' union, A. F. of L.

YOUTH COUNCIL SPONSORS TALK ABOUT HITLER MENACe

Herbert St. Goar will speak on: "Hitler—A Menace to Human Civilization," at the Hotel Patten Tuesday night at 8:15 o'clock under the auspices of the Chattanooga Youth council.

Mr. St. Goar, who is now a resident of Chattanooga, has been in America since last summer. He was graduated from college in February, 1935, and afterwards became connected with the German branch of the International Harvester company, also serving as foreign correspondent for the National Zeitung, Basel, leading Swiss newspaper.

This is the second in a series of lectures to be sponsored by the Chattanooga youth council. The public is invited to hear this talk about Germany.

New Contract Gives More Pay to Service Men

New York City.—A new three-year working agreement covering 8,000 building service employes in hundreds of buildings in the mid-town garment district has been signed between the Building Service Employes Union and two associations of building owners. The agreement is the result of the recent strike, by which the workers won substantial concessions, including higher pay.

The contract will remain in force until Feb. 3, 1942. It provides for an increase of $1 a week for all employes and a 47-hour week instead of the old 48-hour week.

Included in the agreement are also a number of supplemental awards made by Edward F. McGrady, former assistant secretary of labor, who was named arbitrator by Mayor La Guardia when the strike was settled Feb. 4.

LAXNESS IN CIVIL LIBERTIES CHARGED

New York City.—American cities are seriously lax in observing civil rights guaranteed their citizens, a national survey reported by the American Civil Liberties Union.

"Regardless of constitutions, charters, legislatures, courts, laws and decisions, both federal and state, civil rights in a community stand just about as local forces themselves maintain them," the report said.

Runs Fourth With Only 553 Tallies From First Position

Nearly 3,000 Ahead of Fifth Man---Is Clear-Cut Victory Against Great Odds, Indicating Labor's United Support

Bob Cooke succeeded himself last Tuesday as a member of the city board of commissioners, as he ran a fine race in a field of nine candidates. Although Commissioner T. H. McMillan ran first over Cooke's fourth place, only 553 votes separated the two.

The next man to Commissioner Cooke was 2,681 tallies behind. The biggest surprise to most people was the astounding races made by McMillan and Cooke. The scrappy school commissioner went plumb crazy in most of the wards. That Bob Cooke was solidly supported by his own people was shown in the terrific votes in the "labor wards." He also received a large vote from the so-called silent vote that appreciated good government.

Were it not for the hostile Fourth and Fifth wards McMillan and Cooke would have run first and second, respectively. The Fourth ward is dominated by Walter Robinson, who successfully repudiated the great advantages given to his race by Cooke.

Commissioner Cooke fought the campaign under a very heavy handicap, being ill most of the time. Now that the race is over, his friends are urging him to take a long vacation to regain his health.

C. C. Howard Furn. Co. Put On "Unfair List"

C. C. Howard Furniture company, 55 East Main street, was declared "Unfair to Organized Labor" last Monday night when the executive committee of Central Body reported it had been unable to secure an adjustment of a complaint made by the painters' local.

TRUCKING COMPANY STRIKE IS SETTLED

Drivers of Blue and Gray Company Return to Work After Wage Increase.

The big freight trucks of the Blue and Gray Transportation company, 1845 Central avenue, moved back onto the highways at noon last Thursday with the settlement of a two-day strike of the company's drivers.

H. F. Blansit, business agent of Local 515, Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers of America, announced the settlement in a statement in which he said the union gained a 10 per cent wage increase and recognition of the union as the collective bargaining agent for the men.

Blansit said the unilateral statement of policy, signed only by the company, was not a closed shop contract, but set out the conditions under which the men would work. It was negotiated through the mediation of Virgil C. Finch, a conciliator of the United States department of labor.

All of the company's operations between Cincinnati and Chattanooga were said by the union to have been tied up by the strike, with trucks arriving at Chattanooga parked along Central avenue until the settlement was reached.

Two of the drivers would not join the union and refused to come out on strike "just don't live there any more." They were replaced by union drivers after the settlement was made.

The union pays especial thanks to Solomon grocery, 2200 Rossville boulevard, for the unusual and fine co-operation toward the strikers in their brief trial.

On June 30, 1935, 10.6 per cent of American farms had electric service; on June 30, 1938, 19-1 per cent. Almost as much progress in the last three years as in the preceding 30.

Meatcutter's Notes From Local No. 600

Murphy Rogers, Correspondent

Just a few words of praise in regard to Local 600, Meatcutters.

We have been having the largest attendance since the beginning of the neaw year that has ever been known to our local.

We are having very little trouble getting John Henry's on our new contracts so far . . . hope to have them all in by our next meeting, which is Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, and every member is expected to be present.

Paul Hartman has returned to work after a brief illness.

On good and welfare our good President Hurbert Gilreath made it very plain that there is no room in our organization for those who would hinder Local 600 from being one of the best locals in the south.

During the months of January and February twenty-one new members were brought into 600—four new contracts have been signed by companies who have never before been affiliated with with this organization.

Hoping to see all brothers present at the next meeting,

Following are some of the most important provisions of the Harrison-Thomas-Larrabee bill for federal aid to education, the one we are supporting:

1. Local and state control of administration of schools, the curriculums, methods of instruction and personnel are specifically protected. Federal control is positively forbidden.—Section 1 of the bill.

2. Funds are made available to states whose legislatures accept the federal grants and provide a plan, or for the making of a plan by the regular head of the state's school system, for the expenditure of the funds received. The states' plans are not subject to approval or rejection by any federal official.

3. The chief state school officer, or state board of education ,as the state may designate, shall represent the state in the administration of funds.

4. The state is required to provide for reports from local schools to the state and to make reports to the U. S. commissioner of education.

5. The state is required to make audits of local government. The U. S. commissioner of education will audit the state accounts.

6. The state must keep its expenditures from state funds for schools at least up to the level of 1938.

7. Funds appropriated to the states shall be used by them for public schools. "All funds expended under the provisions of this title shall be expended only through public agencies and under public control."

LA. LABOR TO ASK LAW FOR DISCHARGE NOTICE

New Orleans.—E. H. Williams, president of the Louisiana State Federation of Labor, says a resolution will be introduced at the annual federation session in Monroe April 3 to 5 asking the state legislature to pass a law protecting employes in private industry from discharge without fifteen days advance notice or in lieu thereof fifteen days wages.

HITS INVOLVEMENT IN FOREIGN CONFLICTS

Washington, D. C.—Senator Bennett C. Clark, of Missouri, said here he hoped that never again will American youth be called to "fight or die on foreign fields."

Speaking over the eighth annual "Hello America" midnight radio program sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of which he is a member, he called for legislation to make the neutrality act mandatory and passage of a tax bill designed to take private profit out of war.

Pointing out that membership in the VFW is based on service overseas, he said he earnestly wished "this great organization may die with the death of the last person now qualified for membership."

Auxiliary 219 (Typographical) met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Ted Kirby. Hostesses were Mrs. Turner Bell, Mrs. M. M. Morris and Mrs. Paul Woy.

The meeting was an interesting one and indorsements were made by the local for officers for the W. I. A.

Mrs. Martin Peyer gave a talk on "Foods" and told the members what brands of foods could be obtained in Chattanooga that are union-made. Her talk included included union-made breads, meats, dairy products, restaurants, cold drinks and other items in this classification.

Mrs. Williams explained about the Rich Maid coffee that is handled locally by the Label League and sold some to the members.

The next meeting will be held at the Country Woman's club.

NLRB Regional Head Reports Marked Decrease In Industrial Strife

Washington.—The report of Mrs. Elinore M. Herrick, regional director of the NLRB for the region of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, stresses the improvement of labor relations since the supreme court, in 1937, held the Wagner act constitutional. Prior to that time, employers flouted the law. Now, there is "an increasingly widespread and general acceptance of the law."

"Employers have learned that they cannot be said to bargain in good faith if the answer to every proposal is a flat 'No.' Unions have learned that they cannot slap a contract down on the desk and say: 'Sign there or else we'll throw a picket line around the plant.'

"The employer has a right to have the union's claim to represent a majority proved and he has a right to a reasonable time for consideration of the union's demands. The unions have a right to expect that collective bargaining in good faith will ensue and will result in some orderly procedure for determining working conditions."

Mrs. Herrick says that her district has handled 21 per cent of all the cases in the 21 districts of the NLRB.

UNIONS INVESTIGATE ANTI-LABOR LAWYERS

St. Louis, Mo. — A resolution, calling for a complete investigation of the activities of certain notorious anti-labor lawyers to prove that their practices constitute a new form of "ambulance chasing" and that they deliberately foster labor disorders and encourage employers to fight labor unions, has been adopted unanimously by the St. Louis Central Trades and Labor Union.

"Labor recognizes the right of an attorney to represent his client," said William M. Brandt, secretary of the central labor body. "This resolution is directed against lawyers whose entire time is devoted to anti-union practice and activities."

The results of the investigation are to be presented to the Bar Association for consideration.

Automobile Workers Convention Bars Extremists And Acts To Make Union Responsible Bargaining Agency

Detroit.—Members of the United Automobile Workers of America supporting President Homer Martin, meeting in convention here, cut all ties with the CIO and set up an independent union to serve as a responsible, disciplined bargaining agency for auto workers throughout the nation.

The convention, which President Martin said represented a decisive majority of the international union, took the firmest kind of stand against irresponsible action and Communist, Fascist and Nazi influence.

Wild-cat, and unauthorized action of any sort was vigorously condemned and a constitutional amendment was adopted to bar Communists, Fascists and Nazis from applying for membership. The amendment also provided that Communist, Fascist and Nazi members could not hold office or act in any official capacity for the international union or any of its subsidiary bodies.

Martin Defies Reds

President Martin strongly supported the convention's position, bitterly criticizing the "dictatorship of John L. Lewis" and pledging continuance of his fight against the Communists. He promised that contracts with employers would be adhered to in responsible fashion and declared that the convention was a declaration of his union's autonomy from domination by Lewis or by Communists.

The union president told cheering delegates that he would close the union forever to Communism and to the totalitarian rule of dictatorships.

"The majority as I see it represented at this convention has determined that our union shall not be the tool of revolution, the pawn of a Communist machine which has international revolution as its goal," Martin declared.

Referendum Plank Voted

Delegates heartily applauded a telegram from David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, who emphasized the importance of a united labor movement. The convention sent a reply saying that the union would seek to extend unionization to the aircraft industry, to unify its ranks on a responsible, democratic basis as a progressive autonomous organization and to help in speedy unification of the labor movement.

To promote democratic practices in the union, the convention authorized the drafting of a referendum plank in the constitution by which officers might be elected by referendum vote. President Martin said that this would make it impossible for "termites or other ites to prevent democratic elections in the future."

The convention adopted a resolution calling for a referendum of the general membership to decide any future affiliation. Martin said the resolution was the convention's answer to John L. Lewis, who has supported his CIO rivals in the union.

AFofL Official Asks Thorough Study Of Public Assistance To Correlate Relief With Security Program

Washington, D. C.—Need for a "thorough study of the field of public assistance" to correlate relief with the social security program was urged on congress by an American Federation of Labor spokesman.

Matthew Woll, A. F. of L. vice-president, told the house ways and means committee, which is studying revision of the social security program, that such a study "would be of great value in guiding future policy in respect to relief grants and work relief."

"Public assistance to aged persons not covered in an insurance system and to other dependent persons in the population who require aid is a relief problem," Woll said.

"The relief given should meet reasonable standards of living but should not burden the productive workers and business of the country with unnecessary taxes to provide the aged with incomes higher than many of them ever received or which are not needed because their private resources are sufficient."

Woll, in general, indorsed the extension of the social security coverage to seamen, non-profit institutions' employes, governmental instrumentalities, fraternal organizations and unions; to industrial farming employes; advancement of the date for payment of benefits, and extension of the public health program and sickness insurance for wage earners.

BILL TO BAR ARMY CONTRACTS FROM ANTI-UNION FIRMS

Washington, D. C. — Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, has introduced an amendment to the Army Appropriation Bill which provides that:

"No contract shall be awarded to any person who at the time of the award shall be interfering with, restraining or coercing his employes in their rights to self organization to bargain collectively, through representatives of their own choosing."

This will hit several purveyors of army goods and munitions; and Barkley has fitted it with a preamble which makes it apply "to this or any appropriations for national defense."

General Franco, who says that any Spaniard who has joined a labor union is a criminal, is asked to be "lenient." How does he know what the world means?

If Thou Hast Lost a Friend

If thou hast lost a friend
By hard and hasty word,
Go—call him to thy heart again—
Let pride no more be heard.

Remind him of those happy days,
Too beautiful to last;
Ask if a word should cancel years
Of truth and friendship past.

Oh! If thou'st lost a friend

Go—call him to thy heart again—
Let pride no more be heard.

Oh, Tell him from thy thought
The light of joy hath fled—
That in thy sad silent breast
Thy lonely heart seems dead;

That mount and vale—each path ye trod,
By morn or evening dim—
Reproach you with their frowning gaze,
And ask your soul for him.

Federal Reserve Board Backs View Now Is No Time to Curtail Government Spending — RFC Loans to Small Business Proposed — President's Words on Meagre Buying Power Applicable to Entire Nation.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington, D. C.—Labor leaders of America are pretty nearly a unit in holding that the present is no time to stop government spending. The president takes the same stand. And now, the board of the Federal Reserve banking system joins this view. In its March Bulletin, the Federal Reserve says:

"At the present time output of industrial products approximately corresponds to the volume of goods being consumed by individuals and industry.

"A further growth in activity under current circumstances appears to depend on an increase in consumption arising out of such factors as further growth in private residential building, larger outlays for plant and equipment, and greater public expenditures for construction or other purposes."

Very cautiously and moderately stated, but very plain. The Federal Reserve board doesn't want any cut in public expenditures. It would welcome "greater public expenditures for construction or other purposes" just as it welcomes residential building and renovation of plants.

James M. Mead, in the senate, and Robert G. Allen, in the house, have introduced a bill, authorizing the RFC to insure loans by banks to small and medium sized business. Not more than 80 per cent will be insured, not more than $1,000,000 to any enterprise. The whole thing is modeled on the FHA insurance of mortgages on homes.

There is every reason to believe that this plan would spur business far more than any favors to very big business. Two men, Burt L. Knowles, head of the Associated General Contractors, and Arthur Whiteside, president of Dun and Bradstreet, declare that passage of this bill will bring at least 40,000 small businesses for loans. And 40,0000 businesses each making a personal boost of 40 men each would put a big crimp in unemployment.

The Securities and Exchange commission is said to be preparing to put on in the monopoly hearings instances of the way small business is hampered by the overtopping size of our biggest banks. That might well push the bill through congress.

A press agency interviewing President Roosevelt gave the following paragraph on the president's views: :

Meagre purchasing power, he said, is felt all along the economic scale. It means, he added, that families cannot purchase sufficient shoes, paint, lumber, clothes and other necessities. It thus effects storeowners, professional people and others whose income fails to expand because of lack of purchasing power in the hands of the general population.

As a matter of fact, the president was talking of the South as the nation's No. 1 economic problem. But the summary of his views fits so closely the situation all over the country that the impulse to set it up as general principles first and apply to the South afterward is irresistible.

The South has a larger proportion of very poor people than any other part of the country. But while literally millions are out of work, they can be found everywhere. And the best possible prescription to give five persons jobs is to give three persons jobs at good wages.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 6th day of July, 1931, H. L. Travis and wife, Hattie E. Travis, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration July 16, 1931, and recorded in Book U, Vol. 25, Page 615 et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said H. L. Travis and wife, Hattie E. Travis, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will,

TUESDAY, MARCH 28th, 1939,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot No. 7, Block No. 3, LeClerq's Addition to East Lake, as shown by plat of record in Book W, Volume 8, page 556, of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This February 23, 1939.

Paid Vacations Won By Papermakers Union

Lockland, O.—Papermakers' local No. 321 of the International Brotherhood of Papermakers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has negotiated a closed shop agreement with Philip Carey company, of Lockland, covering 1,200 members of the local.

The contract, which is the second one negotiated with the company, includes provisions for a three-day vacation for union members in the employ of the firm for a period of from one to five years and five days' vacation for men employed five years or more.

The agreement is subject to sixty days' notice by either party and is automatically renewable at the end of each calendar year.

The merits of genuine religious toleration cannot be better shown than by the fact that the Presbyterian President Wilson named to the supreme court the Jew, Brandeis; and that the Catholic Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, fought through all the reactionary opposition to confirmation in the senate.

New Union Contract Increases Pay Of A. & P. Clerks In Florida

Jacksonville. — Contracts signed with the Atlantic & Pacific Tea company insured increases in wages to all clerks in the state of Florida. Those now receiving under $20 per week are to be granted $2 a week increase. Other substantial adjustments will be made, including an advance of 5 cents per hour to part time employes.

The union agreements between the Retail Clerks Protective Association and the A. & P. also provide closed shop, seniority and other standard union conditions.

Negotiations were conducted by George L. Googe, southern representative, A. F. of L., and Charles Schimmat, personal director, A. & P. company. The Retail Clerks were also represented by Organizer L. L. Dodson.

C. C. Peek, Meat Cutters, and Curtis Sims, Bakery and Confectionery Workers, together with representatives of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs, building trades and others, are negotiating contracts for their respective unions which will undoubtedly be equally satisfactory.

The terms of these agreements will be the basis of increased wages and improved conditions in the retail industry throughout the entire southern country.

Headache, Bad Breath Tell of More to Come

Just as Paul Revere's famous ride warned of the Redcoats' coming, so Nature's messengers — headaches, biliousness, bad breath—often warn of faulty elimination.

Neglecting these signs may cause a host of constipation's discomforts: sour stomach, belching; no appetite or energy; mental dullness.

It's so easy to wake up your lazy insides. Just take spicy, all vegetable BLACK-DRAUGHT. Its unusual help comes from its principal ingredient—an intestinal tonic-laxative which imparts tone to lazy bowel muscles.

Bakers' Union Scores Big Advance With Shredded Wheat Agreement; Gains in Macaroni Industry

Chicago.—Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union, Local No. 357, has signed a closed union shop agreement with the National Biscuit company's Shredded Wheat Bakeries, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., providing for working conditions and wages second to none for the class of work covered. The contract calls for an increase in wages, vacations with pay, equal pay for equal work, seniority, and free laundering of uniforms.

Complete unionization of the Shredded Wheat Bakeries was achieved after a house to house campaign, conducted in 1938 under the direction of John W. Hickman. Organized in 1937 by a small group of employes, the union obtained its first agreement in November of that year.

The local is requesting members and friends of organized labor to buy the National Biscuit company's Shredded Wheat Biscuits, as there is no other strictly union made product of that kind on the market.

Good Macaroni Contracts

Continued success in the macaroni industry is reported by Joseph Schmidt, corresponding secretary of the international union.

An agreement providing for a 100 per cent union shop and wage boosts of 20 to 70 per cent has been signed by Macaroni Workers Union, Local No. 465, and the Russo Macaroni company, of Chicago.

The pact calls for a 40-hour week and an eight-hour day, with time and one-half for overtime, guarantees six hours' employment per day to all employes called to work, and establishes the check-off system in the payment of dues.

All strikes are banned and an arbitration board consisting of two representatives from the company, two from the union, and a fifth to be selected by the four so named, is to be set up.

A&P Pacts Signed

About 4,000 macaroni workers have been organized by this old time, ever growing A. F. of L. affiliate. Meneshewitz Matzch & Co., largest macaroni firm in the world, is under contract with a local union in Jersey City, N. J., and agreements have been signed in Milwaukee, Wis., New York, N. Y., and a number of Pennsylvania cities and towns.

Contracts covering bakeries owned by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company, in Toledo, O., and Flint, Mich., have been negotiated.

Use of the union label is on the increase. Almost all companies operating 100 per cent union shops in Washington, D. C., and Kansas City, Mo., are using the union label and other cities are expected to follow their example. Constant agitation by this international union has resulted in the use of 5,000,000,000 Bakers' Union labels annually.

SOUTHERN LABOR "SPOTS"

Jacksonville, Fla., March 6.—Contracts were signed here today between the Retail Clerks Protective Association and the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company, giving all clerks receiving $20 per week or less a raise of $2 per week or more. This also carries with it an increase of 5 cents per hour for part-time help. Other substantial wage adjustments will be made containing seniority, closed shop and standard union requirements.

The contracts were negotiated by George L. Googe, southern representative of the American Federation of Labor, assisted by L. L. Dodson, representative of the Retail Clerks Protective Association. The company was represented by Charles Schimatt, national personnel director, and R. L. Smith, director of southern district.

Contracts will be signed with the meat cutters, bakery workers, warehousemen and other employes of the A&P company within the next two days.

The bakery workers are being represented by Curtis Sims, international representative of Bakery and Confectionery International Union, and the meat cutters represented by C. C. Peek, international representative of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmens International Union. Others will be assisted in negotiation of contracts of their respective crafts.

These wage increases will undoubtedly result in wage adjustments throughout the entire southern territory of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea company.

Nashville, Tenn., March 6.—Tennessee's general assembly is scheduled to adjourn this week, and representatives of labor are not very highly elated over the success of the labor legislation. Legislative Representative T. O. Denham, of the State Federation of Labor, has worked day and night since the sessions began, and it is known that many friends have been made for labor, however, with brighter hopes for the future.

Gerald Foley, president of the Tennessee State Federation of Labor, is a member of the legislature. Ernest Ailor, of Knoxville, and Robert Tillman, of Memphis, both members of the legislature, are also active in organized labor circles. Paul J. Aymon, of Chattanooga, associate director of the American Federation of Labor in the south, has spent several days here assisting the legislative representative and advising with labor members of the general assembly. It is felt that much good has been done by the very finely considered course pursued by the labor representatives during the sessions, which will react to labor's future program in Tennessee.

Charlotte, N. C., March 6—The Teamsters Joint Council of North Carolina was organized here on Feb. 26, embracing all of the local unions in the state of Teamsters, chauffeurs and truck drivers. H. L. McCrorie, of the Charlotte local, was elected president of the state council. Other officers elected are as follows:

J. D. Broughton, Wilmington, vice-president; J. D. Matthews, Durham, vice-president; W. A. Stovall, Charlotte, secretary-treasurer; R. C. Weigle, Wilmington, recording secretary, and Z. B. Page, C. C. Bullard and H. W. Houston were named on the executive board.

Regular monthly meetings will be held on each fourth Sunday, the next meeting to be held in Wilmington on the fourth Sunday in March. At that meeting an executive officer from each Central Labor Union in the state will be requested to attend, and it was ordered that C. A. Fink, president of the North Carolina State Federation of Labor, and James F. Barrett, publicity director for the American Federation of Labor in the south, be urged to attend.

Reports from the several local unions in the state showed that splendid progress has been made by the teamsters and truck drivers since organization drives began more than a year ago. The Wilmington delegation reported on the strike which has been in effect among the truck drivers for the Southern Oil Transportation company since the 30th of October, last. All other locals pledged continued co-operation with the Wilmington strikers until they successfully end the strike. It was pointed out that the future welfare of all truck drivers in the state and in adjoining states depended upon the successful outcome of the Wilmington trouble.

Other states in the south, it is known, are planning the organization of state councils, after which these state councils will form a Southern Federation in order to co-ordinate the efforts of teamsters and truck drivers to better wage their battle for increased wages, improved working conditions and regulation of hours. C. A. Fink presided at the meeting.

New Orleans, La., March 6—William Ruth, international representative of the Common and Construction Laborers Union in the New Orleans district, announces that agreements have been signed between all of the responsible contractors of this city and local unions of his international. These agreements have been negotiated in most harmonious manner, and provide many increases and advancements for common labor, mason tenders and plasterers tenders.

Wage rate for common labor under the agreement is 50 cents an hour, minimum, with 67½ cents for masons' tenders and 75 cents an hour for plasterers' tenders. This is an increase of 100 per cent over what the rates of pay for the above classifications were a few years ago, before organization of these groups. It represents substantial increase over last year's wage rates. An immense building program is now under way in New Orleans, including a new Union Station, a new Federal building, two large slum clearance projects and numerous buildings.

Machinists Reject Matt Robinson, Who Tried to Skid Smith

Local 56 Sustained Previous Action Disowning "Arm-Waving" in Nashville

Local 56, Machinists, last Tuesday evening sustained a previous action taken by its executive board in condemning Matt J. Robinson's recent attempt to have Stanton E. Smith ousted from the Chattanooga Electric Power Board.

Mr. Robinson, who at one time was a member of Local 56, was reported in the daily press as having gone to Nashville while the legislature was in session, and with two other people, "camped" by the legislative floor buttonholing legislators, frantically beseeching them to legislate Smith out of office. According to the papers he roosted on a nearby desk, waving hands and gesticulating vigorously.

Since Stanton Smith had received the approval of organized labor for the post he now holds, the Machinists seem to resent Mr. Robinson's effort to discredit labor's representative on the board.

Local 56 said that Mr. Robinson does not represent them in any wise, even though he is a former member.

Local 1592 Millworkers

Local 1592 wishes to express the sympathy of the entire membership to our brother and friend, M. C. Wheeler, a member of 1592 of the Chattanooga Sash and Millwork company, in the death of his wife last Friday. When one member of the body suffers, the whole body suffers. We join hands as one in his bereavement.

* * *

Many of our members are not able to work this week on account of illness. The flu has spread through our plants.

Brother R. A. Lee Stuart reports that John Brody has been unable to work for the last three weeks on account of illness.

Presiden J. G. Corneilson is also sick and Brothers A. C. Baker and Charlie Wright are confined at home with the flu.

Brothers Emory Hawkins and J. B. Rogers are able to be back on the job, having been off sick for several days.

Mr. Scheidegger is also away from the plant on account of sickness.

Brother Childs Stuart reports that W. A. Hall is off sick.

Brother Childs and A. T. Hall had a small accident when a scaffold on the circular stairway gave way.

Work at both Willingham company and Chattanooga Sash and Millwork is showing a decided increase.

Local 1592 is still growing—we take in new members almost every week.

STREET CAR, BUS MEN SIGN CONTRACT WITH TEPCO; ELECT OFFICERS

The recently formed AFL union of street car and bus drivers of the Tennessee Electric Power company elected its officers last week as follows:

President, I. R. Harold; vice-president, O. F. Olinger; recording secretary, L. B. Merriman, Jr., and secretary, C. W. Brown.

The committeemen are B. F. Bailey, J. H. Cloud and R. F. Tate.

On March 22 a contract was signed by the Tennessee Electric Power company with the union, the agreement being retroactive to March 16. The contract runs for one and a half years.

NEWTON HEADS CULINARY WORKERS

At their regular meeting on Tuesday night, the culinary workers held their peppiest meeting of their existence—two years. It was the time for their election of officers for the ensuing year. W. F. Newton defeated Elba Morgan for the office of president. H. A. Underwood was elected vice-president by acclamation. Antoin Awad was again elected financial secretary-treasurer. This was without opposition. Louise Tinker was not opposed for the recording secretary post, but resigned immediately thereafter. Marie Moore Jones was then elected recording secretary.

Two of the trustees were re-elected—R. H. Robison and Louise Petty. Serving with them will be Elba Morgan.

Lon Allen was elected chaplain without opposition. Inner guard will be Percy Billingsley, while Charles Phipps will act as outer guard.

Louise Tinker, Lon Allen and Louise Petty are the new delegates to the Label League.

Louise Tinker, Louise Petty, H. A. Underwood, Eva Norton and Marie Moore Jones will go as delegates to Central Body.

Lon Allen was defeated by the incumbent Louise Tinker for the office of business agent. This is Miss Tinker's second year in this office.

EMPLOYERS PROSECUTED FOR KICK-BACK RACKET

California Chain Sued for Chiselling on Union Wage Scales.

Oakland, Calif., Feb. 16.—Unions here began a drive this week against the "kick-back" racket under which sweatshop employers nominally pay union wages, but then force workers to turn back part of their earnings. On complaint of the Retail Clerks' Union, the Alameda county prosecutor started a criminal action against the Ed Lewis Stores, Inc., for indulging in the kick-back system. Prosecution of other such chiselers will follow.

FLASH!

All A. & P. meat markets have signed contracts with the meat-cutters' union.

Q.—Which U. S. president served the shortest time?

A.—William H. Harrison. He died of pleurisy fever in the White House only one month after he was inaugurated in 1841.

Nominations Opened Next Monday Night For CLU Officials

At the regular meeting of Chattanooga Central Labor Union next Monday night, nominations for officers for the ensuing year will be opened.

Nominations are always opened the fourth Monday in March, being held open until the second Monday in April, when the election will take place.

The session starts at 7:30 p.m.

$29,200,000 PAID JOBLESS WORKERS IN JANUARY

Washington, D. C.—Job insurance benefits totaling nearly $29,200,000 were paid to unemployed workers under state unemployment compensation laws during January, the Social Security Board reports. Benefits first became payable in 18 states in January, so that 46 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska, and Hawaii are now making payments.

More than 5,750,000 workers have earned wage credits toward benefits in the 18 states in which benefit operations began in January, bringing the total number of workers covered by job insurance in benefit-paying states to nearly 26,000,000. The two remaining states—Illinois and Montana—will begin payments in July.

Benefit payments in January increased about $3,200,000 over December, with the new benefit-paying jurisdictions contributing about $610,000 of the total. The relatively small volume of benefits paid in these states was due mainly to the waiting-period provisions of the laws. For the 31 states in which benefits were paid in both December and January, the increas was 9.9 per cent, reflecting the customary post-Christmas layoffs as well as claims filed by workers who became eligible for benefits at the beginning of the new year.

STEEL FIRMS LOSE SUIT TO BAR 62½ CENT WAGE

District of Columbia Federal Court Upholds Power of Secretary of Labor to Fix Minimum Wages Under Walsh-Healy Act.

Washington.—Justice Jennings Bailey dismissed in the district court of the United States for the District of Columbia the suit brought by seven eastern steel manufacturers to enjoin Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins from putting into effect an order issued under the Walsh-Healy public contracts act fixing a minimum wage of 62½ cents an hour to employes on work performed on government steel contracts.

The steel companies claimed that the secretary of labor's action in determining the wage rate was "arbitrary and capricious" and therefore called for court interference. Justice Bailey ruled that the steel firms failed to prove their case. Counsel for the companies said they would appeal Justice Bailey's decision to the U. S. circuit court of appeals.

CEMENT WORKERS TAKE LONG STEP ORGANIZING NEW LOCAL UNIONS

Nashville and Richard City Reporting Fine Progress

V. O. Cunningham, special organizer for the Cement Workers, who is also a member of Chattanooga Local 18269, told a glowing story to The Labor World this week of progress made in Nashville. He says that a good local is being started in the cement plant there, after many ups and downs for the past several years.

Another difficult job of organizing is easing up in Richard City, also, with many employes in that town coming into the union.

All cement locals at present have federal labor union charters, but it is believed that in a short time the executive board of the American Federation of Labor will grant a national charter to these federal unions.

The Chattanooga local is the first in the country to be organized, and at present are enjoying fine relations with their employers.

Sears Radios Now Installed, Repaired By Union Workers

Sign Contracts With Radio Repair Shop With Union Clause Inserted

When you buy a radio at Sears, Roebuck now, you can be sure that it will be installed by a union man. If you have that radio repaired at Sears, a union man will do it.

Last week Sears signed a contract with the Standard Radio Shop to do all its work. Standard is 100 per cent union. Notwithstanding that Standard is union, Sears added a clause to its contract which said that all the work done for them must be done by union men.

Along with Sterchi Bros., Sears is the second store of importance to sign such an agreement.

LABEL LEAGUE MEETS

A. F. L. Submits Six-Point Formula For Settling Controversy With C. I. O.

Peace Plan Covers Readmission to the American Federation of Labor Unions which Left the A. F. of L. to Form the C. I. O., Jurisdiction of Dual Unions, Certain Amendments to A. F. of L. Constitution, Special A. F. of L. Convention With Representation of All Unions, and Extent of Industries Subject to Industrial Form of Organization.

Washington.—Peace negotiations between the American Federation of Labor and the C. I. O. will be resumed on March 24 when the joint conference committee appointed at the request of President Roosevelt will hold its seventh meeting in the department of labor building in Washington.

The conference committee now has under consideration the six-point peace proposal submitted by the representatives of the American Federation of Labor.

A summary of the American Federation of Labor's peace formula follows:

1.—The unions which originally left the A. F. of L. to form the C. I. O. would not apply for readmission or be readmitted until all matters affecting the newly organized C. I. O. unions are adjusted, so that the interests of all would be cared for concurrently.

2.—A joint conference committee, equally representative of the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. would be established to work out mutually acceptable settlements of each of the jurisdictional conflicts between the new and dual C. I. O. unions and existing A. F. of L. organizations.

3.—When all these conflicts have been adjusted, the membership of the new C. I. O. unions would be admitted into the A. F. of L. at the same time as the original unions would be admitted into the A. F. of L. at the same time as the original unions that seceded from the A. F. of L.

4.—If all other matters were settled, the A. F. of L. committee would consider recommending amendment of the A. F. of L. constitution to provide that the Executive Council of the A. F. of L. could suspend an affiliated national or international union or revoke its charter only on direct authority of a convention of the A. F. of L.

5.—A special convention of the A. F. of L. would be held within a reasonable time (sixty to ninety days) after all matters were adjusted and all organizations would be entitled to representation with the rights and privileges of other A. F. of L. unions.

6.—The A. F. of L. would agree to specify certain industries where the industrial form of organization would apply.

This formula was proposed by the A. F. of L. committee in the sincere belief that it offers the only fair and practical solution of the entire controversy.

The question was raised at the conferences in New York last week as to whether the American Federation of Labor would be willing to readmit the original seceding unions with charters covering the jurisdictions in which they now operate.

It was pointed out that some of these unions have broadened the fields in which they formerly functioned. Accordingly, President William Green agreed to call a spe-

Birth Records Gain In mportance

Proof of Age Required in Payment of Many Old-Age Insurance Claims

Development of the Federal Old-Age Insurance program has given added importance to the record section of the old family Bible, baptismal certificates and other papers carrying birth dates.

With the size of the average payment of lump-sum claims for old-age insurance benefits increasing steadily, Louis R. Stein, Jr., manager of the Social Security Board's Field Office at Chattanooga, Tenn., has been instructed to inform claimants that, when a claim is for over $100, proof of age will be required, except in the case of a claim made by the heirs or estate of a wage-earner who has died.

Lump-sum payments amount to 3½ per cent of wages received in covered employment since 1936.

The Social Security Board, recognizing the difficulties in supplying proof of birth since many states have not required certificates until recent years, has provided that when an applicant cannot obtain evidence without difficulty and expense, he will be directed to file for consideration Bible, family, business, fraternal, school, governmental or other similar records, Mr. Stein said.

Lump-sum benefits are paid now to covered workers who reach 65, or to the relatives or estates of those who die. These are the only claims now being paid. Beginning in 1942, monthly checks will be sent to those who qualify for monthly retirement benefits. However, Mr. Stein pointed out that congress is considering proposals to advance the date for beginning payment of monthly benefits to 1940.

California Solons Reject CIO Man for Harbor Board

Gov. Olson, of California, recently appointed a new board of state harbor commissioners. Among the three new appointees was Germaine Bulcke, president of the San Francisco CIO Longshoremen's union and a henchman of Harry Bridges, leader of the CIO forces on the Pacific coast.

The California state senate, on March 6, by a vote of 26 to 12 refused to confirm the appointment of Bulcke. There was no opposition to the confirmation of the other two appointees.

Industrial Home Work Comes Under Wage Act

Washington, D. C. — Industrial home workers were blanketed under the Fair Labor Standards act of 1938 in an order issued by Administrator Elmer F. Andrews. It was estimated that the ruling affected several thousand wage-earners victimized by a shift of sweatshop labor to the home.

In the order Mr. Andrews ruled that for a six-month experimental period, beginning March 15, employers of home workers must file all workers, date and hour on which worl is given out and returned, hours worked on each lot, piece rates promised, wages paid and social security tax deductions.

Whethe payment is on a piecework or hourly basis, the rules state, each worker must be paid at a rate not less than 25 cents an hour, with time and a half for hours over 44 in one work week.

Andrews, in a statement, said:

"The regulations represent the best judgment of some of those who participated in conferences on the subject. They felt that the regulations will at least test the practicability of this kind of control, and perhaps answer the question whether we can enforce the fair labor standards act as it now stands witl. respect to work of this nature."

Regulations cover "any person producing in or about the home, for an employer, goods from materials furnished directly by or indirectly for such employer." Principal industries affected are men's neckwear, leather goods, gloves, knitted wear, bedspreads and embroidery.

1,600 TO GET JOBS ON HOUSING PROJECT

Washington.—The United States housing authority announced that actual construction had begun on "Hanover Acres," the 320 dwelling units slum-clearance and low-rent project at Allentown, Pa.

Nathan Straus, administrator of the USHA, estimated that jobs will be provided for 1,600 workmen at the site during the construction of the 37 buildings in the project, with total wages for direct labor totaling about $522,200.

CAN'T YOU SEE THE UNION LABEL?

"X-O-V-F-Z-R—and at the bottom it says, Union Label, Jones Printing Co."
I. M. Ornburn, Secretary-Treasurer
UNION LABEL TRADES DEPARTMENT
American Federation of Labor

Through the courtesy of the NEA Service of Cleveland, Ohio, we are able to reproduce this clever cartoon by Clyde Lewis.

If the average man who is required to have his eyes fitted can read without glasses the words, "Union Label," then members of Labor Unions and their families should be able to find it on all products. And if we cannot set an example by seeing it and demanding it, then we should visit an optician and obtain some union-made specatcles.

Union Label Department Anniversary

By I. M. ORNBURN, Secretary-Treasurer, Union Label Trades Department, American Federation of Labor.

Just thirty years ago, on April 2, 1909, the American Federation of Labor issued a charter to the Union Label Trades Department. Through the united action of all the affiliated unions of this department great progress has been made during these three decades.

It is fitting on this thirtieth anniversary of the Union Label Trades Department to renew our interest in union labels, shop cards and service buttons. With renewed effort all members of labor unions and their families should increase their demand for union label products and union services.

The most appropriate ceremony that can be held on this occasion would be for every individual who is union-label-conscious and labor-union-minded to stand before a mirror, raise his right hand, and by himself take the union label pledge: "I promise to patronize only those firms that display the union label, shop card and service button."

YOUR DOLLAR

YOUR DOLLAR will be a regular monthly feature. The facts and opinions given are based on the monthly reports of Consumers' Union, 55 Vandam Street, New York City, a nonprofit membership organization whose object is to safeguard buyers by testing and reporting on consumer goods. Note especially the information on labor conditions under which products are manufactured.

Are you swallowing iron filings with your canned food? CU suggests a simple test to determine whether or not your can opener gives you your daily quota of filing.

Wash and dry an empty can with one end already cut out. Place the open end over a sheet of clean white paper, and remove the other end with your can opener. The metal fragments you find on the white sheet, inside the can, are the amount ordinarily deposited into your food. A very small amount is almost unavoidable. But nobody wants his canned food heavily dosed with iron filings.

Satisfactory can openers may be bought at prices ranging from 10 cents for a hand type opener to $1.50 and more for the wall type. Vaughan's Safety Roll, Jr., is a good value for 10 cents, but occasional samples will deposit large amounts of metal shavings. Try the opener on an empty can before you use it on your food. Best buy of the wall type openers was Smooth-Cut ($1.49 plus postage, distributed by Montgomery Ward and department stores).

Soap

You can buy high quality soap for 3 cents a cake, Consumers Union found in recent tests of 153 brands. Or you can pay up to 35 cents for poor soaps, containing such "special" ingredients as phenol, cresylic acids, tar and pine oils, oatmeal, sugar, bran, or mud "from the bottom of the Baltic sea."

Whatever soap you buy, it can do no more than cleanse your skin. Good soaps do the job with a minimum of irritation.

Yet cleanliness and purity are seldom emphasized in soap ads. Glamor, success, and sex appeal, all brought about by the "special" ingredients, are the selling points. No soap will feed your skin, give you a complexion like a baby's, retrieve your wandering boy friend or make you president of a large company. But who can blame the manufacturer for saying it will, so long as he can get away with it? Why sell soap when fairy-tales command a higher price?

For the convenience of those preferring soap, CU gives in its March issue some suggestions for economical buying. Sixty-three soaps of high quality, 39 of good quality, and 51 not acceptable soaps are listed, by brand name. Lowest priced of the high quality soaps is Colossal (Colgate), 3 cents a cake.

Labor in the Soap Industry

Soap profits are high, soap-making is somewhat hazardous, but only a small part of your dollar goes to labor, according to a U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics survey made in 1935. Labor's share is only 6% of the wholesale value of soap, as compared with 17% average labor costs for all manufacturing industries. This situation is at least partly caused by the large proportion of company unions, and low degree of genuine organization in the soap industry.

Look for the manufacturer's name when you buy soap. It's the best way to know a union brand.

Los Angeles Soap company, AFL (White King Toilet Soap, Cosray Skin Soap).

Manhattan Soap company, United Soap and Glycerine Workers Union, No. 366, CIO (SweetHeart Soap).

The following have agreements with AFL or CIO unions, covering only a part of their shops:

Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company, United Soap and Glycerine Workers Union, No. 114, CIO.

Lever Brothers company, AFL.

The following have company unions, or no union agreement:

Haskins Brothers.

J. Eavenson & Sons..

Kirkman & Son, Inc.

Andrew Jergens company.

Procter & Gamble (company union except in Portsmouth, Va., shop, which has agreement with an AFL union).

YOUR DOLLAR is a regular monthly feature. The facts and opinions given are based on Consumers Union reports, the monthly magazine of Consumers Union, 17 Union Square West, New York City, a non-profit organization whose main object is to safeguard buyers by testing and reporting on consumer goods. Note especially the information on labor conditions under which products are made.

Congressman Schneider Dies In Toledo, Ohio

Was Official of Paper Makers Brotherhood; Served 16 years in House of Representatives.

Toledo, Ohio.—George J. Schneider, of Appleton, Wis., a member of congress from the Eighth Wisconsin district for 16 years, died in a hotel here on March 12. His age was 61.

His death came after a night session of the convention of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor. He had been second vice-president of the brotherhood for 33 years.

Mr. Schneider was born in Grand Chute, Wis., on Oct. 30, 1877. He secured his education in the public schools and was a paper maker by trade. He had been an official of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor.

He served continuously in congress from 1923 to 1933, returned in 1935, and was a member at his death.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES COUNCIL LABEL

In localities where an Allied Printing Trades Council has been formed, none but this label should appear upon printed matter. The organizations represented by this Label are: The International Typographical Union, the International Printing Pressmen's Union, the International Photo-Engravers' Union, International Stereotypers' and Electrotypers' Union, and the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders. The Allied Printing Trades Label is representative of the work of all the members of these various organizations. Aside from this the Typographical Union, Printing Pressmen's Union, Photo-Engravers' Union, Stereotypers and Electrotypers' Union, and the Brotherhood of Bookbinders have separate and distinct labels which appear upon printed matter produced in communities where there is no Allied Printing Trades Council in existence.

UNION MAN VICTIM OF THIRD DEGREE, HE SAYS

St. Louis. — Benjamin Villmer, member of the Gasoline Service Station Employes Union, has been acquitted of a charge of strike vandalism. But that is the smallest part of the story.

Villmer told on the stand how he had been given the police third degree. He was forced to sit on a chair near a partition. His hands were tied behind him to the partition, and then the chair was moved. This left him his choice between a squat that no white man could keep up for long, or hanging on his hands behind him. There were other elements of the third degree; Villmer testified that he fainted three times, and then signed a confession.

Dr. Milton Smith, who examined Villmer after his release, testified that he could find no way in which Villmer's injuries could be received except by tying up in the fashion that he stated.

The unions of St. Louis are up in arms at this brutality.

Public Relief Payments Revealed Steadily Rising In Relation To Total Income Payments

Washington, D. C.—Total payments from public funds for direct and work relief, in relation to total income payments, have been rising steadily since 1929, with the exception of 1937, Social Security board figures indicate. Payments last year amounted to about 5 per cent of total income payments for the year, the board reports.

Estimates of the board indicate that in December, 1938, the last month for which figures are available, nearly a sixth of the total population was wholly or partly dependent on these relief payments.

Figures released by the board were based on compilations of total income payments and relief payments in the years 1929-38 prepared by the U. S. Department of Commerce. These figures show that in relation to total income payments in the United States, public relief payments have constituted the following percentages in each year since 1929:

Year	Per Cent
1929	0.1
1930	0.1
1931	0.3
1932	0.9
1933	2.7
1934	4.3
1935	4.4
1936	4.8
1937	3.8
1938	5.0

The figures for total income payments used in the present compilation, it is pointed out, include compensation of employes, entrepreneurial income, dividends and interest, payments to veterans, and relief and social insurance payments. The estimates of "national income" published by the Department of Commerce; for example, they include direct relief payments, which are not counted in national income estimates because they are regarded as transfers of income rather than income payments for services rendered.

Veterans' Payments Included

Similarly, payments to veterans are included in the present compilation as income payments, although they have previously been excluded from national income estimates on the ground that they are compensation for services rendered before the period in which they were made; and social insurance payments are included in the present series as income payments, although in estimates of national income they are measured as they flow into, rather than out of, social insurance funds.

The figures for relief payments include earnings on work programs, payments to recipients of general public relief and of special types of public assistance, and emergency subsistence payments to farmers. For all categories, figures exclude expenses for administrative purposes and for materials, equipment, supplies, and certain other expenses incident to the operation of relief programs.

The totals for earnings on work programs, it is explained, include earnings on work-relief and administrative projects and emergency education and student-aid programs of the Works Progress Administration, the National Youth Administration, the Civilian Conservation Corps, and other Federal agencies administering work programs at various times; and small amounts of earnings on work projects of state and local relief administrations.

Figures for direct relief include payments for general public relief other than work relief; payments to recipients of old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind, and emergency subsistence payments to farmers.

They Learn from Southern Women

Touring Reporters, now conducting a Query among women of the South and West, report remarkable agreement as to the benefits secured by users of CARDUI.

Of the 1297 users who were asked: "Were you helped by CARDUI?" 1206—or 93 out of every 100—answered "Yes."

The word of users everywhere is given to show how CARDUI helps to improve appetite and digestion, and thus build up physical resistance. In this way it also works to relieve the headaches, nervousness, depression, that attend functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition. Have you tried CARDUI?

Employers Operating 42 Plants Sign Union Shop Agreements With Distillery Workers Union

Chicago. — Strictly union shop agreements with Distillers of Spirits and Liquor Workers Union, Local No. 20496, covering about 600 workers, have again been signed by the Associated Vinters of the Middle West, a number of independent vinters, and the Rectifier's Association of Chicago.

Forty-two plants, fifteen of which were organized in the last 12 months, agreed to the contracts. Between 200 and 300 additional workers are affected.

The vinters agreed to minimum hourly wage rates of 50 cents for men and 40 cents for women, the rectifiers to rates of 52½ cents for men and 42½ cents for women. A wage boost for all employes, including workers receiving more than the minimum, was obtained. The contracts are retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year; and this will mean approximately $9,000 in back pay.

Paid Holidays Provided

The contracts require all employers to hire new help through the union, guarantee five hours of employment per day to all employes called to work, and provide for six paid holidays a year and a 44-hour, rather than the former 48-hour week, with time and one-half for overtime, which begins after eight hours, five days a week, and after four hours Saturday, one day a week. Employes of wineries are to receive a week's vacation with pay each year.

Seniority rights, the check-off system in the payment of dues, and the arbitration of all disputes by a board composed of one representative from the union, one from the company, and a third to be chosen by the other two, are again included in the agreements.

Wage Rates Boosted

About 50 agreements with A. F. of L. distillery warkers' unions, affiliated with the national council, covering an estimated 1,500 or 35 per cent of the employes in the wine and rectifying industry in the United States, are now in force. Wage rates, in general, have been boosted from about 25 to 40 cents an hour for women, and from around 30 to as high as 60 cents per hour for men.

RETRENCHMENT AND BIG SALARIES

(From the Typographical Journal)

When an Ohio daily newspaper which had long been in existence recently "folded up" a writer to another paper in the city attempted to explain why the paper in question ceased publication and why no other paper was liable to enter that particular filed. To make his point he cited that a daily newspaper having signed contracts with union workers was unable to retrench by cutting wages. Admitted. But he failed to state how much retrenchment could have been made by trimming the more than $200,000 yearly salaries paid four of the executives in the "front office."

The figures are taken from a United States treasury report of recent date which showed large salaries going to executives in industry. An industrious union printed on that paper could have earned about $2,700 in a year. The president of the publishing company drew $100,600, if the treasury figures are correct.

Planograph Firm Fined For Using Union Label

Washington, D. C.—For the first time a fine has been levied for violation of the District of Columbia label registration law enacted in 1932.

The Washington Planograph company reproduced a print of the allied printing trades label on a campaign poster for distribution in Maryland last October. The poster found its way into the hands of officers of the Allied Printing Trades Council, who brought the violation to the attention of the United States attorney's office.

Paul A. Heideke, secretary-treasurer of the Planograph company, was charged with illegally using a registered label and in police court he was fined $100, which is the minimum provided in the law.

Heideke and the production manager of the firm, it is alleged, both admitted they knew they should not have reproduced the label, but it appears that the customer assured them he had secured authority for them to use it. Heideke frankly admitted he knew the firm had no right to use the label, but he relied upon the customer to secure that concession. The customer, it is said, accepted the word of a friend that the council had agreed.

Cafeteria Chain Pay Raised

New York City. — Wage increases of from $1 to $4 a week will go to employes of the Thompson cafeteria chain under a contract signed between the Cafeteria Employes Union, Local 302, an A. F. of L. affiliate, and the John R. Thompson company. About 90 per cent of the 250 workers will share in the increases, the union announced.

Anti-Trust Statutes Held Ineffective

Washington, D. C.—The Federal Trade Commission, testifying through several of its officers before the monopoly committee, declared that the anti-trust laws of their country were rather ineffective. Senator O'Mahoney, of Wyoming, chairman of the committee, fully agreed with this view, and declared that congress had wobbled back and forth for years on this subject.

P. G. Morehouse, attorney for the FTC, took the stand and presented the cases of 16 monopolies as samples of the ways in which new enterprise is kept out of different occupations. They ranged from General Electric company and National Biscuit company down to a Metal Window "Institute."

The glass combine published only one list of prices, and gave these only to "quality buyers." People not classed as quantity buyers had to buy, not from the manufacturers, but from the quantity buyers, at an advance of 7½ per cent. Territory was partitioned, and distribution was controlled.

This was practically the case with the entire 16 industrial combinations set forth. An outsider in glass would have to pay for being outside. In other industries, the payment was sometimes higher than in glass. There was no competition.

BENES PREDICTS DECLINE OF DICTATORSHIPS

Chicago. — Dr. Eduard Benes, former president of Czechoslovakia, declared here that "dictatorship regimes are coming to the breaking point."

Benes, addressing the Union League club, said the totalitarian governments "inevitably" will provoke a reaction by democracies.

"Economically and financially the dictatorships use methods and means which push them toward inevitable downfall or violent social and economic revolution," he said.

13 WASHINGTON HOTELS CRIPPLED IN STRIKE

Washington.—The determination of the owners of thirteen of Washington's large hotels to smash the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, an A. F. of L. affiliate, resulted in a strike which crippled the service of the hotels so that many essential services were curtailed to the vanishing point.

The union declared that more than 2,000 employes walked out to persuade the employers that their opposition to the closed shop was a subversive policy utterly unworthy of hotels in the caiptal of the nation.

In a series of conferences sponsored by Dr. John R. Steelamn, director of conciliation of the U. S. department of labor, union officials were reported as having offered to accept a modified closed shop plan provided the hotel hotel owners granted concessions in their extreme demands. But the determination of the hotel owners to continue their unlimited warfare against the union brought this statement from Dr. Steelman:

"I am definitely pessimistic. The strike may last indefinitely. There is not one chance in ten that the parties may be brought together for some time to come."

Government Wins Case Against Pay Chiseler

New York.—The wage and hour division of the U. S. department of labor won a significant victory against low-wage employers in the decision handed down by Judge Vincent L. Leibel, in the United States district court here, prohibiting the Trueworth Manufacturing company, Inc., manufacturers of men's shirts, trousers and overalls, with a plant at Jesup, Ga., and offices in New York, from an hour decreed by the fair labor standards act of 1938.

The wage and hour division charged the firm with paying wages less than 8 cents an hour, with the result that public relief agencies were required to contribute to the support of the workers. The company was also charged with falsifying its records to conceal the low earnings.

From Trenton, N. J.:

The New Jersey State Federation of Teachers is developing plans for a series of regional conferences to study and report on curriculum revision to provide for a modernization and democratization of the subject matter now being taught in the state. Participants in the conferences will include representatives of parent-teachers associations, labor unions, civic organizations, teacher and professional groups. A questionnaire to parents will be submitted and its results publishred.

The "New Jersey Teacher," official publication of the state federation, comments:

"One of the primary objectives of the conferences is the strengthening of the teaching of democracy in the schools, not simply for book learning, but by pupil participation and direct experience.

"In the state of New Jersey, where inequalities in educational opportunity are growing, the educational policies committee will campaign for the federal aid bill, explain its true provisions in forums to be run in the schools, in leaflets to be issued to the citizens of the communities and in delegations to the boards of education."

cial session of the American Federation of Labor's Executive Council March 22 in Washington to decide this new issue.

The peace committee representing the American Federation of Labor in the joint conferences is composed of Vice-Presidents Harry C. Bates, Matthew Woll, T. A. Rickert and Daniel J. Tobin. The C. I. O. committee includes John L. Lewis, Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman.

Both sides met for the first time with President Roosevelt in the White House on March 7. It was at this meeting that the C. I. O. committee submitted a proposal which was flatly rejected by the A. F. of L. committee. The reasons for this rejection are explained in the committee's statement.

The second meeting was held in the department of labor building March 8, after which the conference recessed until March 10, which it reconvened in the Hotel Biltmore, New York City. Four meetings in all were held there and at the conclusion of the March 14 session, it was agreed to adjourn until March 24.

PECAN SHELLING FIRM DENIED LOW WAGE RATE

Washington, D. C.—The Southern Pecan Shelling company, of San Antonio, Tex., finally and definitely lost its request, filed with the Department of Labor Wage and Hour Division, to employ learners in the pecan shelling industry at wages lower than the applicable minimum wage rate of 25 cents an hour stipulated by the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Administrator Elmer F. Andrews applied the knockout blow to the San Antonio low-wage group by denying the application of J. Seligman, president of Southern Pecan Shelling company, for a review of the findings of Merle D. Vincent, who conducted the original hearings on the proposal for exemption of learners and refused to grant the request of the company for a wage rate below 25 cents an hour.

1939 AFL CONVENTION TO MEET IN CINCINNATI

In accordance with authority conveyed by the Constitution of the American Federation of Labor, the Executive Council of the Federation, at its recent meeting at Miami, Fla., decided to hold the 1939 convention of the A. F. of L. in Cincinnati O., instead of San Francisco, Calif., which was voted as the convention city by the 1938 convention.

A. F. of L. Not To Oppose Admission Refugee Children

Miami.—The American Federation of Labor Executive Council, in session here, agreed not to oppose a plan to bring 10,000 refugee children from Germany under 15 years of age into the United States.

President William Green announced that the council could not affirmatively support the plan, having in mind the unemployment situation here and this country's restricted immigration statutes, but because of "humane considerations," it had been decided not to object to the plan, which is supported by the Quakers and representatives of other churches.

The A. F. of L. head said he was asked by Senator Wagner to take the matter up with the-executive council.

Green explained the plan would not conflict with the immigration and quota restrictions and would not necessitate changes, which the A. F. of L. strongly opposes.

The council also conducted a hearing on an application for a charter for a cement workers' union.

President Joseph V. Moreschi, of the Hod Carriers and Common Laborers International, said that because of the connection between the manufacture of cement and building and construction enterprises, cement workers should be classified as common laborers under control of his union.

William A. Schoenberg and Toney Gallow, representing the National Council of United Cement Workers, which embraces between ninety and 100 locals with a membership of between 15,000 and 20,000, argued, however, that cement workers were actually factory workers, not common laborers.

Green said the council decided to defer action until its next session in May because it wanted to obtain additional information.

Gastonia, N. C., March 20 — A rousing meeting of textile workers from several plants attended a meeting here last Friday night and several hundred new members were added to the rolls of the A. F. of L. textile local unions here. L. James Johnson, organizer, addressed the meeting and expressed great pleasure over the splendid growth and ever increasing interest of the textile workers in this textile center since these workers began coming back into the American Federation of Labor local unions.

Monroe, La., March 20—E. H. Williams, president, and E. J. Bourg, secretary-treasurer of the Louisiana State Federation of Labor, have spent much time here recently in making final arrangements for the State Federation of Labor convention which meets here on April 3, 4 and 5. F. W. Simpson and J. L. Conditt, district vice-presidents of the state body, and officials of the Monroe Central Labor Union, have charge of all local arrangements. It is said the local union officials and the convention committee plan a convention that will eclipse anything ever before attempted by the State Federation of Labor in Louisiana.

Secretary Bourg has reported to federation officials that credentials already received indicate that the convention this year will be much larger than ever before.

Atlanta, Ga., March 20 — The South is responding enthusiastically to the appeals of I. M. Ornburn, secretary of the American Federation of Women s Auxiliaries of Labor in the organization of many new auxiliary locals through the southern territory. There are at present 17 National and International Women's Auxiliaries, with tens of thousands of local auxiliaries throughout the country, and the great influence wielded by these women's organization of labor cannot even be approximated.

It is the purpose of Secretary Ornburn and his associates to have a woman's auxiliary to every local union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Interested unionists and their wives are urged to communicate with Secretary I. M. Ornburn, of the American Federation of Labor, A. F. of L. Bldg., Washington, D. C., and full particulars for organizing and affiliating women's auxiliaries will be immediately sent to any interested people.

Little Rock, Ark., March 20 — The signing of House Bill No. 423 by Governor Bailey Wednesday registers another legislative victory for organized labor in Arkansas. This measure, known as the Horton - Murray - Holland Workmen's Compensation Bill, was sponsored by the American Federation of Labor and approved by the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce.

It provides for administration by a three-member Workmen's Compensation Commission for the payment of $5,000 per year salary to each member thereof. The terms of the bill provide for a maximum benefit of $7,000 for permanent disability or death from injuries.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 20 — Two agreements have been signed here between the A. & P. Tea company and Local Union No. 613, Teamsters and Chauffeurs International Union. One agreement covers employes of the company working in the warehouses and the other covers the truck drivers. J. R. Braddock, Jr., business agent for the local union, and C. A. Schimmatt, representing the company, took the lead in the negotiations resulting in the adoption of the agreements.

Warehousemen's agreement calls for seniority rules, the 44-hour week, price and one-half for overtime, vacations with pay based upon length of service with the company. Minimum pay is $144.00 per week, graduated by job classifications, to $26.00 a week. Holidays are specified as the Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day, and other splendid features, including rules for adjustment of disputes which prohibit stoppage of work for any reason during the life of the contract. The closed shop is an important feature of both contracts, and each employe is guaranteed a minimum annual increase in wages of $26.00.

Agreement covering truck drivers contains all essential parts of the warehousemen's agreements, except the week is based upon 56 hours, six days a week, as maximum working time. Wages agreed upon shall not be less than $30.00 for foremen; $28.50 for drivers and $18.00 for helpers, with price and one-half for all overtime. Several hundred new members have joined the union in recent days.

Mobile, Ala., March 20—Officials of the Central Labor Union who have been named as a convention committee to make arrangements for the 39th annual convention of the Alabama State Federation of Labor, report that practically all plans are complete for entertaining the delegates and visitors. The convention will be held in Mobile beginning April 24, and will continue for three days.

W. O. Hare, secretary of the state body, and S. E. Roper, president, have indicated that credentials already in hand assure the 1939 convention of being the largest in the federation's history.

St. Louis, Mo. — Here, in the birthplace of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local Union No. 1, established almost half a century ago, continues to hold its pre-eminent place on brotherhood rolls, each year adding new laurels to its veteran charter. Latest to be added to its already bulging agreement files are new pacts with six radio broadcasting stations in this vicinity.

Signed with Stations KXOX, KFRU, KMOX, KSD, WIL and KWK, the agreements set a "minimum compe..sation for radio men" at $66 weekly for transmitter operators and $56 weekly for amplifier operators and further provides that all radio men, receiving more than the minimums established in 1938, shall receive a 10 per cent increase. Some positions covered in the pacts range over $100 weekly.

I. B. E. W. members only, all radio men, including chief engineers and supervisors, are required to be members of the union in good standing and the local agrees to furnish competent men.

A. F. L.-C. I. O. GROUPS DISCUSS PEACE TERMS

New York, N. Y.—The second session in New York City of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations committees to consider terms for settling the controversy between the two groups spent six hours in conferences without reaching definite conclusions.

It was understood that the conferees examined minutely the proposals accepted by the original peace conference held in Washington in November and December, 1937, but rejected by the edict of John L. Lewis, then chairman and now president of the CIO, and a member of the CIO committee at the present peace conference.

At the conclusion of the session. Harry C. aBtes, chairman of the American Federation of Labor committee, announced as spokesman for both groups, that the conference had recessed until tomorrow evening.

"I am authorized to make that statement, and nothing more," he added.

Central Body Posts Receive Nominations for Election April 10

Held Open Until that Date---All Incumbents in Race---Delegate Field Large

Last session of Central Body, held last Monday evening, saw all incumbents nominated to succeed themselves. The nominations will be held open until April 10, when election will take place. Further nominations may be made at that date.

Those in the race to date are President Curtis Sims, Vice-President Paul Reynolds, Recording Secretary Virginia Munsey, Financial Secretary Erskine Mabee, and Sergeant-at-Arms E. E. Crosby.

Gordon Cox was nominated for doorkeeper. The present trustees and directors of the Labor World are up again, as follows: A. C. Kamin, S. E. Smith, W. L. Gardner, A. T. Johnson, and V. W. Hallmark.

The race for three delegates to the Tennessee Federation convention, to be held in Nashville in June, is wide open, with Erskine Mabee, T. R. Cuthbert, Curtis Sims, Bill Williams, George Rodgers, Glenn Gambill, Louise Tinker, P. R. Olgiati, A. C. Kamin, and J. G. Burke in the race.

Chicago.—WCFL, "The Voice of Labor," at Chicago, is rapidly rising in place among the nation's great radio stations, as shown by the audience indications of mail received at the station. In January, 1938, WCFL received 12,173 letters. A year later, January, 1939, the mail received had quadrupled to a total of 49,354 letters.

Maynard Marquardt, WCFL station manager, attributes this rise in station popularity and audience, as evidenced by this large increase in mail, to stepping-up of showmanship policies in the station, a great increase in the amount of network broadcasts carried, and various innovations which have resulted in several polls showing WCFL as Chicago's most popular independent broadcaster.

D. OF C. OFFICE WOMEN GET $17 MINIMUM WAGE

Washington.—An order of the District of Columbia minimum wage board requiring employers to pay women office workers not less than $17 for a 30 to 44 hour work week became effective here on March 13. The same wage applies to elevator operators, but within a 4 0to 48-hour week. A minimum of $14 was fixed for learners. Maids and cleaners must be paid not less than $13.50 for a 40 to 48-hour week. Approximately 4,500 women are covered by the order.

Building Trades Strike May Be Settled Today

The only comment available from officials of the Hodcarriers' union and other building trades officials concerning the strike in progress is that negotiations are being resumed today, and that there is hope that a settlement will be reached by the time this paper is delivered.

The dispute has tied up nearly twenty construction projects under PWA, and it is over wage classification of common building labor.

TENANT FARMERS QUIT CIO CANNERY UNION

Memphis, Tenn. — J. R. Butler, president, and H. L. Mitchell, executive secretary, of the Southern Tenant Farmers Union, announced the withdrawal of that organization from the "Communist-controlled United Cannery, Agricultural, Packing and Allied Workers of America," an affiliate of John L. Lewis' Congress of Industrial Organizations. The withdrawal was ordered by the executive committee of the S. T. F. U. following a referendum vote among the 35,000 members with 200 locals in five southern states.

Mr. Butler and Mr. Mitchell charged Donald Henderson, president of the CIO Cannery Workers Union, with arbitrary actions featured by attempts to disrupt the Tenant Farmers Union, suspending its officers, and attempting to set up a dual organization. In addition, Butler and Mitchell said Henderson acted directly for the Communist party in his efforts to split the Tenant Farmers Union.

On the status of the federal aid bill now before congress:

Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, urged the senate committee on education and labor to report favorably the Thomas-Harrison bill (S. 1305) which would grant federal aid to equalize school opportunities throughout the United States. This bill is backed by the American Federation of Teachers.

Irvin Kuenzli, secretary-treasurer of the A. F. of T., testified on behalf of the measure and pointed out that the cost of federal aid would be offset by the reduction in the nation's crime bill which would result from better schooling.

The bill has also been indorsed by the Congress for Industrial Organization, on behalf of which John L. Lewis stated: "Organized labor has always been the spearhead in the movement for public education, open on equal terms to all." The railroad brotherhoods, through A. W. Whitney, also have made known their backing.

Under the bill, general aid to public elementary and secondary schools would total $40,000,000 in 1940 and would increase by $20,000,000 yearly increments until it reached $140,000,000 in 1945. Apportionment to states will be based on number of children of school age and the financial need of each state. Additional appropriations are made for improved preparation of teachers, construction of school buildings, administration of state departments of education, adult education, rural library service, cooperative educational research and demonstrations, and education of children residing on federal reservations and at foreign stations.

When introducing the bill into the senate, its sponsor, Hon. Elbert D. Thomas, of Utah, declared:

"No nation can meet this changing world unless its people, individually and collectively, grow in ability to understand and handle the new knowledge as applied to increasingly intricate human relationships.

"And that is why the teachers of America are the ultimate guardians of the human capital of America, the assets which must be made to pay social dividends if democracy is to survive."

"We have believed, we have believed wholeheartedly in investing the money of all the people on the education of the people. That conviction, backed by taxes and backed by dollars, is no accident, for it is the logical application of our faith in democracy."

MAYOR ASKS PAY CUT OF HIGH SALARIED CITY EMPLOYES

New York City.—Mayor LaGuardia has offered to cut 10 per cent from his own salary if he can get other city servants to make a similar cut.

"My plan," he says, "would be to reduce all employes getting $5,000 by 5 per cent, and those getting higher salaries, including myself, by 10 per cent. Any constitutional question could be easily met by simply assigning to the city 10 per cent of that portion of the salary paid by the city. An assignment would have an even greater effect and force than a mere waiver."

The mayor has sent this to all of the better paid servants of the city, including those, like judges, whose salaries are protected by constitutional provisions.

Bob and Milt Cooke Doing Much Better At Local Hospital

Cooke Family Keeping Medicos and Nurses in Employment---New Hospital Wing Being Rushed

The Cooke family in Chattanooga have started a drive to help the medical profession make a living, it appears, with three members patronizing them for various and sundry reasons.

Little Sally Ann Cooke, granddaughter of Bob Cooke, has had her tonsils snatched out (tonsillectomy to you) and is doing well. Bob himself, just through the election wars, is now in Erlanger, recovering from a painful but successful operation and is due out in a few days in time to catch a train with Mrs. Cooke for Florida to finish the job of recuperating.

And Milt Cooke, the veteran sick man, hopes to be out of Erlanger next Sunday after a two months siege from an emergency appendicitis operation(again we say, appendectomy to you).

Work on the new wing of Erlanger is being pushed vigorously. The Cooke family is a large one and there is no telling what will happen next.

THOMPSON CAFES SIGN AFL PAY BOOST PACT

New York, N. Y.—Local No. 302 of the Cafeteria Employes Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, announced the negotiation of an agreement with the John R. Thompson company, providing wage increases of from $1 to $4 a week for employes of the Thompson cafeteria chain. It was stated that about 90 per cent of the 250 workers will share in the increases.

AFL OPENS WESTERN OFFICE IN 'FRISCO

Meyer Lewis Is Placed in Charge of Drives in Vast Western Area

Washington. — William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, announced that western headquarters for the A. F. of L. is being established in San Francisco.

He named Meyer L. Lewis, who has had a successful record in various organizational activities for the A. F. of L. in the last ten years, to take charge of the new office.

As western representative of the A. F. of L., Mr. Lewis will supervise organization drives of the federation in the Pacific coast and Rocky mountain states.

"This territory," President Green said, "is becoming increasingly important industrially. The American Federation of Labor will leave no stone unturned in a determined effort to bring to the workers of the west the benefits of organization.

"Furthermore, reactionary employer interests have leagued together to foment anti-union activities in this region. We have seen direct evidence of their methods in Oregon, where they have secretly operated behind the camouflage of farmers' organizations to combat unionism and have spentt vast sums in such campaigns. We intend to expose their vicious propaganda to the workers and the public and establish the American Federation of Labor on a firmer basis than ever before in the Pacific coast and Rocky mountain states."

Meyer L. Lewis has been associated with the organized labor movement for the past twenty years, during the latter half of which period he has been employed directly by the A. F. of L. in various organizational capacities. Perhaps his outstanding achievement was the organization of the grain processing industry, including flour, mill and cereal workers. These unions in every part of the country have banded together in the National Council of Grain Processors, of which Mr. Lewis is president. He will remain in this capacity while serving as the A. F. of L.'s western representative.

A year ago Mr. Lewis successfully organized the Colorado State Federation of Labor and the Kansas State Federation of Labor at President Green's direction. He also engaged in organization work in Minnesota, Iowa and Wyoming. He is a member of the American Federation of Musicians. He plans to leavo for the west coast this week to take over his new duties.

Murphy Wants Statute To Catch Ocean Crooks

Washington.—Atty.-Gen. Murphy has asked congress to enact legislation to protect passengers on American ocean liners from former gangland gunmen, bank robbers and bigtime bootleggers and "stick up" guys who have become card sharks and make their living out of gullible passengers with wads of money.

A statement by the justice department said that the immaculately dressed, well-mannered graduates of underworld dives are unrestrained in their avocation of fleecing those who travel on American ships, and that their crooked gambling should be outlawed by federal statutes.

Bread contains a good deal of alcohol, says an anylst. Now we know why we drink a toast.

Striking Truck Drivers Demand Increased Wages

Providence, R. I.—Shipments by trucks were seriously curtailed in Rhode Island, Connecticut and Massachusetts as a result of the three-state strike called by the locals of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, following the collapse of negotiations between representatives of 10,000 drivers and 1,200 truck owners. The drivers sought a three-year contract with wage increases in all classifications.

The strike leaders ordered a clear road for perishables and fuel. At the start union chieftains said 600 trucks and between 1,000 and 1,200 men were affected in Rhode Island alone.

Union officials in Worcester, Mass., said twelve out of eighty operators had signed union contracts. Drivers in both Massachusetts and Connecticut refused to handle goods consigned from Rhode Island.

AMERICAN INVENTIVENESS

Washington.—The United States Patent Office, now entering its 150th year, reports the granting of approximately 2,152,000 patents, which is equal to about 1.7 patents every hour since it was created in 1790.

ALL FOR ONE TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL CHATTANOOGA

FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1939

Why 'Nooga Has a Good Labor Movement

We know that Chattanooga has a good labor movement. We believe that it is one of the best in the south, and there are many reasons why this is true.

There was a letter in this morning's mail from the secretary of the School Bus Drivers union, Local 1180. He was sending in a corrected mailing list for The Labor World.

But at the end of the letter there was a little postscript which said:

"If we can help the Central Labor union in any way, call on us."

It is such a spirit among our union members that makes our labor movement, and our union members display that spirit in practically every field.

It all boils down to labor's motto, "United we stand, divided we fall."

They Begin to Agree

(Gerald W. Johnson in Baltimore Evening Sun.)

The Italio-Russian trade agreement may not amount to much in itself, but it is a significant indication of how totalitarian states can get together when it is obviously worth while ot do so.

Some months ago Hitler remarked that he could make a deal with any dictator—that it was only the democracies that gave him troublee.

Indeed, why not? A totalitarian state is a totalitarian state, whether it calls itself communist, fascist or nazi. The things that divide them are superficial differences. It is between totalitarianism and democracy that the difference is as high as heaven and as deep as hell.

Stalin has come to an agreement with Mussolini. Stalin can come to an agreement with Hitler. If it seems worth his while, Stalin can come to an agreement with the war lords who control Japan. On one important point, despotism, they all see eye to eye.

National Housing Census Is Under Consideration

New York City.—Federal officials are considering a nationwide housing census to be enumerated about the same time as the 1940 population census, Asher Achinstein, assistant director of the division of research and statistics of the United States Housing Authority, told the conference on immediate human needs here.

This information, Achinstein said, is essential in the planning of any co-ordinated housing program. A WPA survey of 8,000,000 homes in 203 communities revealed, he said, that 25 per cent of the homes were at least 40 years old and 16 per cent outside of New York City unfit for use or in need of major repairs.

Oklahoma Court Upholds State Regulation Of Wages and Hours

Oklahoma City.—The Oklahoma supreme court has ruled that state regulation of wages and hours for men, women and children was "a valid exercise of legislative power."

The court upheld in general terms a state law that was passed in 1937 shortly after the United States supreme court had upheld the Washington state minimum wage law which related only to women.

The court held, however, that the act was defective as to title.

The legislature has before it a proposal to repeal the law and enact a new measure to remedy this.

The claim is made that airplanes cost four times as much as they did five years ago because of high wages. A congressman brought in the records, showing that the average wage in a plane factory five years ago was 63.6 cents and last year it was 73.6. Same old bluff.

HOTEL WORKERS UNION WINS D. OF C. STRIKE

Washington.—Two thousand of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America ratified the settlement of the two-week strike against thirteen Washington hotels.

The text of the settlement was not made public, but John R. Steelman, conciliator of the U. S. department of Labor, said it was a compromise providing that the hotels give preference to union members in hiring new employes, that new employes who were not union members must join the union within two weeks, that present non-union employes would not be required to join, and that all strikers would be reinstated.

A. F. L. Union Favored By Warehouse Workers

Philadelphia, Pa. — Warehouse workers employed by the Union Premier Food Stores in Philadelphia voted two to one in favor of the A. F. of L. in an election held by the national labor relations board to choose a collective bargaining representative. The vote was 45 for the A. F. of L.'s Storage Warehouse Employes' union, Local 18571, to 24 for the C. I. O. union.

Q.—When was the first newspaper published in America?

A.—It is claimed the first newspaper was "Public Occurrences," published in 1690.

Jobless Due to Strike Refused Compensation

Charleston, W. Va.—In a decision handed down here, the West Virginia unemployment compensation board of review denied unemployment compensation to 2,705 workers in the Parkersburg plant of the Viscose company because their idleness last summer was held due to a labor dispute.

Approximately 200 workers in the spinning department of the Parkersburg plant struck on June 5, 1938. Because of the stoppage in that department the mill management, on the ground of the alleged complicated process of making rayon yarn, closed all other departments.

The West Virginia unemployment compensation law prohibits the payment of unemployment benefits when a work stoppage is due to a labor dispute. Although only a small group of the employes struck, the board of review hold that the idleness of all the other employes was caused by the labor dispute in which the 200 spinners were directly involved.

It is always good to know, if only in passing, charming human beings — it refreshes one like flowers, and woods and clear brooks.—George Eliot.

Committees Named To Fix Hat and Millinery Wages

Washington. — Elmer F. Andrews, administrator of the fair labor standards act of 1938, announced the appointment of Industry Committee No. 4 for the hat industry and Industry Committee No. 5 for the millinery industry. After thorough investigation, the committee will recommend minimum wage rates for these industries between the present statutory minimum of 25 cents an hour and 40 cents an hour. Before becoming effective the recommendations of the committee have to be approved by Administrator Andrews.

Each committee consists of five representatives of the public, five representatives of the employes and five representatives of the employers.

The five representatives of the employes for the hat industry committee include Max Zaritsky, president of the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers' International union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and four officials of locals of that union.

The five representatives of the employes for the millinery industry committee consist of Max Zaritsky and Alex Rose, president and vice-president, respectively, of the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers' International union, and three local officials of that organization.

ALA. FIRST IN 1939 TO ADOPT CIVIL SERVICE

Chicago.—Alabama has gone on record as the first state to adopt civil service in 1939, with legislative approval of an act that puts approximately 4,000 employes under the merit system, the civil service assembly of the United States and Canada reports. The bill was an administration measure of Gov. Frank Dixon.

Legislatures of 17 other states are considering merit system proposals at present, for either state or local governments.

The new Alabama law, the assembly says, will establish a broad personnel program covering all state departments. It includes a position-classification plan, a salary and wage schedule based on equal pay for equal work, systematized promotions and transfers, and in-service training of employes.

Alabama becomes the fourteeuth state in the country with a formal merit system law. Other states in the group include Tennessee, Connecticut, Maine and Michigan, which enacted merit system laws in 1937, and California, Colorado, New York, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Illinois, New Jersey, Ohio and Maryland.

Spring is grand, but the fact that all the summer clothes had to be brought out, hems let down and a million and one other things to be done to last summer's wearing apparel has always sort of spoiled it for me. But not this time. My mother came over from West Tennessee and has been working busily on them ever since she arrived. Aren't mothers grand?

Labor and Bar Association Join in Chicago in War On Political Judges

Chicago.—The Chicago Federation of Labor and the Chicago Bar association have declared war on political judges. A new method of selecting Chicago's thirty-seven municipal judges which would eliminate their election or re-election on a coalition basis by adoption of a new non-political plan has been approved unanimously by the Chicago Federation of Labor; and approval of the plan by its members has been recommended by the board of managers of the bar association.

The new plan is the result of conferences between committees representing the federation and the bar association and is to be embodied in a bill to be introduced in the state legislature in the near future.

The proposed bill represents a great advance over the present method of choosing judges.

The bar association's board of managers previously had recommended the appointment of judges in the first instance to take the judgeships out of politics. To this, the federation's committee was unalterably opposed."

Under the plan which won the approval of the federation and the board of managers of the bar association, the chief justice and associate judges of the municipal court would first be elected on a nonpartisan ballot. Twice as many candidates as there are judges to be elected would be nominated at the April primary in every even numbered year and filing of a petition signed by not less than 3,000 legal voters would qualify a candidate for a place on the ballot.

Judges would be chosen from among those nominated at the primary and ballots at both the nominating and final elections would be without party designation. Judges so chosen would serve four years and at the end of that time and thereafter at six-year intervals as long as they remain on the bench would stand for re-election, without opposition, but on their records. Those failing to win a majority would be retired and if the majority vote against them was less than 25 per cent they would be retained. Places of judges failing to win approval would be filled by appointments by the mayor, but no appointee would serve more than two years.

A SUGGESTION

I BELIEVE that a great many members of organized labor are expecting to trade their present cars on a new one this spring or summer. Why not trade on a new Ford now, or a Mercury, before you have to buy new license tags? And, too, we are in position to allow you more for your present car at this time than we have at any time lately or more than we can later on.

LAUNDRIES OBEYING WAGE ORDER IN N. Y.

New York City. — Laundries throughout the New York City Metropolitan area with few exceptions are now in compliance with the provisions of the mandatory wage order in that industry, Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller announced in making public a report on inspections over a five-month period. Investigations covering the period from Aug. 22, 1938, when the order became mandatory, through Jan. 31, 1939, showed that out of 1,770 laundries inspected 97.5 per cent were in compliance, while only 45, or 2.5 per cent, were not in compliance at the time of the report.

In making public the report, Commissioner Miller praised the laundry owners for their co-operation. "Although the upstate laundries at the end of a six-week inspection period had an excellent compliance record of 94 per cent, the plants in the metropolitan area have made an even better record. Such a showing proves that laundry employers as well as employes are actively co-operating in the enforcement of the law and welcome this aid to stabilization of their industry."

The laundry industry was the first in the state to come under a mandatory minimum wage order.

The order affects all women and male minors employed at laundry occupations and provides for a guaranteed minimum wage for a 40-hour week of $14 in New York City, Westchester and Nassau counties, and $13.20 in all other communities with populations over 18,000. In communities with a population of 18,000 or less, the minimum wage is 30 cents an hour.

CIGAR COMPANIES WIN 56-HOUR WEEK RULING

A seasonal exemption from the hours provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 for the handling of perishable cigar leaf tobacco of types grown principally in the Connecticut valley, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wisconsin and Florida was granted by Administrator Elmer F. Andrews, of the Wage and Hour Division of the U. S. Department of Labor. The exemption was requested by the General Cigar company, of New York City, and other interested parties.

The partial exemption allows the employes concerned to be employed up to 12 hours a day and 56 hours a week for not to exceed 14 work weeks in the aggregate per year without payment of overtime. The exemption does not affect the requirement of paying not less than the minimum wage of 25 cents an hour prescribed by the act.

We are mighty proud of our colored members.

Ellis Restaurant, in the 1400 block of Market street, has been declared "unfair" by the organization. Patronize only places where you see the card. When you go into a restaurant, do you look for the Union card? If you are a consistent union man, you should. If you do not find it, you inquire as to why it isn't there. You should, at least, if you haven't the courage to demand the union house card, refuse to patronize such places. Remember, it is just as bad, just as much a violation to your union principles to patronize a non-union restaurant as it is to trade at a non-union barber shop, employ a non-union carpenter, have printing done without the union label or any other similar practices that union men are not supposed to adopt. A union waiter, waitress, or kitchen help are gems. They are the success of the business, and yet, they are among the lowest paid of any of the wage earners. They need organization and they need it badly. You can help by demanding the union card. The ELLIS RESTAURANT is "UNFAIR."

FHA Reports Big Gains In Home Financing

Washington, D. C.—Large gains in home financing activities under the FHA plan since the first of the year, especially in the Middle West, are reported by Administrator Stewart McDonald.

In the week ending March 4 applications for mortgage insurance on small homes reached $26,263,496, a new all time high in FHA records.

Applications for small home mortgage insurance are being received at a rate of nearly $5,000,000 each business day. Over 70 per cent represent newly constructed homes.

Heretofore, applications for mortgage insurance have proven an exceedingly accurate barometer of future building activity. These figures would indicate, therefore, a most active spring building season, with small home construction possibly attaining the largest volume in a decade, the FHA says.

Particularly notable was the increased activity in the Middle West. For the entire country small home mortgage insurance applications in February showed a gain of 102 per cent over February of last year. For the Middle West area, however, the gain was 217 per cent. Much of this gain took place in industrial centers of Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio.

Prompt Help For A Listless Child

Scolding won't help a boy or girl who is listless, dull or cross from constipation. But, here's something that will!

If sluggish bowels have your child headachy, bilious, upset, give him a little Syrup of Black-Draught tonight. Like the original famed BLACK-DRAUGHT, its principal ingredient is an intestinal tonic-laxative. Helps impart tone to the bowel muscles.

Children like the taste of Syrup of Black-Draught. It is an all vegetable product. When simple directions are followed, its action is gentle, but prompt and complete. Comes in two sizes: 50c and 25c.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Under and by virtue of the authority vested in me, the undersigned Trustee, by Deed of Trust executed the 13th day of June, 1928, by Sol Edelstein and wife, Rachel Edelstein, to secure a certain indebtedness, which said Deed of Trust was filed for record June 15, 1928, and recorded in Book C, Volume 23, Page 343 et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, conveying the property hereinafter described, to which Deed of Trust specific reference is hereby made for the powers and provisions contained therein and default having been made in the payment of interest and principal indebtedness, which still remains due and unpaid, at the request of the holder of same, I, J. W. Olmsted, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, Trustee, will expose for sale to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of the equities of redemption, dower and homestead, at the west door of the Court House on Walnut Street in the City of Chattanooga, Tennessee, within the legal hours of sale,

MONDAY, APRIL 10th, 1939,

the following described property in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

NONRESIDENT NOTICE IN ORIGINAL ATTACHMENT SUIT TO ENFORCE FURNISHERS LIEN

Docket No. 146016

Before Hays Clark, Justice of the Peace, Hamilton County, Tennessee

C. W. Hoffman vs. Gid McFarland and Wife, Eva B. McFarland

Whereas, said C. W. Hoffman, by attorney, on the 7th day of February, 1939, made affidavit before me, the undersigned Justice of the Peace, that the said Gid McFarland and Eva B. McFarland are justly indebted to him in the sum of $130.25 by reason of plaintiff having furnished defendants with lumber and materials to construct a house, and that said defendants reside out of this state, and gave a bond, as required by law in attachment cases; and whereas I, the said Justice of the Peace on that day issued an original attachment against the estate of said defendants, and said attachment has been levied on certain property of the defendants, and an order for this publication has been duly made;

Now, therefore, said Gid McFarland and Eva B. McFarland are hereby notified to appear before me, at my office in Chattanooga on the 7th day of April, 1939, and make defense to said suit or it will be proceeded with ex parte. This 24th day of February, 1939.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Substitute Trustee, as contained in Substitution of Trustee instrument filed for record March 24, 1939, and as contained in Deed of Trust from J. G. Baughn and former wife, Mamie Baughn, (now Mamie B. Wilcox, wife of H. W. Wilcox, Jr.,) to J. Mitt Payne, Trustee, Book K, Volume 27, Page 123, Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, notice is hereby given that the property described below will be sold by me at the West door of the Court House of Hamilton County, in Chattanooga, Tennessee, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, subject to all unpaid taxes, on the

2nd DAY OF MAY, 1939

at 10 o'clock, A. M., to satisfy the balance due on promissory note from J. G. Baughn and Mamie Baughn (now Mamie B. Wilcox) to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, said note being dated May 1, 1934 and secured by the Deed of Trust to J. Mitt Payne above mentioned. Said property is described as follows:

Lots Nos. One Hundred Eighty-one (181) and One Hundred Eighty-two (182), Woodland Park Addition, as per plat of record in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee in Plat Book 6, Page 21. Said lots each front fifty (50) feet on the East line of Park Street and extend Eastwardly, of uniform width, a distance of One Hundred Twenty (120) feet to an eight (8) foot alley, being the same property conveyed by B. F. Alford and wife, Edith L. Alford, to J. G. Baughn and wife, Mamie B. Baughn, by deed dated August 25th, 1926, and registered August 31st, 1926, in Book X, Volume 20, Page 184 in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, on the 14th day of February, 1927, J. A. Morrow and wife, Pearl May Morrow, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration February 23, 1927, and recorded in Book N, Vol. 21, Page 113 et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

WHEREAS, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said J. A. Morrow and wife, Pearl May Morrow, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, MAY 2nd, 1939

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House, in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot number seven (7) of Blachley's subdivision of Ridgedale. Said lot fronts fifty (50) feet on the north side of Main street (formerly Montgomery avenue) and extends back northwardly of uniform width one hundred fifty (150) feet to an alley as shown by a plat of record in Plat Book "1," Page 16, in the Register's Office of said County and State.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This March 30th, 1939.

Collectcive Bargaining Elections Won By A. F. of L. Unions On Three Railroad Lines

Chicago.—The International Association of Machinists, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, Helpers, Roundhouse and Railway Shop Laborers won handily over a "dummy union," the Brotherhood of Railroad Shopcrafts of America, in an election on the Pennsylvania - Reading Seashore Lines conducted under the auspices of the National Mediation Board.

Defeat of another "dummy union" in a collective bargaining election on the Kansas City Southern Railway was accomplished by these three unions and the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Ship Builders and Helpers, International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers and the Sheet Metal Workers' International Association. The Brotherhood of Railway Carmen did not obtain a majority in this case; but neither did the "company union."

Labor Board Called on to Rule In Lumber Co. Case Involving Many Jurisdictional Claims

Longview, Wash.—The eight-day national labor relations board hearing involving some 2,300 woods and mill employes of the Weyerhaeuser Timber company's Longview operations has closed here.

The hearing was considered of nation-wide importance, because of the number of men involved and the problems disputed.

Local No. 2461 of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers, affiliated with the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, claimed jurisdiction over all Weyerhaeuser mill employes, and Local No. 2642, Lumber and Sawmill Workers, sought jurisdiction over all woods employes.

Other Unions Make Claims.

Meanwhile, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen asked for jurisdiction over employes on logging trains which hauled the logs from the Weyerhaeuser woods to the mill; the Machinists', Electricians' and Boilermakers' unions, all affiliated with American Federation of Labor, claimed jurisdiction over members of their crafts employed in the woods or mill; and the International Woodworkers of America, CIO, asked to be named the bargaining agent for boommen and rafters employed on the Weyerhaeuser log ponds.

If the labor board holds with the Lumber and Sawmill workers, there will be no separate election for the machinists, electricians, boilermakers, boommen and trainmen. Instead, they all would vote, probably, in an election to determine whether the Lumber and Sawmill Workers or the International Woodworkers of America should have jurisdiction in the local Weyerhaeuser operations.

Rail Workers Watch Case.

If the labor board rules against the Lumber and Sawmill Workers' claim for an industrial union, members of the crafts would ballot in separate elections, it was believed.

Local railroad men have watched the hearing with especial interest, for a decision of the NLRB in regard to the railroad brotherhoods could determine whether the brotherhoods have jurisdiction over employes of private lines, each as the Columbia and Cowlitz railroad which trancports the Weyerhaeuser logs from woods to mill.

Jury Holds Hosiery Union Must Pay $711,392 For Apex Plant Sit-Down

Philadelphia.—A federal juhy brought in a verdict against Branch 1 of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers of $237,-310.85; and the judge, having due regard for the Sherman anti-trust law, multiplied the jury's damage footage bw three, and required the Hosiery Workers, a CIO affiliate, to pay $711,392.55 to the Apex Hosiery company for a seven-week sit-down strike in 1937.

The sum found by the jury is about one-fifth of that asked, and a little more than half what the company was still contending for when the trial closed. The suit will be appealed as far as it can be carried, and that probably is the supreme court of the United States.

M. H. Syme, counsel for the union, siad that the verdict "repealed the Sherman anti-trust act against anyone but labor."

"By virtue of the Standard Oil case," he said, "the supreme court established the rule that in order that industry may be held for violation of the Sherman anti-trust act it must be shown that there has been substantial interference with the free flow of commerce.

"Here is a case where an employer manufactures 3 per cent of the country's hosiery. A complete paralysis of operations of Apex would have no effect on the flow of commerce, yet it is held by this decision that the union is guilty of a violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. It seems that the rule of reason is to be applied to industry and the rule of unreason to labor."

Louisiana Labor To Discuss State Wage-Hour Law

New Orleans.—A resolution proposing maximum hours and minimum wage legislation for Louisiana covering thousands of workers not now affected by the national law will be discussed at the 27th annual convention of the Louisiana State Federation of Labor in Monroe April 3-5. It is planned to draft a bill on maximum hours and minimum wages for action at the next session of the legislature.

Other resolutions affecting labor to be taken up include proposed amendments to the eight-hour law for women passed by the 1939 legislature and legislation requiring employers to give employes at least 15 days notice before dismissal. It is expected that a resolution will be acted upon calling for passage by Congress to prohibit the use of National Guard supplies and equipment in labor disputes except by specific approval of the secretary of war.

Building Trades Strike Settled Satisfactorily

W. J. Everhart, president of Chattanooga Building Trades council, announced this week that the strike called by the building labor unions had been settled satisfactorily to both sides.

An agreement was reached with the associated contractors of the city which granted the wage increase to the laborers and all the projects closed down by the strike started up again last Tuesday morning.

Income And Wages Gain Over Year Ago

Washington, D. C.—Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins has announced that the total national income in February of this year is $115,000,000 greater than it was in the same month in 1938.

Wage income for February was 17 per cent above that of the previous year February, in the productive industries.

Shorter Hours, Better Work Conditions and Other Benefits Sought by United Efforts of Eleven A. F. of L. Units Constituting New Group.

Cleveland, O.—The recent consolidation of eleven American Federation of Labor unions here in the Cleveland Food Council is expected to bring about general improvement in the Cleveland food market.

Affiliated with the new council are unions of truck drivers, commission house drivers, milk drivers, bakery drivers, warehouse workers, retail clerks, fish and poultry handlers, butchers, chain store clerks and managers and bakery and confectionery workers.

"Work of the council," according to Edward Murphy, who directed its formation, "will center first on educating the affiliated unions to co-operate with each other. We want to correct the situation whereby a minority group goes out on strike without the knowledge and support of all other affected unions.

"We believe both the unions and the employers will gain by being able to get through a united organization. When grievances arise both sides will have the benefit of co-operative action. The council will also seek to establish regulation and stabilization of the industry through labor agreements and by effecting uniform observance of opening and closing hours, including Wednesday afternoon closing, for all stores handling food products."

County Court Agrees to a "Closed Shop" Contract For School Bus Drivers

Local 1180, Bus Drivers, won a unanimous agreement from the Hamilton County Court last Monday which assures the signing of a closed shop contract. Members of this local union drive school buses that carry county school children to and from school.

In addition the squires promised to incorporate in the contract a raise in pay which was promised last year, but which failed to reach the point of payment.

TEACHER TALK

The board of directors at its Wednesday evening meeting ordered the chair to appoint three committees. One of these is to be a student welfare committee; it will co-ordinate and expand the work of teachers in aiding needy children. A union relations committee will contact teachers, union and nonunion, who let contracts for various school projects—as printing of school publications, for example—in an effort to persuade them to use union services and products without exception. A third committee will work on the revision of our constitution and by-laws, which are becoming outmoded.

Acting President Millsaps will appoint these committees soon, after conferring with the executive committee.

New Agreement Negotiated by A. F. of L. Affiliate Also Includes 35-Hour Week and Minimum Wages.

New York, N. Y.—Members of Local No. 1 of the International Jewelry Workers Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, are jubilant over their success in securing one week's vacation with pay on the new two-year agreement negotiated with the Precious Jewelry Manufacturers here. The main provisions of the former agreement, such as the 35-hour week, minimum wages, etc., remain intact.

Samuel E. Beardsley, general secretary-treasurer of the International Union, gave this explanation of the method used to determine the compensation for vacation pay:

"All employes who are on the payroll of any shop for six months during the period between Feb. 1, 1939, and Jan. 31, 1940, are to receive 3 per cent of their wages, the same not to exceed one full week's pay. To illustrate: If a worker earns during the year $1,000 only because of slack work, he will receive $40; but if the same worker earns $2,000 or over and his wage is $50 per week, he will receive only one week's pay, namely, $50.

"The vacation period is to be the first week in July, 1940, and the entire industry will close down for that week. The total number coming under this vacation will be 2,500.

"This is the first vacation with pay ever granted by the employers in this trade."

Unions Support Demand 'Reds' Be Ousted

Aberdeen, Wash.—A Grays Harbor mass meeting, attended by more than 1,100 persons, scored "red" and Communistic activities as one of the principal causes of the district's lumber industry tie-up and asked that the proper Federal authorities take steps to deport Harry Bridges and Harold Pritchett, West Coast CIO leaders.

A plank demanding that "labor put its house in order" by "subduing or removing the red element which continually disrupts industry" was passed with cheers and applause.

"Unfair," CIO Says

The mass meeting was called unfair by CIO leaders, who were incensed at the demand for the deportation of Bridges and Pritchett.

Spokesmen of American Federation of Labor unions, however, praised the action of those attending the meeting, sponsored by business men of the community.

Howard Bennett, representing the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, congratulated the meeting on its platform and said: "Clear thinking American leadership to eliminate the 'quickie' strike and general stoppage of work will remedy the situation."

Council for Co-operation

From the Grays Harbor County District Council, Lumber and Sawmill Workers, affiliated with the A. F. of L., came a statement of approval over the signature of Kenneth Nazer, secretary.

"We feel that the business and professional men of Grays Harbor should build a permanent organization and that a friendlier feeling should be maintained between them and the working people of Grays Harbor," the statement said.

N. Y. MOTION PICTURE OPERATORS CALL STRIKE

New York, N. Y.—A strike of projection room operators in the New York distribution room centers of the major motion picture companies was called by Local 306 of the Motion Picture Operators Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. A stoppage of distribution of films to all theatres was visioned as the result of the walkout.

The strike was called to persuade the companies not to sell films to 75 theatres in Brooklyn and elsewhere on Long Island employing members of a dual union.

CONVENTION CALL

Tennessee Federation of Labor

CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE, APRIL 1, 1939.

To all Local Unions, City Central Bodies in the State of Tennessee Affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, Greetings:

You are hereby advised that the Forty-second Annual Convention of the Tennessee Federation of Labor will convene in the Noel Hotel, Nashville, Tennessee, Monday, June 5, 1939, at 9:00 A. M. The sessions will last about three days. It is the hope of the Convention Committee that all delegates will use the regular hotel headquarters.

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION

Article IV., Section 3. The Tennessee Federation of Labor shall be composed of one delegate from each trade union and labor organization in the State. Trades and Labor Councils and District Bodies shall be entitled to three delegates. All bodies must be affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Section 6. No delegate shall be admitted to a seat in the convention whose organization is in arrears for dues or assessments to this body, or who is not a qualified voter, or who is in arrears with his local union.

Article XI., Section 8. No delegate shall be seated in the annual convention of the Tennessee Federation of Labor unless his organization is affiliated with the central body in his city, if one exists, and said central body affiliated with the American Federation of Labor; this shall not apply, however, to fraternal delegates from Farmers' Unions. Nor shall any delegate be seated who does not wear union-made clothes if same can be obtained in the community in which he lives; nor any delegate who, in charge of any work that can be done with union labor who does not use same, when charges to this effect are sustained.

Credentials are enclosed herewith in duplicate. The original must be filled out and given to the delegate to be presented at the Convention. The duplicate must be filled out and mailed at once to T. R. CUTHBERT, 310 West Eighth Street, Chattanooga, Tennessee.

All Central Bodies and Local Unions in Tennessee are urged to send delegates to this Convention. Local Unions not affiliated are requested to affiliate at once. The initiation fee for Local Unions, Central District Bodies is $5.00. Local Unions with twenty-five members or less shall not be required to pay any initiation fee. Local Unions that are affiliated and who are in arrears with their per capita tax are requested to square up all arrearages, in order that their delegates may be entitled to a seat in the Convention. Section 2, Article VII, of the Laws of the Federation read as follows:

Sec. 2. Any organization affiliated with the Federation not paying its dues within thirty days after being notified by the Secretary-Treasurer shall be reported to the Executive Council, and if, at the end of three months, it is still in arrears, the Executive Council shall suspend such organization from membership in the Federation, and it can be reinstated only by payment of all arrearages or by a two-thirds vote of the convention; provided, however, that any local union or central body being more than one year in arrears shall be reaffiliated UPON THE PAYMENT OF THEIR REGULAR INITIATION FEE AND SIX MONTHS' DUES.

All resolutions presented must be submitted in triplicate

Trusting that your organization will be represented and hoping to meet your delegates at the Convention, we remain,

Sincerely and Fraternally,

GERALD FOLEY, President.

T. R. CUTHBERT, Secretary.

Washington Labor Presses Demand For Probe Of Anti-Union Groups

Longview, Wash. — Organized labor of Cowlitz and Clark counties, in southwest Washington, is aligned with the Washington State Federation of Labor in its campaign to secure Federal appropriations to continue a Senate Civil Liberties Committee investigation of groups antagonistic to unions and their objectives.

Resolutions asking for sufficient appropriations for the La Follette committee have been passed by the Longview - Kelso Central Labor Council, representing Cowlitz county, and the Clark County Central Labor Council.

Organized labor is especially interested in obtaining a full investigation of the Associated Farmers.

The Women of Washington, the Little Businessmen's Bureau and other kindred organizations which, working in conjunction with similar groups in Oregon and California, have conducted a destructive anti-labor campaign.

James A. Taylor, president of the State Federation of Labor, described the La Follettee committee's investigation as a matter of "vital importance to the labor movement of the Northwest."

Lumber Man Predicts Building Increase

New Orleans.—Increased building and improvement in the lumber market were predicted here by James G. McNary, president of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association.

"Recent trends and business generally have been far from encouraging, but it is believed we are heading into a period of greater activity in home building and general construction than we have witnessed since the depression sit," he said at the Southern Pine Association's annual convention.

"Unless business is considerably upset by developments abroad, we have reason to hope for and expect a better lumber market."

McNary urged ntrong efforts by lumbermen to remove markets lost to substitute materials and to correct abuses in lumber distribution methods.

He said forest conservation was a problem for the entire lumber industry to consider because lumbermen "now recognize that the care and protection of forests has become a national social and economic problem."

How does a person's voice travel over the telephone?

A.—The person's voice does not actually travel over the wires. Sound waves formed by the voice cause a diaphragm in the transmitter to vibrate, and the current of electricity is varied in strength according to the sounds of the voice. This current is then transmitted to the receiver of another telephone, where it vibrates another diaphragm and thus produces sound waves exactly similar to those spoken into the transmitter.

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly.

Detroit Allied Printing Trades Council is pushing a move for settlement of AFL-CIO difficulties. The present situation in labor is bad medicine, the council says in effect.

The council declares the demand for labor unity must be backed up by mass support of union members.

"We see in the President's call (for labor peace) a warning that unless labor does achieve unity there will be a distinct possibility of national legislation for the control of unions," the council adds.

Whatever one may think of the council's opinion of the President's appeal, it is hard to avoid the conclusion that the split in the labor movement is doing labor no good before the court of public opinion.

Clashes between the two big labor groups, especially in the Far West, are bringing reaction against organized labor in general, in the form of movements for repressive legislation of various kinds.

Labor naturally is fighting these movements, which menace American liberty. But the situation does call for labor setting its house in order, by ending its family row and by doing away with practices that bring public condemnation.

Public opinion often swings to extremes.

Just now there is some real danger that it may swing far to the side of reaction, unless the labor split is adjusted in some way, either by unity or agreement to cease warfare.

* * *

One trouble is that the clash between the two labor groups is exaggerated by enemies of unionism.

They take advantage of the situation to paint the labor picture in dark colors and raise a clamor for regulation by law.

Take an article entitled, "Labor Must Behave—Or Else," in a Wall Street organ, for example.

The writer of the article cites numerous alleged sins of the union and professes to see a public "symphony of condemnation" that will put labor in "its proper place."

If the public emotion described by the writer aims to put labor in a strait-jacket, it is due for a surprise.

Labor progress will continue, despite the wishful thinking of its enemies. Its progress, however, will be faster if it sets its own house in order.

Why can't property taxes be paid in installments, the same as when paying many other bills?

Many a home owner must have asked this question, especially in recent depression years.

Installment paying of taxes has been inaugurated in some cities. Baltimore is one.

The Federal Housing Administration is doing much to popularize the plan by its system for financing home buying, on long term mortgage at low interest rates.

Under the FHA plan, the home buyer makes regular monthly payments which cover not only interest, principal and insurance, but taxes as well.

Most other living expenses are settled monthly, and there is no reason why taxes should not be paid the same way, the FHA says.

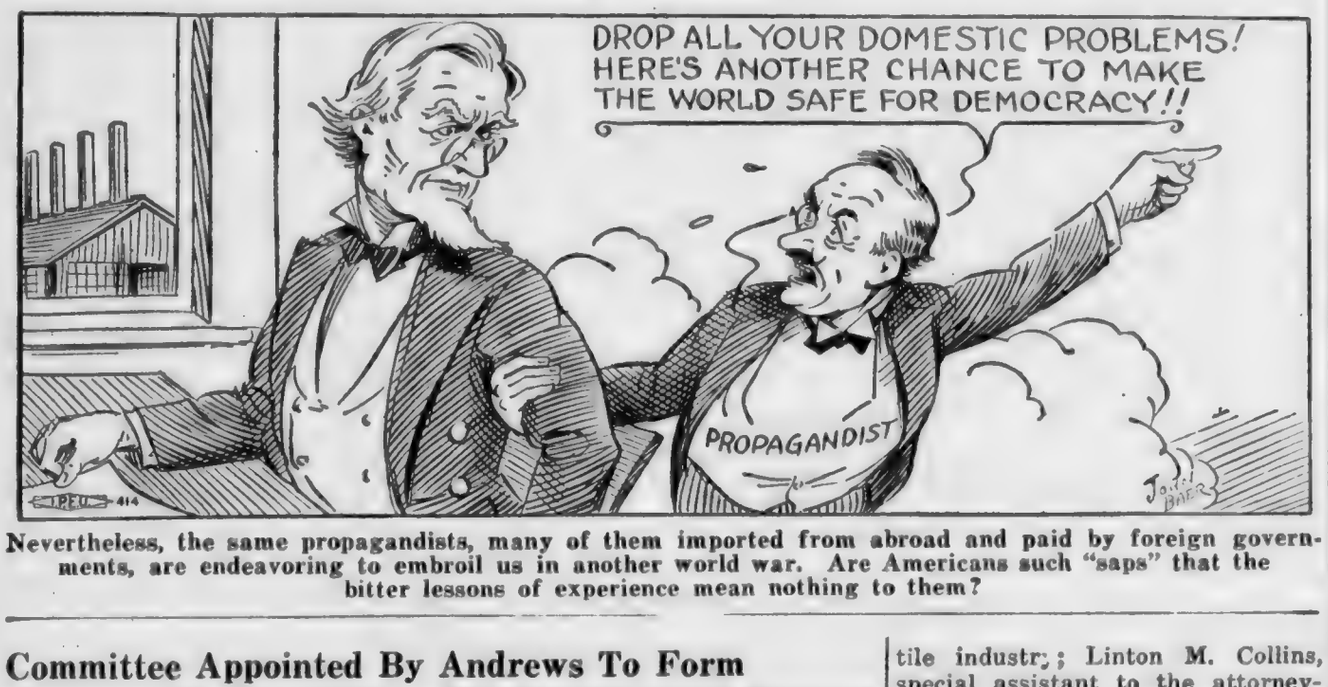
Which seems an eminently sensible thought and one which is sure to bring applause from home buyers.

SOMETHING WORTH REMEMBERING

By Baer

Have you forgotten what they told us when the boys were marching off to France in 1917-18?

Here's what we got out of that great conflict—graves for 100,000 of our boys, and enthronement of two enemies of democracy.



Nevertheless, the same propagandists, many of them imported from abroad and paid by foreign governments, are endeavoring to embroil us in another world war. Are Americans such "saps" that the bitter lessons of experience mean nothing to them?

Committee Appointed By Andrews To Form Job Regulations For Handicapped Persons

Washington, D. C. — Elmer F. Andrews, administrator of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, announced the establishment of an advisory committee of 11 members to discuss and report to him desirable additional regulations to govern the employment of handicapped persons in charitable organizations and institutions.

The committee, which will hold its first meeting in Washington on April 11, is composed of Col. John N. Smith, Jr., director Institute for the Crippled and Disabled, New York; the Right Rev. John F. O'Grady, secretary National Conference of Catholic Charities, Washington; Oliver A. Friedman, executive secretary of the Milwaukee Good-Will Industries; Edward Hochhauser, executive director of the Committee for the Care of the Jewish Tuberculous, New York; Peter J. Salmon, secretary of the Industrial Home of the Blind, Brooklyn; S. L. Hoffman, representing the apparel industry of New York; Dudley D. Sicher, of New York, representing the textile industry; Linton M. Collins, special assistant to the attorney-general; Robert J. Watt, of Boston, representing the American Federation of Labor; Gladys Dickason, research director of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of New York, and Henry H. Collins, Jr., of Mr. Andrews' office.

PAY-HOUR CHIEF WARNS AGAINST LAW DODGING

Atlanta, Ga.—A definite warning that manufacturers "don't play with fire" in the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 was made by Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews in an address before Atlanta Rotarians.

He said the act "was and is broad social legislation designed to help all of us to a better, more prosperous and happier national life."

"I am well aware that the degree of help we may expect from it will depend upon the vigor with which it is enforced. Enforcement is our job."

Andrews reported at present "we are less interested in putting non-complying manufacturers in jail, however, than in winning for the workers every benefit to which they are lawfully entitled."

He pointed out all interstate commerce from all states would bear alike the increase from the current 44-hour week, 25-cent-an-hour basic provisions in six years to 40 hours and 40 cents.

More than half the business men and workers of America and their families could not stave off hunger for six months without relief. And yet relief is being fought, tooth and nail.

Q.—What is the present population of Tennessee, and what per cent are Negroes?

A.—The population of Tennessee was estimated to be 2,893,000 in 1937 by the United States Census Bureau, but the actual census of 1930 showed it to be 2,616,556. Slightly less than one-fifth of the residents are Negroes. The only authentic report, taken from the 1930 census, showed that 18.3 per cent were Negroes.

Labor Must and Will Unite

Reprint from Memphis Labor Review

The Memphis Trades and Labor Council is on record in favor of an early settlement between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

This paper heartily endorses the resolution passed by the Memphis Trades and Labor Council and urges the same action on the part of all other labor unions, regardless of whether they are affiliated with the A. F. of L. or the C. I. O.

Labor must and will have peace within her own family. The public demands it, the rank and file demands it and the safety of our democratic government demands it. Some stuffed shirts, both in the A. F. of L. as well as in the C. I. O., who have been removed so long from the problems of the working man they have forgotten the ABC of trade unionism, will have to take it standing up or face the consequences of an outraged membership.

The rank and file is fed up with name calling from both sides. Name calling never won an argument and never changed one single man's views. It merely adds to the difficulties of working out an agreement. When Mr. Lewis and Mr. Green face this fact squarely, they can and will work out a settlement. These two gentlemen, along with their advisors, have worked out much more difficult settlements with employers in large industrial labor contracts.

Trade unionism is a part of Democracy. It made its appearance in this country along with the Constitution. Brave men have given their lives for unionism since the first chimes of the Liberty Bell and other brave men will make the supreme sacrifice in times to come.

Progressive and liberal thinking men and women today know that the labor movement is in the front line of defense against Fascism, Nazism and Communism. A united labor front, willing and able to fight Fascism and Nazism on the part of the big business interests and Communism within the ranks of labor, is the greatest safeguard for Democracy.

Radicalism within the labor movement is not new. We've had it since the dawn of unionism, and we will have it until Gabriel blows his trumpet. It gets in your hair and gives enemies of labor something to view with alarm, but otherwise it is harmless.

There is a difference, however, between liberalism and radicalism. The new labor movement must be liberal and progressive. It must fight for better working conditions, regular pay for all workers, security for the aged and medical services within the reach of all. A progressive labor movement must be in a position to help the employer produce and sell his goods at a fair profit—a profit which does not bear too heavily on the public, of which labor also is a part.

Labor leaders, both craft and industrial, must realize that somewhere between craft unionism and industrial unionism lies the solution. Improvements in machinery which produces goods have done great damage to craft unions, and craft unions must meet such changes. However we do not say nor think that industrial unionism would be the happy solution. Time alone, after much study, will solve these problems.

The American Federation of Labor has stood the test over a half century. It should retain its name and working organization insofar as modern and shifting conditions allow. The leaders of the newer industrial unions have courage, youth and vision. They will and should be welcomed into the fold of the A. F. of L. so that they may give to the entire labor movement these splendid qualities.

Finally, we urge again, that all friends of the labor movement, as well as all unions, write or wire the President, Mr. Green and Mr. Lewis to leave no stones unturned until labor again is united.

We Like This Program

The "Aims and Ambitions" of the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce came to hand this week, and we cannot refrain from commending several paragraphs therein. Here they are.

THE PROFIT MOTIVE

We believe that honestly earned profits from labor, commerce and services rendered are justified — and sound morally, economically, socially and politically.

PROMOTING HARMONY AND PUBLIC RELATIONS

We have at all times endeavored to reconcile the interests of the various elements in our community—those of producer, of labor and of the consumer.

BUILDING A BETTER CITY

While we believe the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce should continue to strive to attract new enterprises to the community, we believe that we should keep in mind that in building a bigger city we should also build a better city. Our city is growing normally and healthfully. We feel that in our zeal to attract new investments we should not overlook opportunities to develop and retain the enterprises we already have.

ATTITUDE TOWARD SOCIAL AND CIVIC IMPROVEMENT

We believe that the interest of business and commerce does not stop merely with buying and selling. There are other profits and losses to a community which are not charged to the ledger. The interest of business is interwoven with the whole social and economic fabric. Business is affected by social conditions and the manner in which people live and to the degree to which they are educated.

We are concerned with fundamental economic questions which affect the business interests of this community. However, the increasing interdependence of interests has led us to extend the scope of our activities to include those of a social and civic nature which are not in themselves commercial, but are the concern of every intelligent and high-minded citizen because they affect the general welfare of the community.

A Crusade for Health

Arguments in Washington's famous anti-trust medical case will begin the middle of April. And no matter how it comes out, the case is a landmark of better medical service for the poor. It is the first time that a medical society has been accused of trying to hold a practical monopoly, and required to defend itself in a Federal court. That is not only a sign of greatly increased interest in the health question, but itself doubles the interest.

The foundation of this increased interest was laid by Dr. Jessamine Whitney, and her analysis of the census returns of 1930 from ten states. Every observing person knew already that the poor are sick oftener than the rich, and the fact that a new born baby's chances of life depended to a large extent on his father's income. But Dr. Whitney went farther, showed that poverty is the deadliest of all ills; and from this revelation has come the crusade—it is little less—for better medical care for the folks of low incomes.

No matter how this case turns out, the day is almost gone when a qualified physician and surgeon cannot take his patients to a hospital because they belong to a group formed for the purpose of promoting health.

Concerning Crime

The Criminal Justice Association of Washington reports that major crimes in the nation's capital dropped 34.5 per cent in 1938, compared to the record of 1937. Major crimes include all crimes of violence from aggravated assault to murder, and arson, perjury, forgery, grand larceny and receiving stolen goods. The director of the association laid the improvement to quicker trials, stiffer sentences, and greater public interest in crime.

Stiffer punishment as a permanent deterrent of crime is more than doubtful. England had more crime in proportion to population when she had something over 100 crimes punishable by death than she has right now. Quicker trials, meaning surer punishment, does have a lasting effect. But public interest in crime, if turned in the right way, is most potent of all.

Josiah Flynt wrote 40 years ago that the young men committing violent crimes were drawn mainly from the more energetic slum dwellers who couldn't get satisfactory or permanent jobs. His diagnosis is true yet.

"Southern Labor Spots"

Atlanta, Ga., April 3.—The convention call of the United Textile Workers of America, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has been issued by John Pollard, president, and Elmer Estes, secretary, of the Southern Cotton Textile Federation, jointly with Frances Gorman, president; Frank Morrison, secretary-treasurer protem; C. M. Fox and Gordon Chastain, vice-presidents, United Textile Workers of America. The convention will convene in Washington, D. C., May 8. President Pollard, Secretary Estes, of the Southern Federation, and the Southern vice-presidents, Fox and Chastain, of the United Textile Workers of America, issued the following statement:

"Credentials have been sent, over the signature of Secretary-Treasurer Protem Frank Morrison (secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor) to all A. F. of L. chartered Federal Textile Workers Unions, and all United Textile Workers Locals. The Southern Cotton Textile Federation is arranging reservations at Washington for the southern delegation, which will represent, according to advance communications already received, five delegates from Louisiana, 15 from Mississippi, 25 from Alabama, 25 from Georgia, 15 from Tennessee, 25 from South Carolina, 40 from North Carolina and 15 from Virginia. It is expected that the present enrollment will be doubled by the time the convention meets in Washington, as credentials are being received daily.

"During the sessions of the convention of the United Textile Workers of America, a day will be set aside for departmental federations conventions, at which the Southern Cotton Textile Federation will adopt a constitution and elect permanent officers for the coming year.

"The day of outside dictatorship is a thing of the past in the textile industry. Union activities will be restricted to the American democratic procedure of local, district and departmental democracy. No one can be seated as a delegate but bona fide textile workers.

The Washington convention will be addressed by the textile officials, by President William Green, Secretary Morrison and all members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, who will be present in Washington for the convention, and also by the officers and delegates of the Pan-American Federation of Labor, along with the officers and delegates of the World-Wide International Federation of Trades Unionists, that are coming to Washington at the same time the textile convention is meeting, and will associate and collaborate with the textile delegates at their convention."

Asheville, N. C., April 3.—A local union of the International Typographical Union was organized here last Friday night by Representative E. L. Thayer, of the I. T. U., assisted by James F. Barrett, of the A. F. of L. Officers were elected and installed, and the local union is now functioning in Asheville. Charter membership includes many job printers and numerous employes of the Citizen-Times Company.

For a third of a century the Asheville Typographical Union was one of the best labor organizations in the South. In the early twenties a dispute arose between the publishers of the daily newspapers and the local union, as a result of which the union suffered a set-back. A few of the faithful held on, however, and held the charter until 1936. So many of the Old Reliables had left Asheville and obtained positions in other cities that the dwindling number found it impossible to carry on.

The entire labor movement in Asheville and throughout the state felt the depressing effects of the loss of the Asheville Typographical Union charter, as the local union had long been looked upon as a leading influence in labor. Many efforts have been made during the past two years for re-organization of the Typos, and last Friday night's victorious event is welcome news to all labor throughout the South.

Leaders in the movement hope to have all difficulties with the daily papers settled at no distant date, with the old Asheville Typographical Union back in the labor movement, and the movement in Asheville back to the place it occupied throughout a long period of years—as one of the best organized cities in the South. The Asheville Central Labor Union greatly aided Representative Thayer in his work among the Typos here.

High Point, N. C., April 3. — With R. L. Brinson's flat refusal to negotiate with the striking truck drivers employed by his company, the Southern Oil Transportation Company, of Wilmington, the whole matter is now headed toward a Labor Board hearing. At a conference held here recently between Brinson, owner of the Southern Oil Transportation Company, his attorney, J. Archie Myatt; Regional Director Achier, of the NLRB, and the strike committee of the Wilmington local union, Brinson flatly refused to negotiate. He and his attorney, J. Archie Myatt, of High Point, have been playing hide-and-go-seek with the union committee and the labor board officials for many months. The show-down came, however, at the High Point conference, and the case is well on its way toward a Labor Board hearing.

Representative O'Brien, of the International Teamsters and Chauffeurs; C. P. Barringer, union attorney, of Salisbury, and James F. Barrett, of the southern headquarters of the A. F. of L., were present and aided the striking truck drivers.

The Wilmington strike was forced upon the truck drivers on Oct. 30 last year. The men have stood firmly, although many of them have had to make great sacrifices. They have known for a long time that Brinson was fighting the battle for all truck owners, as it is said each trucking business in the state is under a $1,500 bond, to be forfeited if his concern deals with the union.

In the High Point conference Mr. Brinson placed Gov. Clyde R. Hoey in bad light by declaring that the strike-breakers employed to take the places of the men on strike were put to work by order of Gov. Hoey. Representative O'Brien, of the Teamsters International Union, called Mr. Brinson's attention to the bad light in which he was placing the governor of the state, and asserted that Brinson ought not to make any such a statement. Brinson then modified his statement by saying, "Well, the men went to work under the governor's protection." A moment later, apparently not willing to admit that he had made a mistake, Brinson repeated that the men were put on the trucks to take the places of the strikers "on orders from Gov. Hoey."

Union officials were dumfounded at the bald statement made by Brinson. J. Archie Myatt, Brinson's mouthpiece, attempted to "cover up" for his chief, but apparently was unable to get Brinson to shut up.

While the Labor Board case is being prepared, the unions are busily engaged in carrying on their economic struggle against Brinson. He also owns and operates the Atlantic States Motor Lines, from Atlanta to New York. This line will doubtless feel the effects of the strike in effect on Brinson's Southern Oil Transportation Company.

Charlotte, N. C. — Organization of the employes of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company was inaugurated last week in this city and throughout the state.

Organizer L. L. Dodson, of the Retail Clerks, is now in the city, and Curtis Sims, of the Bakers, and C. C. Peek, of the Meat Cutters, are expected in a few days.

In the meantime, negotiations for consummation of a four-state agreement between trucking companies serving the company in this territory are progressing.

State-wide agreements with the building trades, as have been signed in Georgia and Florida, are in prospect. A nation-wide agreement with the printing trades has been in force for some months. Other classes of employes in Georgia, Florida, Alabama and elsewhere have already signed union agreements.

CIVIL LIBERTIES UNIT HITS STRIKE ARSENALS

Washington.—The senate civil liberties committee, in a report submitted to the senate, recommended the enactment of federal legislation prohibiting the use of machine guns and gas bombs in strikes.

"The purchasing and storage of arsenals of firearms and tear and sickening gas weapons is a common practice by large employers who refuse to bargain collectively with legitimate labor unions," the committee said.

Legislation carrying out the committee's recommendations will soon be introduced by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, chairman, and Senator Elbert D. Thomas, of Utah, second member of the committee.

Supreme Court Decision Blow at Unfair Tax Exemptions —Power Commission Shows Publicly Owned Utilities Pay More in Taxation Than Privately Owned Companies.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington, D. C. — The Supreme Court has handed down two decisions on tax cases which are stars of hope in a sky that has been pretty cloudy with confusion. In both cases, the state taxing officer claimed an income tax on the salary of a Federal official living in that state. In both cases, the upper court of the state declared the tax invalid. And in both cases, the Supreme Court, by a vote of 6 to 2, reversed the state court's ruling, and held that salaries coming from the Federal government were not exempt from state taxation.

Three things are of particular interest in this matter. It overrules the doctrine built up over a long period that states cannot tax Federal salaries, and Uncle Sam cannot tax state salaries. Robert H. Jackson, solicitor-general of the United States, has been attacking this doctrine for some time; so the decision of the Supreme Court corresponds with the views of the executive. And the decision of the court found the two die-hards, Justices Butler and McReynolds, sticking to the old view; while the other six, including the three new justices, Black, Reed and Frankfurter, brushed the worn-out doctrine out of court.

Justice Frankfurter wanted the court to go into more detail.

Tax exemptions always get in the way of fair play, sooner or later. But here one big section of a reform is put through by a ruling of the court.

The Federal Power Commission has just issued a report which needs careful attention. The constant cry of private utility companies is that they pay taxes, while publicly owned utilities "pay no taxes" and do nothing to offset taxes.

The FPC finds that the publicly owned utility in 44 states contributes more, either in taxes or free service, than privately owned utilities in the same states. In two states, Arizona and Rhode Island, the publicly owned plants do not make up the taxes of the private plants. In two other states, Montana and Wyoming, there seems to be no publicly owned plant, and there is none in the District of Columbia.

The report that John M. Carmody had been named as head of the Bonneville Dam turns out to resemble the report of Mark Twain's death, which Mark himself declared to be greatly exaggerated. Carmody is staying right on as head of the Rural Electrification Administration. There are sound reasons for believing that he could have made the change if he had wished; but that he did not wish; and certainly no one with rural electrification at heart wants him gone.

Almost as many farms have been wired in the last three years as in the 30 years before; and the great bulk of these enterprises are co-operatives. Which is an additional gain.

D. Of C. Court Ruling Criticizes Wagner Act

Two-to-One Decision Says Employers Are Without Remedy for Business Losses Due to Jurisdiction Disputes.

Washington, D. C.—In a decision criticizing by implication the lack of a provision in the National Labor Relations Act empowering employers to petition for elections to determine collective bargaining representatives, the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled on March 27 that an employer has no legal protection for his business against alleged injury caused by the struggle of competing unions.

The matter came before the court in the case of a Washington fur shop which had signed a contract with an A. F. of L. fur workers union. An affiliate of a dual organization picketed the shop. The Federal District Court for the District of Columbia enjoined the picketing activities of the dual union.

The Court of Appeals ordered the District Court to dissolve the injunction on the ground that the Norris-LaGuardia Act deprives the Federal Courts of power to issue injunctions involving labor disputes except where unlawful acts have been committed and will be continued unless restrained and that substantial irreparable injury to the business concerned will follow.

Although the lower court found that unlawful acts had been committed, the Appellate Court implied that these acts came under public officers charged with the protection of property.

That portion of the opinion bearing on the rights of employers and workers under the National Labor Relations Act read:

"The union which believes itself to represent a majority may have no incentive to apply for an election; and the union which apparently has less than a majority may resist an election, at least until it is satisfied it has won over enough to constitute a majority.

"It is clear further that in such a situation there is no remedy for the employer under the National Labor Relations Act. That act makes no provision and certification powers of the board by an employer.

"The result is an inequality before the law as between an employer and employes in this particular, namely, that while the employer has a substantive right to carry on his business, he lacks a legal remedy for protecting the same against injury through the struggle of competing unions, even though he be indifferent as to the choice of his employes in respect of their substantive rights of self-organization and collective bargaining are afforded a protective remedy under the election and certification power of the board."

Green In Stirring Plea To Labor To Make Boycott Of Nazi Goods More Effective Than Ever

Washington, D. C. — William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, delivered a ringing denunciation of Hitler and his Nazis over the radio the evening of March 28, and called on all American workers to boycott all German goods until the Nazi regime is ended.

Mr. Green gave a list of Hitler's violations of agreements and treaties, and declared that "The passing of Czechoslovakia was tragic. It is the greatest national tragedy of modern times," He continued:

"All of this has aroused to a high pitch the indignation of all peoples throughout the civilized world who love liberty, freedom and democracy and who, in their daily lives, practice the principles of tolerance, justice and fair dealing.

For Moral Mobilization

"The working people of our country believe that the moral and economic strength of the world should be mobilized and united in opposition to the Hitler policy in Europe. There are many things we can do which will bring home to Hitler and his associates the concentrated opposition of the democracies throughout the world.

"The officers and members of the American Federation of Labor, fully conscious of this fact, declared a boycott against the purchase and sale of German-made products. This boycott has been applied in a very extended and effective way. Millions of working men and women, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, can and will make it more widespread in the future.

Sees Boycott Effective

"One can scarcely comprehend the effect upon the economic situation in Germany if all classes of people in our great country unite thoroughly and wholeheartedly in employing a boycott against the purchase and sale of German-made goods.

"It is my purpose and intention to again repeat the strong appeal I have already made to the membership of the American Federation of Labor to apply the boycott against German-made goods more effectively than ever.

"I know that because of the feeling of indignation which has been aroused among our members they will respond whole-heartedly at this time."

George Baekeland recently told the Temporary National Economic Committee that a method of molding airplane fuselages, wings and propellers out of plastics has been developed. With riveting no longer necessary, nine men can make a fuselage shell or a wing in two hours—a savings of weeks, Baekeland said.

Butcher Workmen Sign Union Pact With Largest Independent Meat Packer In Southern States

Chicago. — An exclusive shop contract with the Houston Packing Company, of Houston, Tex., largest independent meat packer in the South, has been signed by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, American Federation of Labor affiliate. The union and the company have maintained cordial relations for a number of years; but the contract just completed is the first providing for a closed union shop entered into by the union and the management.

Egg Firm Also Signs

A minimum work week of 32 hours is guaranteed by the contract, which establishes minimum hourly wage rates of 48½ cents for men and 41½ cents for women. Wages for men and women engaged in the same class of work are the same. The agreement is retroactive to March 7, carries a continuation clause and provides for arbitration of grievances in the event they cannot be adjusted by representatives of the union and firm. All employes must become members of the Amalgamated within 300 days after they are employed.

New Contracts Made

The Amalgamated is also in agreement with the Frederick Produce Company, largest poultry and egg concern in Texas. The contract, announced by J. Frank Chadick, general organizer for the International Union in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and parts of Arkansas and Texas, is the first of its kind negotiated in the southwest section of the country.

Chadick also said that Hi-Grade Company, of Galveston, Tex., and several other companies in that vicinity had signed with the union.

In the past few months, Amalgamated locals from coast to coast have made agreements with firms that previously had not dealt with organized labor in any manner.

Pugilistic Pat

Pat arrived home much the worse for wear. One eye was closed, his nose broken, and his face looked as though it had been stung by bees.

"That Dutchman — 'twas him," exploued his wife. "A big bum like you to get beaten up by a little fool of a Dutchman, the size of him! Why—"

"Whist, Nora," said Pat, "don't speak disrespectfully of the dead!"

Uncle Sam's note refusing to recognize Hitler's looting of Czechoslovakia may be short; but Hitler never will call it sweet.

AFofL Asks Senate to Vote Additional Funds for West Coast Inquiry

Washington.—The American Federation of Labor Executive Council, meeting in special session here to consider peace negotiations with the CIO, urged the senate to appropriate additional funds for an investigation of Pacific Coast conditions by the LaFollette civil liberties committee.

President William Green said that the resolution was adopted unanimously on motion of Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Green said the A. F. of L. wanted the committee to complete its preliminary study of the Associated Farmers' organizations in California, Oregon and Washington which supported proposed referendum laws to regulate labor unions. These bills were defeated in California and Washington but adopted in Oregon.

He said that the council also wanted the committee to study violations of civil liberties.

The right to represent electrical workers in the mechanical and telephone and telegraph departments on the Norfolk Southern road was won by the A. F. of L. brotherhood with jurisdiction over that craft in a recent election conducted by the mediation board.

USHA Beats Private Builder's Costs By Big Margin, While Paying Wages At Prevailing Rates, Straus Says

Washington. — Nathan Straus, administrator of the United States Housing Authority, reports that thirty-seven states now have codes of housing, and five other states are expected to follow suit during the spring.

"Our annual report," said Mr. Straus, "shows that the average net construction cost of dwellings for projects where main construction contracts actually have been let is $2,830 per home, compared with the building permit average for private construction of $3,800 in the same localities. This means that the USHA net construction costs per family unit are averaging about $1,000 less than the net construction cost of private building at the same time in the same localities.

"Moreover, every home built under the USHA program is built by labor paid the prevailing wages and is constructed to have a useful life of sixty years. This durable construction is more economical in the long run.

"The act prescribes limits of $1,000 on the dwelling facilities cost per room and $4,000 per dwelling unit in cities under 500,000 and limits of $1,250 per room and $5,000 per dwelling unit in the larger cities.

"In those cities where the statutory limitation on dwelling facilities cost is $1,000 per room and $4,000 per dwelling unit, the average dwelling facilities cost of projects under our program was $828 and $3,333, respectively. In the cities where the limits are $1,250 per room and $5,000 per dwelling unit, the average dwelling facilities cost on USHA-aided projects is $940 and $3,754, respectively."

South Held Complying Well With Wage-Hour Statute

Atlanta, Ga. — Wage-Hour Administrator Andrews noted here that southern industry is complying to a laudable extent with the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Andrews, who spoke before an Atlanta civic club, explained that improved understanding of the law by employers had facilitated fuller operation of the wage-hour act. He said additional hearings were scheduled prior to action on proposed establishment of a 32½-cents-per-hour wage scale for the textile industry.

Southern Women Eager to Tell!
"One is bound to be gratified by the enthusiasm of Southern women for CARDUI!" says one of the Touring Reporters now conducting a Query in Southern cities.
"Of the 1297 CARDUI users we have seen so far," she said, "1200—or 93 out of every 100—said it definitely benefitted them!"
CARDUI'S remarkable success in helping weak, rundown women who suffer from headache, depression, nervousness, and other symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, is explained by the way it promotes appetite and digestion, and so builds physical resistance. Try CARDUI!

TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, on the 14th day of February, 1927, J. A. Morrow and wife, Pearl May Morrow, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration February 23, 1927, and recorded in Book N, Vol. 21, Page 113 et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

WHEREAS, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said J. A. Morrow and wife, Pearl May Morrow, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, MAY 2nd, 1939

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House, in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot number seven (7) of Blachley's subdivision of Ridgedale. Said lot fronts fifty (50) feet on the north side of Main street (formerly Montgomery avenue) and extends back northwardly of uniform width one hundred fifty (150) feet to an alley as shown by a plat of record in Plat Book "1," Page 16, in the Register's Office of said County and State.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This March 30th, 1939.

Housing Chief Visions Homes For 150,000 Low Income Families

Straus Says 155 Cities Are Participating in Program Which Provides Pay Envelopes for Thousands of Unemployed Every Month.

Washington, D. C.—One hundred per cent optimism with regard to the progress being made in slum clearance and providing comfortable dwellings for those workers whom employers refuse to pay decent wages was expressed by Nathan Straus, administrator of the United States Housing Authority, in an address in the National Radio Forum program over the nation-wide network of the National Broadcasting Company.

With over 5,000 dwellings for low income groups being constructed every month, employing thousands of workers who would otherwise be in the jobless army, Mr. Straus visioned the completion in two years of homes for at least 150,000 families under the provisions of the United States Housing Act of 1937.

Emphasizing the fact that 155 cities in 29 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico are now participating in the slum clearance and rehousing program, Mr. Straus said:

"It is almost a year to the day since the first loan contract for a public housing project was approved by President Roosevelt. Today there are public housing projects under loan contract in 89 localities.

"When completed, a year hence, these projects will provide new homes for 70,000 families now living in the slums.

"The men employed in construction of these projects are being paid prevailing wages. They are employed by private contractors under normal working conditions.

"But this is only the beginning. Every month from now on at least 5,000 additional new homes will go into construction. Every month 8,000 or 10,000 men, now unemployed, will join the ranks of those gainfully employed either in the construction industry or in the factories and plants of the nation which provides the sinews of construction."

Taking up the scheduled program of housing for low income groups, Mr. Straus declared:

"The United States Housing Act enacted by the Congress in 1937 established slum clearance and rehousing on a permanent and more economical basis.

"Today, 18 months later, $659,000,000 has been set aside by the United States Housing Authority for slum clearance and rehousing projects in 155 cities.

"These projects, when completed this year and next, will provide decent homes for more than 150,000 families with incomes ranging from an average of about $1,100 a year in a few of the larger northern cities down to an average of $400 in some of the southern towns.

"The great majority of families in housing projects erected under the U. S. H. A. program will have incomes of from $600 to $800. A considerable number of families will be from the relief rolls. * * *"

"A public housing program makes men and women conscious of how their neighbors live, what their city is actually like and what it might be. The city that has a slum clearance and rehousing program under way, you will find, has better zoning ordinances, has cleaner streets, has renewed interest in health problems, school problems and park problems. As part of the rehousing program, the interest of the community is aroused in putting its own house in order.

"There are requests before the United States Housing Authority for more than $300,000,000 for additional housing projects. No funds are available today and no further funds will be available either for loans or annual contributions until the Congress authorizes an expansion. I have every confidence that this program, so finely launched, is but the beginning of what will be achieved as the Congress gives us added funds to help more cities to wipe out more slums."

MOLDERS WIN UNION SHOP

Peoria, Ill.—The molders' union announces a union shop agreement with the Victor Foundry company, of East Peoria. The agreement, effective for one year, is the first ever made by the union and the company.

SOUTHERN LABOR "SPOTS"

Atlanta, Ga., April 3. — The Taxi Drivers Union of this city won an outstanding victory last week through a demonstration of solidarity on their part, backed by the entire Atlanta labor movement, the State Federation of Labor, and the public.

Immediately following a declaration by the company that the union agreement would not be renewed unless drastic reductions in pay, abrogation of the closed-shop and other concessions were agreed to, a 100 per cent walk out occurred. This was followed by one of the finest demonstrations of support for organized labor by the public in the history of Georgia labor.

Among other such evidences of popular support was the donation of several hundred private cars. This enabled the strikers to continue service and to avoid any inconvenience to the public. The people of Atlanta responded by refusing to patronize any car not carrying a sign indicating its approval by organized labor.

As a result the drivers were back in their cabs in less than 48 hours, with a complete renewal of the old agreement, which carries a guarantee of a minimum of 40 cents an hour, the closed shop and other valuable provisions. George L. Googe, southern representative of the A. F. of L.; Charles B. Gramling president of the Georgia Federation of Labor; Dewey L. Johnson, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, with the executive boards of both bodies, the officers and members of every Atlanta union, rendered active assistance.

Representative English, of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs International, was assigned to the dispute by the international office.

Following this striking victory, the labor movement of the city and state joined with equal vigor in assisting the company in an effort to defeat various drastic ordinances and regulations which would seriously hamper its operations even to the extent of forcing it out of business.

Monroe, La., April 3. — Largely as a result of the intense activity in labor during past weeks in preparation for the State Federation of Labor convention now in session here, four new local unions have been organized in this city during March. All four locals have been duly chartered, officers named, and affiliation with the state body completed in time for representatives of the new organizations to be seated as delegates in the convention.

A local union of musicians has been formed. The charter was officially installed Sunday, officers named and delegates appointed to the state convention. James F. Barrett, of the A. F. of L. organizing staff installed the charter for the musicians.

A local union of Teamsters and Chauffeurs was organized and installed during March, with a good charter membership, and this local is expected to become one of the strongest organizations in Monroe.

A local union of machinists has been organized by the I. A. M. and given a charter here, the membership being made up principally of automobile mechanics. This local is very strong and has already brought excellent results to its membership.

The other new local union is that of Meat Cutters and Butchers, with splendid membership. R. L. Burton, of Shreveport, A. F. of L. organizer, assisted the workers in the four groups in organizing the local unions.

Birmingham, Ala., April 3.—Intense interest is manifested throughout Alabama and the entire nation over the rapid growth of the Progressive Miners, A. F. of L. affiliate, in the state of Alabama. Already it is generally conceded that the A. F. of L. affiliate has an overwhelming majority of miners employed in the captive captive mines of Alabama, while membership in all mines is growing by leaps and bounds.

Elections now being arranged in many mines are considered only a formality, as it is known that the Progressive Miners Union has 100 per cent membership in some, and vast majorities in other mines. It is being freely predicted here that the American Federation of Labor soon will have so many of the miners of Alabama in its affiliate that John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of America will be driven from the Alabama coal fields.

The miners know that the only advancement ever made by that group was while they were affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and they are anxious to return to the fold. They also are tired of the dictatorship of John L. Lewis, and the constant assessments which Lewis lays upon them in his mad policy of building up a dynasty for himself and the Hillmans, in clothing, and other pet official associates.

Kentucky's Highest Court Knocks Out State Tax on Chain Stores

Frankfort, Ky.—Holding that "mere differences in details of conducting a business are not sufficient to justify a classification for the purpose of taxation," the Court of Appeals, Kentucky's highest tribunal, has declared invalid the 1934 state tax on chain stores.

Five of the seven judges concurred in an opinion ruling the tax was not imposed "in relation to the volume of business done," and ir effect supported the contention of tax opponents that the tax was "unreasonable, arbitrary and confiscatory."

Tax required of the plaintiff company under the law in both 1936 and 1937 exceeded its next earnings for 1936 and was approximately 94 per cent of its average net earnings for the three years 1934-36 inclusive, it was shown.

Ruling Seen Significant

Ruling favored the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, which sought return of $52,352 paid in 1936 for annual license taxes on its 200 Kentucky stores, and $49,652 paid in 1937. Tax of $300 per store was levied on chains owning 51 or more stores.

Local legal observers believe the decision may have unusual significance in view of Federal Supreme Court rulings which have been construed to uphold anti-chain taxes in Florida and other states. Attorneys for the company commented:

"The Kentucky statute was declared in violation of the Constitution of the State of Kentucky. In construing the State Constitution the court, so we claimed, was not bound by the Federal decisions which were predicated on the Constitution of the United States.

Cardozo Opinion Cited

"Mr. Justice Cardozo had pointed out in a leading chain-store tax case before the Supreme Court that under the Kentucky constitution, as construed by the highest court in that state, an imposed tax would not be upheld 'if its effect is so drastic as to extinguish profits altogether,' whereas the Supreme Court of the United States, in dealing with the Federal Constitution, had applied the rule that, if the power to tax existed, 'the extent of the burden is a matter for the discretion of the lawmakers, even to the point of destruction.'"

Attorneys for the A. & P. in the case were Carroll & McElwain, Louisville, Ky. Carruthers Ewing, of New York City, is chief counsel for the corporation.

Men are most apt to believe what they least understand.—Michael de Montaigne.

Supreme Court Decision Opens Way To Reciprocal Taxation of State And Federal Employes' Salaries

Washington, D. C.—A side remark by Chief Justice John Marshall which has stood as law and gospel for 120 years has been put in its proper place by the Supreme Court in two decisions. The fireworks, however, were centered in one.

James B. O'Keefe, an attorney for the HOLC in New York, paid a state income tax of $57 on the salary received from this agency of the Federal government, and asked the state tax commission to refund this tax because his salary was constitutionally immune. The commission refused; but the New York Court of Appeals upheld O'Keefe's claim; and the commission brought the matter to the Supreme Court. Justice Stone, speaking for six members of the court, held that the Constitution was absolutely silent on the question, and that O'Keefe was properly taxed.

Frankfurter Explains

Justice Frankfurter went farther. He agreed that there was no constitutional immunity; but that a doctrine which had lasted so long ought to be explained to the public. Saying first that Marshall was speaking for himself alone when he said that "the power to tax is the power to destroy," Frankfurter went on:

"All these doctrines of intergovernmental immunity have been moving in the realm of what Lincoln called 'pernicious abstractions.' The web of unreality spun from Marshall's famous dictum was brushed away by one stroke of Justice Holmes's pen: 'The power to tax is not the power to destroy while this court sits.' Failure to exempt public functionaries from the universal duties of citizenship to pay for the costs of government was transmuted into hostile action of one government against the other."

Meaning of Decision

Justice Butler wrote a dissent in which Justice McReynolds joined.

The decision of the court opens Federal salaries to state taxation and state salaries to Federal taxation, provided there is no playing of favorites. That is what Justice Holmes had in mind when he said that "the power to tax is not the power to destroy while this court sits." But it may open the way to get rid of other tax exemptions of even greater importance.

Justice Block, who wrote a brief decision in a similar case from Utah, referred to Stone's opinion and said: "The immunity of Federal and state employes from taxation no longer exists."

Union Membership Exceeds 8 Million For First Time In U. S. History, Labor Department Estimates

Increasing Number of Employers Accepted Unionism Last Year and Large Proportion of Industry Now Operates Under Written Agreements, Monthly Labor Review Finds.

Washington, D. C.—American labor organizations pushed their membership above 8,000,000 for the first time in history during 1938, the United States Department of Labor reports.

An article entitled "Industrial Relations in 1938," in the Monthly Labor Review for March, said that sit-down strikes "greatly decreased" during the year and attributed the drop to "unfavorable public opinion" and a feeling on the part of unions themselves that that form of labor weapon is "inadvisable and unnecessary."

Strikes declined 50 per cent, the Labor Review said. "There were only half as many strikes (all strikes, including sit-downs) as in 1937, with only about one-third as many workers involved," the article said. "In general, it can be said that 1938 was a year of transition in management-employe relationship.

"In contrast to those firms which were continuing their belligerent opposition to any kind of collective bargaining, was an increasing number of employers who had accepted unionism and were making a sincere effort to adjust their personnel policies and methods to the new situation.

Deceitful Policies Employed by Some

"Between these extremes were employers who felt that open antagonism was unwise but who hoped the current union activity was a passing phenomenon. These pursued different courses. Some gave a semblance of meeting the demands of their employes by going through the formality of signing a union agreement, but in one way or another set up barriers to any real day-to-day collective-bargaining relationship. Others made unusual efforts to improve plant working conditions and personnel policies with the hope that their employers gradually would lose interest in trade unions."

The article, written by Florence Peterson, of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, referred to the "unprecedented growth" of trade unions in 1937, the challenge presented by the 1938 business recession, and declared that "the way in which organized labor met its internal and external problems in 1938 was probably even more significant than its success under the relatively favorable conditions."

Labor Rivalry Called Disturbing Factor

She referred to rivalry between the A. F. of L. and the CIO as "a disturbing factor on the American labor scene," and said that "this situation was not improved during 1938."

Miss Peterson estimated the combined membership of the A. F. of L. and CIO at 7,775,000, and said that with the addition of the non-affiliated railroad unions the total trade-union membership in 1938 was "somewhat over eight million."

She said that 10 industries in the nation are now "almost entirely under written agreements," that a "large proportion" of 19 other trades and industries operate under contracts, and that "about half" of 11 other industries have written agreements.

She listed 27 industries of which a "moderate proportion" operate under written agreements, and 18 others which operate "almost entirely without written agreements."

BUILDING PERMITS GAINING

Washington, D. C.—Secretary of Labor Perkins reports that all building permit valuations were 3.9 per cent less in February than in January, but that new residential permits alone were 21 per cent higher. She said, however, that the February total for all permits was 47.9 per cent higher than in the same month last year, and that new residential permits alone were 164 per cent higher.

Keep A. F. L. Intact Is Green's Demand

Federation's Structure and Philosophy Must Be Preserved, He Declares in Boston Address Urging Dissolution of the C. I. O.

Boston, Mass.—Unity and solidarity in the family of labor must be based on preserving the tried and true structure and philosophy of the American Federation of Labor, and the dissolution of the CIO and the return of its members to the A. F. of L.

This was the prescription for labor peace offered by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address here before 500 delegates to the A. F. of L. New England Conference.

Holding CIO leaders completely responsible for the controversy in the labor movement, Mr. Green said the A. F. of L. stands ready to welcome back the "prodigal sons" who left it to form a "rival, rebel union."

He asserted that the structure and philosophy of the A. F. of L. would not be sacrificed to the "whims of any individual."

Mr. Green commended President Roosevelt for calling on the A. F. of L. and the CIO to name the committees now conferring in an attempt to compose their differences.

"I think that all working men and women in America wish with all their hearts that we might reestablish an organized, solidified labor movement," he said.

"How shall we accomplish this? Would you have the A. F. of L. surrender any of its principles? Would you have it merge with the rebel movement? I think I know the answer, and it must be in the negative.

"During these years we have developed a trade-union philosophy which has met the test, organizing craft unions in one field or industrial in another, as circumstances required. We are willing to apply this philosophy, but we're not willing to destroy either type to satisfy the whims of any individual.

"We have developed a political philosophy which provides for the development of a non-partisan policy. We are unwilling to accept a political philosophy which would tie the organized labor movement to the tail of any political party, yet at the last election, I think you'll observe, we did a pretty good job.

"We are unwilling to adopt policies of foreign birth. We have kept the A. F. of L. an American institution and are going to keep it one as long as we exist.

"The CIO has organized and chartered new unions, competing in fields in which the A. F. of L. unions had been created previously. Two unions competing in the same field for jurisdiction and membership—there's conflict."

The oldest maxim of tyranny is "divide and rule." Hitler, in dealing with Czechoslovakia, has shortened this to "divide and devour."

Benn-Hubb to Sign Five-Year Contract With Closed Shop

Local 25, Bakers, About to Long and Bitter Struggle

Announcement was made at Central Body by Curtis R. Sims that the Bennett-Hubbard Candy company had agreed to sign a five-year contract with his union which provides a "closed shop." In addition, there will be a cash outlay by the company to certain of his employes for time lost during the strike two years ago.

This may be the end of a long and expensive fight in which almost everything happened that could happen. The only thing not put in use was tear gas and state militia.

Truck Co. Takes Cue From Apex And Sues A. F. L.

New Haven, Conn.—Three New England trucking companies sued four local trucking unions for $990,000 for damages in the present strike. The suits were brought against the unions at Hartford, Bridgeport, Waterbury and New Haven. The companies are the Adley Express, McCarthy Express, and Consolidated Motor lines.

About 800 drivers of these companies went on strike and a total of 2,000 men struck in southern New England. The men were charged with violating the Sherman and Clayton acts "with the deliberate intent to discriminate unfairly, unlawfully and unreasonably against the plaintiffs, to the exclusion of all other motor carriers similarly situated."

Similar suits at Boston named the local unions at Worcester, Springfield, New Bedford, Fall River and Taunton-Brockton. The International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, with headquarters in Indianapolis, and eighteen individuals and P. Harry Jennings, a vice-president of the International, also were listed as defendants.

Sims Re-elected Labor Union Head

Five Principal Officers Renamed Unanimously as Delegates Swarm to Vote

The five principal officers of the Chattanooga Central Labor Union were re-elected unanimously last night at the annual meeting of the Chattanooga Central Labor union.

Those re-elected without opposition were:

Curtis Sims, business agent of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' Union, for president.

Paul Reynolds, president of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union, for vice-president.

Erskine Mabee, Local 226, Painters, for secretary-treasurer.

Virginia Munsey, Chattanooga-Hamilton County Teachers' Federation, for recording secretary.

Elmer Crosby, of the electricians' union, was re-elected sergeant-at-arms for his seventh consecutive term.

The first opposition to a nomination came in the race for doorkeeper, which Gordon Cox, of the Federal Union at Samuels Stamping and Enameling company, won over Wallace Cry, of the machinists' union, by a 56 to 27 vote.

In the race for delegates to the Tennessee Federation of Labor Convention to be held in June in Nashville, Cuthbert, Mabee and Sims were elected.

For trustees of the Labor World, weekly paper of the Central Body, A. C. Kamin, of the moving picture operators, led the ticket with 71 votes, followed by Stanton E. Smith, president of the Chattanooga local of the teachers' union, 68, and A. T. Johnson, with 63.

Walter Gardner, of the International Typographical Union, and Vic Hallmark, of the Elevator Constructors' Union, were named directors of the Labor World.

BIG RAIL SPENDING NEEDED

New York City.—American railroads need to spend $600,000,000 a year for the next five years for equipment, including annual purchase of 100,000 freight cars and 2,000 locomotives, according to the Association of American Railroads.

A&P Stores Set Opening-Closing Hours of Work

Officials of Local 600, Meatcutters, announced this week that the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company stores had agreed to open at 7 a.m. and close at 6:30 p.m. during the week days, and 10 o'clock on Saturdays.

Former hours were 7 in the morning and close as late as possible.

Every meat market in the A & P stores are now union, and negotiations are well under way for a contract with the clerks' union.

Bill to Ban Use Of Strikebreakers

Chairman La Follette, of the Senate Civil Liberties Committee, has introduced a bill to outlaw use of strikebreakers — defined as persons paid a bonus to replace striking workers.

Declaring that a powerful minority of American industry has fostered oppressive labor practices and constitutes a menace to civil liberties, La Follette said the need for his bill is "urgent."

The measure also would outlaw use of strikebreaking agencies and industrial spies and restrict use of private company guards, under maximum criminal penalties of six months imprisonment or $10,000 fine.

The bill carries a "black list" which would apply to employers found guilty of oppressive labor practices as defined under the act and make them ineligible to bid for government contracts.

Research chemists announced recently that synthetic production of glycerine from petroleum gases had progressed so that cost of this substance vital to national defense is lower than that of natural glycerol. They told the American Chemical Society meeting in Baltimore that both natural gas and waste fumes from gasoline production could be utilized in making the new compound for use in explosives paints, varnishes, and scores of other materials.

Electricians Ask Labor to Protest Emerson Radio

A communication was received last Monday at Central Body from Local B-1010, Electrical Workers of New York, asking that organized labor protest to the Emerson Radio and Television corporation the non-union policy that company is pursuing. The communication was in the form of the following resolution:

Whereas, The Emerson Radio and Television corporation, 111 Eighth Avenue, New York City, New York, manufactures and National Advertisers of low priced radio receiving sets is Non-Union and Unfair to Organized Labor; and

Whereas, The Emerson Radio and Television corporation discriminates and refuses to employ union labor and has consistently opposed unionization by discharging employes who have joined a labor union; has attempted to install a company union and has adopted all the subterfuges of the anti-union Employes to defeat organized labor; and

Whereas, The Emerson Radio and Television corporation has a history of "lock-out" of union members, violated the N. R. A. and is charged with evading the provisions of the Wagner Act; therefore, be it

Resolved, That Local B-1010 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers affilated with the American Federation of Labor calls upon all organized labor to place the Emerson Radio and Television corporation of New on the "Unfair List" and to advise all union members, their associates and friends that the Emerson Radio and Television corporation is Non-Union and opposed to union labor; and be it further

Resolved, That Local B-1010 requests all friends and affiliates of organized labor to communicate their protests to the Emerson Radio and Television corporation, 111 Eighth Avenue, New York City, and that copies of same be printed in their labor press and magazines and copies of protests and support be forwarded to Local B-1010, I. B. E. W., 43 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

Teamsters Sign Up Another Contract For Closed Shop

Arrow Transfer Goes Union With Ten Pct. Pay Boost

Continuing its great organization drive, Local 515, Teamsters, announced Monday night the signing of the Arrow Transfer and Storage company to a union contract which provides a ten per cent pay increase and the "closed shop."

Commendation was given to Mr. Paul Steward, head man of the company, in the manner which he negotiated the contract with the union.

Some twenty or more employes are involved. It is believed that other similar companies will become union in a short time.

Wire Plant Dismisses 100 Alien Employes

Trenton, N. J. — The John R. Roebling's Sons Co., wire and cable manufacturers, announced that 100 alien employes have been dismissed and that they will be replaced with Americans as soon as possible.

A temporary reduction had been necessary, and it was decided to dismiss aliens of less than 10 years' service, William A. Anderson, president, said. He added that "it has long been the policy of the Roebling company to employ American workers."

"In our employe check-up each year we have urged all aliens to apply for citizenship papers," he said.

Four men were appointed to the United States Supreme Court when younger than William O. Douglas is today. James Iredell was 38 when commissioner, William Johnson was 33, Bushrod Washington and Thomas Todd were 32. But Todd, the most recent of the four, was named in 1807.

Firing the Customers

Ten thousand, eight hundred WPA workers have been laid off in New York City. They were laid off because it became clear that Congress was going to cut the work relief rolls.

That practically all labor is against such a cut is clear. But what is quite unexplained is how people talking about recovery can think they will find it in this fashion. It's been tried. Cutting WPA expenditures threw prosperity into a down spin more than two years ago. Increased expenditures started business up again and again came the agitation for a cut which already has had bad results.

"Where," as the Philadelphia Record puts the case, "is the economy in firing the customers?"

Col. Harrington, when he succeeded to the headship of the WPA, laid down a principle that is bound to become permanent. He said, in substance, that the worker who can work has a right to public employment if private industry cannot give him a job. The more steadily the country works toward that goal, the fewer and less violent will be the ups and downs in business.

Breaking Unions

Three New England trucking companies have sued the truck drivers' locals in Hartford, Waterbury, Bridgeport and New Haven. They are demanding from the four locals a sum of nearly a million dollars. Of this, $50,000 are punitive damages, and the rest is reached by multiplying actual or alleged damages by three, for this is brought under the Sherman act as well as under the Clayton act. The suits already filed in Connecticut will be duplicated in Massachusetts.

Evidently, the trucking companies are taking a cue from the Apex case, in which the Federal district court has soaked the unions $711,000.

No friend of labor wants labor to be lawless; through one of the wisest of Federal judges, in following up as he had to the Wilkerson injunction in the railroad strike of 1922, declared that strikebreakers were at least as much inclined to violence as strikers, and forbade both the same acts. But a deliberate campaign to break unions by lawsuits is simply not to be condoned. The A. F. of L. raised the money to pay the damages in the Danbury Hatters case. The CIO is rallying behind the workers in the Apex case. The case should be carried to the Supreme Court; and if that court upholds this financial threat labor will be forced to go into the next election to repeal the laws.

An Employer Testifies

From Boise (Ida.) Union Label

The Union Label from time to time has mentioned the fact that employers all over our country testify to satisfactory relations they are having and have had with unions and union members.

Now comes President W. H. Lowe of the Paraffine Companies, Inc., operating a high factory on the east shore of San Francisco Bay, who tells in a recent issue of The Christian Century how he finds that cooperation with unions PAYS, not only in increased plant efficiency but also in additional business for the company.

The company, makers of Pabco roofing, floor covering and paint, employs 1,500 workers, pays the highest wages in the industry, provides free group insurance, vacations with pay, recreation facilities, and turkeys for all employes on Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Eighteen labor organizations have locals in the Paraffine company's plant, fifteen of which are A. F. of L. unions, and three of which are C. I. O. affiliates. For two years these locals and the company executives have lived peaceably and not once have the unions' members caused a stoppage of the machines.

After telling in detail how the company manages to get along satisfactorily with eighteen unions in one plant — an unusual condition — President Lowe concludes with the following statement:

"When we first signed up with the unions, the 'bellyache meetings' among our executives used to last till midnight. Now we're willing to hand it to the unions. We're paying the highest wages in our history, but we get more for our wage dollar. The unions not only increased efficiency in our plant, but they are helping to sell our products. That's what we get out of playing ball with them."

Greater loyalty and efficiency were the only benefits President Lowe expected to get out of the Paraffine Companies' campaign of cooperation with the unions, but here are some of the additional benefits received.

One night, when the city fathers of a neighboring community were deciding on the floor covering for a public building, a delegation of union men appeared, to urge the purchase of the Pabco brand. Their voice swung the deal. Another union delegation promoted the company's linoleum for a new school in another city. A union business agent uncovered a big paint deal and hot-footed to the sales manager in time to land the order. When the state highway commission was buying paint to mark the highways, a labor delegation lined up the business for the company.

One union put on a direct-mail campaign to merchants, reminding them that the Paraffine companies employed over 1,500 people and had an annual payroll of $3,000,000.

"This company pays a very high standard of wages," said the letter, "and these wages are spent in this community. This benefits you as a merchant and us as workers. We are asking you to stock Pabco products." Not to be outdone, other unions with locals in the Pabco plant joined in boosting the company's products, both in their communities and in their union publications. Salesmen began to notice a different attitude among merchants who had favored rival brands.—L. O. N.

Opposition Is Indispensible

The opposition in a democratic system is indispensible. A good statesman always learns more from his opponents than from his fervent supporters. For his supporters will push him to disaster unless his opponents show him where the dangers are. So if he is wise, he will often pray to be delivered from his friends because they will ruin him. But, though it hurts, he ought also to prav never to be left without opponents. For they keep him on the path of reason and good sense.—Walter Lippmann.

Tax Exempt Bonds Next

President Roosevelt told a press conference that the action of the Supreme Court in wiping out tax exemptions on Federal salaries probably would cost him $5,500 a year in income taxes in New York; but he approved it, just the same. And he wanted Congress to go ahead and make provisions for taxing income from bond issues.

There is no possible doubt that the President is right. Privileges of this kind are sure to be taken out of the hides of those who are not privileged. It may be necessary to call in tax exempt bonds and replace them with other bonds with somewhat larger interest—but it would pay.

First Criminal Proceedings Under Wage-Hour Act Brings Indictment Of Massachusetts Stitching Firm

BOSTON.—In the first criminal proceedings under the Fair Labor Standards Act, a Federal grand jury indicted the Brown Stitching Contract Co., of Lawrence, and its treasurer for alleged violation of the act.

The company and Treasurer Nathan Brown were charged with failing to pay minimum wages and with falsifying company records to conceal this failure.

The grand jury reported to Federal Judge George C. Sweeney after hearing evidence presented by Assistant U. S. Attorney-General Joseph E. Brill, of Washington.

Forty Witnesses Heard

The treasurer and the company, a Massachusetts corporation, were charged in the indictment with not paying employes the legal 25-cent-an-hour minimum wage. The company, which employs about 800 workers, stitches women's shoes for factories in three states.

Each of the indictment's four counts represented a different type of offense. Forty witnesses, mostly girls, testified before the grand jury.

It charged that employes were instructed to punch time cards in such a manner as would show that they worked fewer hours than they actually did. This was done, according to the indictment, so that time cards would show that the piece work apparently was paid at the rate of 25 cents an hour.

False Records Charged

The second count charged defendants with keeping false records of hours worked by employes. The third charged failure to keep true records as required by law, and the fourth charged them with shipping interstate goods made by underpaid employes.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The administration of the Fair Labor Standards Act announced here that the Central Weaving and Spinning Corporation, Fayetteville, N. C., has agred to a Federal court consent decree under which it will abide by minimum wage requirements of the statute.

The decree was entered in the Federal District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina. The action closes the first test case initiated under the act and one which had been expected to be carried through the courts to a final Supreme Court determination of the validity of the statute.

Murphy Upholds WPA Head On Minimum Pay

Attorney General Rules That Wages and Hours Law Has Only Limited Application to Relief Workers.

Washington, D. C. — Attorney-General Murphy ruled on March 27 that the Works Progress Administration is not bound to pay minimum wages provided by the Wages and Hours Act of 1939, except to those classes of workers who would be entitled to the rates were they performing the same service in private industry.

The opinion was sent to President Roosevelt in answer to a question transmitted by him from Colonel Harrington, the WPA administrator, as to the status of relief workers under the Wages and Hours Act.

Colonel Harrington raised the point that debates in Congress on the WPA and the PWA Appropriation Acts for 1938 revealed that some congressman held the view that the minimum wage of 25 cents an hour imposed under the Wages and Hours Law would be applicable on relief projects. This inference was drawn from the provision that "not less than the minimum rates of pay so established (under the Wages and Hours Act) shall be paid to persons in similar occupations in the same localities employed on projects in the subsequent section of this title."

Attorney-General Murphy agreed with Colonel Harrington.

"However," the Attorney-General said, "the statute actually provided only that if minimum rates of pay should be established by private employers in any occupation, not less than such minimum rates should be paid to persons employed on projects of the Works Progress Administration "in similar occupations in the same locality.'

"Since the Fair Labor Standards (Wages and Hours) Act established a minimum wage only for employes 'engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce' and, furthermore, expressly provided in Section 13 for certain exemptions, it appears to be an inescapable conclusion that the minimum wage of 25 cents an hour is not prescribed for all possible classes of workers employed by the Works Progress Administration any more than it is prescribed for all classes of workers employed by private industry."

After citing that this had been the interpretation of the WPA administrator, and further reference to debates in congress, Mr. Murphy ended with this conclusion:

"Based upon the foregoing, it is my opinion that the Works Progress Administration should not now depart from the interpretation heretofore applied in the administration of the Work Relief and Public Works Appropriation Act of 1938 that the minimum wage of 25 cents per hour is to be observed only where that rate has been established 'for persons employed by private employers in any occupation' under the Fair Labor Standards Act and where persons are employed by the Works Progress Administration 'in similar occupations in the same locality.'"

MINIMUM PAY SET FOR WORKERS IN NEW YORK BEAUTY SHOPS

NEW YORK CITY.—Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller has issued a mandatory wage order in the beauty service industry, affecting women and male minor employes in beauty shops throughout the state. The order, which becomes effective March 27, is the second mandatory order under the State Minimum Wage Law. It replaces the directory order, in effect since Aug. 1, 1938, except in the case of manicurists employed in barber shops, who remain under the directory order for the time being.

In accordance with the provisions of the law, the rates set by the directory order continue unchanged, although minor changes have been made in the administrative regulations. The order provides that full-time employees in beauty service occupations, with the exception of maids, receive a minimum wage of $16.50 for a 45-hour week. Full-time maids are paid at least $15 a week and part-time employees $4.00 per day of eight hours or less. Under a mandatory order offenders are subject to fines ranging from $50 to $200 and prison sentences of from 10 to 90 days.

Commissioner Miller, in issuing the order, said:

"Application of a manatory order to the beauty service industry will help to establish stable conditions throughout the industry. The large majority of employers, who are ready to fulfill the provisions of the wage order, will no longer have to face the competition of the small group who violated wage standards and as a result were able to undercut their competitors."

HOUSING IMPROVED FOR 7,500,000 UNDER FHA, SAYS ADMINISTRATOR

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Improved housing for more than 7,500,000 persons has been provided under the Federal Housing Administration program, Administrator Stewart McDonald estimates.

McDonald said that more than 6,000,000 people are now living in houses which have been modernized and repaired as a result of credit insurance granted by the FHA on 1,875,000 property improvement loans. These loans have also been used to improve more than 200,000 farms, business, and institutional properties through alterations and modernization.

In addition, he said, nearly 1,500,000 people are living in homes financed under the Mutual Mortgage Insurance System. Approximately 335,000 small home mortgages have been insured, and the proceeds of these loans have been used to build homes or to finance the purchase of better dwellings and in some cases to lighten the debt burden upon homes already owned.

Another 25,000 or more people are now living in large scale rental housing developments financed with mortgages insured by the FHA, and dwelling quarters for an additional 50,000 are being provided in projects now under construction.

In addition to improving living standards and making home ownership easier and more secure, the Federal Housing Administration's credit insuring activities in the past four and a half years have created employment for millions of workers, Administrator McDonald said, and have reduced the burden on the public treasury for relief.

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly.

That 1939 business boom—what has become of it?

It seems to be in trouble.

Business is well ahead of this time last year but is below levels in closing weeks of 1938.

The predicted boom hasn't boomed.

Some optimistic folks think there will be no further decline and are confident the next turn will be upward.

A few say the upward bound will be very decided and will come within 90 days, regardless of European developments.

So far, the European "crises" have been a disturbing influence, holding back business and industry.

Every time there is a belligerent utterance in Europe, the stock market has the jitters.

Perhaps is business paid less attention to Europe and "the market," it might make more progress.

But Europe and "the market" furnish a handy alibi for lack of action.

Business needs an alibi, judging by its record of recent months.

Last summer, when business leaders were sure prospect of a setback to the Roosevelt administration in the November elections was responsible and that the improvement would be even more marked if the prospect became a reality.

The election gave the expected setback to the administration and the results were generally satisfactory to business.

There were other developments, such as the settlement of the controversy between the TVA and tht utilities, that were hailed as productive of better business sentiment.

But business didn't make expected gains.

What's the matter? What has business to say? Looks as if it was up to the big boys to do some explaining.

* * *

The Senate Civil Liberties committee, in a report on its investigation of "violations of free speech and rights of labor," charges that the National Metal Trades Association "creates a danger to orderly government."

The committee said that the association employed 103 labor spies and that 69 companies "utilized espionage service" at one time or another.

It can be recalled that in the very beginning of the investigation the association had this to say—we wouldn't do that.

The committee charged that in anticipation of an investigation the association purged its files of data relating to its espionage and strikebreaking activities, and altered its methods of bookkeeping to conceal its espionage account."

An association or any organized that of this type is certainly a blight on the American way of doing things, and the sooner they realize that labor will not be enslaved and kicked around according to the whims and fancies of a bunch of dry-rots, the quicker they will receive the fruits of cooperation with labor.

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Nazi Germany has carried on intensive propaganda for a proper home life, in the interests of the nation and the state—as a result of which, it is to be noted (according to the statistics given in the Nazi press itself) that the number of women in wage-earning employment has risen from 4,500,000 in 1933 to 6,600,000 in 1939, and that about forty million Germans are today being fed in communal kitchens in the army, the labour service, factories, training schools and camps!

And the National Socialists are convinced that this state of affairs is by no means temporary, but that the party and the state must regard mass-production feeding as a permanent factor. An organization on which the Nazi party, the Labor Service, the Women's League, the German Labor Front, the army, the National Food council, the National Health board, the propaganda ministry, the Municipalities association, the Students' association and the Red Cross are represented has, in fact, already been set up to deal with this question. This new body has the task of organizing canteens on a uniform pattern and in such a way as to insure "sound nourishment from home-produced foods just in the place where the majority of the people take their meals."

These canteens are in future to have specially trained and graded staff, for the training of which a school is to be opened in Frankfurt, with a food research station attached.

The newly-founded organization has also established a model canteen for 3,000 persons, in which 1,000 people at a time can be given a meal in fifteen minutes. It is also proposed to establish canteens in all works employing at least fifty workers.

The communal restaurant is a modern idea, which has for years been regarded by the "Marxists" as a natural consequence of the concentration of workers in large factories, and the employment of women in industry. But a properly organized system of communal restaurants postulates a free and democratically organized community. In principle, communal restaurants should represent great progress in the field of healthy and varied feeding, but in the compulsory system of Nazis, with its unheard-of speedup for rearmament, with the workers torn from their homes for road-building, fortifications or other work, with working hours at fifty a week, and the inadequate and unhealthy "ersatz" foods, such communal restaurants will just become so many barracks mess-rooms, such as are well known to all Germans from the war and early post-war periods.

What a perfectly delightful period of the world's history this is!

Retort Courteous

For two hours he had been the pest of the party. His imitations were terrible, ranging anywhere from George Arliss to a humming bird. In the far corner had been sitting the man with the screwed-up face. .

"What would you like to see me imitate now?"

The man moved. He spoke. "How about a ground hog that's seen his shadow?"

HIGHER-WAGE STRIKE TIES UP N. Y. HOTEL

New York, N. Y.—The functioning of the Hotel Governor Clinton here was paralyzed by the strike of elevator operators, bellboys, waiters and other service employes. The strike was the latest of a series called by the New York Hotel Trades council, representing five unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, to persuade individual hotels to accept a working agreement ratified on Jan. 18 by the Hotel Association of New oYrk.

Union spokesmen said that 425 of the 525 employes of the hotel had joined the strike. The union's proposed agreement, signed by other members of the hotel association, provides for an immediate wage increase of $1 a week, with a similar increase during the coming summer.

LABOR PIONEER DEAD AT 69

Women Answer From 12 States

To date, Touring Reporters have visited the principal cities of 12 Southern states; have asked 1297 users their famous question: "Did CARDUI help you?"

Of those 1297 users, 1206 said they were definitely benefitted by CARDUI. That's 93 out of every 100. What a record!

CARDUI is a good stimulator for lagging appetites, a real aid to digestion and assimilation. That's why its proper use enables so many women and girls to build up physical resistance, and thus helps them avoid the periodic pain of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

"Southern Labor Spots"

New Iberia, La.—Charter for the newly organized Local Union of salt mine workers was installed here, with E. H. Williams and John Spires, of the A. F. of L. organizing staff, assisted by the newly elected officers in the installation work.

Alexandria, La.—P. D. Elliott, organizer for the Amalgamated Street and Electric Railway Employes, has organized a local union here, and the charter has been ordered. E. H. Williams, president of the State Federation of Labor and A. F. of L. representative, assisted Mr. Elliott in his work here.

Atlanta, Ga.—The South is being flooded with appeals for funds from the Chicago Newspaper Guild's strike committee. With the elaborately printed appeals and statements, there are inclosed with each appeal a bunch of 25-cent stamps, which the local union receiving same, or the member to whom the appeal is addressed, is asked to buy the $25 book of 25-cent stamps.

In order that labor and labor organizations may understand this matter, it is appropriate to state that the Newspaper Guild is a CIO outfit; that the strike in Chicago is a strike against the American Federation of Labor's Newswriters Local Union and the Chicago Federation of Labor, more than against the Hearst newspapers, and that no member of an A. F. of L. union and no local union or Central Labor Union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, should send money to the Chicago Newspaper Guild, when that same money will be used to fight the American Federation of Labor's affiliated local unions and City Central Body.

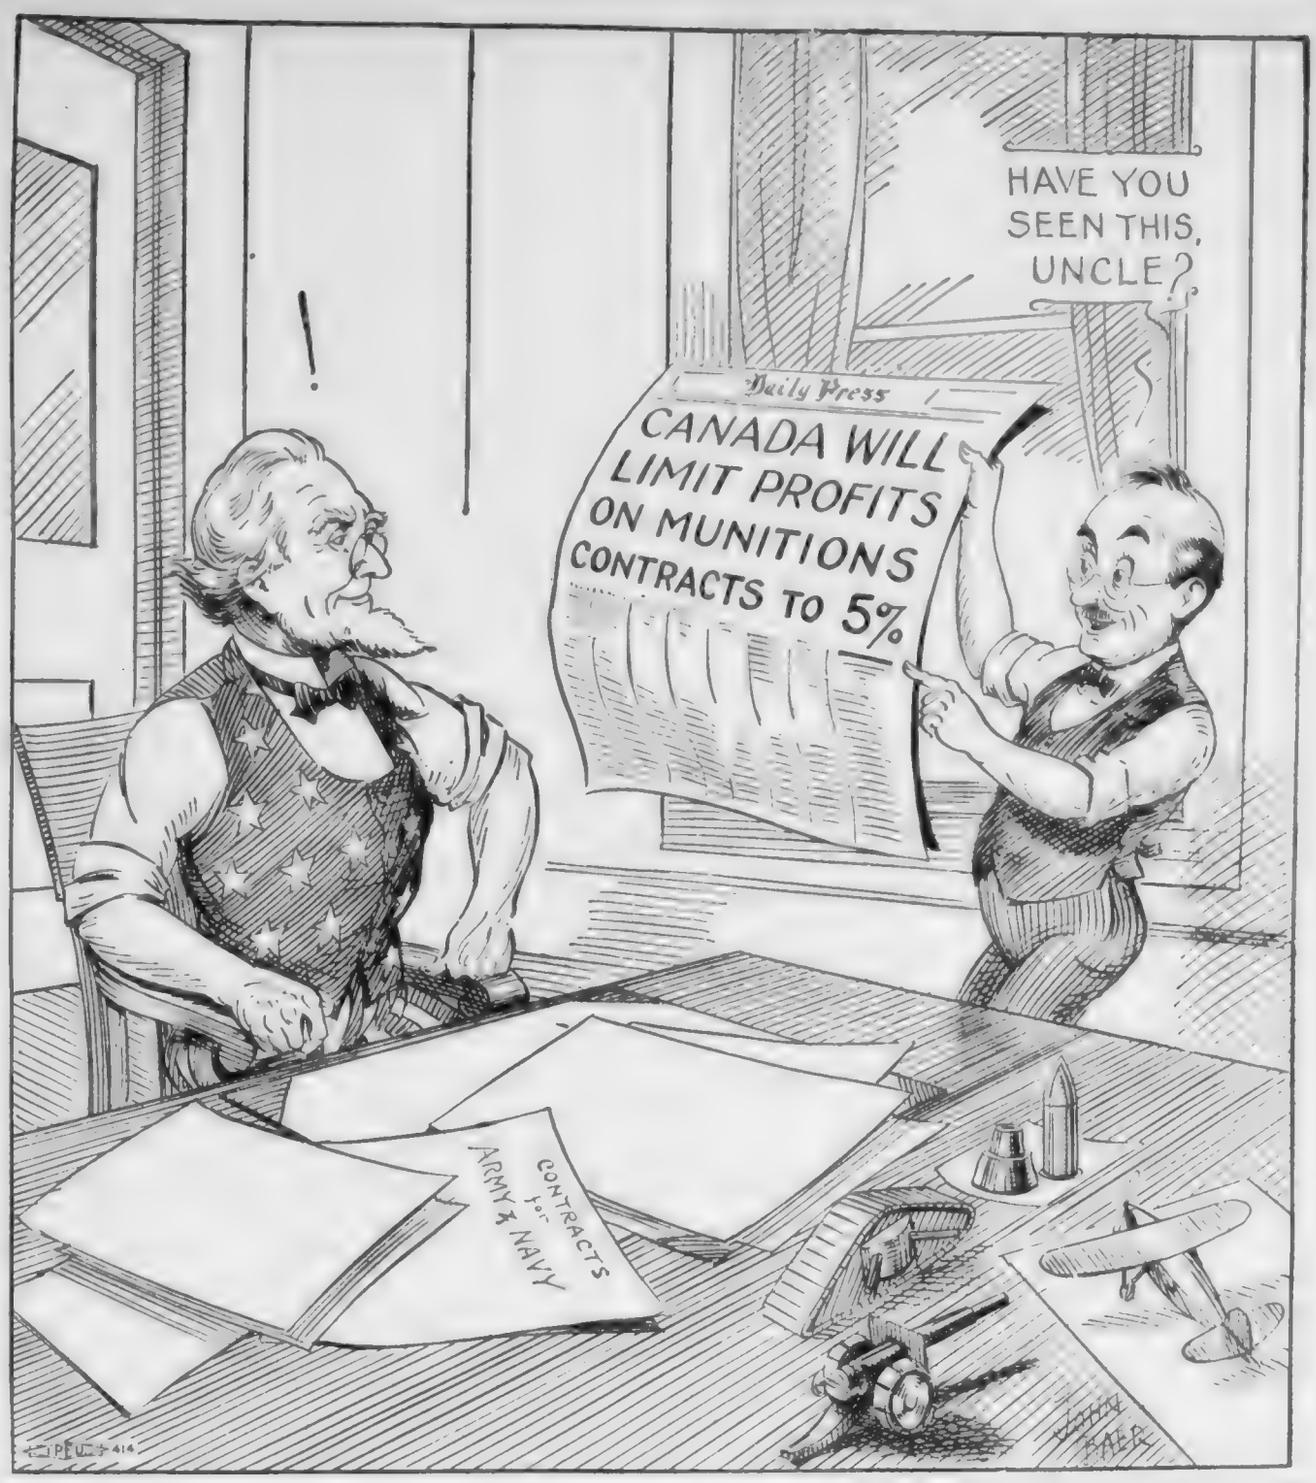
Officials of the A. F. of L. in the South suggest that any one who feels inclined to send any money to the Chicago Newspaper Guild first write to the Chicago Federation of Labor and ask that organization whether or not the Chicago Newspaper Guild is worthy of labor's support.

Birmingham, Ala. — Miners in Alabama are coming into the Progressive Miners' Union, A. F. of L. affiliate, in such rapid manner that the staff of the A. F. of L.'s office has had to call upon officers of the Alabama State Federation of Labor and all International representatives in this state for assistance in handling the situation. Leo B. Carter, of the Butchers and Meat Cutters' International; W. O. Hare, secretary of the Alabama State Federation of Labor; Attorney John Busby, and many others have been devoting days and nights to the work of installing charters, obligating officers and members of the newly organized local unions.

More than a score of local unions have already been duly chartered in Alabama by the Progressive Miners, and the momentum of the miners' movement back into the American Federation of Labor has grown so great, with the added work of presenting agreements to employers for the newly organized local unions, that the American Federation of Labor's Birmingham office is literally swamped with work, as is the state headquarters of the State Federation of Labor.

Labor throughout the United States is elated over the fact that Alabama miners are coming back home, back into the American Federation of Labor, where the miners of the nation have found their only refuge and protection.

Reidsville, N. C.—Local Union No. 2407, United Textile Workers of America, has been re-established here, the workers employed in the Edna Cotton mills making up the membership of this local union. These workers had gone into the TWOC of the CIO when the officers of the U. T. W. threw that International into the CIO. This recent action means that the Reidsville workers are coming back home, back into the American Federation of Labor. L. James Johnson, organizer for the Southern Cotton Textile Federation, sasisted the Reidsville workers in throwing off the yoke of TWOC and coming back into the one and only American Labor Movement — the A. F. of L.



E. C. Davidson, General Secretary-Treasurer, International Association of Machinists, who has taken rather a prominent part in the exposing of labor spies and the actions of undercover agencies in industry of the United States, stated today that the American public which is horrified by the Gay Pay U, the Russian Secret Police, and the Gestapo, the Nazi Secret Police, will consider it unbelievable that an organization of the same character has been functioning in American industry for almost forty years under the respectable masquerade of an employers' association. Yet, this is the amazing and sordid fact exposed by the report of the Senate Civil Liberties Committee on the National Metal Trades Association.

The spy service, which is part of the N. M. T. A., differs from the Communist and Nazi spy systems in that it is subservient not to a political party but to an industrial combination. Its victims are not political enemies of the dictator, but humble American workers who dare to exercise their rights as American citizens to organize into unions and attempt to bargain collectively for the purpose of improving their conditions.

Nine hundred fifty-two industrial plants in the metal industries, including many of the most important employers in this branch of industry, were members of the National Metal Trades Association in 1937. The association operates through sixteen district organizations and twenty-seven branches serving every industrial locality in the United States.

For four decades this organization has been one of the most persistent enemies of collective bargaining in the country, advocating that employes should have no say in the determination of wages, hours of labor or working conditions.

The employer is urged not to settle any dispute through negotiations with unions, but to break strikes and destroy the unions. The N. M. T. A. is organized to perform this function in the most scientific, if not the most ethical or legal manner.

Its methods are the lockout, the blacklist, and organized violence; its weapons, the labor spy, the professional scab, and the armed thug.

The N. M. T. A. advertises that it will replace 70 per cent of a labor force out on strike, and to make good this boast it maintains a file of thousands of professional scabs. In addition, armed thugs, many of whom have police records, and most of them are professional strike-breakers, are recruited in the guise of guards.

The N. M. T. A. industrial relations policy makes impossible the peaceful settlement of any labor dispute. Its spies, planted in the union and the shop, put the finger on employes who give the least sign that they will fight in defense of their rights. These workers are then discharged by their employer and blacklisted by all N. M. T. A. shops.

If a strike results, the professional scabs are brought in to take the place of the workers under the protection of the armed guards. The spies and guards lose no opportunity to stir up violence and frame the leaders of the workers in order to discredit the strikers in the eyes of the community and to reintimidate the employes.

Employers, whose workers engage in a strike are prevented by the N. M. T. A. from entering into negotiations with the strikers under penalty of expulsion and a large money forfeit.

The N. M. T. A. actively opposed the enactment of legislation to protect the rights of workers to organize and bargain collectively and after the passage of this legislation, openly urged employers to violate the provisions of the law, going to the extent of bringing economic pressure on business men who expressed themselves in favor of complying with the National Labor Policy in respect to collective bargaining.

Although some revisions were made in the constitution of the organizations in 1937 after an investigation by the Civil Liberties Committee, for the purpose of keeping it within the letter of the law, it is clear that no major policy has been changed, and that neither its spy service, its professional scab service, nor its strike-breaking service was abandoned.

Despite the fact that the Government has adopted a National Labor Policy, fostering collective bargaining, thirty-two of the sixty-nine members of the National Metal Trades Association who made extensive use of the spy service between 1933 and 1936 were awarded Government contracts amounting to more than twelve million dollars, 90 per cent of which was for army and navy contracts.

This exposes a startling situation in which beneficiaries of Government contracts are using their powerful position to violate and undermine the spirit of the National Labor Policy, and places the Government in the anomalous position of encouraging the violation of its own laws.

A BRIEF STATEMENT OF THE CASE FOR FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION

Every American child has the right to equal opportunity to develop his native talents irrespective of where he may have been born. There are 2,750,000 children with no school within reach and without library aid; two-thirds of the children in some states have no high school opportunities; sixty-four counties in Tennessee are without library service. Education is an investment in citizenship; a civilization is built upon the cumulative achievements of talented individuals. The raw material of American democracy in 1938 is 130 million people. Of the 75 million adults, 9 million are high school graduates, 32 million have not completed elementary schools, and four million are illiterates. With such equipment the American population is required to grapple with complex and vital civic, social and economic problems; and the youth of the land face a maladjustment which in turn expands the cost of crime. America now spends 15 billion dollars on crime in contrast to two billion for education.

The burden of the high standards required for training in this mechanical and specialized age is becoming increasingly difficult for our states and local governments to carry, since they do not have equal resources for the support of education.

Our present corporate business structure, drawing upon all elements of the population and the resources of all sections of our nation, concentrates the greatest wealth in urban areas; modern industry has grown more and more to an interstate structure; the burden of industrial tax is shifted more and more to all consumers of the whole nation. Therefore, it is right that a part of that income, in the form of federal aid to education, go back to the states whence it came and where there is the largest proportion of children whose quality and equality determine the future of American democracy. As Jonathan Daniels puts it, "The Harvard graduate and the Mississippi sharecropper are products of the same civilization."

Increasing population shifts further intensify the burdens of inequality resulting in stranded population and a growing tendency to "freeze" social levels, despite American traditional freedom in a flexible economic order when "from log cabin to White House" was not only a national ideal but a possibility; and the shift is also a drain upon rural areas, which already strain under unfair land tax to educate their children even poorly only to have them leave for more profitable individual compensation in urban sections. Thus they pay back nothing to the rural community who carried the burden of their education, but spend their productive years in another community. In rural America 31 per cent of the nation's children are educated today on 9 per cent of the nation's income. If Mississippi raised her education system to the average national per capita expenditure, that state would spend 99.8 per cent of all the present tax money. This depletion of natural resources, chronic poverty, and stagnation in turn create national burdens and costs which are not only greater than the cost of federal aid to education, but they also create costs from which there are no returns; whereas from an enlightened educational program there are returns in the form of increased skill and productive ability, and a higher type of citizenship and cultural achievement. This is in contrast again to the present cost of crime, which is pure cost, yielding no returns.

Federal aid to education is an American tradition older than the constitution itself; for instance, the Continental Congress as early as 1776 recommended that provision be made for education on a national basis, and George Washington in his first message to congress urged that it was the duty of congress to consider education along with other such problems as uniformity of currency, weights and measures, post roads and post-offices. Federal aid has been generally accepted as part of the federal responsibility for general welfare for roads for subsidies to railroads, shipping lanes and agriculture. Also in 1795 Gen. Francis Marion, the Swamp Fox, wrote, "God save our legislatures from penny mite and pound foolishness—keep a nation in ignorance rather than dole a little of their money for education—we fought for self-government, but what signifies this government if it is not known and prized as it deserves. This is best done by free schools." Frank Graham says, "Failure to provide federal aid now for elementary and secondary schools is a failure of the American system to follow through for the most basic of all our American institutions."

Dictatorships arise only when democracy fails to respond to the needs of the people, after long periods of insecurity, poverty and starvation. It is a despairing people who are willing to say "Heil" and to follow the destructive leadership of dictators. Education is our answer to the crisis in which we are confronted with the fundamental choice of dictatorship or democracy, tyranny or freedom.

Q. — Are there premiums on nickles made in 1880 and 1909?

A.—If the coins have been used, they are worth more than face value. Unused coins made in those dates are sold by coin companies at small premiums.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, on the 14th day of February, 1927, J. A. Morrow and wife, Pearl May Morrow, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration February 23, 1927, and recorded in Book N, Vol. 21, Page 113 et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

WHEREAS, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said J. A. Morrow and wife, Pearl May Morrow, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, MAY 2nd, 1939

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House, in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot number seven (7) of Blachley's subdivision of Ridgedale. Said lot fronts fifty (50) feet on the north side of Main street (formerly Montgomery avenue) and extends back northwardly of uniform width one hundred fifty (150) feet to an alley as shown by a plat of record in Plat Book "1," Page 16, in the Register's Office of said County and State.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

Their Safety Our Responsibility

From "Lest We Forget,"
Published by the Travelers' Insurance Co.

Blame it on their innocence on the one hand and on their infirmities on the other, if you will, but the very young and the very old play the saddest roles in America's traffic tragedy. When a baby under four or an elderly person over 65 is killed by anautomobile, the chances are about seven out of ten that it will be a case of being struck down by a modern jehu. True, death strikes often in every age group and death is death whether is occurs in a car or under its speeding wheels; but the horrendous picture of this slaughter of usually innocent pedestrians is one to make every right-thinking person pause.

Let us grant that little children should not be allowed to play in the streets. Let us grant that the aged, when their senses dim and their footsteps falter, should stay ficout of the No Man's Land of speeding traffic. Yes, let us grant these things, and then soberly realize that they will be there whether we wish it or not and that humanity demands that their safety becomes our responsibility.

LABEL LEADERS

By BROWNIE HOPPER

Typo Auxiliary 219 met Tuesday night at the Country Woman's club. Mrs. Wade Smith was in charge of the program and the meeting was enjoyed by all the ladies.

Mrs. Horace Carpenter and Mrs. Wallace Miller were two new members present at the meeting.

Mrs. Ruby Williams reported for the label committee and brought out the fact that the Donnelly publications Life and Time are still nonunion.

The auxiliary will send representatives to the banquet and dance that the Label League is holding in May.

The auxiliary is planning a party and pie supper in the near future. Plans will be announced later.

I happened to read an article in a magazine last week with the title "Man With a Union Card." It told all about this gentleman's activity and interest in his union, and in organized labor generally. The article was about—Robert Montgomery.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 15th day of September, 1927, N. R. Haymore and wife, Rose C. Haymore, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration September 17, 1927, and recorded in Book "C", Vol. 22, page 700 et seq., in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said N. R. Haymore and wife, Rose C. Haymore, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, MAY 16th, 1939,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

The West 60 feet of Lot 3, of Montague's Subdivision of Block No. 16 of East End Land Company's Addition No. 4, as shown by plat registered 2nd day of December, 1908, in Register's Plat Book 5, page 43 of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee. Said part of lot makes one lot fronting 46 feet on the east side of Avenue "L", formerly St. George Street, and extends back Eastwardly, of uniform width, a distance of 60 feet.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This April 12, 1939.

Bakery and Confectionery Workers Local Union No. 25.

C. B. Norwood, Correspondent.

On Aug. 1, 1933, the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' Local Union No. 25 was organized by thirteen men. This organization has grown rapidly during the past six years and now has a large membership. This membership consists of bakers, candy workers and cracker workers.

The officers of Local 25 are: President, John Heiskell; vice-president, Williard Downey; financial secretary and business agent, C. B. Norwood; treasurer, Charles Mabee; recording secretary, Dorothy Soloff; sergeant-at-arms, Tom Lovell and A. L. Barnette; trustees, George Willis, Robert Rowell and Martin Jackson; executive board, Jack Peck, Joe Yarbo and Hal Reddick; delegates to Central Labor Union, C. B. Norwood, Dorothy Soloff, J. E. Wilkey and Curtis R. Sims.

Local 25 has under contract the following bakeries in and around Chattanooga:

Cameron & Barr, Betsy Ross bread.
Colonial Bakery, Colonial bread.
Grocers' Bakery, Premium bread.
M. B. Eaves.
Chattanooga Bakery, Select Sodas.
McMillan Bakery.
Mercer Pie company.
Hooper Pie company.
Erskine Bakery.
Baggenstoss Bakery, Tracy City, Tenn.
Carter Candy company.

In June, 1936, the Carter Candy company was organized. After negotiations this company signed a 100 per cent union agreement, and is today the first and only union candy company in the entire south.

* * *

All candies made in Chicago are non-union.

Erskine cakes and pies, Hooper's pies and Mercer's pies are union-made now.

Mrs. Mildred Ritchie, who is an employe of Erskine bakery, is ill.

Local 25 is very proud to have its former business agent re-elected president of the Central Labor union. Brother Sims is now an international representative of of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America.

* * *

Our next meeting will be April 22 at 10 o'clock at the labor hall on West Seventh street. All members are urged to be present.

* * *

If you want the best buy only bakery products bearing the union label.

* * *

For the sake of your family's health, always demand the union label of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America on all bakery products and candies.

House Orders WPA Inquiry

Washington, D. C.—By a vote of 352 to 27, the house ordered a "thorough" investigation of the Works Progress Administration.

This does not mean that any such majority believes there is any serious corruption to uncover. The attitude of Sam Rayburn, of Texas, appears to be that of most of those who voted for the resolution:

"If the WPA has been conducted in other states as it has in mine," said Rayburn, "it is a credit to this administration and to the American people. I am pleased that the gentleman from Georgia (Cox) insisted that the Committee on Appropriations make this investigation, and when they do, I think it will reflect credit upon the administration of the Works Progress Administration throughout the length and breadth of the land. I shall vote for the resolution."

The day after the house passed this resolution, Attorney-General Frank Murphy gave as his formal opinion that the WPA is not bound to pay minimum wages provided by the wage-hour act. Col. Harrington, WPA administrator, had asked to have this point settled; though saying that it would not affect more than a minority of persons in the South, no matter which way it went.

Murphy replied, in substance, that where the wage of 25 cents an hour established in the wage-hour act is being paid by private employers in the locality, it should not be cut by the WPA.

WHAT NEXT?

Paper made from "de-inked" waste paper was recently tried in the printing of a Pittsburgh newspaper and the test is said to have been highly successful. The paper was made from old magazines, newspapers, poster sheets and even carbon paper. Dr. W. F. Hochstetter, the inventor, says the process will reduce the price of newsprint from the present scale of $60 to $65 a ton to $30 to $35.

It must have been some farmer in congress who thought of baiting stubborn employers into giving steady employment by offering them, in the wage and hour act, the provision that this would free them from paying overtime wages. Like bribing a horse out of the pasture with a pan of oats.

Signal Mt. Cement Renews Agreement With A.F.L. Union

Hermitage Cement in Nashville Leaves CIO for AFL; Father of Member Dies

Federal Labor union 18269, Cement Workers, is being congratulated for the signing of a new agreement with their employers, the Signal Mountain Cement company. The contract was signed April 10, and very satisfactory gains in working conditions were secured. Among the gains are full seniority rights, check-off, arbitration, eight-hour day, forty-hour week, overtime pay and full pay for time lost on account of death in the family.

"We congratulate management on its fine co-operative spirit," says Secretary Cunningham. "We ask our friends to insist on the purchase of Signal Mountain cement in preference to others."

Secretary Cunningham also reports that on April 2 the workers in the Nashville Hermitage Cement company left the C. I. O. and joined the A. F. of L. cement workers.

The following resolution has been adopted by Local 18269 on the death of the father of Brother T. Luther Parson:

Whereas, God, the Creator of all things, Who has the right to give, and also the right to take away, has in His infinite wisdom called home to heaven the beloved father of our brother, T. Luther Parson; and,

Whereas, In this bereavement Brother Parson has lost one of his best friends and truest advisers, for that is truly what our parents are to us; and,

Whereas, In such moments of grief and sorrow a message of sympathy and love does much to assuage the pain and the sorrow; therefore, be it hereby

Resolved by Local Union No. 18269, of Cement Workers, in regular session assembled, That we hereby extend to Brother Parson and the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Brother Parson and the bereaved family, a copy sent to The Labor World for publication, and a copy spread upon the minutes of this organization.

Signed,

ROY RUTHERFORD,
V. O. CUNNINGHAM,
H. A. SMITH,
Committee.

Machinists Mourn Death of J. A. Zorn

Lodge 56, Machinists, has recognized the sense of loss in the death of one of its members, J. A. Zorn, who died Feb. 24. Brother Zorn had a varied career, receiving his certificate of steam engineer under civil service in 1910 with a grade of one hundred.

Since that time he has been U. S. engineer at Grand Chain, Ill., and Florence, Ala.; he worked at the Lookout Boiler and Tank company for 20 years, he was a steamboat captain and pilot on the Mississippi river, and for the past thirteen years he was employed by the Combustion Engineering company.

In recent years he operated a small machine shop at his home during his spare hours.

Lodge 56 drew up the following resolution:

"Whereas, Almighty God in His infinite wisdom has called home our brother, J. A. Zorn, who led a full and useful life, serving his country, his family and his union; and

"Whereas, since his death on February 24, 1939, this lodge has felt by his absence the value of his life with us; therefore be it

"Resolved, by Lodge 56, International Association of Machinists, That we take this means of expressing our warm appreciation of Brother Zorn's presence with us, which will be more and more missed as time goes on; be it further

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on our minutes, a copy sent to the family of the deceased brother, a copy sent to the Machinists' Journal, and a copy to The Labor World."

GASOLINE-AUTO RATIO

Washington, D. C.—About 60,000,000 gallons of gasoline are consumed daily in the United States, according to department of commerce estimates. This is equal to approximately two gallons for each car and truck on the road.

The puzzle is this: How long will Hitler and Mussolini get away with it?

BURSON LOWRY BACK AFTER CLOSE ESCAPE FROM HEAD INJURY

Burson Lowry, victim of several practical jokes of brother members of the movie operators, is back at work after being the victim of a serious injury last week. He was knocked down backstage at the Tivoli theater by a loud-speaker which fell and cut a deep gash on his head, fifteen stitches being taken. It is believed that tragedy was missed being enacted by a small margin.

Outside of a slightly sore head, he is now out of danger.

Another member, the oldest member of the local, Ed Healy, has just recovered from a siege of pneumonia.

Members of the labor movement are congratulating these two unionists on their escape.

Erskine Mabee, secretary of Chattanooga Central Labor union, and an executive board member of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, will extend fraternal greetings to the Georgia federation convention at Augusta, Ga., and the Alabama federation in Mobile, Ala.

Nonunion Home Plate Wins Point In Fight on Organized Labor

Judge Foust Refuses Plea to Dismiss Injunction---Union Takes It to Supreme Court

The nonunion Home Plate restaurant won another round in chancery court last week when Judge Lon Foust refused the plea of Attorney King to dismiss a temporary injunction granted against Local 574, Culinary Workers. The injunction says that the union cannot picket the Home Plate lunchroom as a non-union house.

Attorney King immediately filed notice that the case would be carried to the state supreme court to protect the right of picketing and free speech. Hearing has not been held on the merits of the case.

It is reported that the Home Plate had to increase its bond from $250 to $1,500.

Although the union is so far prohibited by the court from picketing the nonunion eating house, the order does not insist that friends and members of organized labor must patronize them.

Robinson Member of Machinists Lodge 1450

The Labor World published in its March 24 issue a story from Local 56, Machinists, which was not complete, according to facts later brought to our attention. The story, concerning a resolution adopted by Lodge 56, said that Mr. Matt J. Robinson was not now a member of Lodge 56.

A committee from Local 1450 protested the wording of the story, which left the impression that Robinson was not a member of organized labor at all, and expressed regret that Lodge 1450 was not consulted before Lodge 56 took the action it did.

Mr. Robinson is at present a member of Lodge 1450, Machinists, which is the railroad branch of machinists. He was at one time a member of Lodge 56, the oldest of the machinist lodges, but transferred his membership to Lodge 1450 some years ago.

The Labor World takes this opportunity to correct the impression that Mr. Robinson does not have a union card.

Striking Printers Win Pay Increase

St. Joseph, Mo. — A two-day strike of union printers on the News-Press and Gazette was settled by a compromise agreement.

The printers had demanded an increase in wages of about 6 per cent as against an offer of a 2 per cent increase by the papers, which contended diminishing revenue had made the higher wage rate impossible.

The compromise was for an increase of about 3 per cent.

TEACHER TALK

Again we say, don't forget the membership meeting on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Dickinson.

* * *

Send a telegram to the senators from Tennessee urging them to support the federal aid bill, S. 1305. Remember that our section has most to gain from the passage of this measure.

At Saturday's meeting the sick-pay committee will make its report, and you will be given a chance to vote on the plan you wish.

* * *

Joel Seidman, a vice-president of the AFT, will be in town for a talk on labor problems on Monday evening, May 1, at the Ferger building. A Johns Hopkins Ph.D., he will be asked to speak informally to the board of directors and any other teachers who will come to a dinner to be given in his honor on Sunday at 6:30, the place to be announced next week. We hope you will be able to attend.

Label League Plans 4th Birthday Party With Dinner Dance

The Chattanooga Label league will celebrate its fourth anniversary on May 20 with a big banquet and dance at the Patten hotel. The dinner will start at 6:30 o'clock and the dancing will continue until the wee hours of the morning. There will also be an excellent floor show to entertain the visitors.

Letters have been sent out to all local unions inviting them to be represented at the affair. The tickets will be $1 per person, which will include a delicious meal and excellent entertainment.

The Label league has done some splendid work since its organization four years ago and more union-labeled merchandise is available in Chattanooga than at any time before.

The local unions affiliated with the Label league pay a small amount monthly and are entitled to two delegates to the league. There are no individual dues and members of the families of trades unionists are particularly urged to attend all meetings.

The fourth anniversary party is open to all trades unionists and their families, and a large crowd is expected to attend.

AFL Textile Charter

Bedford, Va.—Charter has been applied for by the textile workers in this community. A large number of workers signed the application and will be enrolled as charter members. Gordon L. Re-appoint Stanton Smith

It has been reported that the city commission will fail to ratify the re-appointment of Stanton E. Smith to membership on the Electric Power Board when his name is offered by the Board.

It is difficult to think of any reason why the commission might fail to ratify Smith's re-appointment. Stanton Smith has made an efficient member, he has devoted the necessary time and, according to all reports, he has worked in harmony with the other members of the board.

He is the choice of organized labor. While it is true that organized labor has in its membership other men or women who could serve with credit to labor and to the city, there is no point in refusing to re-appoint a good member. Smith is the man we want on that board, and we believe that the board of commissioners will re-appoint him, despite rumors to the contrary.

Receipts for Payments

Will the Social Security Act be amended so as to give each worker a receipt for everything paid for him toward old age and unemployment benefits—or not? No one knows. All labor wants this: and the more urgently labor expresses its wishes, the better. But no decision seems to have been reached yet.

Mr. Altmeyer, chairman of the Social Security Board, has at least twice gone out of his way to suggest that this way of insuring the workers be adopted. But it has not been.

William Green, president of the A. F. of L., has written: "Thousands of wage earners have not in their possession any evidence indicating their equities in old age pensions." And the thousands, possibly millions, remain in just the same fix as before.

The required amendment has been offered to the Security Act; but it is not being pushed. Undoubtedly, its passage would cause a little trouble and bother, but it is needed.

The C. C. C.

President Roosevelt sent a message to the dinner which celebrated the sixth anniversary of the Civilian Conservation Corps, saying, in part:

"I believe that the boys who have served in the C. C. C. have become better citizens. I believe there are thousands of other boys who should have the opportunity which the C. C. C. offers while they carry out the enormous conservation program which is vital to our welfare. I hope the C. C. C. will long continue, under wise direction, the job it has so well begun."

At least 99.87 per cent of Americans feel the same. The C. C. C. brings the contact with nature which every young man should have in some way. The only fault is that all lads, so far, have not had the same chance; but perhaps that lies in the future.

WPA Jokes

From the Hartford Courant, Hartford, Conn.

The American Federation of Actors has announced a positive prohibition against jokes directed by its members against the WPA and its employes. The regulation was hardly necessary; one WPA joke is very much like another, and the main point on which they are based—slow motion—is by this time almost as stale as "Who was the lady I seen you with last night?" There was a time when the concept of a man resting on a shovel raised laughter; today it is good only for a yawn.

But it is not only over familiarity that has dulled the point of the WPA joke. Hartford, at least, has had one exciting demonstration of the fact that WPA employes can work amazingly well when their hearts are in their jobs. Last September when the flood waters threatened repeat the diaster of 1936, hundreds—at times, thousands—of WPA workers slaved day and night to build the sandbag dike along Sheldon street and Van Dyke avenue that kept the flood out of the city. No one who saw the devoted work by the WPA men during those hours when no one knew whether or not the river could be held back can smile at even the freshest gag concerning the inertia of the employes of the Works Progress Administration.

Two Detective Agencies Barred From Minnesota

St. Paul.—Gov. Stassen, of Minnesota, has denied applications of the Pinkerton Detective agency and the William J. Burns International Detective agency for licenses in this state. The house of the legislature had recommended the governor to do it.

At the same time two other detective agencies were admitted, the Carlton and the Universal Secret Service, with headquarters in Minneapolis, but their chief men living in Crookston. They swore that they never had engaged in strike-breaking activities of any kind.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Duval County Employes' Local Union No. 220 has prepared a civil service to present to the Florida legislature for its consideration at the present session of the legislature. The bill has been drafted by the Hon. Lester W. Jennings, legal counsel for the Central Labor union and the county employes' organization.

The Duval county board of commissioners and other public officeholders in the county have offered their co-operation with the local union, as have the local unions in Jacksonville in the American Federation of Labor.

Many believe that the bill will will establish a "new day" for public employes relative to their status and employment and the method by which they are discharged from public employment.

Labor Asks Additional Appropriation For USHA to Provide Employment And Help Industrial Revival

Washington, D. C.—Labor spokesmen vigorously supported expansion of the program of the United States Housing Authority at hearings before a senate labor subcommittee.

Harry C. Bates, chairman of the American Federation of Labor housing committee, declared that more than 1,000,000 building and construction mechanics were totally unemployed and that the proposed USHA program will give employment for two full years to 330,000 building workers.

Proposed amendments to the United States housing act of 1937 provide for an $800,000,000 increase in funds for the low rental and slum clearance program of the USHA.

Doubling of Benefits Seen

After pointing out that the present program of the USHA will provide a total of 270,000,000 man-hours of work at the site and $257,000,000 which will be paid in wages to laborers employed at the site of construction, Bates told the senate committee hearing:

"The proposed amendments will double these benefits to the building workers by providing 540,000,000 man-hours of employment at the site or two full years' work to 330,000 building mechanics and laborers.

"It will proportionately increase the employment, the purchasing power and the business activity in the industries which must service this construction with materials and equipment.

Action Needed Now

"The American Federation of Labor feels that at this time when new signs of hesitation begin to appear in the trend of activity of our industry and trade, we can best stabilize the construction revival by the adoption of the proposed amendments."

Bates recalled the part taken by the American Federation of Labor in securing enactment of the United States housing act. He continued:

"We are more convinced today than ever before that this act provided a good beginning and that the program it embodied is a sound program. But today we also realize more keenly than before that this beginning is pathetically small when measured against the enormous need for low-rent housing with which we are still faced.

Expansion Must Go On

"The impetus given by the program already initiated in terms of re-employment and in terms of sustained activity the program has stimulated, has brought home to us the fact that we must unswervingly, though gradually, expand the program so that in time it would measure up to the full size of our national need."

Nathan Straus, administrator of the USHA, asked the subcommittee to approve the proposed additional funds.

Danger of Building Letdown

"The simplest way in which I can state the necessity for the additional authorization," Straus said, "is that all available funds of the United States Housing Authority have already been earmarked and committed for slum clearance and low-rent housing projects.

"Unless additional funds are made available now for new projects, a substantial interruption in employment and construction is inevitable," he asserted.

Straus said that approximately 180,000 homes for low income groups could be constructed under an additional $800,000,000 loan authorization.

He explained that the $45,000,000 annual authorization would permit the government to contract for additional contributions to local housing authorities to offset the difference between the rent which otherwise would have to be charged for the homes to meet the cost and the rent which the low income groups can pay.

88 UNION AGREEMENTS GAINED BY MACHINISTS

Strikes for Improved Labor Conditions Required in Only Four Cases.

Washington, D. C.—Continuing its record for January and February, when 213 new and renewed agreements were finalized, the International Association of Machinists, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, closed the month of March with eighty-eight more agreements signed by its representatives in many cities throughout the United States, according to the report issued by F. D. Laudemann, general vice-president of the association.

The hours written into the agreements indicate the progressive march of the association towards a shorter work week.

The eight-hour day, forty-eight-hour week was included in only four agreements. The forty-eight-hour week, without stipulating the hours per day, was written into one agreement.

The eight-hour day and forty-hour week was incorporated in ten agreements. The forty-hour week without the daily hours being specified was written into thirty-six agreements.

Twenty-six agreements stipulated the eight-hour day, forty-four-hour week, and one called for the forty-four-hour week without fixing the number of hours per day.

It is significant that this record of eighty-eight agreements was achieved with the use of the strike necessary in only four cases.

In Marin county, California, a two-weeks strike was required to persuade the Marin County Motor Car Dealers' association that it was good policy to continue in effect the agreement with the union. The agreement continues the present hourly rates of 90 cents for auto mechanics and $1 for body and fender men, and a 10 per cent higher rate for foremen, with the provision that a 5-cents-an-hour increase shall be granted to all employes on October 1, 1939.

In Tampa, Fla., strikes were resorted to as a persuasive measure to influence the Beckwith-Holmes company and Jungmeyer & Palmer, Inc., to sign up with the union. The agreement with the Beckwith-Holmes company provided for wage increases of upwards to 20 cents, while the wage increases included in the Jungmeyer & Palmer agreement ranged from 3 to 23 cents.

The Eastwood-Neally corporation, of Belleville, N. J., also resisted recognizing the union during a six months' strike, but finally signed an agreement establishing hourly wage rates of 85 to 95 cents for journeymen machinists and 51 to 80 cents for production workers.

In Conneaut, O., agreements were negotiated with five garage firms.

In Coshocton, O., four garage firms and one stove company signed up.

In Philadelphia, Pa., contracts were negotiated with four firms.

In Providence, R. I., contracts were finalized with thirty-six jewelry manufacturers, and contracts with two firms were negotiated in Seattle, Wash.

In Boston the daily newspapers renewed their agreement, and Stine's Express, Inc., signed a new contract.

In Houston, Tex., agreements were negotiated with Metzger's dairy and the Houston Milling company.

In St. Louis, Mo., the Missouri Pacific Railroad company signed an agreement covering the reclamation plant at Sedalia, Mo., and the Greater St. Louis Automotive association renewed its agreement.

Newspaper Guild Fights Replacement Of Composing Room "Boys" With Journeymen Union Printers

By JOSEPH A. WISE

Indianapolis.—While in this city in reference to some personal matters, I ascertained some interesting facts pertaining to activities of the American Newspaper Guild.

The New York Times, through some means that was not satisfactorily explained, has been able to employ ninety unskilled persons in its composing room. These employes are called "runners" or "boys."

"Big Six" Objects.

New York Typographical Union No. 6 ("Big Six") objected to the employment of these "boys." It has been the policy of the International Typographical union for many years to insist that only its members shall be employed in newspaper composing rooms.

The management of the New York Times was persuaded finally to replace nine of the "boys" with nine journeymen members of "Big Six."

Guild Files Complaint.

The "boys" were paid $3 a day, while the union scale for journeymen is $12 a day.

The American Newspaper Guild filed a complaint with the national relations board to the effect that it had been discriminated against and its jurisdictional rights had been invaded when the New York Times replaced $3-a-day "boys" with $12 a day journeymen printers.

At Wilkes-Barre, Pa., all daily newspapers have been suspended since last October, when a strike was called by the American Newspaper Guild.

200 Deprived of Work.

More than 200 printing tradesmen were thrown out of work completely. This has cost the printing trades unions an enermous sum of money.

The American Newspaper Guild continues to boast that it has won a great "victory" every time that it has been able to put a newspaper plant out of business completely.

Apex Decision Recalls Earlier Use of Anti-Trust Law Against Labor, in Celebrated Danbury Hatters' Case —Supreme Court Rulings Made Senate Document.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington, D. C.—The Apex case, like the old Danbury Hatters case, shows that while the Sherman anti-trust law is of little use in curbing a corporation, it is very potent in pestering a labor union. It seems well to give a very brief sketch of this earlier tussle.

The hat makers of Danbury, Conn., were sued in 1903, by D. E. Loewe & Co., hat manufacturing company of the town. They were sued for damages due to a boycott, for which the members of the union were held responsible, under Sec. 7 of the Sherman act, which provides:

"Any person who shall be injured in his business or his property by any other person or combination by anything forbidden or declared to be unlawful by this act, may sue therefor in any circuit court of appeals of the United States . . . and shall recover threefold the damages by him sustained, including a resonable attorney fee."

The proceedings fill five volumes in the A. F. of L. library, and only the barest sketch can be given. First defense was that the union was not responsible under the act. By 1908, they had got it to the supreme court of the nation, which held the union responsible under the act. Savings and homes of about 250 hatters of Danbury were attached, but the fight went on. In 1910, the judge instructed the jury to find damages of $74,000, and three times that sum is $222,000. This was reversed on error, and in 1912 was raised to $80,000. The supreme court ruled again January 5, 1915, the same way.

The A. F. of L. had backed the hatters to the limit, and did now. An appeal was sent out to union men to give one hour of their pay. The bill of $214,911.20 was settled by this union subpscription—on August 28, 1917.

Action and reaction between congress and the supreme court is not only of vast importance, but sometimes very revealing. Shortly after the court declared that states have a right to collect income taxes from the the salaries of federal officials, Senator Andrews, of Florida, rose and asked that the opinion of the court, written by Mr. Justice Stone, the concurring opinion, written by Mr. Justice Frankfurter, and the dissent by Mr. Justice Butler be made a senate document. Senator Minton, of Indiana, interrupted to say:

"Would the senator object to having included in the senate document the great case which preceded this case? . . . I refer to the case in which Mr. Justice Stone rendered the opinion holding that employes of the Port Authority of New York were subject to the income tax laid by the federal government. Particularly, I refer to the concurring opinion of Mr. Justice Black, who pointed out the realistic basis upon which the doctrine of the taxation of salaries must ultimately rest."

These two opinions bring under state and federal taxes a million salaries paid by public authority as large as those paid by private business which have been taxed for many years.

Culinary Workers Balk Pay Cut

Camas, Wash.—Culinary workers and their employers of Camas have brought more than a month of contract negotiations to an end with adoption of a new contract continuing last year's wages and hours agreement. Employers opened the contract conferences by asking to apply a 10 per cent wage cut. After meeting with Jack Wineberger, international organizer of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance, it was agreed that no reduction in wages would be applied.

The new contract contains a new clause, however, covering the employment of apprentices, waitresses started at $12 a week; after the and fountain girls. They will be first two weeks they will be raised to $13.50, and after the third week they will receive the regular $15 scale.

MUNICIPAL EMPLOYES, LONG UNPAID, STRIKE

Larksville, Pa.—Municipal employes in this community of 9,500 against a threatened pay cut due went on strike April 11 in protest to the borough's financial difficulties.

The strike was announced by Police Chief Joseph Mock, who charged that municipal employes had been unpaid for five months and that they faced salary slashes and possible dismissal as a result of borough budgetry difficulties now before the courts.

McGrady Intertype Director.

New York City.—Edward F. McGrady, first assistant secretary of labor from 1933 to 1937, has been elected a member of the board of directors of the Intertype corporation. In 1937 McGrady resigned from the department of labor to become a director and vice-president of Radio Corporation of America where he served as labor relations officer.

Final Knockout of Company Unions Sought by A. F. of L. in Proposed Amendments to Labor Act

Washington, D. C.—In making public a pamphlet explaining and analyzing its proposed amendments to the national labor relations act, the American Federation of Labor strongly emphasized that it seeks complete elimination of company unions by new definitions incorporated in the amendments.

By revision of the law's provisions, the A. F. of L. says, "employers cannot recognize company unions; employers cannot bargain with company unions; employers cannot enter into contracts with company unions; nor can company unions be placed on any ballot."

"The A. F. of L.," the pamphlet says, "is confident that these amendments will go a long way toward the complete elimination of company unions — certainly much further than does the present act."

A preamble to the pamphlet warns members of the A. F. of L. to beware of false propaganda about the amendments circulated by the CIO. It says:

"It is strange, indeed, that rival organizations that have spent millions in an attempt to destroy us, that have raided our unions, that have unlawfully appropriated our funds, that have villified our officers and slandered our membership, should suddenly appeal to our membership to oppose our amendments because of a noble and solicitous impulse to save the American federation of Labor from destroying itself. Such hypocrisy should fall of its own weight.

Objectives Defined.

"The truth is that these rival organizations have been aided by the national labor relations board in their attempts to destroy us.

"Is it any wonder then that the board is acclaimed as being beyond reproach; that the act is upheld as perfect?"

The objectives of the amendments are defined as follows:

1. To promote fair, equal and unprejudiced administration of the act.

2. To prevent the board from arbitrarily outlawing A. F. of L. union contracts.

3. To prevent the board from destroying the integrity of the craft unit.

4. To prevent the board from exercising its vast discretion in respect to the time in which it acts in such a way as to prejudice the interests of the A. F. of L. and to favor those of rival organizations.

5. To strengthen the act, correct its shortcomings and make it conform to present realities.

The first amendment discussed in the pamphlet is the one which would abolish the present three-man board and create a new five-man board. Such a housecleaning is necessary, the pamphlet says, because "the present board has alienated the confidence of the American Federation of Labor and its millions of members."

Each of the other amendments are analyzed in detail and the reasons why they are needed are fully explained.

In conclusion the pamphlet emphasizes that the A. F. of L. has examined and rejected all proposals and suggestions for amendments from interests hostile to labor. The A. F. of L. is "definitely opposed to such amendments," the pamphlet flatly declares.

A F of L Radio Program Dramatizes Union Workers' Winning Fight on Prison Labor Contract System

Washington, D. C.—The American Federation of Labor presents in its April issue of "The Labor Parade" a dramatic re-enactment of organized labor's successful fight against prison contract labor.

Prison contract labor, which saw the light of day shortly after early colonization in this country, threatened the very foundation of our constitutional form of government. The viciousness of this penal system, until more recent years, slackened industrial progress, affected economic stability of local as well as national government and brought about sweat-shops, and the employment of children in many of our manufacturing plants. Labor early realized that here existed a condition that must be attacked to its very root.

The American Federation of Labor in 1881 included in its first platform a denunciation of prison contract labor as a species of slavery in its worst form. "It pauperizes free labor, demoralizes the honest manufacturers and degrades the very criminal whom it employs."

The prison contract labor system involved the hiring out of prisoners by penal institutions to private contractors, the contractors paying a stipulated fee for each prisoner. The goods, wares and merchandise manufactured by these contractors flooded the open markets, in competition with goods manufactured by free industry and by the hands of free labor.

In 1929, the American Federation of Labor, the National Association of Manufacturers, the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the National Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor formed a combination to fight for national legislation to abolish this and other similar evil practices.

One hundred and eighty stations throughout the United States will present the dramatic re-enactment of the oustanding events in the history of the fight against prison contract labor.

The higher life is always a hard life. — George Barton Cutten.

Breath Bad, Logy? You May Need This

Just as the lighthouse flashes a friendly warning to sailors, so Nature sends out headaches, bad breath, biliousness, which often warn of constipation.

Too many misunderstand or neglect those symptoms and thereby may invite a host of constipation's other discomforts: sour stomach, belching, loss of appetite or energy.

Be wise. Take spicy, all vegetable BLACK-DRAUGHT tonight by simple directions and clear your bowels gently, promptly, thoroughly. This intestinal tonic-laxative helps give tone to lazy bowels.

Its long life and popularity testify to BLACK-DRAUGHT'S merit.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, on the 14th day of February, 1927, J. A. Morrow and wife, Pearl May Morrow, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration February 23, 1927, and recorded in Book N, Vol. 21, Page 113 et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

WHEREAS, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said J. A. Morrow and wife, Pearl May Morrow, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, MAY 2nd, 1939

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House, in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot number seven (7) of Blachley's subdivision of Ridgedale. Said lot fronts fifty (50) feet on the north side of Main street (formerly Montgomery avenue) and extends back northwardly of uniform width one hundred fifty (150) feet to an alley as shown by a plat of record in Plat Book "1," Page 16, in the Register's Office of said County and State.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

TUESDAY, MAY 16th, 1939,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

The West 60 feet of Lot 3, of Montague's Subdivision of Block No. 16 of East End Land Company's Addition No. 4, as shown by plat registered 2nd day of December, 1908, in Register's Plat Book 5, page 43 of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee. Said part of lot makes one lot fronting 46 feet on the east side of Avenue "L", formerly St. George Street, and extends back Eastwardly, of uniform width, a distance of 60 feet.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This April 12, 1939.

F. L. UNDERWOOD, Trustee.

Green Mobilizes Union Officials Against Michigan Anti-Labor Bill

Measure Before Legislature Would Deprive A. F. of L. Unions of Their Rights and Hinder Growth of the Trade Union Movement, He Declares.

Washington, D. C.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, urged the presidents of the national and international unions affiliated with the A. F. of L. to do their utmost to enlist their local unions in a campaign to persuade Michigan legislators to vote against the so-called "labor relations bill," which, if it becomes a law, would deprive the A. F. of L. unions of their rights and hinder the growth of the trade union movement in the Wolverine State.

Unions Placed in Strait-Jacket

Following is the text of the letter sent by Mr. Green to the executives of the 102 affiliated national and international unions:

"A labor relations bill has been introduced into the Michigan legislature which is highly objectionable to the American Federation of Labor and, if passed, would be detrimental to the interests of the membership of organized labor.

"I am advised that if the proposed bill were enacted into law, it would result in placing the American Federation of Labor unions in a strait-jacket, depriving them of the exercise of any of their rights and would seriously interfere with the expansion and growth of the trade union movement.

"The American Federation of Labor is co-operating with the Michigan State Federation of Labor and central bodies in an effort to defeat this proposed anti-labor bill.

"In order to add strength to the opposition which is being offered to this measure by organized labor in Michigan and the officers of the American Federation of Labor, I am calling upon the officers of all national and international unions to join with us in the efforts we are putting forth to defeat this legislation.

"We ask that you communicate with your local unions in Michigan, calling upon them to make known to their respective representatives in the Michigan legislature their opposition to the measure and appeal to them to vote against it.

"In addition, may I ask that organizers and representatives of national and international unions in Michigan be instructed to oppose the enactment of this labor relations bill into law.

"Please have them take the matter up with the local unions and make known their opposition to the members of the Michigan state legislature.

Pacific Coast Anti-Labor Laws Defeated

"We defeated anti-labor legislation in California and Washington. We are now endeavoring, through the institution of legal proceedings in Oregon, to have the anti-labor law adopted by a referendum vote at the last election held in the state of Oregon declared unconstitutional.

"Please help us in this fight in Michigan as I have herein requested. I feel sure if we join wholeheartedly in presenting a united opposition to the enactment into law of this highly objectionable labor relations fill in Michigan that we will succeed in our efforts to defeat it."

ON THE YEAST SIDE?

Smith: So you're setting your boy up in the bakery business?

Jones: Yes; he's so keen for dough and such a swell loafer that I'm sure he'll rise in the business.

Many receive advice, but few seem to profit by it, or there would be a better demand for union-labeled goods.

Union-made bread from your naborhood bakery is the thing to buy every day in the year.

This is the time of the year for Local 25 to negotiate contracts with the various bakeries which are now under contract. Negotiations will begin the latter part of this month and the first of May.

Read recently in our Bakers' Journal:

"Nothing can be more sacred than the union emblem," says Baltimore preached. The union label will come into place in the public mind, which was intended by its creators and advocates, as fast as new converts are made to the truth it represents.

A. F. of L. Charges C. I. O. Spent Millions of Dollars to Destroy It

Pamphlet Explaining Federation's Proposed Amendments to National Labor Relations Act Says Decisions of National Labor Relations Board Have Assisted Rebel and Dual Group in Raiding American Federation of Labor Unions and Funds.

Says Changes in Labor Act Are Designed to Promote Fair Administration, and End the Labor Board's Various Schemes for Destroying A. F. of L. Affiliates; "The American Federation of Labor No Longer Respects the Administration of the Act by This Board."

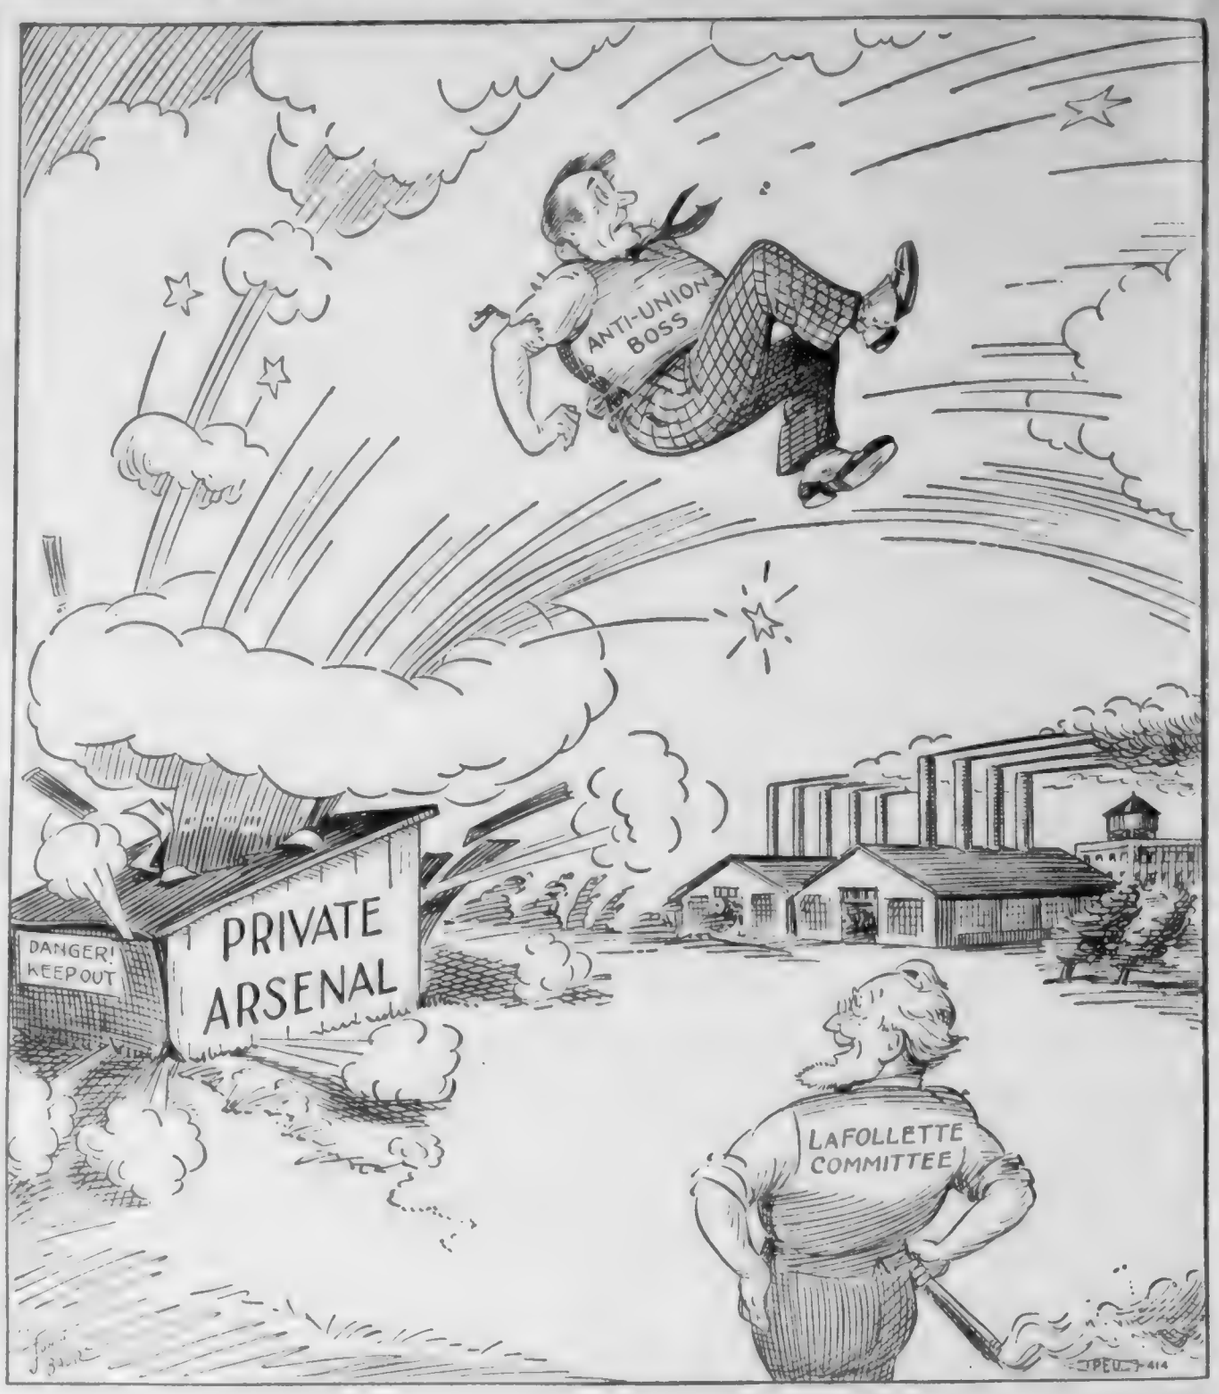
Washington, D. C.—The American Federation of Labor made public a pamphlet explaining and analyzing its proposed amendments to the national labor relations act.

The pamphlet will be widely distributed to the membership through every affiliated organization.

Public hearings on the amendments, which were introduced in congress by Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Representative Barden, of North Carolina, will begin before the senate committee on education and labor April 11.

A preamble to the pamphlet warns members of the American Federation of Labor to beware of false propaganda about the amendments circulated by the Congress of Industrial Organizations. It says:

"It is strange, indeed, that rival organizations that have spent millions in an attempt to destroy us that have raided our unions, that have unlawfully appropriated our funds, that have villified our officers and slandered our membership, should suddenly appeal to our membership to oppose our amendments because of a noble and solicitous impulse to save the American Federation of Labor from destroying itself. Such hypocrisy should fall of its own weight.



"The truth is that these rival organizations have been aided by the National Labor Relations Board in their attempts to destroy us.

"Is it any wonder, then, that the board is acclaimed as being beyond reproach; that the act is upheld as perfect?"

The objectives of the amendments are defined as follows:

1. To promote fair, equal and unprejudiced administration of the act.

2. To prevent the board from arbitrarily outlawing A. F. of L. union contracts.

3. To prevent the board from destroying the integrity of the craft unit.

4. To prevent the board from exercising its vast discretion in respect to the time in which it acts in such a way as to prejudice the interests of the A. F. of L. and to favor those of rival organizations.

5. To strengthen the act, correct its shortcomings and make it conform to present realities.

The first amendment discussed in the pamphlet is the one which would abolish the present three-man board and create a new five-man board. Such a housecleaning is necessary, the pamphlet says, because "the present board has alienated the confidence of the American Federation of Labor and its millions of members."

"The American Federation of Labor no longer respects the administration of the act by this board," the pamphlet declares.

It is emphasized that by new definitions incorporated in the amendments company unions would be prohibited to a much greater extent than under the present act. The amendments would outlaw company unionism—crude and subtle—and prevent the board from classifying legitimate labor organizations as company unions.

Each of the other amendments are analyzed in detail and the reasons why they are needed are fully explained.

In conclusion the pamphlet emphasizes that the A. F. of L. has examined and rejected all proposals and suggestions for amendments from interests hostile to labor. The A. F. of L. is "definitely opposed to such amendments," the pamphlet flatly declares.

"Southern Labor Spots"

Atlanta, Ga.—Six weeks ago, members of Local Textile union, No. 20675, McComb, Miss., were locked out. This is a local union of the Southern Cotton Textile federation, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Elmer Estes, secretary-treasurer of the Southern Cotton Textile federation, came to Atlanta for a conference with George L. Googe, southern representative of the A. F. of L., and laid the case before him.

The McComb textile workers were locked out because they would not accept a wage reduction. The A. F. of L. unions have consistently resisted wage reductions, and the American Federation of Labor has supported its affiliated local unions in resisting wage cuts.

Mr. Googe approved payment of the regular weekly benefits of $7 to each member in the McComb local who is locked out, and upon his recommendation the payments have been made, as evidenced by the following telegram:

"George L. Googe,
"358 Hurt Building,
"Atlanta, Ga.

"Check for $3,822, six weeks' local benefits for members of Local Union No. 20675, McComb, Miss., being forwarded to Ray Pine, financial secretary and bonded officer, today.

(Signed)
"WILLIAM GREEN,
"President American Federation of Labor."

Each member of the local union locked out by the employer will receive $42, which is the regular $7 weekly benefits, for the period of six weeks.

Elizabethton, Tenn.—Charter for Local Union No. 2207, United Textile Workers of America, was installed here last week. This local union is made up of employes of the North American Bamberg plants, and installation of the charter, election and obligation of officers and establishment of the A. F. of L. unions in this great section is looked upon as a most progressive move by all labor officials. Gordon L. Chastain, of the Southern Cotton Textile federation, assisted the workers in perfecting the organization and installed the charter.

Spartanburg, S. C.—Charter was installed here last week for Local Union No. 1882, United Textile Workers of America, with Gordon L. Chastain serving as installing officer. Mr. Chastain is working under direction of the Southern Cotton Textile federation, A. F. of L. affiliate. Textile workers throughout South Carolina received the news of this event with great pleasure. The local is made up of employes of the Saxon mills, and workers have simply come back home, into the American Federation of Labor.

3 Bees Buzz Again!

Mayor Bass Leads Fight on Smith For Electric Power Board

McMillan and Cooke Supported Competency Against Political Hatred and Revenge

This time the three bumblebees buzzed successfully and stung organized labor when the city commission voted three to two last Tuesday not to confirm Stanton E. Smith to succeed himself to the Electric power board. Smith had been nominated by the board after serving faithfully for four years.

The fight against Smith and organized was led by the mayor under the guise of "principle." The mayor contends that the state legislature had no right to pass salary schedules that he does not like, and therefore "unconstitutional." Since Smith, as president of the teachers' union, filed suit against the city to force obedience to law, the mayor says that Smith is now undesirable. In fact, since the teacher union has been formed the mayor has not shown particular love for any official of the union.

Although the legislature "had no constitutional right" to pass legislation undesirable to the mayor, it was alright for the mayor to have the last legislature change the law so he could hold a firmer grasp on his job in that a recall is nearly impossible. As it was, he was nearly recalled last election.

Central Labor union urged that Smith be named again. Cooke and McMillan voted for Smith, while the mayor, Betterton and Bryan voted no.

Mayor Bass then asked A. C. Kamin if he wished to say anything.

"The majority of the teachers are parties to that lawsuit," said Kamin, "and they are just as 'guilty' as Prof. Smith. "That is what we have got the courts for—to decide what's right and what's wrong.

"When the legislature passed that salary schedule bill, it became the law, and technically this board violated the law by not enforcing that schedule. It was supposed to be enforced, but it was not.

"I can't see for the life of me where one person can consistently be singled out when hundreds are in the same position that Prof. Smith is in.

"Prof. Smith has been a creditable member of the power board, and organized labor is proud of him. He has served four years, and is familiar with all the details of the power program. It would be a crime to take him off.

"The Chattanooga Central Labor union doesn't care about indorsing anybody else. We want Stanton Smith."

Victim of 'Sweet Revenge'

Meatcutter's Secretary Has Hard Luck

George Henry, energetic young secretary of Local 600, insists that he has a legitimate excuse for missing the Central Labor Union meeting Monday night.

He was down in Rome, Ga., and started back in time to make the meeting, but he had forgotten that the roads in that section are undergoing repairs. His car failed to take a curve and jumped over into a comfortable rock pile, where the rear tire picked up a nice piece of iron pipe. The iron piece did not stop with puncturing the tire, but went all the way through.

Probably such a small delay would not have made Mr. Henry miss the meeting, but when he walked over to a neighboring house to telephone, the ignition key dropped off his key ring somewhere along the road, and the night was dark and dreary.

It took him two hours and a half to persuade a man to come out and make another key. It required exactly 9 minutes for the man to make the key, but Brother Henry says he won't recover financially for months to come.

Mark Brother Henry "excused" from last Central Labor Union meeting, Mr. Secretary.

An old-time and active member of organized labor, Vic should receive the patronage of labor in a big way, we say.

TEACHER TALK

Willard Millsaps was elected president of the federation last Saturday; Miss Margaret O'Grady, vice-president; and all others officers were re-elected, as follows:

Recording secretary, Mrs. Margaret Locker; financial secretary, Miss Archie Ruth Brown; treasurer, Arlie Hoodenpyl; and sergeant-at-arms, Tom Bell.

President Millsaps was named delegate to the Tennessee Federation of Labor in Nashville in June, and the following were elected as delegates to the Central Labor union here: Stanton Smith, Mrs. Almeda Jones, J. Stegar Hunt, Miss Virginia Munsey, Willard Millsaps, Tom Jones, Mrs. Milton McCafferty, Paul Long, Mrs. Nancy Lea Smith and Tom Bell.

All federation members are invited to a supper in honor of our national vice-president, Joel Seidman, next Sunday evening at the Hotel Patten. If you can come, be sure to phone the hotel for your reservation by noon Saturday. The cost will be 75 cents.

Mr. Seidman's talk on labor problems, originally scheduled for Monday evening, will be given on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the ILGWU hall in the Farber building. All unionists are invited to that, also.

California Court Upholds Conviction of CIO Pickets

Sacramento, Cal.—The conviction and sentencing of six CIO pickets at the Murchie Mine near Nevada City was upheld here by the Third District Court of Appeal.

The court held that the men were given a fair trial and that Sheriff Carl Tobiassen and his deputies were justified in using force to break up the picket line at the mine.

Justice John F. Pullen, writing the decision, stated that "it does not require 85 men to peacefully picket a narrow roadway."

The Murchie mine clash on Jan. 20, 1938, ended a year of strife between the CIO union and the Nevada County Mine Workers Protective League, an independent union. The trouble started when the sheriff and his deputies convoyed non-CIO miners through the picket line. More than a score of persons were injured. The six arrested CIO pickets were sentenced from six to 10 months each.

Closed Shop Pact Puts Labels on Benn-Hubb Product

Five-Year Agreement Affecting 65 Signed to End Troubles

A five-year closed-shop contract was signed this week between the Bennett-Hubbard Candy company and Local 25, of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International union.

The contract covers approximately sixty-five workers and goes into effect immediatell, according to Sanford Bennett, president of the candy concern.

Bennett said "everything is agreeable to both sides."

C. B. Norwood, business agent of the local union, issued the workers' statement on the contract in the absence of Curtis Sims, president of the Central Labor union. All Benn-Hubb products will bear the union label as soon as they are secured.

The contract covers wages, hours and seniority and includes a check-off for union dues.

Settlement of the dispute between the A. F. of L. affiliated union and the candy company followed the issuance of an order by the national labor relations board ordering the candy company to grant back pay to nineteen workers for the period from Oct. 15, 1936, to April 23, 1938. At the time of the issuance of this order it was estimated that it would cost the candy company approximately $26,000.

Norwood said that the settlement reached in the contract and agreed to by Bennett called for a "cash consideration to be distributed pro rata to the union members who participated in the strike, minus attorney fees."

Stevenson, Printer Injured at Work

W. W. Stevenson, member of Chattanooga Typographical union, was severely injured last week when his hand was caught in a linotype machine. Physicians say a finger may be amputated.

Labor Relations Bill Passes Legislature In Minnesota

ST. PAUL.—The Minnesota Senate repassed and sent to Gov. Harold E. Stassen a state labor relations bill which emphasizes conciliation and arbitration in labor disputes.

The measure, which was affirmed by a 52 to 6 vote, prohibits interference with highway or street traffic during strikes or lockouts.

A conference committee eliminated a provision prohibiting picketing. The provision was vigorously opposed by organized labor.

Jasper, Ala.—Charter for a local union organized by the glaziers of this city has been applied for by the newly elected officers and charter members. S. E. Roper, of the A. F. of L., assisted the workers in organizing the local union.

A. F. T. Lecturer Will Speak Here Sunday, April 30

Dr. Joel Seidman, national vice-president of the American Federation of Teachers, will deliver a public lecture on Sunday afternoon under the joint sponsorship of the workers' education committee of Hamilton county and the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union (Ind.) at the hall of the Garment Workers, 108½ East Eighth street. The subject scheduled for discussion is "The Land of the Free, Civil Liberties in Strikes, Injunctions, Labor Spies, etc." The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

Dr. Seidman is a stimulating and provocative speaker. His lectures are informative and lively. He has a rich and varied experience to draw upon.

Before securing his Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins university, Dr. Seidman was an outstanding student leader. During 1933-34 he was a member of the research staff of editorial research in Washington, D. C. For three years he was instructor in trade unionism at Brookwood Labor college, and for a time acting director. He has had wide experience in educational activities among unions, including the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union. At present he is field secretary and special lecturer of the League for Industrial Democracy. He is a member of the American Federation of Teachers and was elected vice-president at their 1937 convention. Last December he delivered a paper, by invitation, at the annual meeting of the American Sociological society at its annual 1938 meeting in Detroit.

During the last eight years Dr. Seidman has contributed to economic journals and has been the author of a number of valuable studies in the field of labor and economics. Included in his writings are the following:

"The Yellow Dog Contract" (Johns Hopkins).

"Introduction to Labor Problems" (Brookwood).

"The Company Union" (I. L. C. W. U.).

In addition to the above Dr. Seidman edited the illustrated brochure entitled "Not by Bread Alone," which describes the educational work of the International Ladies' Garment Workers union.

The board of directors of the Teachers' union will have a dinner for Dr. Seidman on Sunday evening at 6:30.

Commission's Failure to Re-elect Mr. Smith

(Reprinted from Chattanooga News)

Failure of the City Commission to re-elect Stanton E. Smith to the Electric Power Board of Chattanooga is discouraging. Here is a young man of a high type who has rendered fine service to the Board for four years. His fellow Board members testify to his ability and his worth. He is rejected by Mayor Bass (Commissioners Bryan and Betterton concurring) ostensibly because he represented the city teachers in a suit attempting to force the city to abide by the salary law regularly enacted by the State General Assembly. The Mayor holds the position that by pressing the suit, Prof. Smith is somehow disloyal to the city government and hence should not hold office on a board supervising the operation of a city public service.

If Stanton Smith had failed in his duty to the City Teachers who trusted him, he would certainly not be fit to serve on the public power board. If a man is not loyal to himself and his convictions how could he be expected to be loyal to the city? The Mayor in this case might well have applied to Mr. Smith the test, "To thine own self be true, and it must follow as the night the day that thou canst not then be false to any man." Stanton Smith has proved that he is true to himself and hence is to be trusted.

The right of the Commission to make the rejection is clear, and involves a principle which is entirely proper. When the Act was originally drafted it included the nomination to the City Commission by the Power Board of prospective members, thus deliberately bringing the City Commission into the picture so that the end results would have the full participation of City Government. The City Commission has in this case exercised its legal right, and the propriety of the manner in which the act was drawn is proved. We suffer not with the right but with the judgment shown in this case.

We lay aside the argument that Union Labor has a right to a representative on the Power Board, but it is incontestable that all classes of people should be made to feel that the Power Board will represent them conscientiously. The Union people certainly interpret the rejection of Stanton Smith as a slap at them, and how else could they interpret the rejection of a man who has proven his fitness in the power board office, whose character is unassailable and whom the progressive young union labor members of this city regard as their spokesman?

The people will be disappointed that efficiency has been so poorly rewarded in the case of Stanton Smith.

If our information is correct, it has not been so long ago since Commissioner Bryan's law firm represented a client who sued the city for $25,000 for damages. The suit is said to have been compromised for a smaller amount. Of course, city credit would not have been affected by that suit. What is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the "gander".

We thought that any American citizen had access to American courts without being penalized in his American privilege of public service.

* * *

And did not Mayor Bass travel to Nashville some time ago and successfully secure a raise in his wages by the legislature from $4,000 to $7,500? That must have been constitutional because the mayor did not appeal the case to keep himself from paying himself a nice increase which he secured himself for himself.

* * *

Further, Stanton Smith has never yet come under the criticism of our grand jury. That's sump'n, anyhow.

* * *

Charley McCarthy would be acceptable for Stanton's place. That is, if ventriloquism is learned by the buzzing bees.

NEWS FLASHES

Wilmington, N. C.—Edgar Carr, one of the strikebreaking truck drivers employed by the Southern Oil Transportation company, rammed a passenger car near here one night last week and severely injured the four occupants of the light car, all of them being in the hospital, one of whom is not expected to live. Carr was formerly employed by the Southern Oil Transportation company, long before the strike, and was fired because of accidents which he had on the highways. When the strike was forced on the men last October, Brinson, of the S. O. T. company, hired Carr as a strikebreaker. He is one of the strikebreakers who went to work under protection of state troops. Now, four innocent people are seriously injured because this irresponsible strikebreaking driver ran his big truck right into the rear of the passenger car, completely demolishing the car and injuring the occupants.

Augusta, Ga.—Charter for the newly organized textile local union here was installed last Saturday night, officers were elected and obligated and affiliation made with the Augusta Central Labor union, the Georgia State Federation of Labor and the Southern Cotton Textile federation. Delegates were elected to the Georgia State Federation of Labor convention, and representatives were selected to attend the textile convention to be held in Washington, D. C., on May 8. This local union is made up of employes of the Enterprise mills. Elmer Estes, secretary-treasurer of the Southern Cotton Textile federation, assisted the workers in forming the local union and installed the charter and obligated the officers and members.

Atlanta, Ga.—Charter has been reinstated for United Textile Workers' Local Union No. 2318, Atlanta. Officers have been named and all affiliations have been made with proper city, state and national bodies. It will be an inspiration to textile workers throughout the south to learn that the Atlanta local is again functioning for the textile workers of this city.

Augusta, Ga.—President Chas. B. Gramling and Secretary Rufus Johnson, of the Georgia State Federation of Labor, have been here since early in the week, completing arrangements for the state federation convention opening here Wednesday morning.

Notable Augusta leaders will address the first session of the convention to be presided over by President W. O. Owens, of the Central Labor Union of Augusta, hosts to the gathering.

Mayor Richard E. Allen, Chairman J. M. Woodall, of the county commission; Secretary L. S. Moody, of the chamber of commerce, and Judge A. L. Franklin, of the superior court, are on the program of welcome.

An interesting social event is the dance of Wednesday night which will be attended by all the visitors and many local people.

Thursday afternoon, a barbecue is scheduled at Julian Smith park.

Officers of the federation include: Frank K. Stephens, Atlanta; J. F. Pritchard, Augusta; J. T. Price, Macon; W. C. Jeffries, Columbus; George H. McGee, Savannah, and P. M. Maxwell, Rome, district vice-presidents.

The convention will have headquarters at Hotel Richmond, with the business sessions at the Richmond county courthouse.

Johnson City, Tenn.—D. C. Long has been re-elected president of the Johnson City Central Labor union. The news in this statement is found in the fact that this is the seventh consecutive time that President Long has been re-elected without opposition. All but two of the rest of the officers also were re-elected. The labor movement in Johnson City is at the highest peak ever attained by the organized labor movement. Building and construction work is good, and a five-months' fight against a printing concern here ended a short time ago in complete victory for the unions, the shop having signed up and is now using the allied printing label.

Erskine Mabee, Chattanooga labor leader and international representative of the Retail Clerks, has been doing excellent work here among the clerks in Johnson City stores.

Washington, D. C.—Four major changes to make state unemployment compensation laws of greater benefit to the workers are desirable in reaching the "ideal" unemployment benefit system, Chairman Altmeyer, of the Social Security Board, told the house ways and means committee.

Testifying in connection with the committee's study of proposed changes in the social security program, Altmeyer emphasized that his four-point program would increase costs to states considerably and that only a few states could afford to undertake the proposed changes.

"However," he added, "states that can afford to do so should do so rather than reduce the contributions rate (of employe contributions)."

Homes "glued together" in groups of 10,000 as a means of solving the nation's housing problem were visualized by Raymond V. Parsons, research engineer, at a Yale University low-cost housing conference. The units would be erected in large garden cities and would house 30,000 to 100,000 persons paying rents as low as $15 a month, he said. They would be "glued together" with a new resin compound, eliminating nails.

Talking traffic lights to warn pedestrians of impending signal changes were demonstrated at the annual convention of the Greater New York Safety Council recently. With the device in use, pedestrians would be saved being caught in the middle of the street by cars through a voice saying, "Do not cross now; the light is about to change."

"Jim," said the taxi driver's friend, "there's a purse lying in the bottom of your car."

"Hush!" said Jim. "I put it in there and left the door open. You have no idea how many people will jump in for a short ride when they see it."

"Chocolate bars" made out of coal tar and sold in Berlin confectionery stores show the desperate efforts of German industry under the Nazi regime to provide substitutes for scarce natural products. The bars look like soap, but are said to taste like chocolate. There was no attempt by manufacturers of synthetic food to color the bars brown.

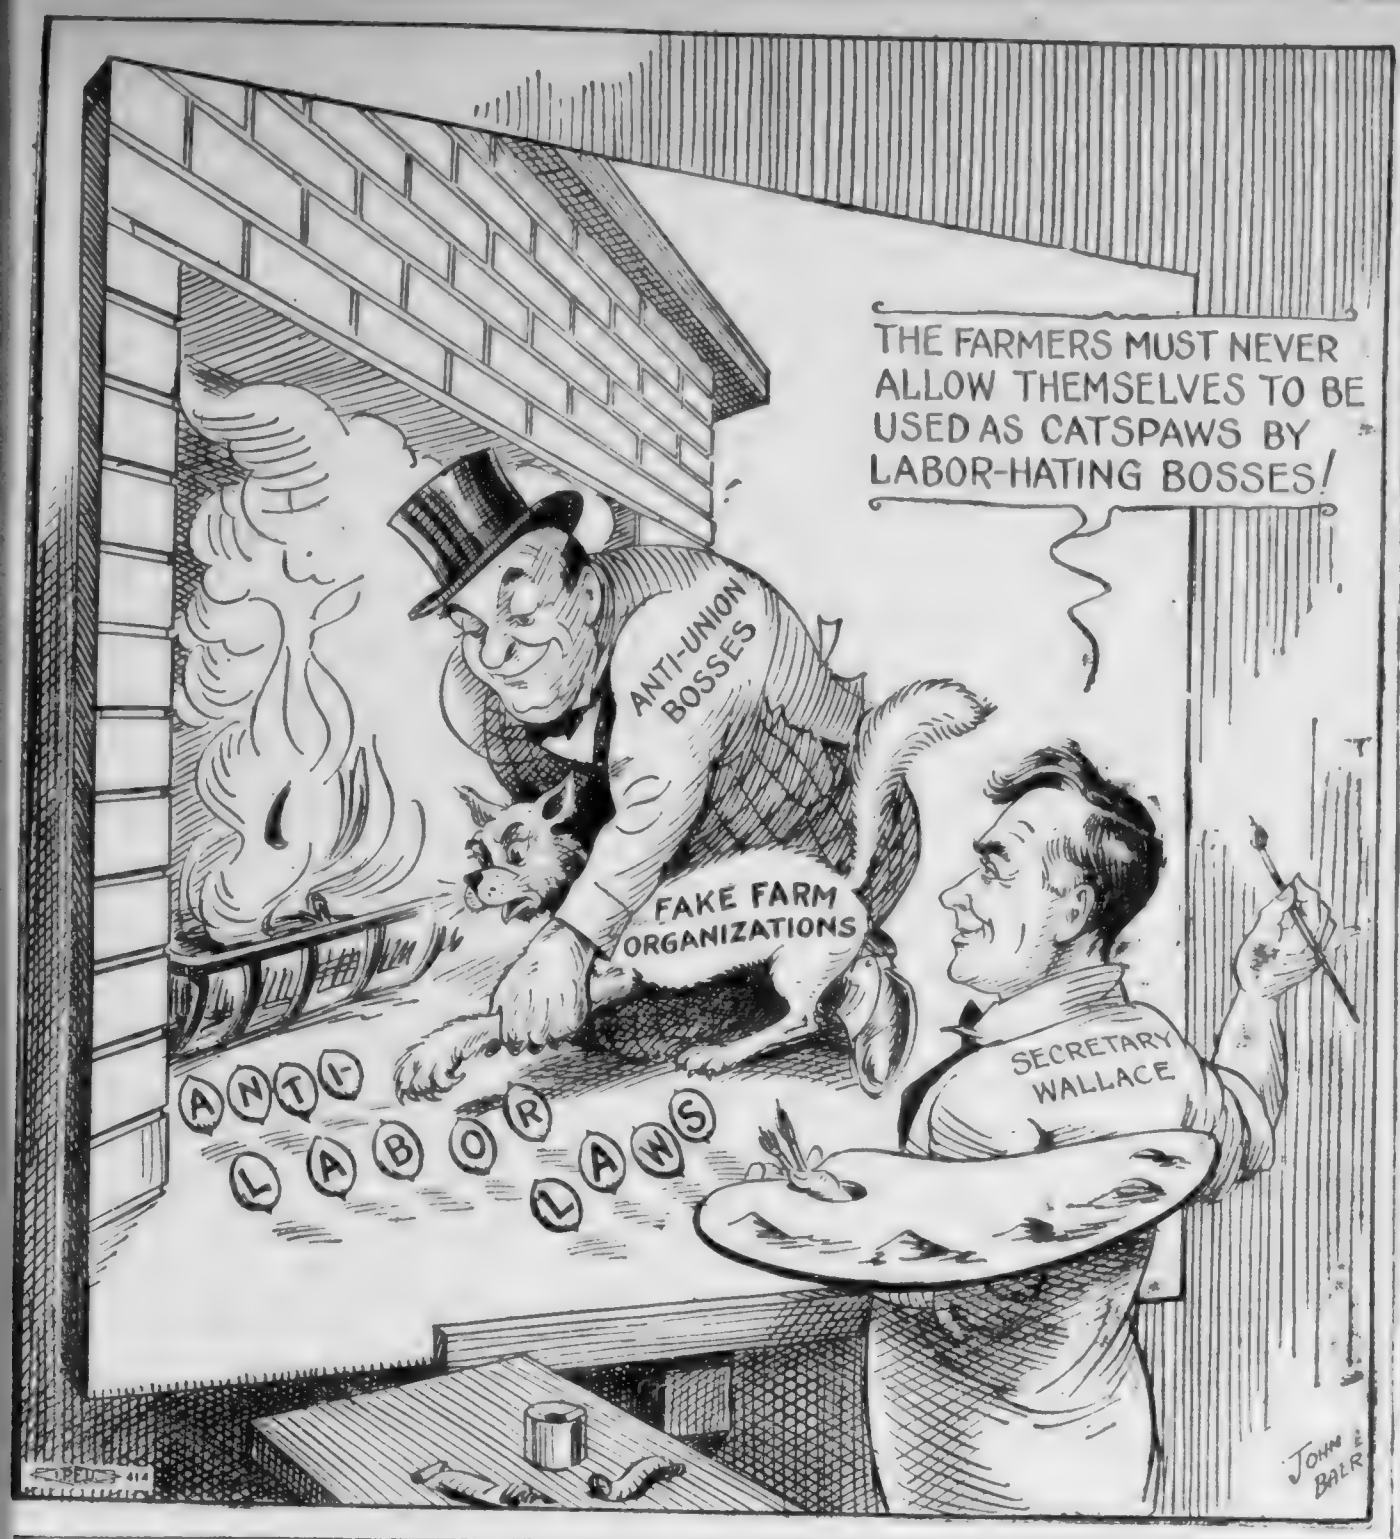
The lonely American entered a tearoom in London.

"May I take your order?" the sprightly waitress inquired.

"Yes," he replied. "Two eggs and a kind word."

The waitress brought the eggs and was moving away when the American stopped her. "What about the kind word?" he said.

The waitress leaned over and whispered, "Don't eat the eggs."



Federal Court Forbids Firm to Sell Lumber Produced in Violation of Fair Labor Standards Act

Richmond, Va.—The administration of the fair labor standards act has obtained its first Federal court decree enjoining sale in interstate commerce of goods produced in violation of the act.

The decree was entered here by U. S. District Judge Robert N. Pollard, with the consent of the defendants, Herman H. Walton and the Walton Lumber Co., Inc., Pendleton, Louisa county, Virginia.

It forbids interstate sale of approximately 2,500,000 board feet of lumber, which the firm purchased from small saw mill operators who admittedly were not complying with the act.

Judge Pollard retained jurisdiction over the "hot" lumber in deciding the case.

It was the first wage-hour enforcement move in the lumber industry and was undertaken after other lumber operators had complained they could not compete with firms violating the act.

Labor Head Sees Trend Strongly Against Punitive Taxation of Chain Stores

Trenton, N. J.—Condemnation of punitive taxes on retail stores by the Louisiana Federation of Labor and the National Conference on Interstate Trade Barriers was hailed by Louis P. Marciante, chairman of the National Council of Labor Tax Committees and president of the New Jersey Federation of Labor as "pointing the way to the elimination of the destructive type of discriminatory and confiscatory legislation which now burdens the pay envelope of wage-earners and threatens the security of their work.

"Already this year, three courts have struck out chain store and similar taxes. New Jersey's Supreme Court led the way, outlawing municipal taxes on self-service stores in February. Ten days later, the Dauphin County Court at Harrisburg, Pa., outlawed the Pennsylvania chain store tax. Early in March, the Kentucky Court of Appeals—highest in the state—killed the chain store levy in the Blue Grass State.

"In three other states, bills to repeal current chain store taxes have been introduced. Since January 14 legislatures refused to enact proposed chain store taxes before adjournment," said Chairman Marciante.

"That this trend is national in scope is indicated by the recent action of the Conference on Interstate Trade Barriers, when governors or their representatives from 44 states condemned all punitive taxes on retail stores. Furthermore, the Louisiana Federation of Labor has called for repeal of that state's tax, which has served as a model for discriminatory anti-chain levies in other states."

Q—Please give the recipe for making Hop yeast.

A—Boil 6 potatoes in 1 quart of strong hop tea. When soft, mash them fine, and while lukewarm add 1 cup flour, one-half cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup yeast (three yeast cakes softened in lukewarm water). Set this mixture in a warm place to rise. When light stir in enough cornmeal to make a mixture thick enough to knead, and let it rise over night. Roll out one-half inch in thickness and cut in 2 inch squares. Turn frequently until thoroughly dried. Store in a cool, dry place.

Pies, pies—all kinds of pies. Who wants a pie? Not I. Typographical Auxiliary 219 entertained with a pie supper Monday night at the Country Woman's club There was a large crowd present and everybody had a good time. The ladies started serving about 7 o'clock and stopped around 10:30, after the C. L. U. crowd had ended their sessions and dropped in for refreshments. Good old Rich-Maid coffee was served, too.

Special mention is due Mrs. Turner Bell, Mrs. Arch Underwood and Mrs. Ruby Williams—not to mention all the ladies who contributed the pies.

The auxiliary made a nice sum to add to its treasury.

Noticed in some labor news releases this week that in the opening day parade of the New York World Fair there will be 15,000 union people marching—and the only reason there weren't 50,000 is because there isn't room for that many in the parade.

One difficulty about the World's Fair was encountered (according to the AFA, Actors' Magazine) by Billy Rose refusing to pay the chorus girls for rehearsals. The AFA says that Mr. Rose stated he couldn't afford it, giving as one reason that he had to install a $7,500 heating system in the swimming pool that Eleanor Holmes Jarrett is using—she did not like the temperature of the water. And Mr. Rose says he expects to marry the lady—so what can he do?

"Oh, no," replied Freddie, "he could not leave his business."

Highest Government Pay Dwarfed by Corporation Heads' Salaries and Bonuses, Treasury Department Shows—Plan to Store Tin and Rubber Good.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington, D. C.—The list of corporation salaries and bonuses for 1937 just made public by the treasury department should be pasted in the hat of every congressman and senator, and over the desk of every editor who wants to hold forth on "balancing the budget." In the list published by the New York Times, which is not complete, 616 persons are drawing salaries larger than that of the president of the United States. Here are a few comparisons:

The president gets $75,000 a year, the vice-president and members of the cabinet get $15,000 each, the nine supreme court justices get $20,000 a year, except the chief justice, who gets $20,500. Add them all together and you have $420,500 a year for twenty-one men of enormous responsibilities.

Eugene G. Grace got $394,786 a year. And he is still mourning for the bright days of 1929, when he got only 512,000 salary and $1,620,000 for bonus.

* * *

The amusement industry pays the most fantastic salaries. Louis B. Mayer, "production executive" of Loew's, got from that company $1,161,753, and as vice-president of Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer he drew $134,750 the same year, 1937. Taken together, they come to $1,296,503.

The president, vice - president, cabinet members, supreme court justices and the ninety-six senators of the United States had combined salaries the same year of $1,380,500.

General Motors said that its workers averaged $1,250 a year. William S. Knudhen, president of G. M., got $247,210 the same year, or about two-thirds of an auto worker's yearly wages each day. I have no figures on the average pay of the steel worker. But seven insiders of Bethlehem Steel raked in $1,272,360 in 1937.

But there are congressmen weeping briny tears over the expense of the WPA.

It is much to be hoped that the plan of swapping wheat and cotton for tin and rubber is carried through, and quickly. It is about two years since Barney Baruch said the United States ought to buy a million tons of tin, and keep it on hand. And with tin and rubber on hand, it is not easy to see how we could be blockaded on any other material.

In 1937, Uncle Sam smelted 36.6 of the world's pig iron; refined 34 per cent of the world's copper; produced 65.8 per cent of the world's petroleum and 89.9 per cent of molybdenum. But of the 211,000 tons of tin produced that yea we produced 145 tons, and we have no rubber worth mentioning at all.

Tin is the closest of all metals held. The big deposits are in the islands or near-islands close in south of Asia, and in the mountain republic of Bolivia. Standing by a 20-inch globe, you could cover t Malayan tin with the palm of your hand, and the Bolivian ones with the ball of your thumb.

Something tells me that tin and rubber would be high and scarce if they had to be carried across a submarine-haunted sea.

"Time," "Life," Remain In Non-Union Class

Chicago Printing Trades Unions Deny Rumor That Magazines Are Published Under Union Conditions.

Chicago, Ill.—The organization committee of the Chicago trade unions issued the following statement puncturing as untrue the report that the periodicals "Time" and "Life" have been taken from the anti-union R. R. Donnelley & Sons company and given to printing concerns authorized to use the union label:

"A false rumor to the effect that Time and Life, two publications printed by the anti-union concern of R. R. Donnelley & Sons company, which have been placed on the 'we don't patronize' list of the entire labor movement of the North American continent, are now being printed under union conditions is being circulated in many places in this country.

"The Chicago printing trades unions, through their organization committee, wish to call attention to this falsehood and to warn all labor against giving credence to any such reports. We can assure you that all labor will be immediately notified of any change in the situation as regards the printing of these publications.

"This rumor is probably based upon the fact that Life, one of the publications put out by Time, Inc., is to issue an eastern edition, the printing of which is to be done by the Philadelphia plant of Cuneo. The typesetting and plate making are still done by Donnelley and the plates are to be shipped to Philadelphia.

"Arrangements have been made, under a five-year contract, beginning in June, whereby Cuneo will produce 600,000 copies weekly of Life, the balance, amounting to some 800,000 copies, will continue to be produced by Donnelley as far as we now know, although there is considerable talk to the effect that a western edition is to be printed in a union office at Palo Alto, California.

"In spite of this, Life must still remain on the 'we don't patronize' list until it is produced 100 per cent under union conditions. Labor cannot be misled by a publication being produced part union and part anti-union. Hence we especially request you to intensify your drive against Time and Life to the end that they be produced under union conditions."

NLRB Reinstates Suspended Regional Director

Washington, D. C.—The National Labor Relations Board has reinstated Dr. Towne Nylander, whom it had suspended as its Los Angeles regional director after he had been charged with declaring publicly that an employer "hasn't got a chance" before the board.

NLRB Chairman Madden lifted the suspension and told Nylander that he could re-assume his duties immediately as director of the 21st region. He acted after receiving a report on an investigation made by Lt. Comm. James E. Brenner, U. S. Navy (retired) who now is a Stanford law professor.

Brenner concluded that Nylander "did not intend to express, state or to imply that the board is partial in its views concerning complaints filed against employers," and "did not intend to convey the impression that the procedure of the NLRB does not provide a full and impartial hearing for employers against whom complaints have been filed."

He added, however, that Nylander did make a qualified statement that he personally hoped the AFL and CIO would remain two distinct organizations.

Madden told Nylander that the board had accepted Brenner's findings and "concludes that there is no valid cause, in the facts themselves, for further disciplinary action against you."

That reminds us—don't forget how the three B's voted against our own Stanton Smith only Tuesday. It makes us sore, and when we say sore, we mean just that thing, too. Didn't our own mayor tell us that he was for labor 100 per cent? Yes, right in the ballroom at the Patten—well, friends, he isn't and hasn't been so don't be deceived. We are plenty sore about it. As there is a judgment day there will be another voting day. Labor is too strong to be slapped in the face in any such manner.

U. S. Court, Upholding A. F. of L., Warns Labor Board Must Be Fair in All Decisions

CHICAGO.—A warning that the National Labor Relations Board should be fair and reasonable in all its rulings was issued in an opinion handed down by Judge Otto Kerner, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, reversing the board's citation of the Jefferson Electric Co., Bellwood, Ill., for alleged unfair labor practices.

The board's action was based on a complaint filed by the United Radio, Electrical and Machine Workers of America, CIO affiliate, charging that the company had given undue assistance to an American Federation of Labor union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Findings of the board favored the CIO union. The board directed the company to vocate its contract with the A. F. of L. union and ordered it to reinstate three employes alleged to have been discharged because of membership in the CIO. The firm attacked the ruling in the courts.

Company Held Neutral

The court said that the company had remained strictly neutral, had not acted to prevent unionization of its employes, to discourage CIO membership or encourage affiliation with the A. F. of L.

The A. F. of L.-CIO controversy, the court said, "has brought a distinct cleavage in the American labor movement, leaving in its wake unnecessary unrest and strife." This, it pointed out, makes it doubly necessary for the labor board to insist on substantial evidence before favoring one side or the other in any dispute.

This opinion followed a decision by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, of the circuit court of Cook County, in which he held that picketing was legal under the Illinois anti-injunction act even though employes of the picketed shop were not union members. The union in the case was Auto Transport Teamsters Union, Local No. 713, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America; the company, the Standard Unit Parts Corporation of Chicago.

Ruling Based On Constitution

Judge Harrington based his opinion on the free speech clause in the United States Constitution, holding that picketing was the union's only method of publicizing its dispute with the employer. His decision dissolved a temporary injunction which he had issued; and it is the first victory in the Illinois State and Chicago Federation of Labor's campaign to preserve labor's picketing rights, which were threatened by an Illinois Appellate Court decision restrainging Hairdressers and Cosmotologists Union, Local No. 548-E, Journeymen Barbers International Union, from picketing a Chicago beauty shop, the employes of which were not union members.

The teamsters' union was represented by Daniel D. Carmell, attorney for the Illinois State and Chicago Federations of Labor.

Over Thirty Million Workers Earned Average of Only $890 in 1937, Social Security Board Finds

Washington, D. C.—The Social Security Board has reported 30,157,694 of the employed population was earning an average of $890 in 1937.

This covers up to $3,000 a year. If higher incomes were included, it would probably bring earnings up to $975 a year. The board's summary is as follows:

"The wage earners whose accounts were studied represent about 96 per cent of all employes wh worked in employment covered by the Federal old-age insurance system during its first year of operation. Analysts of the Bureau of Old-Age Insurance astimate that approximately 32,000,000 persons, all told, received wages for covered employment in 1937.

East and North Pay Highest

"Average wages paid to those in the more highly industrialized and urbanized sections of the country, such as the New England, Middle Atlantic and Great Lakes regions were higher than the national average of $890. Workers in Michigan, with an average wage of $1,102, had the highest average, [illegible] New York ranking second with $1,042, and those in Illinois third with $1,029.

"Although younger workers are more numerous than those in the older age groups, the average wage earned by the older workers is higher. Fully 60 per cent of the 30,150,000 employes were between the ages of 20 and 40; those between the ages of 40 and 60 amounted to only 27 per cent of the total, or less than half the younger group.

Older Group's Average Best

"But the average wage of the older group was $1,185, more than a third greater than the average wage of $860 received by the younger workers.

"A further break-down of employes by five-year age groups shows that the average taxable wage of some 700,000 employes between the ages of 60 and 65 (the oldest group covered by the Federal old-age insurance provisions) was $1,086, or almost double the average for some 5,700,000 employes between the ages of 20 and 25, the most numerous age group.

"Approximately 11,650,000 employes earned less than $500 in taxable wages; of those, 8,500,000 earned less than $300. These low earnings reflect part-time employment and employment of persons who received the greater part of their income from jobs not subject to the act."

Court Holds NLRB Findings Based On Suspicion, Not On Evidence

New Orleans.—The Fifth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals set aside an order by the NLRB and said the board's findings on the dismissal of two crews of Waterman Steamship Corporation vessels were "based on suspicion and not on the evidence."

The court reviewed the case on the petition of the steamship company, which refused to comply with the board's order to give equal number of passes to both unions trying to hold elections to determine the bargaining agencies for the company's emplayes.

The order was issued after dismissal of crews on the S. S. Bienville and S. S. Fairland when they went in to drydock at Mobile, Ala., two years ago. The crews had changed their affiliation while on cruise from the International Seamen's Union of America; an American Federation of Labor organization, to the National Maritime Union of America, CIO affiliate.

When the ships sailed again the company hired A .F. of L. members.

The Labor Relations Board ordered the company to offer reinstatement without prejudice to seniority, with back pay, and further ordered passes issued in equal numbers to NMU and ISU representatives. The company refused.

The court said the trouble emonated from "a fight between the unions and nothing more."

The life insurance agent called upon a big insurance man at the close of a busy day. When the agent had been admitted, the big fellow said:

"You ought to feel honored, highly honored, young man. Do you know that today I have refused to see seven insurance agents?"

"I know," said the agent. "I'm them."

Q.—What is the meaning of the term "dog days?"

A.—It was first applied by the ancients to the time of the rising of the dog star Sirius. It covers a period of about forty of the hottest days in the year. Since that is the season that many dogs contract rabies, it has also been called "mad dog days."

It's an ill wind that blows no one good. The depression has interfered a lot with the higher education of those who were headed toward it, but it has been the means of teaching at least 1,000,000 Americans to read and write. One of the first things that Federal relief meant when it came in 1933, after averting sheer starvation, was a chance to learn to read.

The Works Progress Administration has been the main agent in this, as in most benefits to the very poor; and Dr. L. R. Alderman, director of education for WPA, has headed a reform of something which has been a serious obstacle to getting a late education.

"That," says Dr. Alderman, "is the chagrin and self-consciousness suffered by full grown men and women when they are obliged to pore over absurd little stories written for six-year-old children. It takes much fortitude for a backwoods grandfather to stand before a roomful of his neighbors and laboriously relate the adventures of the little red hen."

Grown-up subjects have been put in simple words, and are proving enormous encouragement. Considering that we have at least 8,000,000 persons over 10 years of age who can get no information out of a printed sheet, this looks like a fairly important development.

Many people wondered why President Roosevelt, in asking whether Hitler and Mussolini meant to attack certain countries, mentioned Luxembourg. Luxembourg is smaller even than Rhode Island, has less than 300,000 inhabitants, looks like small potatoes. But—in 1937, it was the seventh country in the production of pig iron; 2,512,000 tons more than Japan, three times as large a tonnage as Italy. Germany overran Luxembourg without resistance in the World War, and could do it now.

A pictorial statement of the work of the International Solidarity Fund, setting forth the details of the magnificent efforts of the trade union and labor movement to assist the Spanish people, has just been published.

It is shown that the European labor movement, between July, 1936, and December, 1938, raised approximately 500,000 pounds through the International Solidarity Fund alone. This total does not include aid given through other channels than those of the International Solidarity Fund, by trade union and other labor organizations in various countries for such special services as they have organized and financed directly to provide for Spanish refugee children, expectant Spanish mothers and aged folk, as well as direct consignments of milk, food, clothing, medical supplies and other relief activities.

The latest phase of the problem is that the labor movement has had to accept responsibility for over 300 Spanish seamen who have been living on Spanish boats in British ports which have now been handed over to the Franco government. These Spanish workers cannot safely return to Spain, and pending arrangements for their future the International Solidarity Fund has accepted financial responsibility for their maintenance.

Touring Reporters have now asked over 1,200 women and girls of leading Southern Cities the now famous question: "Were you helped by CARDUI?"

Averaging all replies so far shows that 93 out of every 100 users questioned declared CARDUI benefitted them!

Users by thousands are eager to tell how CARDUI has given them appetite; helped them gain strength; has thus relieved them of the symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition. Many also say that, when symptoms indicate the need, CARDUI in larger doses helps "at the time" to soothe pain.

Department of Justice Under Frank Murphy Speeds Up Purge of Undesirable Federal Judges —Problem Faces D. A. R.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington.—Every newspaper man in Washington has noticed the speed up since Frank Murphy became attorney-general. Instead of laying a case for impeachment of Judge Manton before congress, Murphy went to New York, and brought back Manton's resignation with him. The indictment of "Boss" Pendergast holding back on his income tax is another sample.

But now the story is going abroad that the evidence against Judge Manson and Judge Thomas had been in the files of the department of justice for nine months before Murphy took office. Another account says that the evidence against Pendergast is old, and that nothing was done about it until Murphy came in. In fact, the story is out that not less than seven federal judges are candidates for requested resignation in a very few weeks.

The department of justice lost a lot in the untimely death of Thomas J. Walsh, but it seems to be making things up through Frank Murphy.

The daughters of the American Revolution have a problem to solve: to shut out or not to shut out negro musicians from the D. A. R. hall in Washington.

It might help them to recall that they are Daughters of the Revolution, not of the Constitutional Convention or the Hartford convention. In the first draft of the Declaration of Independence, which gave form to the Revolution, Thomas Jefferson put in a vigorous denunciation of the slave trade.

"He (King George Third) has waged cruel war against human nature itself, violating its most sacred rights of life and liberty in the persons of distant peoples who never offended him, captivating and carrying them to slavery in another hemisphere, or to incur miserable death on their transportation thither. . . . (He is) determined to keep a market where men should be bought and sold."

These words were written 163 years ago. They were left out on account of the objections of South Carolina and Georgia. But it really doesn't seem very dignified, after all these years, to make the mistake made in the case of Marion Anderson permanent.

* * *

"In a separate opinion in which Justice Black concurred, Justice Frankfurter chided the court for relying on valuation theories promulgated in a 1898 decision."

So runs the news ticker account of an important case, and nineteen laymen out of twenty who pay attention to court matters at all agree with Frankfurter and Blask. The 1898 case was the decision in Smyth v. Ames; in which the court laid down "principles" of fixing the value of public utilities that have robbed consumers for a goodly share of forty years.

Justice Brandeis fought that valuation scheme to the limit as long as he was on the bench. It is almost discarded now. It ought to be discarded utterly. As a sample of the way it worked, the supreme court in Smyth v. Ames said that the state of Nebraska was confiscating the property of the Burlington railroad—which Jim Hill bought a little later at $200 for a $100 share.

Justices Frankfurter and Black, like Justice Brandeis, kick out a hoary fake instead of merely ignoring it.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 15th day of September, 1927, N. R. Haymore and wife, Rose C. Haymore, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration September 17, 1927, and recorded in Book "C", Vol. 22, page 700 et seq., in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said N. R. Haymore and wife, Rose C. Haymore, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, MAY 16th, 1939,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

The West 60 feet of Lot 3, of Montague's Subdivision of Block No. 16 of East End Land Company's Addition No. 4, as shown by plat registered 2nd day of December, 1908, in Register's Plat Book 5, page 43 of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee. Said part of lot makes one lot fronting 46 feet on the east side of Avenue "L", formerly St. George Street, and extends back Eastwardly, of uniform width, a distance of 60 feet.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This April 12, 1939.

Green Corrects Senator Wagner's Wrong Interpretation Of Two Labor Act Amendments Sponsored by A. F. of L.

On April 11 the senate committee on education and labor began its hearings on proposd amendments to the national labor relations act.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, was the first witness. He epitomized the history and results of the labor act from its passage by congress in 1935, its enactment, he said, being achieved "with the active cooperation of the American Federation of Labor."

Senator Wagner expressed his opposition to certain amendments, notably those offered by Senator Burke, of Nebraska, which were evidently designed to destroy the effectiveness of the act in protecting the workers' right to organize in labor unions.

In addition to the Burke amendments the committee on education and labor had before it the amendments sponsored by the American Federation of Labor contained in the bill introduced by Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts. The purpose of the A. F. of L. amendments is to strengthen the labor act and prevent its being used by the national labor relations board to destroy A. F. of L. unions and build up the CIO, whose aim is likewise the destruction of the American Federation of Labor.

Senator Wagner criticized two of the A. F. of L. amendments. One of them, he said, would remove from the labor act the provision that employers shall not "interfere" with the self-organization of their employes. He claimed that this amendment would "remove a form of protection" for workers that is basic in the labor act and similar measures.

Another amendment in the Walsh bill sponsored by the A. F. of L., Senator Wagner said, "would authorize the district courts to issue proper writs at any time to compel the board to perform its functions and duties. This amendment, he claimed, would cause delay in determining cases by enabling the parties concerned to "shuffle" matters in dispute back and forth between the courts and the labor board.

At the conclusion of the opening hearing held by the senate committee on education and labor, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, issued the following comment on Senator Wagner's statement:

"Senator Wagner's statement was in general accord with the position of the American Federation of Labor except in two particulars.

"The senator objected to the removal of the word 'interference' in the section of the law dealing with unfair labor practices by employers.

"This was done in the amendments sponsored by the A. F. of L. because the national labor relations board has stretched the word 'interference' to cover any and all situations.

"Many of its interpretations have been so far-fetched as to confound the intent of the law. To remedy such abuses of discretionary power we have specifically stated in our amendments what actually constitutes employer interference with the legitimate activities of labor unions.

"We want the rules of the game plainly stated in the law so that they can be fully understood by workers, employers and the board alike.

"Secondly, the senator complains of the amendment giving the federal district courts jurisdiction to issue appropriate writs to compel the board to perform its duties. He says this amendment will result in delay and prolonged litigation.

"We see no such danger.

"The object of this amendment is to provide judicial review of decisions of the board in representation cases and to compel the board to act in a case on petition of an aggrieved union.

"At present the board asserts its decisions in representation cases are final and not subject to review in any court of the land. We consider this position by the board entirely unfair and un-American.

"In his statement Senator Wagner made it clear that he feels the American Federation of Labor desires to strengthen and perfect the national labor relations act.

"We believe his expressed sympathy with our motives should serve to refute false and ridiculous charges by dual labor groups seeking to misrepresent the federation's position.

"Senator Wagner stated that the American Federation gave him full support in the enactment of the national labor relations act.

"We hope for his aid and support in the enactment of amendments to perfect the act."

Four Proposed Labor Act Changes Worthy of Consideration, NLRB Tells Senate Committee

Washington, D. C.—The National Labor Relations Board has made a report to Senator Elbert D. Thomas, chairman of the Senate committee on education and labor, on the merits and demerits of five groups of amendments introduced to amend the National Labor Relations Act. It says frankly that it does not see the need of any amendment of the act at this time; which is almost what Senator Wagner, author of the bill, had said before. But the board listed four items in the five bills which it believed the committee really ought to consider. These are:

1. That employers be granted the right to file petitions for certification of representatives. The board doubts the wisdom of this; but wants it heard.

Power to Annul Opposed

2. That the power of the board to determine the bargaining unit be restricted. The board thinks there are grave objections to this, but fixing a bargaining unit is sometimes troublesome, and hearings may throw some light.

3. That powers he granted to annul contracts between employers and workers. The board does not see this at all favorably.

4. That hearings may not be heard in less than 15 or 20 days from complaint. The present minimum is 5 days. The board doesn't like delay, but hearings may possibly discover some cases in which delay is needed.

Direct Way to Changes Seen

And then, having said these things, the board says:

"It should be noted that the objectives of certain of the proposals we have mentioned could be achieved through administrative regulation without requiring legislative amendment. The board will, of course, in determining what changes, if any, should be made in its regulations, give full consideration to the facts and arguments brought forth in the hearings."

In other words, if the committee finds by hearings that any of these changes are desirable, the board can put them into effect without changes of law.

The board points out that the labor act has lowered the number of strikes, especially since the Supreme Court upheld the act.

Strikes Last Year Reported At Lowest Mark Since 1932

Washington, D. C.—Fewer workers were involved in strikes in 1938 than in any year since 1932, and fewer man-days of idleness because of industrial disputes occurred than in any year since 1931, Secretary of Labor Perkins reports.

There were 2,722 strikes in 1938, involving about 688,000 workers and causing 9,000,000 man-days of idleness, her report said.

"Half of the 1938 strikes were in four industry groups," she said. "There were 108 in the textile fabric, 428 in the clothing industries, 338 in trade, 91 of these being in wholesale and 247 in retail establishments and 315 on building construction projects."

Average number of workers involved in each strike, she said, was 248, and half involved fewer than 48 workers each.

About 60 per cent of the strikes she continued, lasted less than two weeks, but 154 continued for more than three months.

Q.—How do trees become petrified?

A.—Mineral matter in water saturates the wood, and slowly replaces the wood as it decays. Actually, a petrified tree trunk is a mass of mineral cast into the shape of a tree trunk.
